COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1959. 143rd of the General Assembly.

Vol. 36. HARRISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, JANUARY 6, 1959. No. 1.

SENATE

TUESDAY, JANUARY 6, 1959, 12:00 o'clock M.

This being the day and hour fixed by the Constitution for the meeting of the General Assembly, the Members of the Senate, together with the Senators-elect chosen at the last general election held on November 4, 1958, assembled in the Senate Chamber.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Roy E. Furman) called the Senate to order at 12:00 o'clock M.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. WILBUR F. CHRISTY, Pastor of Market Square Presbyterian Church, Harrisburg, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray.

Almighty God, in Whom we have life and by Whose presence we mark the happiness of every condition of life, we look to Thee at this truly significant hour. We know that Thou art God with all power for Thou dost control the world and all the universe, so we ask that Thou might strengthen us. God, Thou art truth and we would ask that Thou might let us discern truth and justice. And Thou art love, so grant that our acts might reflect love, mercy and compassion.

At this, the convening of the 143rd Assembly of the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, we invoke Thy presence. Might Thou overshadow and undergird these elected and empowered Members of this lawmaking body. We remember the teaching of our Lord, that we are to render to Caesar the things that belong to Caesar and unto God those things that are God's. May the affairs and concerns that rightfully belong to this body be considered with all due respect and acted upon with truth and fidelity. May these spokesmen for the people act with the wisdom of Solomon to provide those conditions within our Commonwealth wherein we might possess peace and security for the enjoyment and fulfillment of life.

Permeate then our individual lives so that all we think or do or say might bring glory and honor to Thy Name, for we pray in Thy Holy Name and for Thy sake alone. Amen.

REMARKS BY PRESIDENT OF THE SENATE

The PRESIDENT. Members of the Senate of Pennsylvania, I am particularly pleased to extend to all the officers, Members and employees of this Senate, and particularly those serving for the first time, a cordial greeting and a welcome, and to wish each of you a most pleasant and constructive tenure of office.

The work and the responsibility of this Session will be tremendous. The social and economic welfare of our State is in your hands. The problems you face must be solved in a manner that transcends blind partisanship. Favors cannot be placed upon one individual or one party. Each Member of this Body must assume his share of responsibility just as he would expect to receive his share of acclaim for the accomplishments of this Session.

I do not mean by this that you should forsake any of your personal principles or the principles of the party to which you belong. They are inherent and should guide you in your decisions. When there is a difference of opinion, there are conference rooms and committee rooms for you to meet and reach a compromise and an understanding. Very often these compromises bring forth a much better solution than could have otherwise been reached.

I honestly believe in the two party system of government. By cooperation and by compromise with honest principles, I am confident that we are strengthening our system of government and adding to the stability of all democracy. When we do that, we are providing for the security and the freedom of ourselves and of future generations. Approximately 11,000,000 Pennsylvanians are looking to the Senate and to the House of Representatives of Pennsylvania for leadership and for accomplishments that will carry us forward to greater progress. I am sure they will not look in vain.

You have the knowledge, the ability and the opportunity to do the things that will make this 1959 Session of the General Assembly the greatest in our history.

In closing, I want to personally say to everyone who is connected with this Senate that I shall look back on the last four years of my life as an outstanding period. I have enjoyed working with you and I value the renewal of old friendships and the making of new ones as the greatest asset I have acquired in life. My fervent prayer is that God's richest blessing will guide you in all your decisions and accomplishments for the welfare of the greatest of all States, Pennsylvania.

ELECTION OF PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE

The PRESIDENT. The next order of business before the Senate is the election of the President pro tempore.

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President and Members of the Senate of Pennsylvania, I have participated in the organization of this Honorable Body for quite a number of regular Sessions of the Pennsylvania Legislature.

In looking back over my past experiences, I am proud of the many friends and acquaintances I have made and, with them, claim credit for a few accomplishments. Today, we are about to organize this Body for another Session.

Two years ago, I stated that in the Senate of Pennsylvania we must have harmonious and competent leadership. This applies again today. I hope our work in the coming Session may be harmonious and, together with the minority representation here, that we can arrive at accomplishments for the best interest of our constituents and all of the people of Pennsylvania.

For the sake of harmonious and competent leadership, I deem it a privilege and an honor to place in nomination for the office of President pro tempore of the Senate the name of the Honorable M. Harvey Taylor. Senator Taylor's sound judgment and prior tireless leadership warrants me in making this motion.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, it is my great pleasure to second the nomination of "Mr. Republican," the Honorable M. Harvey Taylor, for the office of President pro tempore of the Senate.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, Members and guests of the Senate of Pennsylvania, I, too, have participated in the organization of this Senate for quite some time and, at this time, I would like to tell you a little of the background of the gentleman I am about to present to you.

Mr. President, this gentleman, in particular, has a great singing voice. As a matter of fact, he is one of friendliest men in the Senate. On top of that, Mr. President, this gentleman has served since 1934, with the exception of the year of 1946. This man has many, many friends on both sides of the Senate. This gentleman has the wisdom of Solomon, the sagacity of Socrates and, they say, the virility of Methuselah.

Therefore, Mr. President, it certainly is a great pleasure for me to present, as a nominee for President pro tempore of the Senate of Pennsylvania, the renowned "Mr. Democrat" of Allegheny County, the great Senator Bernard B. McGinnis.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I take great pleasure in seconding the nomination of my County Chairman, Senator McGinnis. I don't think he is going to get elected, though.

The PRESIDENT. He will make a good run, however.

NOMINATIONS CLOSED

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I move that the nominations for the office of President pro tempore of the Senate be closed.

Mr. BLASS. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The PRESIDENT. On the election of the President pro tempore, the Chief Clerk will call the roll, and the Clerks of the Senate will act as tellers. The candidates are the Honorable M. Harvey Taylor, of Dauphin County, and the Honorable Bernard B. McGinnis, of Allegheny County.

The roll was called and resulted as follows:

The PRESIDENT. The Honorable M. Harvey Taylor, having received twenty-eight votes, and the Honorable Bernard B. McGinnis, having received twenty-two votes, the Chair declares the Honorable M. Harvey Taylor duly elected President pro tempore of the Senate of Pennsylvania.

VOTE MADE UNANIMOUS

The PRESIDENT. The Chair now recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Weiner.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, one of my first acts is not to vote for "Mr. Republican." However, I rise at this time on behalf of my colleagues to move that the vote by which the Honorable M. Harvey Taylor was elected President pro tempore of the Senate of Pennsylvania be made unanimous.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED TO ESCORT PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE-ELECT TO THE ROSTRUM

The PRESIDENT. The Chair takes pleasure in naming as the Committee to Escort the President pro tempore-elect to the rostrum: the gentleman from Warren, Mr. Chapman; the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Mallery; and the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Weiner.

The committee will proceed in the performance of its duty.

ADMINISTRATION OF OATH OF OFFICE TO PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE

The PRESIDENT. The oath of office will be administered to the newly elected President pro tempore of the Senate by the Honorable R. Dixon Herman, Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County.

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. President, there was never a finer Lieutenant-Governor in Pennsylvania than you. If you do not get in the Cabinet, there is something wrong with the Democrats.

Mr. President, this is the only place where I receive Democratic votes and I also want to say that I am very grateful. Since we are going to have all this harmony, I wrote myself a speech.

In order for the record to be straight, Mr. President, and that is the way I meant it to be, I want to first begin by thanking you for your confidence. I appreciate the high honor—I hope the newspapermen are getting this—given to me by the finest body of gentlemen in the world. There is nothing to compare with the Pennsylvania State Senate in my book.

I am going to ask you to bear with me until I get acquainted with the job. I thought that would get a laugh. I want to congratulate you on your good judgment. You are choosing young people. When you want something done, you take us young fellows, like "Dave, the 20th," Hi and Harve. You could not do much better than that, could you?

Therefore, Mr. President, that being my speech, I will fold this up. I hope they do not put this in the scrapbook.

Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I want to say to you that I will do my best to be decent and honorable and try to do a good job. I know that I cannot please everybody in this Senate. It keeps me busy keeping things straight at home. However, I will do the best I can and thank you so much for the honor.

ELECTION OF SECRETARY OF THE SENATE

The PRESIDENT. The next order of business before the Senate is the election of the Secretary of the Senate.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, it gives me a great deal of pleasure to place in nomination the name of the Honorable Edward B. Watson for the office of Secretary of the Senate.

I prepared quite a lengthy statement and someone relieved me of it, inasmuch as it was felt this would be the proper thing to do in order to save the time of the Senate. Therefore, Mr. President, I shall be brief.

Senator Watson is a gentleman who possesses dignity, knowledge and is well prepared for the position for which he aspires. He is short of experience. I understand that he has been on Capitol Hill for the small number of years of some forty-three odd years. He is lacking on time, I concede, and I think you can, too. He has served in the Senate of Pennsylvania for twelve years and, certainly, with dignity. The loss of Senator Watson as a Member of the Senate will be felt by me, I think, more than anyone else in the Senate of Pennsylvania. He was my pal and my friend.

Mr. President, I certainly take great pride in placing Senator Watson's name in nomination for the office of Secretary of the Senate. I hope that his friends, the Democrats and the Republicans, will put him in office. Bless him, he will be able to pick up the check once in awhile with the salary he is going to receive.

The PRESIDENT. I see he is still your friend, Senator.

Mr. KELLER. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, it is an honor and a privilege for me to second the nomination of my good friend, the Honorable Edward B. Watson, former Senator from Bucks County, for the office of Secretary of the Senate.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, on behalf of my colleagues, we wish to also second the nomination of the Honorable Edward B. Watson for the office of Secretary of the Senate.

NOMINATIONS CLOSED

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I move that the nominations for the office of Secretary of the Senate be closed.

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The PRESIDENT. On the eletcion of the Secretary of the Senate, the Chief Clerk will call the roll, and the Clerks of the Senate will act as tellers. The candidate is the Honorable Edward B. Watson.

The roll was called and resulted as follows:

Harney,	McMenamin,

The PRESIDENT. The Chair declares the Honorable Edward B. Watson duly elected Secretary of the Senate.

ELECTION OF CHIEF CLERK OF THE SENATE

The PRESIDENT. The next order of business before the Senate is the election of the Chief Clerk.

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, our Senate of Pennsylvania has rules which set forth the duties of its several officers. For the Chief Clerk, the rules list many specific responsibilities and, almost as an afterthought, you read: "In addition to his other duties, the Chief Clark shall keep the accounts for pay and mileage of Members, officers and employees and prepare and sign warrants or requisitions for the same."

This duty may have been an afterthought to the writer of the rules but, to us on the receiving end, it becomes one of the foremost duties of the Chief Clerk. We need and want a man in that position who is accurate, prompt and, above all, of unquestioned integrity.

Mr. President, we would be hard pressed to find a man with a better record of distinguished public service, with a more widely acclaimed reputation for handling public funds honestly and economically and—I might add that this applies to his personal funds, too,—with a character and personality that builds and retains more friends, irrespective of political leaning, than the distinguished former Senator from the 17th Sensatorial District.

It is with genuine pride, therefore, Mr. President, that I nominate for the office of Chief Clerk of the Senate of Pennsylvania, the Honorable G. Graybill Diehm of the County of Lancaster.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, it gives me great pleasure to second the nomination of G. Graybill Diehm for the office of Chief Clerk of the Senate.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, on behalf of my colleagues, it gives me great pleasure to second the nomination of our good friend and long-time Member of this Senate, the Honorable G. Graybill Diehm, for the office of Chief Clerk of the Senate.

NOMINATIONS CLOSED

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I move that the nominations for the office of Chief Clerk of the Senate be closed.

Mr. SHAFER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The PRESIDENT. On the election of the Chief Clerk of the Senate, the Clerk will call the roll, and the Clerks of the Senate will act as tellers. The candidate is the Honorable G. Graybill Diehm.

The roll was called and resulted as follows:

Fleming,	McGinnis,	Shafer,	Wolfe,
Harney,	McMenamin,

The PRESIDENT. The Chair declares the Honorable G. Graybill Diehm duly elected Chief Clerk of the Senate.

ELECTION OF SENATE LIBRARIAN

The PRESIDENT. The next order of business before the Senate is the election of the Senate Librarian.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I take great pleasure in placing in nomination the name of Charles L. Lathero, a friend of mine of long standing, for the office of Senate Librarian.

Charles Lathero and I have been very close friends for a number of years, and I know that every Member of the Senate whom Charlie has served regards him just about as highly as I do. I know that he treats every Senator alike. He is one of the most accommodating persons that I have ever known.

Therefore, Mr. President, it gives me great pleasure, as I have said, to place Charles L. Lathero's name in nomination for the office of Senate Librarian.

Mr. STEVENSON. Mr. President, Charles Lathero has served the office of Senate Librarian well and faithfully. He fully merits continuance in office.

I take great pleasure in seconding the nomination of Charles L. Lathero as Librarian of the Senate.

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, on behalf of the Democratic Senators, I would like to second the nomination of Charles L. Lathero, our very able and personable Librarian.

NOMINATIONS CLOSED

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I move that the nominations for the office of Senate Librarian be closed.

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The PRESIDENT. On the election of the Senate Librarian, the Chief Clerk will call the roll, and the Clerks of the Senate will act as tellers. The candidate is the Honorable Charles L. Lathero.

The PRESIDENT. The Secretary-elect of the Senate, Edward B. Watson, the Chief Clerk-elect, G. Graybill Diehm, and the Senate Librarian-elect, Charles L. Lathero, will approach the rostrum in order that the oath of office may be administered.

(Oath of office was accordingly administered to above officers by the Honorable R. Dixon Herman, Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County.)

TRIBUTE TO PRESIDENT OF THE SENATE

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I know I echo the beliefs and the words of forty-nine other men in this Senate in what I am about to say.

Mr. President, at this time I would like to pay tribute to our Presiding Officer, our retiring Lieutenant-Governor, Roy E. Furman. During my term of office in the Senate, which is too long for me to mention, I do not think we have ever had a more able, more fair nor more competent Lieutenant-Governor.

I just want to say to my friend, Senator Taylor, that Roy and I have secrets among us and he should not worry. We will all be together come January 20th and I know that when Governor Furman's name is sent over to the Senate for confirmation, for a post in Governor Lawrence's Cabinet, he will be confirmed unanimously the same day.

God bless you, Roy, and I am looking forward to serving with you during the next four years here on Capitol Hill.

The PRESIDENT. Thank you, Senator Barr. I certainly am surprised, but I appreciate the words that you have just spoken.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I have heard the words of Senator Barr with a great deal of pleasure and many times a spokesman for either Party will get up here and say, "I speak for all my colleagues," and he may have some mental reservations or there may be some Members of his group who might not wholeheartedly subscribe to the words he is about to say. However, at this time when I say that I speak for my colleagues on the Republican side of the Senate in echoing the words of esteem for you, Roy Furman, I know that I am speaking, and speaking sincerely, for every Member of the Republican Senate in regard to your able, courteous and proper treatment of all Members of the Senate, no matter on which side they may sit.

We want to thank you for being the type of Presiding Officer you are. You have been a credit to this Body and to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

The PRESIDENT. I also thank you, Senator Berger, from the bottom of my heart. I want to say that it has been wonderful working with this group. I certainly have had no trouble in handling the duties of the Chair, because I have had the cooperation of Members on both sides of the aisle.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I am speaking personally. I am, indeed, very happy that Governor Furman is going to have a place in this Administration. As most of you know, he is one of my constituents and, I would say, one of the most outstanding men in Pennsylvania.

Therefore, Mr. President, speaking for myself and my family, we are certainly happy to know that you are going to be with us. Congratulations.

The PRESIDENT. Thank you, Senator Lane.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

"ABRAHAM LINCOLN SEQUICENTENNIAL COMMISSION OF PENNSYLVANIA"

Messrs. STIEFEL and CHAPMAN offered the following resolution which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, January 6, 1959.

Whereas, on February 12, 1959, the entire civilized world generally, and the American Nation in particular, will celebrate the Sesquicentennial Anniversary of the birth of its martyr President, Abraham Lincoln, whom Count Leo Tolstoi described as "Christ in minature," and who by universal consent is the most revered Citizen of the World because his immortality, to use the expression of Woodrow Wilson, "does not lie in any one of his achievements, but in his attitude towards mankind," and

Whereas, the entire world will never forget the intrepid spirit of justice and freedom in this great American martyr President, whose life exemplified the principle of charity toward all and malice toward none, and

Whereas, in these days of strain and stress, of gloom and vacillation, of a world "half free and half slave," a celebration revolving around our immortal martyr President, will result in the reaffirmation of Lincoln's teachings, the tonic values whereof have been, generation after generation, universally acknowledge, and

Whereas, of all the States of the Union, none can boast of more Lincoln lore than Pennsylvania, as it was on the soil of Pennsylvania that the immortal Gettysburg Address was delivered by Lincoln, coined in a few sentences that are considered as one of the greatest monuments of the English language, as well as a limpid spring of inspiration from which our Republic had drank heretofore and shall continue to drink henceforth, and

Whereas, with only a few years separating Pennsylvania from the celebration of the Centennial of the Battle of Gettysburg, it would be conducive to the spiritual ennoblement of our Citizenry to initiate a State-wide celebration of the Sesquicentennial of the birth of Abraham Lincoln, beginning with February 12, 1959 and thenceforth during the entire year of 1959.

Now, be it resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the General Assembly of Pennsylvania appoint a Commission, to be known as the "Abraham Lincoln Sesquicentennial Commission of Pennsylvania," to consist of six members, three of whom shall be appointed by the Speaker of the House on the part of the House of Representatives, and three of whom shall be appointed by the President pro tempore of the Senate on the part of the Senate of the General Assembly, the task whereof shall consist in evolving plans for a State-wide celebration of the Sesquicentennial of the birth of Abraham Lincoln, in order that said plans may be submitted in the form of a report to the General Assembly of Pennsylvania not later than March 15, 1959, for proper action and implementation.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION ADOPTED

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of the resolution just read.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the Senate adopt the resolution?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do adopt this resolution.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to and the resolution was adopted.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

SENATE RESOLUTION LAID ON THE TABLE

COMMITTEE ON ELECTIONS TO INQUIRE INTO THE QULIFICATIONS OF THE HONORABLE BENJAMIN R. DONOLOW

Mr. PROPERT offered the following resolution which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, January 6, 1959.

Certain members of the Senate have been reliably informed that the Honorable Benjamin R. Donolow, recently reelected to this body from the second Senatorial district, is not a resident of the district from which he was elected.

Section 5 of Article 2 of the Constitution of Pennsylvania requires that members of the Senate of Pennsylvania shall be "inhabitants of their respective districts one year next before their election . . . and shall reside in their respective districts during their terms of service."

It is necessary that this body require the observance of the above quoted constitutional mandate in order that each district be represented by one of its residents who may legally vote upon measures before this body; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Committee on Elections inquire into the qualifications of the Honorable Benjamin R. Donolow, particularly as to his residence within the district which he has been elected to represent within this body, in order to determine whether or not he is qualified to sit in this Senate as an elected member thereof; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee may hold hearings, take testimony and make its investigations at such places as it shall deem necessary within this Commonwealth. It may issue subpoenas under the hand and seal of its chairman, commanding any person to appear before it and to answer questions touching matters properly being inquired into by the committee, and to produce such books, papers, records and documents as the committee deems necessary. Any person who wilfully neglects or refuses to testify before the committee or to produce any books, papers, records or documents shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of the Commonwealth in such cases. Each member of the committee shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before the committee; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee make a report of its findings and recommendations to this body as soon as possible.

The PRESIDENT. Due to the absence of a committee, the resolution will be laid on the table.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. DONOLOW. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. DONOLOW. Mr. President, I would like to make a few remarks on the resolution which was just introduced.

Mr. President, I humbly apologize to the Members of the Senate, and to the friends and families gathered here today, that a controversy of this type should be interjected at this sort of festive and harmonious meeting. Mr. President, I want to make it clear on this resolution that I am ready, willing and able at all times to appear before the Committee, to give all types of evidence, oral, written or whatever is necessary, to eradicate this false claim which has been circulating since prior to election. I want to thank the gentleman from Montgomery County, Senator Propert, for introducing this resolution so that we may clear the air.

May I further state publicly to this Body that at no time will it ever be necessary to issue any subpoena for any records that I have, no matter how personal they may be. No matter how protected I shall be by law, I shall make everything available to the Committee at all times. I shall make sure that all others whom I may have some say over will appear before the Committee in order for the truth to be brought out.

Thank you very much, Mr. President.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WEINER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, we have felt the loss of Senator Yosko as greatly as anyone in this Commonwealth. Mr. President, I wish to take this opportunity to thank Senator Van Sant for inviting the members who live in his community to join in this tribute. We would like to take this opportunity to invite all the friends, associates and former associates of Senator Yosko to be present on this occasion when we can properly do justice to his memory and to the work which he did here.

Almighty and everlasting God, Who by the guiding of a star didst lead the Wise Men long ago to worship in adoration at the manger in Bethlehem, mercifully grant that we in the significance of this day who come to Thee in faith and confidence may receive from Thee the keen insight which was characteristic of those sages of old. Inspire in us the recognition of our own capacities and enlighten us with the need for sincere cooperation and enkindle within us the determination to work for the welfare of all the people of this great Commonwealth.

The CHIEF CLERK. Two Hundred seven members-elect having answered to their names a quorum is present.

PETITIONS PROTESTING THE SEATING OF LOUIS SIVERMAN AND JOHN R. GAILEY, JR.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON a Member-elect. Mr. Speaker I desire to make a statement with regard to the administering of the oath to the Members-elect. There are two Members who have presented their certificates of election, certified by the Secretary of the Commonwealth that each received a majority of the votes cast in his respective election district.

The right of these two Members to continue to hold their respective seats in this House has been seriously challenged and since this House has the Constitutional authority to judge the elections and qualifications of its members, I now bring the matter to its attention.

There has come into my hands, from certain citizens of Philadelphia and York Counties, two petitions questioning the Constitutional qualifications of one of their respective Representatives, and on behalf of these citizens of Philadelphia and York Counties, I file these petitions and trust that they be referred to the proper Committee for expeditious disposition.

A search of the authorities, both as to procedure and the law, forced us to the conclusion that the orderly way to transact the business of this House with regard to the seating of these two Members was to have the oath of office administered to them and then should any qualification questions arise, any questions as to their Constitutional qualification, they be presented to the House by the proper procedure, to be heard by the proper Committee.

TO THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE STATE OF PENNSYLVANIA

SUBDIRECTED TO THE HONORABLE HIRAM G. ANDREWS, SPEAKER OF THE SAID HOUSE:

PETITION PROTESTING THE SEATING OF LOUIS SILVERMAN, REPRESENTATIVE OF THE SIXTH LEGISLATIVE DISTRICT OF PHILADELPHIA COUNTY, PENNSYLVANIA

The Petition of the undersigned, citizens and electors of the Sixth Legislative District in and for Philadelphia County, Pennsylvania, respectfully represents:

1. That Louis Silverman was certified by the County Election Board of Philadelphia County as having been elected a member of the House of Representatives of the State of Pennsylvania, from the Sixth Legislative District of Philadelphia County, Pennsylvania, on November 4, 1958.

2. That at the time of his election, the said Louis Silverman was not duly qualified to hold the office to which he was elected, for the reason that Louis Silverman had not been an inhabitant and resident of the district for one year next before the election of November 4, 1958, as required by the Constitution of Pennsylvania, Article II, Section 5.

3. That Article II, Section 5 of the Constitution of Pennsylvania provides that Senators and Representatives of the General Assembly "shall have been citizens and inhabitants of the State four years, and inhabitants of their respective districts one year next before their election (unless absent on the public business of the United States or of this State), and shall reside in their respective districts during their terms of service."

4. That Louis Silverman is an inhabitant and resides with his wife and family at 704 Chelten Hills Drive in Elkins Park, Montgomery County, Pennsylvania.

5. That the said Louis Silverman is not in inhabitant of the Sixth Legislative District of Philadelphia County, and does not reside at 1325 Green Street, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, as is represented on his candidate's affidavit accompanying his nominating petition.

6. That evidence, documentary and otherwise, is available to establish the fact that Louis Silverman was not an inhabitant of the Sixth Legislative District, Philadelphia County, Pennsylvania, for one year prior to the election of November 4, 1958 and that Louis Silverman is not now a resideint of said District.

7. That, pursuant to Article II, Section 9 of the Pennsylvania Constitution, the House of Representatives shall judge the elections and qualifications of its members.

WHEREFORE, for the reasons aforesaid, the said Louis Silverman should be expelled from the House of Representatives of the State of Pennsylvania; and therefore, your petitioners request the said House of Representatives to investigate the matter.

And they will ever pray.

That at the time of his election the said John R. Gailey, Jr. was not duly qualified to hold said office to which he was elected, for the reason that voters were paid by checks signed by John R. RESOLUTION

OATH TO BE ADMINISTERED TO MEMBERS-ELECT

Mr. YATRON a Member-elect, offered a resolution which was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, Tuesday, January 6, 1959.

Resolved, That the Honorable Albert S. Readinger, a Judge learned in the law, of the Court of Common Pleas of Berks County, be requested to administer the oath of office required by Article VII of the Constitution, to be taken by the Members of the House of Representatives.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED TO ESCORT HONORABLE ALBERT S. READINGER TO ROSTRUM

The CHIEF CLERK appoints the gentleman from Northumberland, Mr. Stank and the gentleman from Bedford, Mr. Stroup, to escort his Honor Judge Albert S. Readinger, Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Berks County, to the rostrum.

The Committee will proceed with the performance of its duty.

The CHIEF CLERK. The Chair recognizes the Chairman of the Committee of Escort.

The CHAIRMAN. Mr. Chief Clerk, I have the honor to present the Honorable Albert S. Readinger, Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Berks County.

The CHIEF CLERK. The Committee is discharged with the thanks of the House.

OATH ADMINISTERED TO MEMBERS-ELECT

The CHIEF CLERK. A Bible will be found in the desk of each Member-elect for those who swear by the Bible.

The Members-elect will rise, raise their right hands and remain standing at their desks during the administration of the oath of office.

The oath of office was then administered to two hundred and seven Members-elect by Honorable Albert S. Readinger as follows:

Do you solemnly swear, or affirm, that you will support, obey and defend the Constitution of the United States and the Constitution of this Commonwealth, and that you will discharge the duties of your office with fidelity; that you have not paid or contributed, or promised to pay or contribute, either directly or indirectly, any money or other valuable thing to procure your nomination or election, except for necessary and proper expenses expressly authorized by law; that you have not knowingly violated any election law of this Commonwealth, or procured it to be done by others in your behalf; that you will not knowingly receive, directly or indirectly, any money or other valuable thing for the performance or non-performance of any act or duty pertaining to your office, other than the compensation allowed by law?

The CHIEF CLERK. The Members and their guests are aware of the fact that Judge Readinger has served with great distinction for many years in this House. The Chair, at this time, will ask him to make a few remarks.

ADDRESS BY HONORABLE ALBERT S. READINGER

Hon. ALBERT S. READINGER. Mr. Chief Clerk, Members of the House, ladies and gentlemen. I truly feel at home here today when I look into that sea of smiling young faces with whom I associated for so many years. I assure you that I am a very happy person to have been invited here today to administer to you the oath of office.

I should confess to you, though, that the first day I knew I was going to be a Judge I came to Harrisburg in a hurry and I put in my request for this very job I am performing today. I did not want anybody to get in ahead of me.

I suppose I should take this occasion to give to you a lot of words of advice and wisdom, but I will spare you that. We have been listening to each other for so many years up here, absorbing the wisdom of all parts of the Commonwealth, that I know that nothing I could say would add to your already great store of wisdom. As the Commonwealth moves forward, of course, it will have many new problems. You have always dealt with them honestly, diligently and intelligently in the past and I know that you will continue to do that. So may I offer to you—and each of you—my heartiest congratulations and my best wishes to you for the coming session.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

The CHIEF CLERK. Are there any requests for leave of absence?

LEAVES OF ABSENCE

By unanimous consent leave of absence was granted as follows:

Mr. McCann for Messrs. MORAN and WALSH for today's session only.

RESOLUTION

ELECTION OF SPEAKER

Mr. TAYLOR offered a resolution which was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives,
January 6, 1959.

Resolved, that in accordance with the provisions of Article 2, Section 9 of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, the House shall now proceed to the election of a Speaker and that the Clerks act as Tellers.

NOMINATIONS FOR SPEAKER

The CHIEF CLERK. The House will now proceed to the election of a Speaker. Nominations are in order.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Chief Clerk and Members of the House, it is my privilege and certainly it is my pleasure at this time to make a nomination for the office of Speakership of this House.

During recent years there has been one among us, who on many and frequent occasions has counselled, given advice and informed this House on the many grave problems that came before it. At the same time, when tensions were high, tempers were rising, he came forth with a spirit of good humor, of wit, which on many occasions reduced and entirely dissipated those tensions.

The gentlemen who I am about to nominate has won the love and the respect of all who know him and he has won that respect by diligent work, by fairness and by his high principles. We all know, we all respect the various counsels this gentleman has given us over the years. But to me personally, and I believe to most of you, the outstanding contribution to this House that has been made by this gentleman has been his insistance upon maintaining the position of the House of Representatives, by maintaining and establishing the dignity of the House as a body, insisting upon its position as a co-equal on legislative matters, and also protecting and maintaining the rights and the dignities of the individual membership.

Mr. Chief Clerk, it is my pleasure to place in nomination for the position of Speaker of the House of Representatives, my colleague, the gentleman from Cambria County, Hiram G. Andrews.

The CHIEF CLERK. The gentleman from Cambria County, Mr. Lopresti, places in nomination for the position of Speaker, the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Hiram G. Andrews.

Mr. HELM. Mr. Chief Clerk, ladies and gentleman of the House of Representatives, my present duty may not have much political pleasure for me personally, but I do take a great deal of personal pleasure in seconding the nomination of the Honorable Hiram G. Andrews for Speaker of the House of Representatives.

A custom that has been used for many years in the Hall of this House was by-passed on opening day of the 1957 Session. Many of you who served during the last session will recall that the custom to which I have reference is that of the Minority Party offering candidates for nomination for various offices of this House. This formality was dispensed with and the Speaker at that time was unanimously chosen to serve. The word "unanimous" rings a good sound in the ears of all people, especially in the Halls of the Legislature. Unanimous action in the selection of the officers, to my mind, lays the groundwork for cooperation and good will between parties.

Perhaps a more important reason for us to by-pass this custom today is brought about by the sound selection that has been made by the Majority Party in naming as their candidate for Speaker of the House the Honorable Hiram G. Andrews. Very few, and none of you who really know him, would oppose his being named to this particular post. His wisdom and his knowledge is the result of having served for many years in top-level legislative capacities.

In addition, he has been untiring in securing proper recognition for the Members of the Legislature and for the legislative branch of this government. Since the Democrats have had control of the House of Representatives following the recent November election, there never was any question about the Republicans supporting the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews, as the candidate for Speaker. We of the Minority Party are highly honored to have such a distinguished Legislator to serve us and for these reasons I propose that Hiram G. Andrews be unanimously selected to serve as Speaker of the House.

Therefore, I now move that nominations for Speaker of the House be closed.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was unanimously agreed to.

Hiram G. Andrews of Cambria County was unanimously elected by a rising vote.

The CHIEF CLERK. There being no other nominations, the Honorable Hiram G. Adams is unanimously declared elected Speaker of this House.

The Chair requests the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Helm, the former Speaker of the House, to take the Chair and preside at this time.

Mr. HELM IN THE CHAIR.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED TO ESCORT SPEAKER-ELECT TO ROSTRUM

Mr. HELM. The Chair appoints the gentleman from Cambrie, Mr. Lopresti, and the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson to escort Speaker-elect Hiram G. Andrews, to the rostrum.

The committee will proceed in the performance of its duties.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED TO ESCORT JUDGE IVAN J. McKENDRICK TO ROSTRUM

Mr. HELM. The Chair appoints the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Rovansek and the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Auker to escort to the rostrum His Honor, Ivan J. McKendrick, President-Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Cambria County, who has been requested by the Speaker-elect to administer the oath of office to him.

The committee will proceed in the performance of its duties.

OATH OF OFFICE ADMINISTERED TO SPEAKER-ELECT

The oath of office was administered to the Honorable Hiram G. Andrews, Speaker-elect of the House of Representatives by the Honorable Ivan J. McKendrick, President Judge of Common Pleas Court of Cambria County.

Mr. HELM. Members of the House, the Chair at this time would like to present to the Members of the House a very personal friend of the Speaker of the House of Representatives, the Honorable Ivan J. McKendrick.

ADDRESS BY HONORABLE IVAN J. McKENDRICK

Hon. IVAN J. McKENDRICK. Four years ago, in this appointed place, it was my privilege to administer the oath of office to your Speaker. Today, I have again performed that service for my friend of the years whom I respect politically and admire personally. I am indebted to him for many kindnesses in the past and this is a proud moment for me.

In honoring Hi Andrews, the people of Pennsylvania have honored themselves.

By your gracious act today, you have honored not only Hi Andrews, but yourselves as well.

We, of Cambria County who know him as a friend and neighbor, will continue to vouch for his patriotism, his integrity and his zeal for equal justice for all. His pen and his voice, and he is a master in the use of both, have always been ready and available in the interest of good government, which is the crown of all legislation.

His long experience will be a lamp to light his way in the future. Emerson has said that > Nature now puts an old head on young shoulders and then a young heart beating under four-score winters."

With your honored Speaker, the years that have come and gone have not abated his powers nor dimmed his vision of what Pennsylvania, with your help, can be.

As Speaker, he will not become entangled in the meshes of parliamentary procedures.

I'm sure you will agree that Hi knows his way around. His forthright approach to the problems the General Assembly must meet and solve, will give direction to the things that so vitally affect the destiny of all of us. I know personally, that Hi would have preferred to serve in the ranks, rather than as a part of the "Big Brass; to run with the foot-men;" but, if the battle demands, willing and able to "contend with (the) horses." Parenthetically, the allusion is to the 5th verse of the 12th chapter of Jeremiah; I commend it to your reading.

Pennsylvania needs Hi Andrews and others like him and his own Cambria County presents him to the service of our common state.

He is a man of abiding faith in humanity and humanity's God; a good man whose word is his bond.

When the poet, Robert Browning, penned the first stanza of Rabbi Ben Ezra, he must have had in mind those of whom your Speaker is a prototype. "Grow old along with me."

Hiram, you will bear your honors with becoming humility, and, as you and Mrs. Andrews walk together along the pathway of life, may you both have abundant health, supreme happiness and no little prosperity.

Mr. HELM. The Chair thanks the Honorable Judge McKendrick.

The Chair points out that early in 1957 he learned that this particular type gavel was not sufficient and I think it was demonstrated today, was it not.

Will the Speaker-elect present himself to the Chair.

Mr. Speaker, two years ago you gave me what I think was one of the greatest thrills I have ever known. I have the opportunity today to return to you and to entrust to your care the gavel of this House of Representatives that you so ably used in 1955. I return it to you with the sincere hope that you will enjoy your reign as Speaker of this House as I have during the past two years.

I return it to you with the hope that you do not retain it too long.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) IN THE CHAIR.

The SPEAKER. Mr. Speaker, were I your enemy rather than your friend, I might find it in my heart to envy the distinction with which you have served.

You, sir, have been a gentleman in the political realm in which you have functioned, and as a presiding officer over the deliberations of this House, you have been a Speaker whose decisions have known no master except the traditions and rules of this branch of Pennsylvania's General Assembly.

If punctuality is the politeness of kings, you are indeed of royal lineage. I receive this gavel, Mr. Speaker, from your hands, fully realizing the responsibilities which, as a symbol, it represents.

In the days to come, Mr. Speaker, I will feel free to go to you for active assistance and advice.

As you have pointed out, two years ago it was my privilege to place this symbol in your keeping. Today you transfer it into my keeping.

Perhaps this symbol may again be transferred into your keeping.

Who knows?

The traditions of this House make it certain that I will not come this way again.

Thank you, sir, and may you and yours always travel safely in the hollow of God's hand.

First of all, I hope the learned Judge's remarks are imprinted in the record. If I ever appear before him I want to be prepared to shove them in his face.

And now I am enmeshed in mazes of protocol. If I err as to precedence, it is because I have lacked contact in the circles of the mighty.

I salute the members of the Governor's Cabinet, now serving, and Cabinet members-designate.

I salute those who serve this Commonwealth at lesser levels

I salute distinguished guests from all sections of our Commonwealth.

And I salute you as Members of this House, a co-ordinate branch of our state government, functioning within the confines of a constitutional mandate. I say to you that we have duties to perform that cannot be wholly committed into the sole keeping and control of any of the other coordinate branches of the government through which we serve.

I would be remiss if I failed to point out that the happy situation we face today could not have been made real, lacking the constructive assistance of the Republican party's State Chairman and the leaders of his party whose advice he sought, and whose decisions, as to initial policies, he made real.

I thank him, not only on behalf of the Members of the General Assembly, but on behalf of the people of our Commonwealth.

However, the course followed by the Republican Party's State Chairman would have been of little avail lacking the cooperation, the leadership, of Pennsylvania's next Governor and his ringing declaration that partisan bickerings that seek only to achieve a transient partisan advantage have no place in our thinking.

Some weeks ago the leaders of the Republican Party convened, and when they convened they framed a brief statement of policy, a statement designed to serve as a yardstick with which they would measure legislation that will be proposed for the consideration of Pennsylvania's General Assembly in the months to come.

These, they said, were the tests they would apply:

Is it right?

Is it good for all the people?

Will it work?

Can taxpayers afford it?

We accept that formula, and will vie with you gentlemen on my left in our allegiance to such a basic test.

We cannot hope to create a political and parliamentary millenium. There will be times when tempers will flicker and flame momentarily, but come day, go day, we can start out working together in good faith, and continue doing so.

And I proclaim to you today my personal conviction that constructive party service is not a crime, and also my further conviction that there is no proper place in the public service for those who hold that politics is a disgusting business and that politician is a dirty word. And there have been such in the councils of our state.

Ladies and gentlemen of the House, and poltical leaders great and small, I say to you that undoubtedly there is a providence that shapes our ends, rough hew them though we may.

Sometimes the Democratic process may actually be wiser than it plans. Events and the wisdom of the electorate compel us to change our traditional legislative technique if Pennsylvania's General Assembly is not to become an object of derision.

Heretofore we have accorded might the right to rule. In our present situation reason and intelligent persuasion can be accorded the right to rule.

There are those who apparently have failed to realize the significance of the recent election. The contest did not produce an austerlitz for Republicans, or a waterloo for Democrats. Instead, it was a leipzig for all concerned.

At the last election two parties fought a battle, a contest that neither party won.

The devotion to party was undoubtedly being overemphasized in all political quarters. Feuds, real and insipient, threatened to disrupt party ranks on both sides on the center aisle. Personal antipathies threatened to over-shadow principles.

What did the people say to us at the recent election? They said to us: "Forget for a time purely party victories for party's sake. These are critical days. Stop your quarreling and follow your statesmen."

Ladies and gentlemen of the House, the people have placed us in a position in which we must necessarily make our choice between cooperation, conciliation, honest compromise and utter and complete chaos.

It would be well to remember that our party and partly both parties, and our parliamentary system are on trial. It would also be well to remember that this General Assembly, of which we are Members, and also the next administration, inherits an era of real accomplishment. Ours is the opportunity to add to past achievements and to our own merit rating.

Let us not be among those who attempt to add to the glamor of future achievements by partisan denunciation of past achievements.

I say to you that when private spites and personal feuds are not even a footnote to the story, history will say that James Duff, John Fine, and George Leader were good Governors, and that each succeeding Legislature during our era has advanced the standard of concrete accomplishment.

We, too, in our brief day, must press forward. Common sense, integrity, and courage does it!

There will be a need for courage. Father Penn, in his day, spawned many children—he created counties, cities, boroughs, townships—and sent them forth into the economic world on their own.

It has come about through these years that these children, the grandchildren, the great grandchildren, and the great-great grandchildren of the entities that Father Penn created, are coming to him in their real or imagined hour of need and pleading: "If you do not help us, we will perish."

It will perhaps be our duty to help develop avenues of self-help for those who would saddle an ever-increasing load of responsibility for local situations upon Father Penn's tiring shoulders.

There is another field in which there is a reconstruction job to do. There is need for a reconstruction of the public psychology concerning taxes.

Perhaps in this mission an enlightened Press could help create a more enlightened view than now prevails concerning the function of the tax dollar.

Taxes, wisely administered and justly apportioned, are actually instruments of service rather than burdens. Taxes, indeed, are the strong pillars that uphold our economic and social structure.

Without taxes we would become and remain a primitive people. Without taxes property values would crumble into nothingness.

Taxes are an instrumentality that creates new values and maintains existing values.

Within a definite range, a range that can be scientifically ascertained, taxes actually stimulate our economy.

But there is a point at which increased tax levies sap our economy.

In ascertaining the point at which taxes cease to be the motivating agency and become an economic burden, we welcome the advice and the constructive assistance of the financial experts.

Ladies and gentlemen of the House, there are many things that I want to say to you, but I cannot, with due deference to the patience of our distinguished guests, say them now.

I am no stranger in this Hall. Whatever my past offending may have been, there is no one who can say that my determination to help advance the prestige and correct functioning of this House has ever faltered.

If we are to serve well, we must be well served. The time must come when every chairman of every major committee has an office—an office of his own—an office in which he is provided with competent secretarial help.

It is our business to establish the fact that we most emphatically are not a lower House. The world should know it is our intention to claim and maintain an equality in the matter of the facilities we need with the distinguished statesmen who serve our Commonwealth in another place.

During the years, we have been crowded and pushed around. We must, and we will, obtain the space we need if we are to do a reasonably efficient job.

Now is the time, and I speak to my colleagues on my right, to make certain that the minority group in this house is always accorded equality as to facilities with the majority group.

Incidentlly, in the past the majority group in this House has not always made intelligent use of its facilities and it has failed to provide adequate facilities for the majority.

Confidentially, I must needs say that while the Speaker functions in an ornate grand central station, the present Majority Leader in this House now functions, and has functioned, in quarters so confined, so congested, that they bear more resemblance to a dump than they do to a palace.

I say to the Majority and Minority Members of this House, that is a situation that should be corrected. The people were so glad to move up from up there! The gentleman from McKean will acknowledge having moved into far more commodious and convenient and well-furnished quarters than the man who was so tickled to come down and take his place.

I am sometimes led to believe that we have been down-graded in the estimate of Press and public because we have down-graded ourselves.

It is to be hoped that Bureaus, Departments, and our next Governor will cooperate with us in our search for space—space in which to operate efficiently.

In this mater, I assure you that the Chair will endeavor to become increasingly adept in the art of gentle persuasion. Our assets, ladies and gentlemen of the House, will be—must be—courage, conviction and a plan.

And I hope that in our planning we will accept the test:

Is it right?

Is it good for all the people?

Will it work?

Can taxpayers afford it?

And that is the end of the statement I desire to make.

Ladies and gentlemen of the House, I want to say before going on with other business that I miss some familiar faces.

Some of the Legislative Engineers are not present with us, much to my regret, but I rather imagine that is because in past sessions in the early days of the session, these gentlemen preferred to foregather in some other place and only gave us the privilege of their presence during the closing days of our session. And so I think it was the decision that until they were willing to accord us a greater amount of attention than they accorded the people who serve in another place we just don't have legislative engineers lined up.

I just have one further word. I have some guests whom I cherish with a particular affection. There are some of the nephews with us today and we picked out the littlest ones—the littlest ones—to come. And so I would ask William Clark, Walter Clark, Donald Clark and their wives to stand up and take a bow. Out in our neck of the woods we raise them big and we raise them pretty.

NOTIFICATION SENATE IS ORGANIZED

SERGEANT-AT-ARMS. Mr. Speaker, the Committee on the part of the Senate.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the Committee on the part of the Senate.

Mr. KELLER. Mr. Speaker, the Committee on the part of the Senate informs the House that the Senate is now organized and ready to proceed with business of the session.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the Committee on the part of the Senate.

Members of the House, with the "old master" at your left you do not have to have any brains; if you just start your mouth going he tells you what to say.

THANKS TO CHIEF CLERK

The SPEAKER. The Chair extends the sincere thanks of the House, and we mean sincere, to the Chief Clerk for the able manner in which he has conducted the organization proceeding, and to Earl Price, who has rendered such invaluable assistance.

ELECTION OF CHIEF CLERK

The SPEAKER. The Chair will now proceed to the election of a Chief Clerk.

Mr. Hamilton offered a resolution which was read as follows:

In the House of Representatives,
Tuesday, January 6, 1959.

Resolved, That Joseph Ominsky, of Philadelphia County, be elected Chief Clerk of this House of Representatives.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. HAMILTON. Mr. Speaker, Members of the House, I offer this resolution in behalf of the Honorable Joseph Ominsky of Philadelphia, who was a former Member of this House and who has had his education, both as a lawyer, an accountant, and an engineer.

From his former activities in our House he certainly will be a man who knows what the Members of this House will need and will be at all times at their service. I am sure that all of the Members of this House will enjoy the new Chief Clerk, the Honorable Joseph Ominsky from Philadelphia.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, it seems but yesterday that the gavel fell sine die on the 1957 Session. Since that time many outstanding and important things have happened in the nation and in the world, and we can thank God that our democracy today thrives and flourishes. It is great for all of us to be here on this the 143rd Session of the General Assembly of Pennsylvania.

I think we should welcome here today our guests. We are certainly honored by having these fine people from Pennsylvania here to see us organize our House. You folks, our guests, are here seeing in action one of the finest deliberative bodies in the nation, and we who are Members are proud to represent you.

I think these beautiful floral tributes that are on our desks today are emblematic of the high esteem in which the people of this great state hold their General Assembly. Let all of us, as our Speaker in his speech stated, work hard that we will have a successful Session. All of us want a short business-like session. The people of Pennsylvania, I believe, have given us a mandate to get down to work, to solve the problems that face the Commonwealth and to do our job with dispatch. I am sure we all pledge to the people that we will do that very job.

In order to have a successful Session and get the work under way we depend quite largely on the men up front. We need able, efficient personnel up there directing our efforts and helping us in every way. The office of Chief Clerk, therefore, is a highly important office. It is one of the most important offices in this General Assembly. It is the one office that we all have direct contact with, it is the person we go to with many of our problems and for much help throughout this Capitol.

We therefore, as I stated, want a good man for the job. The man who has been nominated for the job, as the gentleman from Beaver has stated, is an outstanding individual. He was one of the former Members of this General Assembly, and by the way, he is an outstanding successful practicing attorney. He is just what the doctor ordered, just what we need for this successful 1959 Session. I met him for the first time two weeks ago. I find that he is a very friendly, amiable, cooperative and I might say a highly intelligent person. He should make a great Chief Clerk.

I, therefore, second the nomination of Joseph Ominsky for the office of Chief Clerk, and I move that the nominations be closed.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

The SPEAKER. You have in your wisdom elected a thoroughly capable and efficient man as Chief Clerk.

The Chair would recognize the new Chief Clerk for the purpose of making a few remarks.

The CHIEF CLERK. (Joseph Ominsky) Mr. Speaker, I rise to thank the membership of this great deliberative body for their confidence in electing me to be its Chief Clerk and especially do I extend thanks to the gentleman from Beaver, Mr. Hamilton, for his gracious remarks when he proposed my name, and to the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, for seconding my nomination and closing the nominations.

Appreciation also is extended to my predecessors, the Honorable Lloyd H. Wood and Mr. Earl Price, for their generous assistance to me during the many days we spent preparing for the organization of this House.

Today, ladies and gentlemen of this House, we see how true democracy works, wherein government is ruled by the majority will of the citizens of our great Commonwealth. When the Minority joins with the Majority in approving the officers proposed by the Majority of this House without a dissenting vote, it is real democracy in action.

As your Chief Clerk I will make no distinction between Minority and Majority in my official capacity during my term of office and my staff shall be given specific instructions to service all the Members alike.

Having had the honor, as was indicated before of serving several terms as a Member of this House I fully realize the requirements and the needs of the membership, especially the necessities of those who are serving for the first time, and I shall try with all the sincerity and capabilities that God gave me to fulfill these requirements.

All I ask of you Members of this House is to cooperate with the understanding that I know all of you possess. May we have, Mr. Speaker, a fruitful Session, one that will be beneficial to the people of this great Commonwealth, and may the Lord grant all of us the wisdom, the courage and the strength to carry out our tasks in the best traditions of this House.

I thank you.

RESOLUTION

ELECTION OF SECRETARY

Mr. WHEELER offered a resolution which was read as follows:

In the House of Representatives,
Tuesday, January 6, 1959.

Resolved, That Paul C. Moomaw, of Franklin County, be elected Secretary of this House of Representatives.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. GIBSON. Mr. Speaker, ladies and gentlemen of the House, it is a distinct honor and pleasure today to comment briefly on the nomination just placed before the House.

My good friend and former colleague, Paul Moomaw, the gentleman from Franklin County, served this House during the 1955 Session, with distinction. A few minutes ago our Floor Leader on this side commented that the nominee for Chief Clerk was just what the doctor ordered. Well, Mr. Speaker, I have been reliably informed that today is the birthday of the gentleman from Franklin, and it gives me great pleasure to wish Paul Moomaw success in his new office and a very happy birthday which I express for all the Members of the House.

Mr. Speaker, I move that the nomination for office of Secretary of the House be closed.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

The SPEAKER. The oldtimers in this House remember the Legislative name made famous quite a number of years ago of Moomaw-Moran—the celebrated Moomaw-Moran Bill. The Chair is now pleased to recognize the senior Member of that old time combination, our new Secretary of the House, Mr. Moomaw.

The SECRETARY. (Paul C. Moomaw). Mr. Speaker, Members of the House and guests, it is certainly an honor to have been selected again to be your Secretary during this two-year term.

I recall having been your Secretary during the 1955-56 Session and I made every effort to be of service to all the Members in my capacity as Secretary and, if during this term, I can improve upon that service it will be my every effort to do so.

I want at this time also to thank Mr. Wheeler and Mr. Gibson for placing my name in nomination and for seconding the nominations and making it unanimous.

I, like the Chief Clerk, believe that this unanimous election means that we should have unanimous action, and we will certainly give unanimous representation to all the Members of the House in the services which my office can perform.

I thank you very much.

COMMITTEE TO ESCORT CHIEF CLERK AND SECRETARY

The SPEAKER. The Chair appoints Mr. Wood, retiring Chief Clerk, and Mr. Waterhouse, retiring Secretary, as a committee to escort the chief clerk and Secretary to the Bar of the House where the oath of office will be administered to them.

If there are any Members-elect who have not yet taken the oath of office, they will present themselves at the Bar of the House.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, one of our Members for whom we requested a leave of absence, the Honorable J. P. Moran of Allegheny County, has arrived, and we would like for him to take the oath of office at this time with the officers of the House.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Moran, will present himself at the Bar of the House.

Mr. WOOD. It is a pleasure on behalf of Secretary Waterhouse and myself to have the privilege of presenting for the administering of the oath of office, not only the new Chief Clerk and Secretary, but an old former colleague of mine, still a Member of the House, the Member from Allegheny, Mr. J. P. Moran.

The SPEAKER. The Chair requests Judge Readinger to administer the oath to the officers of the House and the Member from Allegheny County.

OATH OF OFFICE ADMINISTERED TO THE CHIEF CLERK, SECRETARY AND MEMBER-ELECT J. P. MORAN

The oath of office was then administered to Joseph Ominsky, Chief Clerk-elect, Paul C. Moomaw, Secretary-elect of the House and J. P. Moran, Member-elect by the Honorable Albert S. Readinger.

APPOINTMENT OF PARLIAMENTARIAN

The SPEAKER. In compliance with the Act of the General Assembly approved the 28th day of May, 1931, P. L. 201, as amended, the Speaker appoints S. Edward Moore of Cumberland County, as Parliamentarian of the House of Representatives.

The Chair recognizes the Parliamentarian.

Mr. MOORE. Mr. Speaker, thank you very much for reappointing me Parliamentarian of the House. This is my Golden Anniversary of legislative service—fifty years filled with wonderful memories. Believe it or not, I might make it for fifty more.

Thank you.

The SPEAKER. If the Parliamentarian ever writes and publishes his memoirs during our lifetime some of us probably had better prepare to take up permanent residence in Florida.

FINAL MESSAGE OF GOVERNOR GEORGE M. LEADER

January 6, 1959.

To the Honorable, the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

It is a time-honored custom that the outgoing Governor address this distinguished body one last time before relinquishing the reins of office to his successor.

That address takes place at a moment of transition, at a moment when the departing Administration prepares to make way for the new; at a moment when the Legislature is readying itself for the tasks ahead; at a moment when the Governor-to-be is pondering the course he will chart during his own term of office.

And so, as the history of the Commonwealth pauses between the chapter written and the chapter to come, custom decrees that the outgoing Governor account for his Administration's stewardship; and present a balance sheet of the Commonwealth's governmental assets and liabilities as of the moment.

Call the Governor's final message a valedictory, if you like; or call it a swan song. My point is that the custom has merit. For if we use this short-lived interval to recapitulate what has gone before, it is likely to give us perspective in our attempt to consider what lies ahead.

As to what lies ahead, this is your province—yours and my successor's. For make no mistake: I do not, as the retiring Governor, intend to tinker with this Legislature and its works. I shall make no recommendations to you, for it is neither my duty, my prerogative, nor my wish. But I shall, with your indulgence, express my opinions on a few pertinent subjects.

Neither is it my intention to spell out, word by word, the accomplishments we have registered together during these past four years; or, by the same token, our failures to accomplish what we could, or should have.

Just as we share the credit for what was well done, we must stand together to divide whatever blame accrues for what we failed to do.

In any case, a detailed recountal will be appended to my remarks.

And I predict that you will find the list of our accomplishments long and impressive.

Nevertheless, the veterans of those past two sessions will confirm that few of our achievements were easily registered. For the most part, they were hammered out the hard way on the anvil of partisan give-and-take.

This makes them all the more remarkable, in my view.

For the separation of powers doctrine, which divides the executive from the legislative branch of government, has, during the past four years, been carried one step further.

The electorate separated us politically as well.

During the 1955 session, my party held the House but not the Senate. And during the 1957 session, the voters—who rule us all—gave their Democratic Governor a Republican House and Senate to work with.

This is no longer an unusual situation, either in Pennsylvania or elsewhere. We see it in other states. And roughly the same thing has happened—although with opposite party alignments—in our National Government. Indeed, my successor will in his turn face an identical condition of affairs to my own in terms of the Legislature's political structure.

Now, I doubt that a Democratic Congress is altogether to President Eisenhower's liking. I would be less than candid if I told you that this was the way I, myself, had wanted the two past Legislatures to be comprised. And I suspect that our incoming Governor would rather have the members of his own party in control of both House and Senate.

Even so. The government of this Nation has not ground to a halt because the Chief Executive must work with Democratic legislators. Neither has the Commonwealth's government grappled in fruitless deadlock during these past four years.

The executive and legislative branches have contended here in Pennsylvania, yes. But we have somehow avoided stalemate, if not partisanship. And when the sound and fury have subsided, we have somehow found ourselves standing together on the flat common ground of agreement; or sharing a precarious foothold along the same slope.

If ever a testimonial has been written to the workability of the two-party system under the most difficult conditions, we have written it together in Pennsylvania during these past two legislative sessions.

That testimonial has been written in an amalgam of our collective sweat, occasional blood, and sometime tears.

But to what degree history will evaluate the product of our mutual effort, only time can tell. Perhaps rashly, let me hazard my own guess:

I believe that history will ultimately record that these were four highly productive years for Pennsylvania.

And in this valedictory mood, this is what consoles me when I think of the programs this Administration tried, and failed to get. I find added comfort in the knowledge that your new Governor will, in many cases, attempt once more to win your consent to these measures.

Furthermore, our incoming Governor will assume his office equipped—as few men before him have ever been—to assume the enormous responsibility of administering this Commonwealth's governmental affairs.

We have seen him in action as Mayor of Pittsburgh. We have seen him breathe life into a dying city. We have seen his ability to unite people, regardless of their backgrounds, skills, politics, credos, and diversities: unite them into a solid phalanx of civic effort.

In a word, we have seen David L. Lawrence as a leader.

I predict that he will be a magnificent Governor. And I predict that the four years ahead will be great years for this Commonwealth.

For in addition to his leadership, his political and governmental skill, my successor has that sense of humanity, that gift of human concern, without which no man should seek this office.

And so the programs this Administration began, or expanded, fall into capable and sympathetic hands. An outgoing Governor can ask for nothing more.

In just a few days now, the inaugural ceremonies will be held.

Remembering my own inaugural address, I recall saying:

"We will act in the fields of social progress, the things of humane concern such as public health, the care of retarded children and the mentally ill, the advancement of public education . . .

"We will act to conserve and to develop for our wise use the natural resources of our state, to purify its streams, to increase its opportunities for outdoor recreation . . ."

The people of this State have the right to know just how well this Administration has lived up to the pledges I made for it on that cold January day four years ago.

Let me mention just a few of our accomplishments.

I am proudest, I think, of what we have done for the mentally ill.

At long last, we have begun to do what we should have been doing many years ago: the Commonwealth has recognized and shouldered its responsibility to the mentally ill.

It has taken a crash program to get us started. Even with that crash program we have far to go. But we're getting there.

By changing our approach from one of custody to one of care, by intensive treatment, some of our hospitals are now discharging 65 to 90 per cent of their newly admitted patients within a period of one to three months. Reprieved from the world of shadows, we are now sending these Pennsylvanians back to their homes, their families, their jobs, as healthy, productive citizens.

This is humanity in action. It is also economy in its truest sense.

Mental illness, as all of us know, is like any other disease: it is easier to cure if treated in its earliest stages. The big thing is to treat it—and treat it intensively—as soon as possible.

To underline the point, let me remind you that nearly 17,000 of our mental patients have been in State institutions from 15 to 45 years. To a great extent they should be considered as casualties of the custodial approach, casualties of the false economy we practiced for so many years.

We are still not doing all we should, or all we could. But for the first time in the history of the Commonwealth, we are managing to reduce the over-all patient population in our mental institutions. We have, as a matter of fact, 2200 fewer patients in our hospitals today than we had a few years ago. Yet we are admitting more patients than ever before.

If we sustain this program of intensive treatment; if we improve it as it should be improved we shall be harvesting human lives and saving tax dollars in the long run. But we are not yet over the crest of the hill.

Much still remains to be done, such as meeting the pressing need for more community psychiatric clinics. Budget-slashing in an area of this kind—and we had it in 1957—is, in my view, a false economy.

Now when you cure a mentally ill person, you restore him to productive life. He becomes a wage-earner and a taxpayer instead of a non-productive hospital patient.

This is not true of the severely retarded child. There is little salvage to be derived from the care and treatment of the so-called crib case—at least, in terms of the community's well-being.

Here, the argument of economy does ot hold good. It is overridden by the argument of decency, humanity, moral obligation.

And as an argument, it is sufficiently eloquent to prevail.

This is why we have spent some of the taxpayers' hard-earned dollars to help our severely retarded children. I am proud of it; and I am proud that the Legislature saw this problem the same way.

For when this Administration took office, many of our institutions for the severely retarded were a rebuke to humanity. They were overcrowded, with bed touching bed. They were understaffed—and badly. And some of them had waiting lists that were years long.

We have acted in an area too long overlooked. We have eased the overcrowding. We have increased staff. We have modernized and expanded and improved our facilities, and we are building more of them. Gradually, we are cutting down on those waiting lists.

We must keep at it.

Now that vast majority of handicapped children don't need institutional care. The crippled, the hard-of-hearing, the less severely retarded, the children with speech difficulties and sight problems—these, given the chance, can become valuable, selfsupporting citizens in due course.

But if they are to learn how to make the most of their Godgiven abilities, if they are to find whatever happiness lies in store for them, if they are to adjust to life in an unhandicapped world, they must be given the chance.

We are giving it to them through special classes in our public schools—special classes under specially trained teachers.

As of this moment, we have more than 111,000 children enrolled in these special classes. That's the bright side of the picture. But there's the dark side to remember: better than 36,000 others who need special classes if they are to get an education are not getting those classes now.

Here again the job is not yet complete—nor will it be until every child in this State can get a free education to the limit of his ability.

Rich child or poor, lucky child or handicapped, he has a right to a fair share in the common inheritance of tomorrow. It is up to us to prepare him for that inheritance.

And so we build more classrooms, not only for the handicapped, but for all of our children. I am proud that this Administration has carried on a school-building program unrivalled in America's history.

During the past four years the Legislature brought to $925 million the total amount of school construction authorized for subsidization by the Commonwealth.

The sum was huge, but the need was great. It is still great, and it will remain so for years to come. In part this is due to the Commonwealth's failure in the past to keep our educational facilities up to scratch. And in part it is the result of a soaring birth-rate which has produced a bumper crop of school-age children.

The fact is that the Department of Public Instruction now has some 550 new school projects before it for approval. And these cannot be cleared for construction with State reimbursement unless the Legislature once more increases its authorization limit.

The question is, are all these new schools necessary?

I asked the question rhetorically, of course. These new schools are definitely necessary to accommodate increasing enrollment; or to replace the 315 schools which the Department of Public Instruction rates obsolete, inadequate, or potentially unsafe. We want none of our children to attend schools presenting risks of a disaster like that which struck an elementary school in Chicago!

I am happy to say that we are increasing the number of our teachers, and that we are paying them better.

Further, we have revised our public school curriculum, so that our children are getting a better education; more English, more foreign languages, more instruction in reading; more science; more mathematics, grade by grade.

We are moving closer every day to our goal of a State park within 25 miles of every Pennsylvanian. Four new parks have already been built, and another six are under construction.

And in the general field of conservation, it is recognized that we have been able to achieve the best professional direction of our Department of Forests and Waters since the days of Gifford Pinchot.

Our clean streams program, for instance, is more vigorous than ever.

And we are working steadily and effectively in the vital field of flood control.

In all of the Commonwealth's programs, one fact stands out:

No program can be effectively carried out unless we have firstrate people in jobs which call for special training or special skills.

And so this Administration has tried to build a trained corps of technological and professional personnel, selected by merit, and protected in their careers.

We cannot get, or keep these people through the time-worn methods of patronage as usual, for we are forced to compete with private industry and with other public bodies for their skills and talents.

Accordingly, we have placed better than 10,000 professional and technological Commonwealth employees under civil service— this by Executive Board action. This includes some 154 people in the central offices of the Department of Public Welfare, who were put on the merit system early in December.

I feel sure that this Legislature will give these essential career personnel the civil service protection of statute law, for without their skills and talents, we cannot engineer highways, manage our forests, direct industrial development programs, treat the mentally ill, or carry out with efficiency and continuity the important programs for which the Commonwealth is responsible.

Agreement with this principle was, I am happy to say, expressed in the platforms of both parties during the recent campaign.

Not the least of our accomplishments was registered when the 1955 Legislature revised our occupational disease, workmen's compensation, and unemployment compensation laws.

At the time these badly needed revisions were made, we could not, of course, foresee the coming recession. But because we acted when we did, we were able to cushion—at least to some extent—the sharp impact of the recession on our out-of-work people.

And here we come back to one of the Commonwealth's long standing and most serious problems: unemployment.

One out of five Pennsylvanians still lives in an area of chronic labor surplus.

Joblessness was a problem when I took office, and it is a problem still.

That's why, in my inaugural speech, I said that all our actions in the fields of social progress and conservation "have their source in one great fundamental—the enduring prosperity of the people of the state; the development of constantly increasing employment opportunities in our economy for today's population and the rising population of tomorrow.

"We must face the fact," I said, "that growth and development are not automatic, and we are in competition with other states and other regions."

I promised that this Administration would give top priority to the basic necessity of creating jobs for the jobless.

And so this Administration has.

We reorganized the Department of Commerce from top to bottom, and hired experts in the field of industrial development. We followed the recommendation of a bipartisan tax study committee and, for the first time in many years, we are now exempting manufacturers from the capital stock tax.

With a healthier tax climate for industry, we have coupled another effective tool—the Pennsylvania Industrial Development Authority, which was created with the bipartisan support of the Legislature.

The upshot of our over-all program is what experts have called the most aggressive and successful industrial development program in the United States.

The record bears out this estimate. During the past two years, better than 60,000 new job opportunities have been created within our State. PIDA alone has put up second-mortgage funds for 71 new plants which will provide

UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS LIBRARY

11,841 new jobs and a total annual payroll exceeding $38 million.

At the moment, however, PIDA is temporarily halted for lack of funds. In my opinion, it will be one of this Legislature's most important tasks to consider another appropriation for this self-liquidating program. Eventually, PIDA will be a revolving fund, with repaid loans furnishing the money for new loans.

A word about highways.

We now have under way the greatest highway building program in our history.

We have completed thousands of miles of high type new roads, hundreds of miles of modern four-lane highways, and construction or improvement of more than 700 bridges.

Our maintenance program is continuing. And we are taking full advantage of four federal aid programs to build super-highways, primary highways, secondary programs, and urban extensions.

In May of 1957, we removed the tolls from ten bridges. We have modernized several hundred of our speed zones and begun a five-year program to make our road signs better and safer.

But even yet our Department of Highways needs reorganization.

At my request and that of the 1957 General Assembly, the Automotive Safety Foundation was asked to survey the Highway Department and recommend, on a nonpartisan basis, the changes we could profitably make to improve our efficiency.

I shall not go into the details of the Foundation's findings, which are available to every member of the Legislature. Suffice it to say that I agree with most of the recommendations made, and that this Administration anticipated them in several instances and acted accordingly.

For example, nearly two thousand employees of the Department were placed under civil service by Executive Board Action; we formed a planning and research division; and we instituted in-service training for engineers.

There is still much that can be done, and I call the attention of this General Assembly to the fact that the Automotive Safety Foundation has provided the Commonwealth with a blueprint to guide our future action.

While we are on the subject of highways, I might mention that Pennsylvania has been cited by the National Safety Council as "one of the states leading the way in 1957 for one of the most encouraging annual (safety) records America has ever had on the highways." Only two other states—Tennessee and Colorado—were honored in similar fashion.

Pennsylvania merits the title, therefore, of "The Safe Driver State."

And it will merit that title even more if this Legislature authorizes our State Police to use radar as a check against speeding. Here again I was pleased to note that both the Democratic and Republican platforms for 1958 pledged this measure in the immediate future.

There are two other important problems which are worthy of your early consideration.

The first concerns a rank injustice to the City of Philadelphia. The present law does not make the excellent health program of that City eligible for recognition as a county unit, and denies the people of Philadelphia the State reimbursement to which they are plainly entitled. In any view, this situation should, in fairness, be corrected so that Philadelphia becomes eligible for the same annual allowance of 75 cents per capita that the Commonwealth grants other health units.

The second matter is that of higher education. Here again, both parties have endorsed the principle that Pennsylvania must give every deserving student an equal opportunity for higher education. Through loans, scholarships, and community colleges, I feel this need can and will be met. And I feel sure that this General Assembly will work closely with the new Governor in the formulation of such a program.

One final word about taxes . . .

The state government pays half the cost of public education within the Commonwealth.

It provides the only tax funds in Pennsylvania which go to higher education, the college and university training which gives us the ability to manage and direct this vastly intricate economy.

The state government pays the full cost in Pennsylvania for the treatment of mental illness, and very nearly the full cost for the treatment of tuberculosis.

The state government provides practically all of the public funds which go toward the operation of our voluntary private hospitals.

The state government has the full burden of relief and public assistance, which, in this period when we are just recovering from the recession, is a heavy burden to bear.

In much of Pennsylvania the state government provides the only public health service, the only effective police service, the only park and recreation service.

The state is the partner of local government in a score of tasks, from urban redevelopment to the care of delinquent and dependent children.

The state is the associate of the Federal Government in a multitude of labors, from flood control and mine drainage to the building of interestate highways.

These things, and a hundred more in every locality and in every occupation, are the expression in human life of the cold figures in a budget.

They must be paid for with tax dollars.

It is not my place to recommend the how's, where's, why's, and how much's of revenue raising, nor do I intend to make any suggestions on the subject.

I should simply like to say this:

The classic situation, in which a member of the Legislature can vote for appropriations and against taxes, has no kinship with reality.

Recognizing this, I think it is about time that both parties have, in the not-so-distant past, been guilty of using the problem of taxation for partisan advantage.

I suggest that both parties lay aside their partisan hatchets in future approaches to the subject, using as their yardstick only the standard of what is fair to the individual and fair to the corporation.

My successor has already appointed a tax study committee similar to the one I evolved back in 1956.

As a Governor who has seen the advantages of the bipartisan approach to taxation, let me urge that this Legislature put aside politics in its approach to a vitally important subject and back this bipartisan committee with bipartisan cooperation.

My urging, needless to say, is prompted solely by my concern for the good of the Commonwealth.

I wish there were time for me to discuss a dozen other subjects with you. For instance, I should like to tell you of the national recognition we have received for our work in vocational rehabilitation. And I should like to talk at some length with you about the problems of our cities.

But just as Administrations come to an end, so must speakers.

So let me say just this:

During the past four years, I have come to know this great State of ours intimately, in all its marvelous complexity.

I have travelled it from one end to another and talked with thousands of its people.

I have had the privilege, accorded to relatively few men, of having served as its Governor.

From this familiarity with Pennsylvania, its government, its affairs, its economy, its people, I have learned how much we have to be proud of. And I have emerged after these four years with an unbounded confidence in our future.

This is a great State—great in its resources, great in its industrial might, great in its people.

I predict that it will become greater still in the years to come, and that we are just now entering a period of startling growth and accomplishment.

To you, Ladies and Gentlemen of the General Assembly, and to our new Governor, belongs the task of guiding the Commonwealth's course for the future.

I am sure that you will be equal to the responsibilities ahead, and that you will justify with distinction the confidence expressed in your wisdom by the people of this State.

It is with that certainty that I wish you well in your direction of this Commonwealth we love so deeply.

GEORGE M. LEADER.

The LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR. Governor Leader, in behalf of the General Assembly I wish to express our appreciation and thanks for your excellent address.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend DAVID R. HOOVER, offered the following prayer:

Gracious God, our Father, Whose wisdom far surpasses the comprehension of man's mind, endue us with the competency of Thy divine power that we may be enabled to use our knowledge for the betterment of all mankind. Quicken our spirits that we, working harmoniously with Thy will, may foster Thy truths in the capacity to which we have been called.

Fill our hearts with Thy divine grace, and strengthen us to extend that love toward one another. Teach us Thy way, and by the guidance of Thy Holy Spirit, challenge us to humbly walk therein; through Jesus Christ, Thy dear Son, our Lord, Who liveth and reigneth with Thee and the Holy Ghost, ever One God, world without end. Amen.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, the Committee Report of the Standing Committees which is being distributed to the Members of the House and the Press at this time, does not contain the Committee on Elections and Apportionment.

This Committee will be a part of a supplementary report issued on Monday, January 19th, and at that time the report will be complete with any changes that may occur.

There is one printed error in the ommission of initials in the report under Agriculture and Dairy Industries on the first page. A Member on the Democratic side, Murphy, should have had the initials "A.J." following the name. There is more than one "Murphy" in the House. This report will then be complete for the record on Monday, January 19th.

The SPEAKER. The Chair desires to state that when the Committee to which the gentleman refers is named, it will be requested to immediately proceed to consider the matters that will be brought to its attention. It is not the intention or thought that the inquiry that must be made as a result of representations made at our opening meeting yesterday be delayed in any way. We expect the committee to proceed promptly with its business, as, if and when appointed.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the report?

It was adopted.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, yesterday we had a very beautiful opening here and I think we all enjoyed it very much. I think particularly the new Members must have been impressed by the pageantry of our opening, and as I stated, the beautiful flowers.

We all listened with great interest to the speech of His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, and we must all agree it did display a record of achievement during his four years. However, as he delivered his speech there were, of course, many things in it that the Governor was taking credit for which we on the Republican side did not agree with because many of the things that he was bragging about were started under former Republican governors and carried to fruition by this present administration.

However, superimposed upon all of these wonderful things that His Excellency bragged about yesterday is this situation. The Commonwealth at the present time faces the most critical financial crisis in its entire history. I have before me a statement, and I have delivered a copy of it to Mr. McCann, which was prepared last fall by the Department of Revenue in connection with the Commonwealth's borrowing $75 million in tax anticipation notes. I am sorry that I do not have a copy for every Member of this House, but I am going to offer this statement for the record so that the record will be complete, following the speech of His Excellency, the Governor.

For the information of the Members of the House, Mr. Speaker, this statement from the Department of Revenue says that in the month of March, this year, the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania will be $35 million overdrawn at the bank. I am not talking now about deficits, liabilities, assets or balance sheets, we are talking about cash in bank. This statement which was prepared by the Department of Revenue says that the estimated receipts during March will be $61 millon, the estimated expenditures $106 million, the cash balance ending up $35.2 million overdrawn. That means that sometime after the first of March the State Treasurer will have to cease honoring checks.

I do not know what His Excellency, the Governor is doing about this critical situation; I do not know what plans the incoming Governor has to meet the situation. It means that even we Members of the House and Senate, if this statement is true, will not get our checks on the first of March. It means that judges will not be paid, it means that those on relief will not be getting their money, it means that state employes will not be paid. This statement goes on to show that we will end this biennium $28.3 million overdrawn.

Another appalling situation is that the Commonwealth is now $45 million in arrears in payments to state employes and teachers retirement funds. These payments are all overdue. What this means is that the State Teachers Retirement Fund and the State Employes Retirement Fund has not received this money, has not been able to invest it and therefore are losing 3 to 4 per cent interest on the money, much to the detriment of these particular funds. I know you are going to say, well, why did we not provide ample funds?

We on the Republican side, as you know, here last session stood here for two days and took a fierce bombardment from the other side of the aisle because we were crippling the budget and doing such terrible things to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. My goodness, folks, if we had not rolled back some $50 or $60 million in appropriations, where would the Commonwealth be today without new taxes at the time. Particularly in view of the fact that Senator Dent and our good friend, Al Readinger, came to the Conference Committee on Appropriations with a statement from Mr. Bradley, and then Secretary of Revenue, Mr. Gleason, that they had found another $40 million and, therefore, we the Conference Committee on Appropriations could up appropriations another $40 million. Yet did not even Senator Dent on the part of the Senate last session say "you Republicans are legislating a $33 million surplus for this biennium. Therefore,

Mr. Readinger and Senator Dent refused to sign the Conference Report on appropriations because we would not go along with upping it another $30 or 40 million.

I am saying these things to you this morning because I think the Governor of this Commonwealth and the incoming Governor, instead of worrying about who's going to be fired and who's going to be hired or what's going to take place—the number one thing they should be worrying about right now is where are we going to get the money on March 1st to pay the bills of this Commonwealth.

I think it is a very, very serious situation, and I am putting it into the record at this time so that the record will be complete following the Governor's speech of yesterday.

Therefore, with the permission of the House, I would like to offer this statement which was prepared by the Department of Revenue in connection with borrowing $75 million on tax anticipation notes, so that it can be placed in the record.

STATEMENT BY MINORITY LEADER

In his final message to the Legislature, Governor George M. Leader failed to mention that the Commonwealth today faces the most acute financial crisis in its history.

Unless something is done to remedy the situation, the Commonwealth will have a cash deficit in March of 35 million dollars. That means overdrawn at the bank by 35 million dollars. For the first time in history the Commonwealth will not be able to pay its bills.

The Commonwealth is now 45 million dollars in arrears in payments to the state employes and teachers retirement funds. These payments are long overdue.

The Commonwealth has borrowed 75 million dollars in tax anticipation notes which must be repaid by May 31.

Pennsylvania's financial crisis would be more severe if the 1957 Republican Legislature had accepted inflated budget estimates submitted at the end of the session by Leader's budget secretary.

These inflated estimates were pulled out of the hat to induce the Legislature to appropriate 40 million dollars more than it did with no increase in taxes.

Senator John Dent accused the Republican majority of trying to 'legislate a 33-million dollar surplus'. Dent and House Minority Leader Albert Readinger refused to sign the conference report on the appropriation bill for this same reason.

Figures released by the Department of Revenue now show that Pennsylvania is in such dire financial straits that state employes may not get paid after March 15.

We are submitting the following figures as part of the record omitted by Leader in his self-congratulatory farewell address to the Legislature.

The SPEAKER. Peace is wonderful. The Chair welcomes a review of the past, that it may stir us to a greater endeavor to cope with the problems of the future.

We have no doubt that the gentleman from McKean, with his undoubted accounting ability, will be able to help this state of ours out of any particular mess that it may be in, in the days to come. We rely upon his help, his assistance, and not his anger, but we crave his sympathy.

COMMITTEE ON RULES

The SPEAKER. In compliance with the Rules of the House, the Chair has appointed the following Committee on Rules: Messrs. McCann, Devlin, Musto, Dougherty and Breth. The Speaker is serving ex-officio as a Member of this committee.

REQUEST TO USE HALL OF HOUSE

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, on Tuesday, January 20th, we would like to have unanimous consent that the Hall of the House be used for the swearing-in- ceremony of the incoming cabinet of the newly elected Governor.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears no objection and consent is granted.

Does the gentleman from Greene have a further statement to bring to the attention of the House with respect to the organization of the Committees?

ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, on each of the Member's desks has been placed a mimeographed item breaking into four groups the Committees that will organize on this date; the thirty-one Committees of the House.

If you will check your sheets, each of the groups of particular committees will know where it will meet today for purposes of organization. Following the resolution we adopted today, dealing with the Committee the Speaker has appointed of five Members of this House who shall try to determine the additional needs of space for the House of Representatives, we will, following the inauguration of the newly elected Governor, reassign Committee rooms in compliance with additional space that we may receive to take care of the standing Committees of the House.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, that completes the fourth group of Committee assignments, and 31 of the 32 standing committees of the House have now been organized. The Committee on Elections and Apportionment will appear in a supplement in the report on Monday, January 19th, at which time it will also organize, completing the 32 standing committees of the House.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to have permission to make some further announcements for the Members at the proper time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Greene, Mr. McCann.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, for the information of the Members of the House, many have been asking the time the House will convene on Monday, the 19th.

On Monday the 19th and each week thereafter on Monday the House will convene at 4:30 p. m. The next scheduled session of this House, therefore, will be Monday, January 19th, at 4:30 p. m.

We will be in session Monday, the 19th, and Tuesday, January 20th.

I would like to ask also that the resolution we passed unanimously here today, dealing with the Committee on the space for the House, meet with me in my office following this session, to see if it would be possible for those men to meet this coming Tuesday; not knowing their schedules at this time.

I would also like to inform the House Members that as soon as we adjourn here, the Chief Clerk will be in his office, and the Finance Officer of the House will be in his office to distribute the December and January pay checks of the elected Members who have taken the oath and have signed the Oath Book.

The Democratic Members of the House of Representatives will not hold a Caucus prior to the session on Monday, January 19th.

I would also like to thank, at this time, every Member of the House and the Chairman of each of the Committees for the very orderly and efficient manner in which they have organized their respective Committees this date.

The Inaugural Committee is located on E floor of the main Capitol Building. Many have asked about Inaugural Ball tickets and Inaugural Ball invitations. The Inaugural Committee on E Floor, in Rooms 521 and 522, will handle their requests. For those who may not know, the Inaugural Ball are ten dollars per ticket.

FORMER MEMBERS INTRODUCED

Mr. McCANN. I would also at this time, Mr. Speaker, like to introduce some of our former House Members who are here as our guests on the side line.

A former House Member from Westmoreland County, the Honorable Judge Weiss.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair welcomes the gentleman to the Hall of the House.

Mr. Mc CANN. The Honorable Joseph O'Brien of Philadelphia County.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair thanks the gentleman and recalls with pleasure his service during the last session.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to take just a moment more. I am very sorry we did not do this for the information of all of the new Members of the House.

On any bill you desire to introduce, if you receive a bill from the Legislative Reference Bureau, sign and date each of the copies. If you will stand at your desk and hold up the bill, one of the Pages of the House will come to your desk, secure the bill and present it to the desk for proper introduction. Many have asked here this morning how they may be introduced, whether they go to the desk to introduce their bills.

Be sure you sign the bills, that you date the bill. No accompanying information is submitted with the bill, such as data or information that you may use in debating the bill. That information will be used at the time you may desire to debate, or forward it to the proper Committee Chairman to which the Speaker has assigned the bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair would also like to suggest along that same line that if your signature is one that is very difficult to read, as many of us have, that you would also print your name under your signature, so that the Clerks can tell who has introduced the bill, and the Printers can get the proper spelling of it.

Mr. McCANN. We have in this House names whose only difference is a middle initial. I would also like to ask that you please very, very carefully distinguish your middle initial. I believe we have James A. and James P. O'Donnell, for example. The only difference is the middle initial. The gentlemen on the rostrum, unless you very carefull distinguish the middle initial—if you were to sign it only James O'Donnell—would not know which Member introduced the bill.

FORMER CHIEF CLERK WELCOMED

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I would also like to state that the former Chief Clerk of this House, Mr. Ben Long, is here, and was here yesterday—the former Chief Clerk in the 1955 Session.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman please rise in his place? It is a pleasure for the Chair to see that he has moved his place of residence to the other side of the Hall. We welcome him.

Has the gentleman finished his announcements?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, that completes all the announcements at this time. I again want to thank the Members of the House for their very kind and considerate cooperation in both yesterday's opening ceremony and today's organization of the ocmmittees.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. FILO. I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, on the Boroughs Committee there is a man by the name of Murphy. Just for the record, the gentleman's initials are A. J. There are several Murphys in the House.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair thanks the gentleman and the records will be so corrected.

The Chair now returns the gavel to the Speaker of the House.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) in the Chair.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the former Speaker for the efficient manner in which he upheld the dignity of this House in the face, I understand, of invasion by personnel that serves in another place and apparently did not know their proper place when they came into the Hall of this House. And so I thank the Speaker.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I might say with respect to a caucus on the Republican side, there is no plan for a caucus on either the 19th or 20th, but if we do decide to hold one, our membership will be properly notified by mail.

I want to compliment the Majority side for the dispatch with which they have organized their committees. You have taken a leaf out of our notebook; we started last session, as you know, to get right down to work. Now that you have the ball rolling, let's keep it rolling, let's have a short business-like session and get this job over with to the glory of ourselves and the admiration of the people of Pennsylvania.

The SPEAKER. The Chair desires to compliment the gentleman from McKean and observes that if his foresight in any way measures his hindsight—if he had as much foresight as he has hindsight—he will certainly be very useful throughout this session.

While I was absent from the Hall of the House, I had the opportunity of conferring with an executive of the Department of Property and Supplies, and I hope I was not mistaken when I conveyed to him the impression that the arrangements he thought he had made as to parking and the protection of the Members of this House in the matter of parking, had all gone astray, and that they may have issued the orders but that they were not carried out. I said that was my impression. I understand that it is also the impression of the Majority Leader. I think it is the impression of the Secretary of the House, and I don't know—it may be the impression of a great many Members of this House.

I was assured that within 20 minutes following conference, this executive would have a session with the Captain of the State Police and would see to it that the orders issued from the top, were carried out at the bottom, and that the parking situation would improve.

If the arrangements that should be made are not made, I wish the Members would report to their respective Floor Leaders, because this is one thing that we are going to battle through, that we will be able to the use of such facilities as actually exist, and on some of those facilities the Members of this House have a proper priority.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the Secretary of the House.

Mr. MOOMAW. Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, there will be special parking arrangements made for the Inauguration. They are as follows:

From 5:30 P. M. Monday, January 19th, 1959, until 12 midnight, Tuesday, January 20th, 1959, there will be no parking on the Capitol Plaza and ramps.

Sufficient spaces have been reserved for all Senate and House Members wishing to park their cars, at Lot 14, which is located at the corner of Third and North Streets, and also at the rear of the Main Capitol building.

Will you please see to it that all Members parking on the Plaza and ramps remove their cars as soon as possible after 5:30 P. M. on Monday, January 19th.

This comes from the Secretary of Property and Supplies and the Inaugural Committee in reaching this special arrangement for Inauguration Day.

I might add to what the Speaker has said we are going to diligently work out a plan to obtain the best parking facilities possible for the Members of this House. We have been promised that the overflow, instead of having to go to Lot 14 will be taken care of in back of the Capitol as soon as they have finished their demolishing of the old temporary buildings.

The SPEAKER. Has the Majority Leader any further business to bring before the House?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, only to say that those who do not know where Third and North—Parking Lot 14—is, it is the vacant area that is black-topped at the north end of the Capitol as you are driving down the street. Next to the far end of the Capitol there is a large lot, that is that particular parking lot.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. HOCKER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Monday, January 19, 1959 at 4:30 p. m.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 1:00 p. m.) the House adjourned.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. P. J. MURPHY and BELL. RESOLUTION No. 1.

In the House of Representatives, January 7, 1959.

Whereas, General Casimir Pulaski, the Polish-American hero of the Revolutionary War gave his life that we, in America, might today be free; and

Whereas, Casimir Pulaski, highly distinguished himself as a volunteer in the American Light-Horse during and immediately subsequent to the Battle of Brandywine on September 11, 1777; and

Whereas, the route of the retreat of the Continental Army from the Battle of the Brandywine closely parallels the general route occupied by the Conchester Road and the proposed Chester Expressway in the County of Delaware; and

Whereas, the proposed terminus of the Chester Expressway is located near Leiperville where Washington's Continental Army assembled after its retreat from the Battle of the Brandywine during the evening of September 12, 1777; and

Whereas, the naming of the Conchester Road-Chester Expressway in honor of the great Polish-American patriot, General Casimir Pulaski would serve as an inspiration for generations to come because of the fierce love of liberty which motivated this great Polish-American martyr;

Now Therefore, be it resolved that the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania request the Governor of Pennsylvania to name the Conchester Road-Chester Expressway (when constructed) as the "Pulaski Expressway."

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. WORLEY. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 2.

In the House of Representatives, January 7, 1959.

The future prosperity and economic advancement of our Commonwealth is largely dependent upon the development of intra-state, inter-state and foreign trade. In order to explore all possibilities which may promote our general welfare in these fields it is deemed desirable to make a study of the obstacles to trade development which now exist, with a view toward encouraging extended and more varied trade activities in the future; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That a committee of two persons be specially appointed to make a thorough study of the problems of trade development in Pennsylvania, one member of said committee to be a member of the House of Representatives, to be appointed by the Speaker of the House and the other member of said committee to be a member of the Senate, appointed by the President Pro Tempore thereof; and be it further

Resolved, That the members of the committee shall serve without compensation but shall be reimbursed for any expenses which may be incurred in the performance of the duties herein imposed, including the expense of any investigatory or clerical assistance which may be required; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee make a report of its findings and recommendations to the 1961 Session of the General Assembly.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. WORLEY. RESOLUTION No. 3.

In the House of Representatives, January 7, 1959

The entire Nation was recently saddened by a holocaust of flames which mercilessly took the lives of scores of school children.

It is imperative that every possible precaution be taken to prevent the re-occurrence of such a terrible tragedy; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Speaker of the House of Representatives appoint a committee of ten House members geographically located throughout the Commonwealth to study and thoroughly investigate the adequacy of measures being taken for the protection of school children against fire; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee make a report of their findings and recommendations to the House of Representatives at this Session of the General Assembly as soon as possible.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. WORLEY (By request) RESOLUTION No. 4.

In the House of Representatives, January 7, 1959

The existing public school building facilities in Pennsylvania are inadequate for our present needs. It is manifestly clear that our needs will become even greater in the immediate future.

The cost of building new schools is immense and imposes a tremendous burden upon our taxpayers.

It is vitally important therefore that every possible economy be effected in the construction of every new school building.

It has become apparent that a large part of the cost of each new school building is composed of architects' fees and costs. These costs have become so great as to be a luxury which the people of Pennsylvania can no longer afford; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Department of Public Instruction and the State Public School Building Authority each be requested and directed to submit a report to the House of Representatives, on the subject of standardizing public school buildings throughout the State for the purpose of reducing csts and to include in such reports recommendations for reducing all other costs and eliminating completely all unnecessary costs; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be forwarded to the Superintendent of Public Instruction and to each of the other officers who constitute the State Public School Building Authority.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. McCANN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, in the 1953 Session of the House of Representatives a practice was started by the then Minority Leader and now Speaker of the House of Representatives, asking the House of Representatives for the privilege of having printed in the Journal of the House the Democratic State Platform which had been adopted in 1952. At that time permission was granted and the Platform was written into the Journal, and the Republican party had inserted the Republican State Platform of that year.

In the 1955 Session the then Majority Leader of the House of Representativeshad inserted in the Journal of the House the Democratic State Platform, and following its insertion introduced the legislative planks carrying out the Democratic State Platform.

In this Session, 1959-1960 Session of the House of Representatives, I am asking permission of the House to insert in the Journal of the House the Democratic State Platform of 1958, so that the public of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania may have easy access and a permanent record to the Democratic State Platform.

In the 1959 Session it is our hope that Legislative planks carrying out the pledges of this Democratic State Platform will be introduced and passed in this House during this session.

I trust that the Minority of the House of Representatives will also request such privilege and that they will have inserted in the record the Republican State Platform of 1958.

With a true spirit of cooperation and harmony that exists now, and I hope will continue to exist during this entire Session of the House of Representatives, I have every reason to feel confident that the legislative planks implementing the platforms of the two parties shall be passed in this House.

It is my honest belief that the Republican State Platform which was drafted under the able leadership of its Platform Chairman, the Minority Leader of this House, will serve as a guide to us on the Democratic side of the House as to its respective contents which would have been supplemented by legislative planks had they been in the majority in this session of the House of Representatives.

We in this House, both Democratic and Republican Members, will do our very best to insure our pledges to the citizens of the Commonwealth in carrying out our respective party platforms.

Mr. Speaker, I now request that the Democratic Platform of 1958 be printed in the Legislative Journal.

1958 PENNSYLVANIA DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM

The world, our national and our Commonwealth are entering a revolutionary age, which offers the greatest promise of human betterment yet menaces us all with destruction.

The Democratic Party is prepared to meet this challenge with government programs looking to the future, not to the past. Proud of our democratic heritage and determined to preserve our liberties and our system of free enterprise, we are nonetheless unafraid of change. We seek to meet social and economic needs as they arise, rather than deny the existence of pressing problems in the hope that they will go away.

We believe it is the responsibility of government, through democratic processes, seeking Divine guidance, to promote social, economic and political justice for all. We have nominated candidates whose careers in public life demonstrate that they understand this responsibility and the obligations of leadership.

The Record at Harrisburg: The Democratic Party is proud of the record of the Leader administration. These are among its major accomplishments:

Effective industrial development coupled with a tax climate favorable to industry.

Acceleration of public works to create jobs during the recession.

The greatest program of highway construction in the history of the Commonwealth. Increased return of state funds for local roads. Improved highway safety.

The largest school construction program in the history of any state. Improvement in curriculum. Better standards and higher pay for teachers.

Establishment of a humane educational program for handicapped and retarded children.

Transaction of public business publicly, through open meetings and "right-to-know" legislation.

Zealous protection of civil rights and civil liberties.

A Fair Employment Practices Law, implemented by a Commission with enforcement powers.

The greatest progress of any state in the treatment and cure of mental illness.

Expansion of recreation facilities, including creation of fifteen new state parks.

Improved unemployment compensation, workmen's compensation, and occupational disease benefits. Higher minimum wage standards.

Aid for slum clearance and redevelopment programs.

Extension of the merit system for technical and professional employees.

Improved efficiency in state administration.

Uncompromising assault on corruption and unethical practices in State government.

This record was made in the teeth of opposition from a hostile legislature which defeated or curtailed many badly-needed programs. The Republican legislators rejected outright Governor Leader's proposals for scholarships, student loans, and junior colleges, and by refusing adequate funds forced abandonment or curtailment of programs proposed in many fields. These include school construction, mental health, fair employment practices, occupational disease compensation, flood control, industrial development, juvenile delinquency, coal research and urban renewal.

In Washington: Our Democratic Senator and Congressmen have supported humane and progressive legislation in the fields of health, welfare, housing, civil rights, social security, education, aid to surplus labor areas, small business and labor relations. They have understood the need for mutual security, reciprocal trade and adequate national defense as roads toward world peace.

They have labored valiently to help the Congress fill the vacuum created by the failure of Republican leadership.

They have rejected slogans masquerading as substitutes for thought.

The Program:

Proud of its record in Harrisburg and Washington, the Democratic Party and its candidates pledge the following 27-point program:

State Objectives:

1. A modern state constitution.

2. A fair apportionment of legislative districts to end the vicious practice of gerrymandering which has deprived hundreds of thousands of our citizens of equal representation.

3. Annual sessions of the General Assembly.

4. Lowering the voting age to 18.

5. An end to control of the legislature by special-interest lobbies; legislation setting ethical standards for public servants and imposing penalties for violation.

6. Vigorous efforts on a non-partisan basis to promote industrial development, business and agricultural growth.

7. An agency of government to protect the interests of the public as buyers and consumers.

8. Strengthened home rule.

9. A career service to insure competence in state jobs requiring special technical or administrative skills, and to attract young people of outstanding ability into government service.

10. Continued recognition of women in filling policy-making positions in government.

11. An aggressive program for the expansion of public libraries in Pennsylvania.

12. Prompt payment of a bonus to veterans of the Korean conflict, with enactment of the necessary revenue measures as required by law.

13. Amendment of the liquor laws to prevent undue concentration of licenses in geographic areas.

Joint Federal-State Objectives:

14. Preservation of the family farm and attainment of a fair level of income for farmers. A vigorous advertising and promotion program to sell Pennsylvania farm products.

15. Further progress in mental health, hospital construction, the prevention and treatment of disease and alcoholism. Adequate health and welfare research programs. A coordinated attack on juvenile delinquency.

16. An end to discrimination based on age, sex, race, creed, color or national origin in education, employment, housing, and public accommodations. Vigilant protection of civil liberties.

17. A constructive program for our senior citizens, especially in fields of employment, social security, health, and housing.

18. A first-class educational opportunity for every Pennsylvania boy and girl from kindergarten through college, in properly staffed and equipped schools and colleges.

19. Opposition to so-called "right-to-work" laws. Elimination of abuses in labor-management relations. Greater security against unemployment and occupational hazards.

20. A safe and sanitary home for every Pennsylvania family, with maximum encouragement to private home building. Rapid progress in slum clearance and urban redevelopment.

21. Special aid to areas suffering from chronic unemployment.

22. Conservation and development of natural resources, including forests, fish and game. Comprehensive all-purpose development of the Delaware, Susquehanna, and Ohio River watersheds in cooperation with neighboring states. Expansion and development of recreational resources, including state and national parks.

23. A long-range, carefully-planned program of interstate, primary, and secondary highway construction coordinated with improved mass transit, air, rail, and water transportation facilities.

Federal Objectives:

24. In economic policy, timely and vigorous action to control inflation, to restore full employment and full production, and to bring about rapid and steady economic growth.

25. In foreign policy, promotion of peace and understanding among all nations, with strong support for the United Nations.

26. In our relations with the rest of the world, avoidance of arrogance and a negative approach; recognition that world leadership imposes world responsibilities, and that to meet those responsibilities requires sound programs of reciprocal trade and mutual security with emphasis on loans for capital development.

27. While exploring every avenue toward world disarmament, building and maintenance in the meantime of forces strong enough to discourage communist aggression and to meet our commitments to maintain freedom wherever it is threatened.

Fiscal Responsibility:

All good programs cost money. The Democratic Party does not pretend otherwise. State and federal tax systems are in need of drastic overhaul to close loopholes and provide an equitable distribution of the tax burden. If fair tax revision and icreased tax returns from an expanding economy should fail to provide the necessary state revenues, we propose a non-partisan commission, similar to the one established by Governor Leader, to explore the tax resources of the Commonwealth and recommend a system of fair and equitable taxation.

In Federal finance, we advocate fiscal policies which produce substantial budget surpluses in times of prosperity to offset any necessary deficit spending in times of recession.

Conclusion:

The Democratic Party and its candidates have shown in Pennsylvania and in Washington the ability to cooperate in the public interest with all groups, regardless of politics.

Historically, there has been too much partisan politics in Pennsylvania. Our Party proposes to enlist the support of all Pennsylvanians in a united effort to better the status of every citizen of the Commonwealth.

To redeem these pledges, the Democratic Party of Pennsylvania humby asks God's help and guidance.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ALBERT W. JOHNSON asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I had the honor this past summer of serving as the Chairman of the Republican Party Platform Committee. We drafted what we thought was a very fine platform for the people of this great state for the coming four-year period.

When we organized our Platform Committee there were 25 members on the Committee, men and women from all parts of Pennsylvania, from different walks of life, who pretty well typified a cross-section of Pennsylvania. The question was, what shall we do in drafting our platform? We decided, for the first time, to hold platform hearings. Previously, the party had called in representative groups behind closed doors and heard what they had to say about our proposed platform.

I just want to say something about our platform hearings. They were an outstanding success. We had one hearing in Philadelphia. The room was completely filled with folks who wanted to tell us what they would like to see in our platform.

As far as Philadelphia is concerned we heard things about neighborhood problems, about how to have honest elections in Philadelphia, the problems of their port, and various things that were of interest to that great city.

We transferred to Pittsburgh and we had large numbers of people there from the hinterland that came in about the game-life of the state, about the Milk Control Commission, about recreation problems and matters of that sort. Then when we came to Harrisburg, the various state-wide groups such as the Grange and the Townships and the Labor Unions told us what they would like to see in our platform.

We are proud of the platform that was written. I am sure that it met with pretty favorable comment throughout the state when it was issued. The idea of holding public hearings was wonderful. Again I believe we must extend our hearings to Scranton and Erie and maybe to several other sections of the state. The people are interested in what is in both platforms of both parties.

I am happy today to put our platform into the record and I ask unanimous consent for that privilege.

THE REPUBLICAN PLATFORM FOR PENNSYLVANIA

Adopted by the Republican State Committee at Pittsburgh on September 6, 1958

STATEMENT OF PRINCIPLES

The Republican Party has been the trustee of our Constitutional liberties, the guarantor of the dignity of the individual, the champion of free enterprise and representative government, and the defender of the Republic.

We believe government is best and most economically administered when kept close to the control of those whom it is designed to serve.

It is a self-evident truth that throughout all our history the primary source of the spiritual happiness and material well-being of our people is the initiative, energy, integrity and self-reliance of each citizen.

The foremost function of government is to provide opportunities for the free exercise of individual initiative, insuring equal opportunity for all.

These are the articles of faith and the principles which we of the Republican Party and our candidates, with the help of God, affirm to the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

EDUCATION

An adequate system of public education, always necessary to the progress and well-being of our people, has become increasingly important to basic national security.

We believe that all students should have an equal opportunity for secondary as well as higher education without discrimination or segregation. We propose a scholastic loan program and expansion of existing institutions of higher learning in our Commonwealth, plus implementation of President Eisenhower's higher education program. We favor the development and expansion of local college centers through community cooperation with all the existing institutions of higher learning. We will cooperate with the Joint State Government Commission in planning for the establishment of local and community colleges and such other recommendations as the Commission may offer in the field of education.

Pressing as the need may be for more educational facilities, we believe that an even greater need exists for improving the quality of education for all in our public schools. We must endeavor to promote in our children a thirst for knowledge. We must provide each child with courses which are consistent with his mental power and desire to learn.

The key to improvement in the quality of education is the public school teacher. All legislative and administrative measures needed to attract and hold good teachers, including adequate compensation, must be insured.

PUBLIC HEALTHH AND WELFARE

The Republican majority in the 1957 Session of the General Assembly appropriated 380 million dollars for State health and welfare programs, the greatest amount in our State's history. These appropriations properly administered would have adequately provided for the mentally ill, the indigent, the blind, the crippled and those otherwise handicapped, and also provided adequate protection of the public health.

We will continue to expand our State's health and welfare programs.

We will continue to expand and improve every aspect of our mental health program so that new discoveries and advances in science will be utilized to improve and preserve the well-being of all our citizens.

In furtherance of this aim, we will increase the number of mental health clinics to aid in the prevention and detection of emotional and behavior disorders. We will encourage community programs to provide assistance to persons discharged from mental hospitals following treatment and to increase assistance to local private hospitals in this field.

We will cooperate and work with private agencies, organizations and associations in developing sound and progressive programs in the public health, mental health and welfare fields at the state and local levels.

We will establish a sound or merit civil service system in the field of public health and welfare.

An abundance of pure water is essential to the health, as well as the recreation, of our people. We will vigorously continue the traditional Republican program to eliminate pollution of our streams.

We know that some municipalities are unable to install sewage treatment plants because the cost is excessive in relation to their ability to pay. We will continue the Republican program of assisting municipalities so that this worthwhile program can proceed.

Clean air is also a fundamental need. The 1957 Republican Legislature has initiated studies, through the Joint State Government Commission, to determine what measures will best assure clean air, without curtailing industry and job opportunities provided our citizens.

HIGHWAYS

The public knows that the highways of Pennsylvania, once the national standard of excellence, have become a national disgrace under Democrat management. Despite the enormous sums of money available to the Department of Highways, our roads abound with potholes. Snow removal is haphazard and even non-existent, particularly in rural areas. Planning has been on a basis of hit-or-miss and cinder frauds are rampant.

Bridges destroyed by floods in 1955 have yet to be rebuilt. Political considerations have caused the discharge and the resignation of staff members with experience and know-how and incompetent replacements are kept in their positions by a civil service that makes a mockery of the name.

We will begin at once to correct these abuses and to restore our present highways. We will work closely and effectively with the Federal Government in the construction of new highways. We will locate them so that safe and ready access may be had to every section of the state.

We will establish a Highway Commission to develop intelligent highway planning. We will provide for the members of the commission, as well as the engineering and technical personnel of the department, a system of tenure based on competency and skill free from political manipulation.

We endorse the proposal of the 1957 Republican Legislature to assure immediate payment of damages involved in the condemnation of private property for highways building.

We will proceed with highway design and programming in such a way as to encourage small contractors and promote employment throughout Pennsylvania. Secondary highways and farm-to-market roads, now neglected and in disrepair, will be properly maintained and modernized. Unsafe bridges will be reconstructed.

We will proceed as rapidly as possible with the Eisenhower Interstate Road Program in Pennsylvania, giving priority to the most needed arterial highways, including the Keystone Shortway and its necessary connecting links with the ports of Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Erie.

In developing the State's arterial highways, we will always keep in mind the best interests and welfare of every section of Pennsylvania.

HIGHWAY SAFETY

The Republican Party pledges every necessary action to halt the useless slaughter of our citizens on our streets and highways.

We will support complete revision of the Highway Motor Code to remove conflicts and to give the Pennsylvania State Police every scientific aid, including radar, to protect our citizens.

We will increase the number of State Police, provide adequate salaries and free them from political influence.

We will eliminate hazards on our highways and streets wherever they endanger the lives and property of our citizens.

We will tighten up requirements for drivers' licenses, particularly for new operators of heavy commercial vehicles.

LAW AND ORDER

Increasing crime is a major social problem in Pennsylvania. It is destroying lives, property and the moral fiber of our youth. Crime now costs every man, woman and child in Pennsylvania an average of $128 a year and is increasing every day.

Juvenile gangs, and adult criminals released from confinement by executive clemency during the Leader Administration, jeopardize life and property in our homes, on streets and on highways, particularly in our metropolitan areas. Drastic remedies and concerted efforts must be taken to halt this growing menace.

We pledge to restore integrity to the State Pardon Board so justice cannot be thwarted by political influence. We will stop the opening of the gates of our prisons for the release of hardened criminals and sex maniacs to prey on law abiding citizens. We will establish an agency at the state level to work with local governments and private agencies in formulating and conducting programs to deal effectively with both adult and juvenile crime problems including parole and probation. We will modernize the penal code to eliminate loopholes through which criminals escape justice.

We will tighten enforcement of our liquor laws, particularly the sale of liquor to minors, and provide that citizens' groups may have legal status in protesting establishment or transfer of liquor licenses in residential districts.

We will cooperate with law enforcement agencies at every level in fighting organized crime and racketeering syndicates and in checking the spread of the illegal use of narcotic drugs.

AGRICULTURE

Agriculture is a basic, major industry in Pennsylvania and the backbone is the family farm. The Republican Party praises the self-reliance and independence of farmers. We believe that control of agriculture must remain in their hands.

The Republican Party pledges to meet farm problems promptly and to provide positive and progressive planning for the broad needs of a highly productive and prosperous agriculture.

We pledge further agricultural research, education and extension programs, to work with farmer cooperatives and to encourage the promotion and expansion of markets for farm products. We pledge continued cooperation and assistance in solving the problems of the farmer pertaining to livestock, poultry, plant diesases and destructive insects. We will encourage the conservation and development of our land, water and all natural farm resources.

We promise to enforce and extend, as needed, laws concerning pure foods, seeds, fertilizers, lime and insecticides, as well as the grading, labeling, transporting and marketing of agricultural products.

We will give special attention to improving neglected farm-to-market roads.

We will continue to operate the Department of Agriculture and the College of Agriculture of the Pennsylvania State University to meet the needs of farmers.

We will appoint to the Milk Control Commission men of the highest qualifications who will merit the confidence of producers, distributors and the consuming public. We pledge elimination of political interference and to provide the Commission with an adequate and competent staff.

We will give the Secretary of Agriculture control over the regulation of employment on the farm.

LABOR

We pledge to protect the rights of collective bargaining and the continued support of the Republican Party to the protection of the existing basic rights of organized labor as well as the same rights of all labor and of all working men and women generally.

Recognizing the increase in the cost of living, we pledge increased benefits of existing Unemployment Compensation, Workmen's Compensation and Occupational Disease Compensation Laws.

We favor strengthening the State Labor Relations Board.

We will support workable laws providing equal pay for equal work without regard to sex, race, color or creed.

We will insure that the unemployment benefit status of those who enter the Armed Forces is preserved for their return to civilian life.

We favor legislation to protect working men and women from those who have betrayed their trust to union members.

We will give union men and women the right by law to elect union officers by secret ballot. We will insure that elections are held periodically.

We will insure that pension and welfare funds are properly audited, and that a full accounting of these funds will be periodically published to the members.

We favor legislation making it a criminal offense for labor leaders and employers to join in a conspiracy to exploit those they represent and hire; and such other legislation as may be necessary to protect working men and women from exploitation from any source whatsoever.

BUSINESS AND INDUSTRY

We pledge continued efforts to encourage a favorable business tax climate to attract new industry for Pennsylvania and to allow our existing industries to provide more productive employment for our citizens.

We will continue our efforts to eliminate areas of chronic unemployment through the close cooperation of Federal, State and local agencies and resources.

We will encourage every segment of our economy, including management, labor and representatives of the general public to induce expansion and growth of our commerce and industry.

We will expand the Department of Commerce, established by a Republican Governor and a Republican Legislature, to assure special facilities for aiding small business enterprises.

We will encourage and continue to assist local industrial development groups in their efforts to induce industry to locate in Pennsylvania communities.

HOME BUILDING

Our home-building industry, which is a key to our economic prosperity and social well-being, is beset with problems of taxation, financing, oppressive regulations and inadequate development of community facilities. We will exert every effort to bring about a fair and equitable solution of these problems.

STATE SPENDING AND TAXES

Every dollar of State tax money comes from the individual citizen, either directly or through the price which he pays for goods and services. All taxation is a forcible taking of the citizen's money, and hence of the labor and effort he expends to obtain that money.

We are mindful of the present Governor's promise, when a candidate for office, that he would reduce the biennial budget by $100,000,000; whereas in his first biennium as Governor he submitted a budget asking for an increase of $280,000,000; and during the past four years sought a total increase of $500,000,000. We are mindful of his promise to decrease the State payroll, and his subsequent performance of increasing the payroll by many thousands. He tried to impose a wage tax upon our citizens; he sponsors, even today, a graduated income tax.

He has juggled State appropriations from one purpose to another, contrary to the laws enacted by the Legislature and his duty as Governor.

We believe that the people of Pennsylvania want the truth in reference to broken promises; and we state the truth accordingly.

Many millions of dollars can and will be saved by terminating the bad management and wasteful practices of the present Administration. Many millions of dollars must and will be provided to meet the enlarged needs for educating our children, for the prevention of crime, and for other essentials which the present Administration has either bungled or neglected.

We say forthrightly that we do not believe that the savings to be effected by enconomical and efficient government will wholly offset the additional costs of essential services; consequently we know that increases in State revenue will be needed.

We promise that increases will be kept to a minimum, consistent with good government. We are unalterably opposed to a state wage or income tax.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS AND NATIONAL DEFENSE

Lasting peace with honor is paramount in our time. This issue transcends all others.

The Republican Party of Pennsylvania joins with all patriotic Americans, regardless of political affiliation, in profound gratitude to our great Republican President, Dwight D. Eisenhower, for his magnificent achievements in the preservation of peace and his sincere dedication to honor, justice and freedom in the world.

We are proud that under his calm and determined leadership the recession trend has been reversed and the nation is once more on the high-road to prosperity. Despite the handicap of a Democrat-controlled Congress, the Republican administration has succeeded in continuing to advance its legislative program to carry forward the great goals of peace, prosperity and progress.

It is therefore of enormous importance to elect Republican majorities in the United States Senate and the House of Representatives to uphold President Eisenhower and support Republican principles for the benefit of all the American people.

Our National Defense Program must be a maximum effort encompassing a highly skilled, constantly alert professional Regular Military Establishment, supported by totally adequate Reserve components in all branches of the service.

To this end, we will take all steps necessary to maintain and enhance the strength and competence of Pennsylvania's great National Guard and all of its units. We will give equally dedicated attention to all Reserve forces of the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marines.

STATE GOVERNMENT

We commend the 1957 Republican Legislature for establishing the Commission on Constitutional Revision and recommend that the citizens receive with open mind any recommendations of the Commission for changes in the State Constitution.

We pledge to present to the people, amendments to the State Constitution to lower the voting age to 18 years and to authorize annual sessions of the General Assembly.

We congratulate the 1957 Republican Legislature on the far-reaching merger of the Departments of Public Assistance and Welfare. We pledge to continue our efforts in the future to promote increased efficiency and economy in government through the elimination of over-lapping and duplication of functions.

We pledge to uphold and strengthen the powers of the independently elected Auditor General and State Treasurer and to bring under the scrutiny of these officials the financial operations of all activities of our State Government, including the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission.

To attract qualified men and women into state government careers, we pledge job security for professional and skilled personnel and adequate compensation to all state employees.

We will press for such programs which will raise the respect and esteem of the general public for the public employees in the Commonwealth who are performing an outstanding service to their community and their State.

We will strengthen and improve the public's right-to-know the facts about their government and the expenditure of public funds as well as the conflict of interest law enacted by the 1957 Republican Legislature.

We will insure prompt payment of bills owed by the Commonwealth.

LOCAL GOVERNMENT

We will increase the power of citizens in political sub-divisions to govern their own affairs. We will make uniform the taxing powers of both classes of townships and maintain an equitable distribution of the gasoline tax, for the construction and maintenance by local governments of roads and bridges.

We will compensate local governments for any damage resulting from highway construction detours. We will present to the voters a Constitutional amendment increasing the borrowing power of local governments.

We will continue to assist our municipalities in redevelopment, slum clearance and housing.

PHILADELPHIA

We will authorize the prompt completion of city-county consolidation of Philadelphia government and the realignment of its ward boundaries. We will seek measures to eliminate political manipulation of Philadelphia's Traffic Court, and we will continue to assist in development of the Port of Philadelphia and other municipal improvements, including highways.

We will exert leadership and will cooperate in every proper action to correct administrative failure to provide higher standards of compensation, reasonable hours and better working conditions for the policemen, firemen and park guards of the city of Philadelphia.

PITTSBURGH

The Republican Party in the administration of Governor Edward Martin initiated the rebuilding and redevelopment of Pittsburgh. This vast program was continued during the Republican administrations of Governors James H. Duff and John S. Fine.

This program, financed in large part by the state, was carried forward by civic minded groups on a non-partisan basis. These civic leaders earned the confidence and support of Republican Governors and legislators during the past 13 years. Every phase of this program will continue to have the support of the Republican Party.

ERIE

We will continue state aid for the development of the Port of Erie so that Northwestern Pennsylvania will receive maximum economic benefits from the St. Lawrence Seaway.

CIVIL RIGHTS

Recognizing existing inequities which some of our citizens experience in employment, education and housing because of race, creed, color, sex and age, the Republican Party of Pennsylvania pledges the following:

1. More adequate budget for the existing Fair Employment Practices Commission, so as to provide for more effective enforcement.

2. Expansion and strengthening of the present Commission so that a definite program can be launched and carried out to eradicate the evil of discrimination, as set forth in this plank, wherever it is encountered.

3. The Republican Party makes these pledges in the full knowledge that it does so as the only political party inherently interested in and able to stand up for all Americans, without regard to their race, religion and national origin.

We Pennsylvania Republicans reaffirm that faith in the dignity and rights of everyone.

CONSERVATION AND OUTDOOR SPORTS

Republican Administrations have initiated clean stream legislation, flood control projects, soil conservation, water development, forest conservation and the expansion of state parks. We will continue to support and encourage conservation of natural resources and wildlife, as well as regulations to preserve the scenic beauty of Pennsylvania, particularly along our highways.

We pledge an adequate winter feeding program and additional habitat for wildlife. We pledge to provide additional fish for our streams and lakes and to expand fishing waters and provide better access to existing facilities.

The Republican Party is proud of its conservation record. We are pledged to carry out our program by appointing the most experienced and capable Pennsylvanians, on a non-political basis and by the proper and rigid enforcement of all laws.

RECREATION

The wholesome use of leisure time is a necessary part of American life. To further develop an expanded recreation program, we recommend increased efforts by the Department of Forests and Waters to assist communities and organizations in fostering local recreational activities to tak full advantage of our expanding State Park system. We will continue to expand Roadside Rests programs initiated by Republican administrations.

VETERANS' AFFAIRS

We pledge prompt payment of the Korean bonus.

We will continue veterans preference in Civil Service and the retention for persons called into the Armed Forces of all rights and privileges held prior to service.

We favor an extension of educational opportunities for veterans' children and continued necessary assistance to veterans who are in need.

WOMEN IN BUSINESS AND GOVERNMENT

Pennsylvania women have established an outstanding record in the fields of government, business and civic activities. We will help and encourage them to further their contribution to the state and nation, and we pledge to place women in responsible government positions, up to and including those of Cabinet level.

YOUTH

Young men and women will be encouraged to make government a career in helping to carry forward the progress of our Commonwealth. We pledge to provide opportunity in our State Government for youth to obtain employment and advancement.

SENIOR CITIZENS

Elder citizens, having contributed to the progress and prosperity of our Commonwealth, are entitled to consideration by our State Government to help meet their needs in low-cost housing, employment and recreational facilities. We pledge our sympathetic consideration to the needs of our worthy senior citizens.

CIVIL DEFENSE

We fully share public concern for citizen safety in the event of an enemy attack. The maintenance of an effective and practical civil defense organization must receive full support from every level of government.

Pennsylvania's civil defense groups have repeatedly proven their value during times of flood and other natural disasters. We pledge cooperation and active support for the Commonwealth's Civil Defense organization.

PROFESSIONS AND TRADES

Our citizens in the professions and trades must be fairly and properly licensed. We pledge adequately appropriations to the Licensing Boards so that the issuance of licenses and the reporting of examinations will not be delayed. Appointees to the State Examining Boards will be men and women whose ability and integrity are recognized and recommended by the professional and trade societies who are directly concerned.

RESOLUTION

Mr. WORLEY offered a resolution which was filed with the Clerk.

RESOLUTION

CONDOLENCE

Mr. BONNER, Mrs. MARKLEY, Messrs. STIMMEL and STECKEL offered a resolution which was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives,
January 19, 1959.

The recent death of Abraham Frank, an outstanding citizen and businessman of Allentown, has brought sorsow to many hearts.

Abraham Frank, who passed away at the age of 78, was an excellent example of the oft-heard phrase that United States is the "land of opportunity." At the age of 20, Mr. Frank came to this country from his native Romania. He has been a resident of Allentown for the past 43 years, in which time he built a very successful business, and became widely known as "Frank The Pants Man." He and his wife, Frannie Frank, who recently celebrated their 57th Wedding Annviresary, reared a fine family of three sons and one daughter, who have all become successful in their own right. One is a State Legislator, our own Samuel W. Frank; another is David Frank who is a businessman in Reading; the third is Bernard Frank who is an Attorney in Allentown; and the fourth is Mrs. Lillian Neischloss a housewife and former school teacher in Trenton, N. J.

Abraham Frank had every right to be proud of his accomplishments and those of his sons, just as the community had a right to be proud of him as a good father, a successful businessman and a responsible citizen. Mr. Frank won the respect, confidence and affection of all those with whom he came in contact. His passing is indeed a great loss to his community and to the Commonwealth, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the members of the House of Representatives extend their sympathies to his wife and children in their hour of loss and bereavement, and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be sent to his widow and children.

RESOLUTION

Mr. McCORMACK offered a resolution which was referred to the Committee on Rules.

REQUEST TO ADD ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

Mr. BRETH asked unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to bills.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous consent to add additional sponsors?

Mr. ALBERT W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, this House is always operated on the greatest amount of friendship, cooperation and comity between both sides of this House. Of course, we have a set of Rules.

We have a Member here who just now wanted to offer a condolence resolution for a person not a Member of this House, nor a member of the family of a Member. The Rule of course, as I say, does not permit that. It is only for House Members or their families.

We also have a Rule that you have only four sponsors on a bill. I understand these bills have seven sponsors. As long as Mr. Breth has gone to the trouble of getting sponsors on these particular bills, we will not object. But I believe that four sponsors on a bill is a good rule, it is in the interest of economy and for smooth operation of this General Assembly.

I would say that we will object to any further violation of the Rule. Of course you can move to suspend the Rule, if you care to, but I believe we should follow that particular Rule.

The SPEAKER. I interpret the Minority Leader's remarks as saying that in this particular instance he has no objection.

Mr. ALBERT W. JOHNSON. We are waiving the objection in this particular instance.

The SPEAKER. In the future you intend to operate under the rule?

Mr. ALBERT W. JOHNSON. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears no objection and consent is granted to add additional sponsors.

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, I thank both the Speaker and the Minority Leader.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the Chief Clerk for the purpose of making some important announcements of interest to all the Members.

Members and Officers of the House and their families are invited by Governor-elect Lawrence's Inaugural Committee to be their guests for luncheon in the New House Caucus Room on the first floor of this Capitol building, tomorrow, and that will take place between 12:30 p. m. and 1:15 p. m. after the oath of office and address has been made by the Governor-elect.

Just one other announcement. It is suggested that the Members of the House bring their hats and coats to their desks in the House tomorrow morning when the House convenes so that it will expedite the procession to the inaugural stands.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I have some announcements I would like to make at this time.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I am again requesting that all the Members of the House please carry out the rules pertaining to your automobile. All automobiles must be removed from the front of the main Capitol building tonight. Automobile parking space is provided for each of us in Parking Lot 14 on the rear of the Capitol. All automobiles must be removed tonight from the front of the main Capitol building.

I would also like to announce to the House that we will be in session next week on Monday and Tuesday, January 26th, and January 27th, beginning Monday at 4:30 p. m. There will be a Democratic Caucus held at 2:30 p. m. and an announcement sent to all the Members, on Monday, January 26th.

The tentative schedule that has been worked out by the leadership on both sides of the House for next week is two days. Also the formalities for the inauguration of the Cabinet's taking the oath of office will take place.

Again I repeat for those who are planning regarding their Hotel rooms for Wednesday of this week, there will not be a session of this House on Wednesday. Tomorrow is the last day for this week.

INTERROGATION

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Warren, Mr. Gibson.

Mr. GIBSON. The question has been asked by some of the Members, do they require a ticket for admission to the Capitol tomorrow?

The SECRETARY. Each Member was supposed to have been sent a ticket to admit him into the Capitol building tomorrow morning and also a ticket to admit his wife, along with a ticket to park his car back of the Capitol until that becomes filled and from then cars will have to be parked on Lot No. 14 at the corner of North and Third Streets.

The ticket for admission to the Capitol is a white ticket received, I believe, by every Member of this House. Two tickets were in the envelope.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. BOIES. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Tuesday, January 20, 1959 at 10:00 a. m.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 6:18 p. m.) the House adjourned.

INAUGURAL CEREMONY OF LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR-ELECT JOHN MORGAN DAVIS

The PRESIDENT. The hour having arrived for the administration of the oath of office to the Lieutenant-Governor-elect, the Senate will come to order. This ceremony will be opened with the Invocation, which will be offered by the Reverend Doctor V. Carney Hargroves, of the Second Baptist Church, Germantown.

INVOCATION

REVEREND DOCTOR V. CARNEY HARGROVES. Let us pray.

Our Father in Heaven, we pray to Thee because we believe. Because of our confidence in Thy reality, we turn to Thee not alone in our lower moments, but in our happiest experiences.

We thank Thee for the freedoms we enjoy in this, our beloved Country. We are grateful for them and pray that we may so live as to be in Thy sight worthy of them.

We pray especially for him who this day assumes high responsibility. Grant him physical strength to adequately perform his tasks. Give him, we pray, wisdom to make wise decisions and courage to face difficult circumstances. Challenge him to always be true to himself and to Thee. Help him, O God, to be a good servant of this Commonwealth.

We pray, too, for all of us here in this hour. Thou knowest our hopes; Thou knowest our needs. Grant each of us enough discouragement to keep us humble. Permit us sufficient failure that we may know life's noblest values. Allow us enough suffering for us to be sympathetic with our fellowmen.

Because Thou art able to do all these things and more for those who believe, we commit ourselves into Thy care and keeping now and forever, through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.

ADMINISTRATION OF OATH TO LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR-ELECT

The PRESIDENT. The oath of office to the Honorable John Morgan Davis, Lieutenant-Governor-elect, will be administered by Judge Chester H. Rhodes, President Judge of the Pennsylvania Superior Court.

(The oath of office was administered accordingly.)

GAVEL PRESENTED TO LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR JOHN MORGAN DAVIS

Mr. FURMAN. It is now my honor and happy privilege to present to John Morgan Davis, the Lieutenant-Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, the gavel of authority of the Senate.

Governor Davis, I congratulate you and wish you Godspeed.

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR JOHN MORGAN DAVIS. Thank you, Governor Furman.

INAUGURAL ADDRESS OF LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR JOHN MORGAN DAVIS

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR JOHN MORGAN DAVIS. Mr. President, Governor-elect Lawrence, Members of the Senate and fellow citizens, I am very humble in taking this gavel into my hands today. It marks the beginning of four years which I hope will be a happy association with the Members of this Senate. I was sworn in with my hand resting on these words of the Holy Bible, as recorded in the Book of Isaiah, Chapter 41, Verses X to XIII:

"X. Fear Thou not, for I am with thee; be not dismayed, for I am thy God; I will strengthen thee; yea, I will help thee; yea, I will uphold thee with the right hand of my righteousness.

"XI. Behold, all they that were incensed against thee shall be ashamed and confounded; they shall be as nothing and they that strive with thee shall perish.

"XII. Thou shalt seek them, and shalt not find them, even 'them that contended with thee'; they that war against thee shall be as nothing, and as a thing of naught.

"XIII. For I, the Lord thy God, will hold thy right hand, saying unto thee, 'Fear not, I will help thee.'"

These wonderful words will always be in my heart as I go forward with my duties as Lieutenant-Governor of Pennsylvania, for I am thankful to God for the opportunity being afforded me to once again serve the people of this great Commonwealth. In dedicating myself to this purpose, I fully realize that the task faced by the Senate of Pennsylvania is not an easy one. Lawmaking bodies are—and properly should be—the infantry in the battle for good government. The Members of the Senate of Pennsylvania are properly persons of different backgrounds, different points of view and varying philosophies. The bond which holds them together, however, is the desire to serve, and serve well, the people of this great State.

Pennsylvania, along with our great Nation, is on the threshhold of a new era. The natural resources available in this great Commonwealth are equaled by very few States in the Union. The schools and universities for providing our younger citizens with higher education are among the finest in our land. We can be proud that our State has become a mecca for tourists. Our citizens are keenly aware that within the borders of Pennsylvania lie the raw materials in people, things and institutions that can create prosperity and happiness on all fronts. No Pennsylvanian should be without a job. No youngster who wants to go to college should be without the finest education. No one who is sick or lame should be without proper medical and hospital help.

The Members of the Senate of Pennsylvania, regardless of party, can and will, I am sure, face up to the challenge of this day and the problems which concern us. I believe that the time has passed when partisan politics will be permitted to thwart what is good for the people of Pennsylvania. I am sure that every Member of both Legislative Bodies feels the same way. The government of our State belongs to the people and the people's interests can be guarded only by their representatives in the government. The people have a right to demand that we cope with and solve their problems. This, God helping, we shall do.

As President of the Senate, I will be performing a duty which is not wholly unfamiliar to me. My judicial experience, I am certain, will stand me in good stead. I hope sincerely that I was considered a fair and impartial Judge, whose interests were always in arriving at the truth and whose rulings were in accord with the law and the deepest traditions of the judiciary. I expect to act no differently in presiding over the Senate. I shall zealously guard the right of every Senator to be heard, and will do all in my power to help this great Body function efficiently and in the best interest of all of the people of Pennsylvania.

In my duties, other than as President of the Senate, I shall strive for a program that will provide a maximum of protection to the citizens of this Commonwealth. I will not endorse the use of "Star Chamber" proceedings and will fully subscribe to the theory that our people have a right to know what their elected and appointed officials are doing. The Board over which I precide will strive for procedures that will afford a maximum of security to the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. I shall serve, as always, with fear of none and with favor to no one, impartially and fairly.

I am very happy to be a part of the great administration of that fine Governor, David L. Lawrence. I assure you that in cooperating with him and with this Senate of Pennsylvania, I know that I can be of the highest service to the people of Pennsylvania. Thus, my friends, I shall keep faith with myself and with my family.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John Morgan Davis) in the Chair.

The PRESIDENT. This ceremony being concluded, the Chair calls upon the Oblate of St. Francis De Sales, Father William A. Guerin, to pronounce the benediction.

BENEDICTION

FATHER WILLIAM A. GUERIN. Almighty and Eternal

God, we humbly ask the blessings of the Father, the Son and the Holy Spirit upon our Lieutenant-Governor, John Morgan Davis. We beg Thee to communicate to him a touch of Thy infinite strength to aid him in the great task which lies before him.

We pray Thee, O God of might, justice and wisdom, through Whom all authority is rightly administered and laws enacted, let the light of divine wisdom direct the deliberations of the Senate over which our Lieutenant-Governor shall preside, so that Your heavenly foresight might shine forth in all the proceedings and laws framed for our rule and government, and thus tend to the preservation of peace, perpetuate to us equal liberty and promote due respect for virtue and religion.

May the blessing of Almighty God descend upon John Morgan Davis, our Lieutenant-Governor, and remain with him forever and ever. Amen.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. LANE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, the bill which I am about to introduce establishes in Pennsylvania a Business Development Corporation. As most of the Members know, we now have an Industrial Development Authority in operation in Pennsylvania, and the sponsors of this legislation are of the opinion that should we have this legislation passed, it would create a Business Development Corporation whereby there is a great possibility that we will attract private capital to our endeavors in making Pennsylvania a prosperous State in which to live.

So, on behalf of Senator McMenamin, Senator Camiel, Senator Murray, Senator Mahady, Senator Kalman, Senator Scott and myself, I present this bill to the Chair, and I wish to explain that the reason we have these sponsors is because these Members of the Senate represent areas where they have a labor surplus.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. LANE, McMENAMIN, CAMIEL, MURRAY, MAHADY, KALMAN and SCOTT, read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 52, entitled:

An Act establishing the Pennsylvania Business Development Corporation; prescribing its powers and duties, and providing for its operation.

SENATE RESOLUTION

REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

URGING THE DEPARTMENT OF LABOR AND INDUSTRY TO INSPECT AND EXAMINE THE SCHOOLS OF PENNSYLVANIA AND TO DETERMINE THE DEGREE OF SAFETY OF EACH ONE

Messrs. LANE, CAMIEL and BERGER offered the following resolution which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Labor and Industry.

In the Senate, January 20, 1959.

Pennsylvanians were shocked at the news of the tragic school fire in Chicago. Our grief for these young helpless children and their parents is mingled with a dread anxiety for the safety of our own children. Every Pennsylvanian is of one mind in a determination that such a loss shall never befall Pennsylvania. There is no greater consideration than the safety of our children and any course of action which adds to that safety, even in the slightest degree, is worth many times the effort put into it.

To fear that any of our school children are in present danger is intolerable. To rid ourselves of fear we must find and eliminate every fire hazard in our schools; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Members of the Senate urge the Department of Labor and Industry, through its Bureau of Investigations to inspect and examine the schools of Pennsylvania and to determine the degree of safety of each one; and in addition to pursuing the actions prescribed by law in those cases involving fire hazards, to make available the results of the investigation to the Department of Public Instruction and to the Stae Public School Building Auhority for appropriate action by those agencies; and be it further

Resolved, That the Department of Labor and Industry program periodic inspections of every school facility in Pennsylvania to the end that protection against fire in our schools be as complete as is possible; and be it further

Resolved, That if the Department of Labor and Industry finds the present law relating to fire hazards in public buildings inadequate in any respect, then it shall so report, together with its recommendations for legislation, to the General Assembly; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Secretary of Labor and Industry.

Mr. President, I call from the table all of the nominations submitted to this Body by Governor Lawrence's predecessor in office, under date of January 6, 1959, except those for the office of Commissioner of Deeds, and move that they be returned to the Governor in accordance with his request.

The Chaplain, Reverend David R. Hoover, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, our Heavenly Father, we invoke Thy Divine Blessing upon us not only in the deliberations of this hour, but also in the affairs of this day. ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, due to the weather here in Harrisburg on Inauguration Day, we must change our time schedule and plans for the inauguration procedure today.

At 10:30 this morning, we would ask that the wives, children, and families of the Members who are here with the Members will go first to the front of the main Capitol building where buses will be available to transport them to the Farm Show building.

Then the House Members will proceed to the same area to load on the buses for the Farm Show area where the inauguration will be held at 12 o'clock noon.

The Inaugural Committee of the House, as well as the Inaugural Committee of the Senate, will report to their designated areas, which will be a few minutes earlier than had been scheduled. The Inaugural Committee of the House, ten Republican Members and ten Democratic Members will report to the Reception Room in the Governor's office and they, of course, will be transported in buses to the Farm Show arena. I repeat, the wives, families, children of the Members, will be transported to the Farm Show buildings.

We, as House Members, will leave the Hall of the House at 10:30 to go to the Farm Show building.

Following the inauguration at the Farm Show building, we are on a very tight schedule for the luncheon that was scheduled in the New House Caucus Room. The luncheon will still be held as near as possible to the scheduled time which was 12:45. That luncheon is for the House Members, their wives, families and guests.

I hope we can move rather rapidly here this morning, put on our hats and coats and move out of the Hall of the House at 10:30 and no later than twenty-five to eleven.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. With the permission of the Majority Leader, the Chair would like to now direct the Members of the Inaugural Committee, on the part of the House, to go to the Governor's Reception Room.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair would like to inquire from the Majority Leader whether the original plan for the Members to proceed to the rotunda in a body is to be carried out or abandoned?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, the original plan regarding the Members is to be carried out. They will proceed in a body at 10:30 to the rotunda except they will march right out to the buses, escorted by State Police instead of down into the stands.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Majority Leader has answered the question. The Chair thanks the gentleman.

The Chair would suggest that any Members who do not have their wraps ready at this time, proceed to get them so that there will be no delay, and return to the House.

RESOLUTION No. 5.

In the House of Representatives, January 19, 1959.

JOINT COMMITTEE TO CONDUCT A STUDY OF THE CAUSES OF JUVENILE CRIME

Whereas, the public press has repeatedly called attention to the heavy incidence of juvenile crime and many murders and crimes of great violence being committed by juvenile criminals; and

Whereas, the public press carries repeated stories of an attitude prevalent among certain juvenile criminals of complete disregard for punitive provisions of the criminal laws of this Commonwealth; and

Whereas, a continued disregard for the peace and safety of the citizens of the Commonwealth by such juvenile criminals creates a criminal cancer threatening the peace and good order of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; and

Whereas, it is imperative that remedial steps be taken of a positive nature to stamp out this philosophy of juvenile criminals and the causes thereof;

Now therefore, be it resolved, the Senate concurring, that the Speaker of the House of Representatives appoint five (5) members of the House and the President pro tempore of the Senate appoint five (5) members of the Senate, who together shall constitute a joint committee and be authorized and directed to make an immediate study of all factors causing the attitude in juvenile criminals of disregard for law and order, a study of the corrective and remedial action of any nature whatsoever required to correct such juvenile criminal philosophy and a further study of the steps necessary to rehabilitate those addicted of such amoral juvenile criminal thinking and acting; and

Be It Further Resolved, that such juvenile crime study committee be charged with inviting to testify before it persons such as educators, clergymen, penal authorities, members of the judiciary, law enforcement officials, newspaper reporters, social workers, and other citizens who are in contact with such juvenile criminals in order to ascertain the causes for such thinking and the possible remedies therefor; and

Be It Further Resolved, that the committee be authorized, in its discretion, to transcribe such part or parts of the testimony and statements taken before it; and

Be It Further Resolved, that the committee shall have the power to issue subpoenas under its hand and seal requesting and commanding any person or persons to appear before it and answer questions touching matters properly being inquired into and to produce such books, papers, records, and documents as the committee may deem necessary. Such subpoenas may be served upon any person and shall have the force and effect of subpoenas issued out of the Courts of this Commonwealth. The Committee shall have the power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before it. Any person who shall wilfully neglect or refuse to testify before the committee or to produce any books, papers, records, or documents shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of the Commonwealth in such cases; and

Be It Further Resolved, that the said joint committee shall make a report of its findings and recommendations to the respective branches of the General Assembly prior to the adjournment of the present session.

RESOLUTION No. 6.

In the House of Representatives, January 19, 1959.

On September 4, 1758, work was begun on a fortified camp named Fort Ligonier. The fort was destined to serve a vital purpose in our history as the "Key to the West." Although severely attacked by the French and Indians, one month after work on its construction started, all attacks were repulsed and it was never taken by the enemy. The fort served as a place of refuge for settlers through the Indian wars, and along with Fort Pitt was the only stronghold that did not fall during the Pontiac wars of 1763. After serving through seven colorful and eventful years, the fort was officially abandoned in 1765.

In February, 1947, an architect was commissioned by the Fort Ligonier Memorial Foundation to supervise a project to establish, as far as possible, the exact location and layout of Fort Ligonier. An accurate topographical survey was made in 1951, and the workings, drawings and specifications for the reconstruction project were completed in early 1953.

Early in 1957, the Bi-Centennial Association of Ligonier became officially registered as a nonprofit organization, incorporated for the purpose of recalling, through proper celebration, the valiant exploits of our pioneer ancestors two hundred years ago as they inscribed the name of Pennsylvania and Westmoreland County high on the pillars of eternal fame. An untiring effort on the part of the association made possible the success of the celebration held from September 21 to September 27, 1958.

On Monday, September 22, 1958, the Honorable George M. Leader, Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, officially opened the Bi-Centennial Pageant, entitled "Westward—An Empire," which ran triumphantly throughout the week. Brilliantly planned and executed exhibitions, displays and tours brought the celebration to a most successful climax.

The importance of the niche carved in the history of our country by Fort Ligonier was deeply impressed upon all when, on September 26, 1958, the Honorable Dwight D. Eisenhower, President of the United States, attended the celebration, and in his address referred to Ligonier as a "significant outpost in frontier history," and paid reverent tribute to all of those "who kept faith with the spirit of Fort Ligonier, and gave to us our land, our Nation, and our freedom;" therefore, be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives extend its sincere congratulations to the Borough of Ligonier and tot he Bi-Centennial Association of Ligonier for their great work toward reflecting well-earned glory upon the State of Pennsylvania and Ligonier Valley as forerunners of freedom; and be it further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution to sent to Mr. Frank D. Krichbaum, Burgess of the Borough of Ligonier, Pennsylvania.

RESOLUTION No. 7.

In the House of Representatives, January 19, 1959.

Resolved, That Rule 22 of the House of Representatives be amended by striking out the first paragraph which reads:

"The Committee on Committees shall consist of the Speaker and ten members of the House, seven of them shall be members of the majority party and three of whom shall be members of the principal minority party, whose duty shall be to recommend to the House the names of the members who are to serve on the standing committees of the House."

By Messrs. PETER J. MURPHY, BELL and ALAN D. WILLAMS. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 8.

In the House of Representatives, January 19, 1959.

Whereas, employees of the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board under civil service are performing important and revenue producing activities of the Commonwealth; and

Whereas, these employees have served the Commonwealth faithfully and with distinction; and

Whereas, comparative wages of employees of the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board are not comparable to wages for similar positions in private industry or in other departments of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania;

Now therefore be it resolved, (the Senate concurring), that the Speaker of the House of Representatives appoint a committee of three (3) House members and the President pro tempore of the Senate appoint a similar committee of three (3) Senators to study and determine the extent of the actual need for increase in the salaries and an incentive plan of salary increases for employees of the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board who are under civil service; and

Be It Further Resolved, that the committee make a report of its findings and recommendations to the respective branches of the General Assembly prior to the adjournment of the present session.

By Mr. WORLEY. RESOLUTION No. 9.

In the House of Representatives, January 19, 1959.

The death of G. Robert Thompson, a former member of this House of Representatives, on January 10, 1959 marked the end of a long and varied career.

Mr. Thompson, a life-long resident of Adams County was a business man by occupation. He was a director of the Gettysburg National Bank for thirty-eight years. Not only was he vice president of the Gettysburg Building and Loan Association but also, with a son, operated Thompson's Warehouse in Gettysburg, Pennsylvania. He was engaged in numerous other business ventures in the county, which included farming for a number of years.

Mr. Thompson's public service, spanning nearly four decades, began in 1912 as Sheriff of Adams County. He later served as Republican County Chairman during the Pinchot Campaign and Administration. It was during his term as county chairman that the Republicans overcame what had been a long-time Democratic lead in registration in Adams County, Mr. Thompson was a member of the House of Representatives in 1939 and 1940. Mr. Thompson's public spirit and private achievement marked him as an exemplary citizen whose memory will long be cherished by those who knew him and benefited from his association; therefore be it

Resolved, That the members of the House of Representatives extend their sympathies to his wife and children in their hour of loss and bereavement; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be sent to his widow, Mrs. G. Robert Thompson, Carlisle Street, Gettysburg; to his son, Robert Thompson, Aspers; and to his two daughters, Mrs. Margaret Deatrick, Gettysburg, R. D. 4 and Mrs. Blanche Bowers, Gettysburg, R. D. 5.

SENATE MESSAGE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, January 6, 1959.

Whereas, on February 12, 1959, the entire civilized world generally, and the American Nation in particular, will celebrate the Sesquicentennial anniversary of the birth of its martyr-President, Abraham Lincoln, whom Count Leo Tolstoi described as "Christ in miniature," and who by universal consent is the most revered Citizen of the World because his immortality, to use the expression of Woodrow Wilson, "does not lie in any of his achievements, but in his attitude towards mankind," and

Whereas, the entire world will never forget the intrepid spirit of justice and freedom in this great American martyr-President, whose life exemplified the principle of charity toward all and malice toward none, and

Whereas, in these days of strain and stress, of gloom and vacillation, of a world "half free and half slave," a celebration revolving around our immortal martyr-President, will result in the reaffirmation of Lincoln's teachings, the tonic values whereof have been, generation after generation, universally acknowledged, and

Whereas, of all the states of the Union, none can boast of more Lincoln lost than Pennsylvania, as it was on the soil of Pennsylvania that the immortal Gettysburg address was delivered by Lincoln, coined in a few sentences that are considered as one of the greatest monuments of the English language, as well as a limpid spring of inspiration from which our Republic had drank heretofore and shall continue to drink henceforth, and

Whereas, with only a few years separating Pennsylvania from the celebration of the Centennial of the Battle of Gettysburg, it would be conducive to the spiritual ennoblement of our Citizenry to initiate a State-wide celebration of the Sesquicentennial of the birth of Abraham Lincoln, beginning with February 12, 1959 and thenceforth during the entire year of 1959.

Now, be it resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the General Assembly of Pennsylvania appoint a Commission, to be known as the "Abraham Lincoln Sesquicentennial Commission of Pennsylvania," to consist of six members, three of whom shall be appointed by the Speaker of the House on the part of the House of Representatives, and three of whom shall be appointed by the President Pro Tempore of the Senate on the part of the Senate of the General Assembly, the task whereof shall consist in evolving plans for a State-wide celebration of the Sesquicentennial of the birth of Abraham Lincoln; in order that said plans may be submitted in the form of a report to the General Assembly of Pennsylvania not later than March 15, 1959, for proper action and implementation.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair has been requested by the Chief Clerk to announce that bills that are left on Members' desks should remain on the top of the desks and not be put away in any of the drawers. The purpose of this, of course, is that the Sergeants-at-Arms will come around later and put them in your file. If you have put them away or locked them up in a drawer, they will not be filed properly. So all bills hereafter should be left on top of the desks when you leave the House.

FORMER MEMBER WELCOMED

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair welcomes to the Hall of the House Congressman Herman Toll, a former Member of this House.

COMMUNICATION FROM GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

GOVERNOR'S INAUGURAL ADDRESS

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, January 20, 1959.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I take pleasure in transmitting to you herewith, for your information, a copy of my Inaugural Address made today.

DAVID L. LAWRENCE.

INAUGURAL ADDRESS OF GOVERNOR DAVID L. LAWRENCE TO BE DELIVERED SHORTLY AFTER TWELVE NOON ON TUESDAY, JANUARY 20, 1959, AT HARRISBURG

GOVERNOR DAVID L. LAWRENCE. My fellow Pennsylvanians:

A beginning is always a time of festival. Primitive man, close as he was to nature, celebrated the coming of each season. We take good care to welcome each New Year. There is in each of us a spirit which looks to the future with pleasure and with hope; we are sure that tomorrow will bring us the fulfillment of those dreams which have been denied us in the hard cold past.

So it is natural that we make a jubilee of our Inaugurations.

The day abounds with genuine good wishes.

There is music and dancing—a true holiday mood.

The victorious Party is happy in the tangible evidence of its triumph.

Those who lost—and we cannot all win in this conteist of self-government—are philosophic.

The worst campaign forebodings on either side—all the overstatement, the occasional spite, the excesses of competition—vanish as completely as last year's snows.

We find that on Inauguration Day we are neither devils nor angels; neither villains nor demi-gods. We are simply men and women entrusted with great responsibilities, prayerful that their wisdom and their courage will prove equal to the great task which has come to them.

Being human, I must confess that I am not without emotion on this day which means so much to me, to my family, and to those good friends who have worked with me in government and politics through these many years.

I believe I know something of the Governorship of Pennsylvania. I have seen men struggle and contest for this prize of office; form factions within Parties and wage bitter hate-filled war between the Parties to obtain it; surrender their judgment to their ambition; become all but blind to any other goal.

I consider myself fortunate that I did not obtain the office on such terms. I became a candidate because it was thought that I could bring unity to my Party; I was elected Governor because a majority of Pennsylvanians believed that I would, with such strength and experience as I possess, summon up the full energies of Pennsylvania to meet the problems which confront us.

As Governor, I will be free of all obligations except those of my oath and of my conscience.

I will be loyal to my Party, yet I will never put Party above the Commonwealth.

I will be grateful to my friends, yet I will never allow friendship to trespass against the State's best service.

I will be ambitious for Pennsylvania's future; the more so, because I have no political ambitions of my own.

It is a great honor to be Governor of Pennsylvania, but the honor becomes a lonely symbol—an empty matter of portraits and ceremony—if the Governor does not use his office for the effective leadership of the Commonwealth he heads.

As it may be given me, I will use every resource, every ounce of strength that lies in this great office, for the advancement of Pennsylvania and its people.

The Commonwealth is fortunate, this new Administration is fortunate, that the Governor whom I succeeded is a man of conviction, a man of ideals, a man of high purpose and high principle.

There will be no shock of transition from a Leader to a Lawrence Administration.

Shading and emphasis may vary—because men's methods and approaches inevitably vary—but I take this office comforted by the knowledge that Governor Leader, in his four years of office, did so much to recognize the problems of this State and did so much to prepare the implements for their solution.

This last Administration was not afraid to blaze new trails—in economic development, in human welfare, in education, throughout the vast reach of the State's responsibilities.

This new Administration will have all the advantage of the hard pioneering that has gone before it.

We will have skilled administrators—good public officers trained in their work and sympathetic to our objectives.

We will have a basic framework of useful legislation, which now must be financed and applied to achieve its full effectiveness.

There will, of course, be new recommendations for legislation from the Executive to the Legislature, but as I now see them, they will be specialized rather than general, filling gaps and increasing our effectiveness, rather than opening broad new areas of public action.

And, as a basic and harsh fact in our public life, we must act to solve a very difficult fiscal problem.

We must, as soon as we can do so, find new revenues for the State so that we can meet our acknowledged responsibilities.

In this, we are not alone.

The Governor of New York and the Governor of Massachusetts are at grips with tax problems as difficult as ours. Ohio is searching for new income sources.

We all know the struggles of our school districts and our municipalities.

I read the other day, translated into modern English, the call for the first true Parliament to meet in England—the very first legislative session directly ancestral to our own Congress and our own General Assembly.

The King who issued the call was Edward I.

The time was 1295—six hundred and sixty-four years ago.

The subject was the Kingdom's need for money.

And King Edward, addressing his Nobles and Commons, said to them of taxes:

"What touches all, should be approved by all."

In retrospect, I believe that each of us would now admit that Pennsylvania would be better off today, our problems less acute, if we had followed the King's maxim when our pressures for new State revenues began to rise at the end of World War II.

But what is past cannot be undone.

I begin my term of service today in the firm belief that we can take our tax issues out of the concentration of partisanship—that indeed we must do so in the narrow balance that exists in our political structure.

I hope we can avoid a Democratic tax program or a Republican tax program; a Governor's tax program, a House tax program, a Senate tax program.

I hope we can achieve, hard as it is to do, a Pennsylvania tax program that will be fashioned on the basis of "what touches all, should be approved by all."

To help us toward this goal, I have appointed a group of very able Pennsylvanians, evenly divided between the Parties, broadly representative of management, labor, and public service, to give us the benefit of their advice on tax policy for Pennsylvania. Their report should be a guide which we can all find useful.

It is noteworthy, I think, that every person whom I asked to serve on the tax policy committee agreed at once to do so—although we all know that there is little glory and much abuse in store for those who recommend taxation, any kind of taxation.

That was another clue to me that we have reached a point in the public affairs of this State where we can have a much-needed era of political good-feeling.

I think I know, as well as anyone, that Pennsylvania politics is traditionally rough and tough, fiercely competitive, materialistic, dog-eat-dog.

I know that each Party will—humanly and properly—seek to win Court Houses and City Halls throughout Pennsylvania this year.

I know that next year, each of us will try his level best to carry Pennsylvania for the Presidential nominee of his Party.

I know it is healthy to have two strong Parties, well-matched, and to have a lively hard-hitting opposition.

But I am sure there is a point where opposition becomes sterility, where name-calling becomes an end and an art in itself, where the best interests of the community—its vital needs—are heedlessly sacrificed for a fancied political advantage that isn't worth two pins in lasting political achievement.

I will do my utmost—I will go as far as anyone in this State—to create an atmosphere where a program for Pennsylvania can be judged and executed on its merits, without regard to which Party gets the credit and without regard to political and sectional rivalries.

It would be an overstatement to say that Pennsylvania has a crisis to meet and overcome.

It would be the honest truth to say that Pennsylvania has a series of economic problems, many years in the making, that can bring us a grave crisis in the future if we do not learn to act together and to act now.

It would be blindness to deny that many trends in our Nation's economic life are not going in our favor. Pennsylvania farms, Pennsylvania mines, Pennsylvania railroads will never again support the massive labor force of the years gone by. Pennsylvania has been pre-eminently a State of heavy industry. We suffered sharply in the recession of 1958, far more than the Nation as a whole, and we are not yet out of the woods, in spite of the national production indices.

We have had no great Federal development projects to change and bolster our economy.

Aviation and rocketry—the focus of defense spending—have little direct impact upon Pennsylvania's industries and employment.

The growth pattern of population in the Country favors the South and West. We must not become a region where we export our most vigorous and ambitious men and women—as the Mountain South and New England have been in this last generation.

We already have areas of chronic unemployment, and they are growing—not contracting.

Manufacturing has ceased to be the major source of employment in our society—and Pennsylvania is a manufacturing State. There has been a tremendous shift, nationally, to the service industries, in which we are not predominant.

All of this is the dark side, put to you today not because I am an alarmist but because I believe that we must know our weaknesses as well as boast our strengths.

Pennsylvania's vital problems are not political.

They are economic.

We must deal with the stubborn unemployment that besets us; we must act to assure our future as a prosperous, productive unit in the American economy, as fruitful and as well-rewarded as the best.

Our great danger—a fatal danger—is a policy of drift.

That is what this Administration will not do.

We will have a policy of action—action not by government alone, but by industry, by finance, by labor, by community organization, so that the resources of Pennsylvania are mobilized before it is too late.

We have vast resources—in wealth, in skills, in enterprise, in organization. We have great metropolitan cities, great national and international business enterprises, great universities, an unsurpassed labor force, ports on the ocean and the inland waterways, unequalled internal transportation, an early start in atomic energy and manufacture.

And we have a great tradition of success.

As Governor of Pennsylvania, with all the strength God grants to me, I will ask of the people of this State their greatest—their maximum—effort. I will ask of the Federal Government its full support for our endeavors. I will ask of our local governments their full cooperation. I will ask of business and of labor, of community leadership everywhere, an unstinting participation in this work we must do for Pennsylvania.

I will promise them, as I promise you today, that the Commonwealth will meet every obligation placed upon it.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WATKINS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, in presenting this bill, which is a repeal of the Philadelphia wage tax on non-residents, I have tried to secure the endorsement of several of the Senators from Philadelphia, but they felt they should hold their approval in abeyance until they have considered this bill.

However, Mr. President, most seriously, this is a bill which we, in Delaware County and the adjoining counties, are very much interested in, and we think that something should be done about it. We feel as though the city of Philadelphia has unjustly and unfairly taxed our residents year after year.

We ask that the Members of this General Assembly give quick and expedient attention to this bill.

SENATE RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 1, TAKEN FROM TABLE AND REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I wish to call from the table Senate Resolution, Serial No. 1, and ask that it be referred to the appropriate committee.

The PRESIDENT. The Clerk will read the resolution:

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

COMMITTEE ON ELECTIONS TO INQUIRE INTO THE QUALIFICATIONS OF THE HONORABLE BENJAMIN R. DONOLOW

In the Senate, January 6, 1959.

Certain members of the Senate have been reliably informed that the Honorable Benjamin R. Donolow, recently reelected to this body from the second Senatorial district, is not a resident of the district from which he was elected.

Section 5 of Article 2 of the Constitution of Pennsylvania requires that members of the Senate of Pennsylvania shall be "inhabitants of their respective districts one year next before their election . . . and shall reside in their respective districts during their terms of service."

It is necessary that this body require the observance of the above quoted constitutional mandate in order that each district be represented by one of its residents who may legally vote upon measures before this body; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Committee on Elections inquire into the qualifications of the Honorable Benjamin R. Donolow, particularly as to his residence within the district which he has been elected to represent within this body, in order to determine whether or not he is qualified to sit in this Senate as an elected member thereof; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee may hold hearings, take testimony and make its investigations at such places as it shall deem necessary within this Commonwealth. It may issue subpoenas under the hand and seal of its chairman, commanding any person to appear before it and to answer questions touching matters properly being inquired into by the committee, and to produce such books, papers, records and documents as the committee deems necessary. Any person who wilfully neglects or refuses to testify before the committee or to produce any books, papers, records or documents shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of the Commonwealth in such cases. Each member of the committee shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before the committee; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee make a report of its findings and recommendations to this body as soon as possible.

The PRESIDENT. The resolution is referred to the Committee on Elections.

SENATE RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 2, REPORTED FROM COMMITTEE AND LAID ON THE TABLE

Mr. HARNEY, from the Committee on Labor and Industry, to which was referred resolution offered by Messrs. LANE, BERGER and CAMIEL on January 20, 1959, reported the same without amendment as follows:

URGING THE DEPARTMENT OF LABOR AND INDUSTRY TO INSPECT AND EXAMINE PENNSYLVANIA SCHOOLS AND DETERMINE THE DEGREE OF SAFETY OF EACH ONE

In the Senate, January 20, 1959.

Pennsylvanians were shocked at the news of the tragic school fire in Chicago. Our grief for these young helpless children and their parents is mingled with a dread anxiety for the safety of our own children. Every Pennsylvanian is of one mind in a determination that such a loss shall never befall Pennsylvania. There is no greater consideration than the safety of our children and any course of action which adds to that safety even in the slightest degree is worth many times the effort put into it.

To fear that any of our school children are in present danger is intollerable. To rid ourselves of fear we must find an eliminate every fire hazard in our schools; therefore be it

Resolved, That the members ofthe Senate urge the Department of Labor and Industry through its Bureau of Investigations to inspect and examine the schools of Pennsylvania and to determine the degree of safety of each one; and in addition to pursuing the actions prescribed by law in those cases involving fire hazards to make available the results of the investigation to the Department of Public Instruction and to the State Public School Building Authority for appropriate action by those agencies; and be it further

Resolved, That the Department of Labor and Industry program periodic inspections of every school facility in Pennsylvania to the end that protection against fire in our schools be as complete as is possible; and be it further

Resolved, That if the Department of Labor and Industry finds the present law relating to fire hazards in public buildings inadequate in any respect then it shall so report together with its recommendations for legislation to the General Assembly; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Secretary of Labor and Industry.

The PRESIDENT. The resolution is laid on the table.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

REHABILITATION OF FLOOD-STRICKEN AREAS OF PENNSYLVANIA

Messrs. FLACK, MURRAY, SCOTT, BERGER, PECHAN, SHAFER, FLEMING, KOPRIVER, JR., SARRAF, SEYLER, HAYS, MILLER, WEINER and KALMAN offered the following resoluion, which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, January 26, 1959.

Whereas, in January, 1959, there occurred a catastrophic flooding of underground mines in Luzerne County in the area east of the Susquehanna River and floods and high water in other areas of the Commonwealth where the danger of floods has historically been imminent; and

Whereas, twelve mine workers in one flooded area are missing and immediate measures are necessary to effect rescue operations for these men; and

Whereas, these floods have endangered the homes, factories, schools, churches and commercial establishments located in these areas because of the possibility of surface subsidence; and

Whereas, the floods have created a condition of grave danger to the safety and to the lives of citizens in these areas because of potential gas formations and subsidence, the extent of which is yet to be determined and

Whereas, the above conditions have resulted in economic dislocation of large numbers of people in these areas including the temporary and the prospect of permanent unemployment of many citizens; and

Whereas, the widespread unemployment will have severe impact upon the status of the Unemployment Compensation Fund of the Commonwealth; and

Whereas, the Governor of the Commonwealth and the President of the United States have declared that a state of emergency exists in these areas:

Now, therefore in order to effect rescue operations, to alleviate human misery and economic hardship, to prevent the spreading and provide measures that will reduce the hazards from these disastrous floods, and to protect the health, safety and property of the citizens of the Commonwealth, be it resolved (the House of Representatives concurring):

The Department of Mines and Mineral Industries shall:

(a) conduct rescue operations;

(b) without advertising or competitive bidding, purchase material and equipment, and provide labor and technicians for pumping of water from the mines, constructing ditches, flumes and other devices for mine drainage, for sealing backfilling and for the performance of any other work designated by the Secretary of Mines and Mineral Industries as expedient to prevent the spreading and reduce the hazards from the flooding of mines;

(c) pay for power and for other costs attendant upon the operation and maintenance of pumping and other devices for mine drainage;

(d) perform the purposes of this resolution with personnel of the department or by contract with others;

(e) pay for the foregoing whether already undertaken or to be undertaken hereafter;

(f) reimburse any person, agency or corporation for material, labor and equipment furnished at the request of the Department of Mines and Mineral Industries in the performance of the aforesaid duties;

(g) renegotiate any contracts or projects under the Act of July 7, 1955 (P. L. 258), by reason of the conditions arising through this emergency;

(h) conduct investigations to determine the cause of this disaster and to institute measures to insure the future safety and health of persons in the area;

(i) to take all necessary and expedient actions to effect the purposes of this resolution.

The Department of Forests and Waters shall institute at the earliest possible moment a program of channel enlargement, rectification and realignment in order to alleviate conditions contributing to the hazards of flood.

The sum of three million dollars ($3,000,000), or as much thereof as may be necessary, shall be appropriated to the State Council of Civil Defense, subject to the identical safeguards enacted in previous legislation pertaining to such expenditures. i.e., Appropriation Act No. 70-A, approved May 31, 1956.

The sum of two million five hundred thousand dollars ($2.500,000), or as much thereof as may be necessary, shall be allocated to the Department of Mines and Mineral Industries to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

The sum of five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000), or as much thereof as may be necessary, shall be allocaed to the Department of Forests and Waters to carry out th purposes of this resolution.

RULE 39 SUSPENDED

Mr. FLACK. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be suspended and the Senate do now proceed to the consideration of the resolution just read.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

Mr. MURRAY. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, this mine disaster occurred in my Senatorial District, in the city of Pittston. Due to the economic situation of the Wyoming Valley and Luzerne County, it is a serious blow to the development of this area.

Mr. President, I have a brief resume relative to the mine flood which occurred at the Knox Coal Company on January 22, 1959.

On Thursday, January 22, 1959, at 11:45 a.m., a cave-in occurred in the Pittston Vein workings on the river slope of the Knox Coal Company. The location of this cave-in, with respect to the overlying surface, is along the easterly bank of the Susquehanna River, adjacent to the tracks of the Lehigh Valley Railroad, which parallel the river at this location, in Port Griffith, Jenkins Township, Luzerne County, just north of the city of Pittston. The cave-in created a breach from the river bed to the Pittston Vein. The Susquehanna River was swollen to flood stage at the time the breach occurred, and the river water immediately rushed directly into the mine workings in tremendous volume and with terrific force. It was obvious that this inrush of river water, into the mine, was of disastrous proportions.

Eighty-one men were working inside the mine workings, which are directly connected with the river slope, at the time the flood waters entered the mine. Thirty-six of these men were brought safely to the surface immediately following the cave-in. Seven additional men reached the surface safely through an old, abandoned air shaft at 5:00 p.m., on Thursday. Twenty-six more men escaped safely through that opening at 7:00 p.m., on the same day. All the men from other mines, which are contiguous to the River Slope Mine area, had been immediately withdrawn upon notice that the cave-in had occurred.

At this moment, Mr. President, twelve men are in the mine and not accounted for. It is hoped that these men have been able to reach high elevation areas in the mine workings, and that continued rescue operations will make it possible to return them safely to the surface.

It is believed that the breach is sealed, but dumping of rock is being continued to provide proper protection to the seal. Efforts are continuing to find a way to reach high-elevation underground areas in the hope of locating the men who are unaccounted for. Plans are being made relative to the re-establishment of pumping operations to return the water in the mine to its normal level.

Mr. President, the underground area of the mines that will be inundated first by the flood waters is approximately three and one-half miles in length and one and one-half miles in width. Prior to the inrush of river water, the water in these mines was held at controlled levels by five separate pumping stations, which lifted the expected accumulations of mine water to the surface. These stations had a total rated capacity of 25,000 gallons per minute, and actually operated at an average of 17,000 gallons per minute. The pumping stations maintained the mine water levels at their several locations at elevations of from 100 to 244 feet above sea level. At this time, it is not possible to estimate, with any accuracy, the tremendous volume of water that flowed into these mines.

The rush of river water into the mine was so rapid that all the pumping stations mentioned above were inundated and put out of service within eight hours. At 7:30 a. m., on Sunday, January 25, 1959, the level of the pool of water in the flooding mine workings had reached an elevation of 500 feet above sea level.

Mr. President, the disastrous effects of this flood can extend beyond the present perimeter. The flood water has filled mines owned by the Pennsylvania Coal Company. It has flooded the Conlon Coal Company Mine, and is already in the Enterprise Mine of the Lehigh Valley Coal Company. If the water level is not reduced, it will find its way into other mines of the Lehigh Valley Coal Company, and to mines of the Hudson Coal Company and the Glen Alden Corporation. Inability to control the effect of the present flood will cause the inundation of, and make inoperative, substantially all the mines of the Glen Alden Corporation, the Lehigh Valley Coal Company, the Hudson Coal Company and the Pennsylvania Coal Company, south of Pittston city in the northern anthracite coal field. Such occurrence would add thousands of persons to the presently large list of unemployed, and would prove disastrous to the economy of the greater Wilkes-Barre area in Luzerne County.

Twelve men are underground and unaccounted for, Mr. President. If these twelve men are to be returned to their families, or their fate determind, and, if the conditions described herein are to be remedied, State funds should be made available immediately.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

RECESS

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess for one-half hour for the purpose of holding an immediate Republican Caucus in the Senate Caucus Room.

The motion was agree to.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

SENATE RESOLUTION

TRIBUTE TO THE LATE SAMUEL S. LEWIS

Mr. VAN SANT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. VAN SANT, on behalf of the Republican Membership, offered the following resolution, which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, January 26, 1959.

On January 15, 1959, the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania lost one of its greatest public servants when the call of the Great Beyond beckoned Samuel S. Lewis to come and join the ranks of our departed leaders.

"Mr. Sam" as he was known throughout the State, devoted no less than 66 of the 84 years that he lived to the citizens of York County, the Republican Party and the Commonwealth. Famed and honored in every corner of the State, he was a man who spent untiring hours bettering the way of life for all the citizens of Pennsylvania.

Although his devotion to the State was aimed in all directions, two of his greatest achievements still linger in the minds of many and are appreciated by all. It was Sam Lewis, who, as Secretary of Highways under Governor Pinchot, built over 13,000 miles of low-cost rural roads "to dig the farmers out of the mud." To date, it had been the largest State road building program. One of his other great achievements came while he was Secretary of Forests and Waters, under the administration of John S. Fine. As Secretary, it was his program to have a State park or recreation area within 25 miles of every citizen of the State. Although others might have taken credit for this program, it was Mr. Lewis who started it and, to show his sincerity, he donated 35 acres of land to the State at Mt. Pisgah, York County. To a wealthy man this would mean nothing, but to Sam Lewis it represented the accumulated savings from his retirement fun. Today, the park bears his name.

The York County Fair, one of the "Big 10" in the nation, was another of his projects. He was President of the York County Agricultural Society for 30 years. In fact, he was re-elected on January 12, 1959, a few days before his death. His leadership was a guiding light in the successful growth of the Fair.

Samuel S. Lewis was born on February 17, 1874. He was a graduate of what is now the George Washington University Law School, in Washington, D. C. He was a member of the York County Bar and, at the time of his death, was third in seniority in the Bar. President Theodore Roosevelt appointed him Postmaster of York, and he served in this capacity from 1906 to 1914. In 1921, he ran for his first State office. He was elected Auditor General in 1921 and State Treasurer in 1925. From 1931 to 1935, he served as Secretary of Highways and during Governor Fine's Administration, he held the cabinet position of Secretary of Forests and Waters. The highest elected position Sam Lewis held was that of Lieutenant-Governor. He was elected in 1939 and served until 1943.

Samuel S. Lewis was a credit to his State and to the Republican Party, a party he loved so well. Few public officials can say they never lost an election, but Mr. Sam can boost of this. He was born on election day, a day that his father was defeated in his run for the position of burgess. That certainly was not a bad omen because of his later record. The last time his name appeared on a ballot was in 1948 when he was elected as a delegate to the Republican National Convention. From 1900 to 1952, he attended every National Convention of the Republican Party, another achievement few can boast of.

On hearing of his death, leaders of both parties praised him and rightly so, for he was a man who deserved all the praise and admiration that could be showered on him. The comment of Sen. M. Harvey Taylor, upon hearing of Sam Lewis' death, is typical of the respect shown him. The President pro tempore commented, "There died an honest man."

Samuel S. Lewis is survived by his widow Miriam, two daughters and seven grandchildren; therefore be it

RESOLVED, That copies of this resolution be sent to Mrs. Miriam Lewis and to Mrs. Catherine Morgat, Secretary of the York County Agricultural Society, as a token of sympathy extended to them by this Senate.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, Mr. Sam Lewis was one of York County's most distinguished citizens. His great contributions, both the the Commonwealth and to the county from which he came, were known to all York Countians.

When Mr. Lewis died, a great regret and sense of bereavement was felt by most of the citizens of York County, including members of both political parties. All of us agree that in the passing of Mr. Lewis, we have suffered a great loss in York County.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

SENATE RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 2, TAKEN FROM TABLE

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I call from the table Senate Resolution, Serial No. 2, which was reported from committee today.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

URGING THE DEPARTMENT OF LABOR AND INDUSTRY TO INSPECT AND EXAMINE PENNSYLVANIA SCHOOLS AND DETERMINE THE DEGREE OF SAFETY OF EACH ONE

In the Senate, January 20, 1959.

Pennsylvanians were shocked at the news of the tragic school fire in Chicago. Our grief for these young helpless children and their parents is mingled with a dread anxiety for the safety of our own children. Every Pennsylvanian is of one mind in a determination that such a loss shall never befall Pennsylvania. There is no greater consideration than the safety of our children and any course of action which adds to that safety even in the slightest degree is worth many times the effort put into it.

To fear that any of our school children are in present danger is intolerable. To rid ourselves of fear we must find and eliminate every fire hazard in our schools; therefore be it

Resolved, That the members of the Senate urge the Department of Labor and Industry through its Bureau of Investigation to inspect and examine the schools of Pennsylvania and to determine the degree of safety of each one; and in addition to pursuing the actions prescribed by law in those cases involving fire hazards to make available the results of the investigation to the Department of Public Instruction and to the State Public School Building Authority for appropriate action by those agencies; and be it further

Resolved, That the Department of Labor and Industry program periodic inspections of every school facility in Pennsylvania to the end that protection against fire in our schools be as complete as is possible; and be it further

Resolved, That if the Department of Labor and Industry finds the present law relating to fire hazards in public buildings inadequate in any respect then it shall so report together with its recommendations for legislation to the General Assembly; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Secretary of Labor and Industry.

RULE 39 SUSPENDED

A motion was made by Mr. BERGER and Mr. LANE,

That Rule 39 which requires resolutions reported from committee to lie over for one day, be dispensed with and the Senate proceed to the consideration of the foregoing resolution.

Which was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

Amen.

STATEMENT RELATIVE TO BILLS INTRODUCED

Mr. MUSTO asked and obtained unanimous consent to offer a statement for the record as to the purpose of bills he is introducing.

RESUME RELATIVE TO MINE FLOOD WHICH OCCURRED AT KNOX COAL COMPANY ON JANUARY 22, 1959

On Thursday, January 22, 1959, at 11:45 A.M., a cave-in occurred in the Pittston Vein workings of the River Slope of the Knox Coal Company. The location of this cave-in, with respect to the overlying surface, is along the easterly bank of the Susquehanna River adjacent to the tracks of the Lehigh Valley Railroad, which parallel the river at this location, in Port Griffith, Jenkins Township, Luzerne County, just south of the City of Pittston. The cave-in created a breach from the river bed to the Pittston Vein. The Susquehanna River was swollen to flood stage at the time the breach occurred and the river water immediately rushed directly into the mine workings in tremendous volume and with terrific force. It was obvious that this in-rush of river water into the mine was of disastrous proportions.

Eighty-one men were working inside the mine workings which are directly connected with the River Slope at the time the flood waters entered the mine. Thirty-six of these men were brought safely to the surface immediately following the cave-in. Seven additional men reached the surface safely through an old abandoned air shaft at 5:00 P.M. on Thursday, and twenty-six more men escaped safely through that opening at 7:00 P.M. on the same day. All the men from other mines which are contiguous to the River Slope Mine area had been immediately withdrawn upon notice that the cave-in had occurred.

At this moment twelve men are in the mine and not accounted for. It is hoped that these men have been able to reach high elevation areas in the mine workings and that continued rescue operations will make it possible to return them safely to the surface.

It is believed that the breach is sealed but dumping of rock is being continued to provide proper protection to the seal. Efforts are continuing to find a way to reach high elevation underground areas in the hope of locating the men who are unaccounted for. Plans are being made relative to the re-establishment of pumping operations to return the water in the mine to its normal level.

The underground area of the mines that will be inundated first by the flood waters is approximately 3½ miles in length and 1½ miles in width. Prior to the in-rush of river water, the water in these mines was held at controlled levels by five (5) separate pumping stations which lifted the expected accumulations of mine water to the surface. These stations had a total rated capacity of 25,600 gallons per minute and actually operated at an average of 17,200 gallons per minute. The pumping stations maintained the mine water levels at their several locations at elevations of from 100 to 244 above sea level. At this time it is not possible to estimate with any accuracy the tremendous volume of water that flowed into these mines.

The rush of river water into the mine was so rapid that all the pumping stations mentioned above were inundated and put out of service within eight hours. At 7:30 A.M. on Sunday, January 25, 1959, the level of the pool of water in the flooding mine workings had reached an elevation of 500 feet above sea level.

The disastrous effects of this flood can extend beyond the present perimeter. The flood water has filled mines owned by the Pennsylvania Coal Company. It has flooded the Conlon Coal Company mine and is already in the Enterprise Mine of the Lehigh Valley Coal Company. If the water level is not reduced, it will find its way into other mines of the Lehigh Valley Coal Company and to mines of the Hudson Coal Company and the Glen Alden Corporation. Inability to control the effect of the present flood will cause the inundation of and make inoperative substantially all the mines of the Glen Alden Corporation, The Lehigh Valley Coal Company, The Hudson Coal Company and the Pennsylvania Coal Company south of Pittston City in the Northern Anthracite Coal Field. Such occurrence would add thousands of persons to the presently large list of unemployed and would prove disastrous to the economy of the Greater Wilkes-Barre area in Luzerne County.

Twelve men are underground and unaccounted for. If these twelve men are to be returned to their families, or their fate determined; and if the catastrophic conditions described herein are to be remedied, State funds should be made available immediately.

SENATE MESSAGE

FLOODING OF MINES

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, January 26, 1959.

Whereas, in January, 1959, there occurred a catastrophic flooding of underground mines in Luzerne County in the area of the Susquehanna River and floods and high water in other areas of the Commonwealth where the danger of floods has historically been imminent; and

Whereas, twelve mine workers in one flooded area are missing and immediate measures are necessary to effect rescue operations for these men; and

Whereas, these floods have endangered the homes, factories, schools, churches and commercial establishments located in these areas because of the possibility of surface subsidence; and

Whereas, the floods have created a condition of grave danger to the safety and to the lives of citizens in these areas because of potential gas formations and subsidence, the extent of which is yet to be determined; and

Whereas, the above conditions have resulted in economic dislocation of large numbers of people in these areas including the temporary and the prospect of permanent unemployment of many citizens; and

Whereas, the widespread unemployment will have severe impact upon the status of the Unemployment Compensation Fund of the Commonwealth; and

Whereas, the Governor of the Commonwealth and the President of the United States have declared that a state of emergency exists in these areas;

Now, therefore, in order to effect rescue operations, to alleviate human misery and economic hardship, to prevent the spreading and provide measures that will reduce the hazards from these disastrous floods, and to protect the health, safety and property of the citizens of the Commonwealth, be it resolved (The House of Representatives concurring):

The Department of Mines and Mineral Industries shall:

(a) conduct rescue operations;

(b) without advertising or competitive bidding purchase material and equipment, and provide labor and technicians for pumping of water from the mines, constructing ditches, flumes and other devices for mine drainage, for sealing, backfilling and for the performance of any other work designated by the Secretary of Mines and Mineral Industries as expedient to prevent the spread—and reduce the hazards from the flooding of mines,

(c) pay for power and for the costs attendant upon the operation and maintenance of pumping and other devices for mine drainage,

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, the resolution that has been presented to the House today deals with the emergency situation which confronts the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in this catastrophe that is in central Pennsylvania and western Pennsylvania, the flood areas. In the conferences that have been held during the night and today, we of the Commonwealth have endeavered to - - -

The SPEAKER. Does the Majority Leader desire immediate consideration of the resolution?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I do desire immediate consideration of the resolution.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Greene desires immediate consideration of the resolution. Are there any objections? The Chair hears none.

Mr. McCANN. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

As I stated a moment ago a series of conferences have been held during the night and today in the Executive offices of the Governor.

We in the Commonwealth, both the Republican and Democratic parties of the House and the Senate, have done everything within our power to find a way to try to help all of these unfortunate people in Pennsylvania. This resolution of intent will certainly be backed up by a necessary legislative program which will start to move in this House and will implement the resolution to its fullest extent in a series of legislative bills which we hope to pass on Wednesday of this week. I would like to assure all of the people of Pennsylvania that all of our House Members have been very much in the forefront in trying to help in each of these areas in trying to find a solution to this problem.

I wish to assure them that the leaderships in both the Senate and the House and in the Governor's office have tried to come up with a solution that would be helpful to all of these people. I know that money itself cannot in any way replace those things that we can do and we have an obligation to do. May I assure the people of Pennsylvania that that obligation is being carried out by both parties, as fast as is humanly possible, and that this resolution of intent states for a matter of record the legislative bills that will come up for passage in the House and the Senate in the next few weeks.

Mr. Speaker, I realize that many of our Members here would like to have some of the facts pertaining to the legislative bills that back this resolution of intent. Those will appear on the calendar tomorrow, Tuesday, and will be debated, discussed and passed here Wednesday.

I would like to say that a great deal of thanks is due to many people for the wonderful cooperation and the untiring number of hours and effort they have devoted in trying to be helpful in this situation, and all of them who have called, and continually called, regarding their own respective areas, both in the Luzerne County district and in western Pennsylvania, all of the counties that were in the flood area. I am sure as I talk to each of you, and I know that your own people have talked to you about this problem, that everything possible is being done to help in every way, the federal and state governments. The local agencies and communities are doing everything they possibly can. The only thing we can do is hope and pray that the good Lord will never again visit upon us such disasters.

Mr. Speaker, thank you very kindly. I think the Minority Floor Leader has some remarks regarding the resolution.

Mr. JUMP. Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, my colleagues and I on this side of the House, and my colleagues on the other side of the House from Luzerne County toured this area in and around Pittston and Port Griffith yesterday. We spent practically all afternoon and words cannot describe the conditions that we found in the various families in this area.

I want to take this opportunity at this time to thank my colleagues from Luzerne County and all the Members of this House for giving this resolution their consideration.

Mr. MUSTO. Mr. Speaker, I am only going to thank the Members on both sides of the House for their respect and for the consideration they have given to the people in my area.

I don't want to bring before the Hall of the House the horrible condition that does exist; so, therefore, I wish that God guide us all, and I thank the Members on both sides of the House.

On the question recurring,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

It was concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

CALENDAR ANNOUNCEMENT

The SPEAKER. House bills on the Calendar for Tuesday, January 20, 1959, were not considered on that day.

Since there was no change, it was decided in the interest of economy not to reprint it; therefore, we will use the January 20th Calendar for this day's session.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 38, entitled:

A Supplement to the act approved the nineteenth day of July one thousand nine hundred fifty-seven (Appropriation Acts p 60) entitled "An act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the Executive Legislative and Judicial Departments of the Commonwealth interest on the public debt and for public schools for two years beginning June 1 1957 and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending May 31 1957" by providing for deficiencies in appropriations made by the act for the fiscal biennium ending May 31, 1959.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the Section?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I should like to interrogate the Majority Leader on this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the Majority Leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCANN. I shall, Mr. Speaker - - -

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, . . .

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Greene will proceed.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to yield to the Chairman of the Appropriations Committee on the fiscal matters pertaining to each of the bills, if that is acceptable to the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins.

Mr. TOMPKINS. It is, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, as I understand it House Bill 38 is a deficiency appropriation bill for a total sum of $15,203,000. Am I right in that?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is correct.

Mr. TOMPKINS. We would like to interrogate the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen, on each item in the bill, and after interrogation determine whether or not we will offer amendments.

On Page 2 of the bill there is an item for the Lieutenant Governor's office of $4500. May I inquire what that is for?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, the Appropriations Committee granted the Lieutenant Governor $50,000 in appropriations during the last biennium. The Governor reduced that amount to $45,500. I do not know the reason for the reduction. However, due to the increase in salary of the incoming Lieutenant Governor, the full amount that was requested and granted by the Appropriations Committee is needed.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Do I understand that a reduction was made by an Executive reduction rather than by the Appropriations Committee?

Mr. POLEN. No, Mr. Speaker, the reduction was made by the Governor.

Mr. TOMPKINS. We, then, are being asked to restore an amount which the Governor had reduced the appropriation by. Is that right?

Mr. POLEN. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. The next item on page 3 is to the Treasury Department the sum of $12,500. May I inquire what that is for?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, that amount is due—I will read briefly from the Deputy State Treasurer. I think the explanation will be satisfactory to the gentleman.

> With regard to symbol 0103027, my projection shows an estimated deficit in the amount of $12,-346 which will mean that unless we are successful in obtaining a deficiency appropriation in this amount, the personnel employed in this unit will have to go unpaid during the last three pay periods in this biennium.
> The apppropriation for this symbol was made by the 1957 Legislature in the amount of $129,900.

The explanation is as follows for the additional amount:

> By reason of increased activity of the Board of Finance and Revenue in reconsidering and resettling certain capital stock returns made by corporations in Pennsylvania, it was necessary to expand the personnel of the Board of Finance and Revenue in order to process the additional work, a factor which the Appropriations Committee of the Legislature had failed to take into consideration while reviewing the needs of this Bureau.
> By careful management and a strict policy with regard to purchasing, it has been possible for the State Treasurer to contain the deficit in the above mentioned amount.
> Your cooperation in the consummation of the supplemental appropriation will be greatly appreciated.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, is this an additional appropriation or was this a reduction in the appropriation of the last Session?

Mr. POLEN. It was a reduction, Mr. Speaker.

The appropriation asked for in the budget was $140,800 and the amount approved by the Appropriations Committee and passed by the Legislature was $129,900.

Mr. TOMPKINS. May I inquire this, was that included as a part of the total appropriation to the Treasury Department for this biennium?

Mr. POLEN. It was included as an appropriation to the particular symbol that I gave. I do not have the budget here and I could not answer just whether it was to the Treasury, but I believe it was to that specific unit.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Well, Mr. Speaker, the reason I am asking the question, I have before me a report showing lapses by the Treasury Department of appropriations made in previous bienniums to this of $1,366,167.56.

I have also before me a supplemental sheet, and do I understand on this supplemental sheet that is written in apparently ink or pencil on the photostatic copy which I have, that they are proposing to lapse an additional $1,047,500 of the Treasury Department?

Mr. POLEN. The '57 appropriation? Those amounts have already been lapsed. This particular amount we are speaking of was made to the Board of Finance and Revenue which is handled by the State Treasurer.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Was there any lapse in this particular department included in any of these figures which were now just restored.

Mr. POLEN. Not to the Board of Finance and Revenue.

Mr. TOMPKINS. The next item is on page 3, an item to the Department of Health for the Pittsburgh State Tuberculosis Hospital in the sum of $265,000. Will you enlighten us as to what that particular appropriation is for?

Mr. POLEN. The explanation as given by the Secretary of Health, I would sum it up briefly by reading a statement from his letter:

> "This increase generally resulted from two factors, namely, salary increments and high maintenance costs.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Were those salaries raised even though the budget was cut or were they not adequate or what?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I believe that another part of this letter would probably answer that:

> This deficiency was attributed to differential of the state compensation scale and the Executive Board approved the union wage scale paid to maintenance employees of this institution.

Mr. TOMPKINS. When was that done, Mr. Speaker, if I may inquire?

Mr. POLEN. I do not have any date as to when it was done, but it was apparently done during the present biennium.

Mr. TOMPKINS. When will these deficiencies be required for the continued operation of this hospital?

Mr. POLLEN. On the Pittsburgh State Tuberculosis Hospital, the date would be March 30th, when they will run out of funds.

Mr. TOMPKINS. The information which I have shows that two years ago the Governor requested for this particular item, $2,771,040 and the Appropriation Committee approved $2,771,513, about $500 more than what the Governor requested. How did this amount of differential arise?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman's information is correct. However, I would call his attention to the fact that the hospital did ask for $3,271,040.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Pardon me, but I did not quite get all that, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. POLEN. The request by the Pittsburgh State Tuberculosis Hospital was for $3,271,040, and the Governor's office had reduced it $500,000, and the Legislature apparently raised it four hundred and some thousand dollars over the Governor's budget.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Can you tell us whether or not these salary adjustments were made at this hospital after the time that the 1957 Session adjourned sine die?

Mr. POLEN. I do not have that definite information Mr. Speaker, but it is very evident that they were.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Do I understand then that the salary raises were made without the approval of legislative action?

Mr. POLEN. I would say that they were.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Is the gentleman from Washington acquainted with the Attorney General's opinion 126?

Mr. POLEN. I have read it, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Are the expenses of the operation of the Pittsburgh Hospital considered an ordinary expense of the Commonwealth?

Mr. POLEN. I would say that it was. It is a state-owned institution.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Does not the Attorney General's opinion No. 126 in effect say that where expenses are ordinary expenses, the Governor has the right to adjust funds from one department to another?

Mr. POLEN. I would say that that is correct.

Mr. TOMPKINS. May I inquire why they are now asking for legislative action on this when the Governor has that power and has heretofore exercised it?

Mr. POLEN. I think the reason that they are asking for legislative action now is that we are faced with a situation where if money is not made available to this institution, salaries and other expenses after the 30th of March will not be able to be paid. As to why he did not transfer funds in the past, I would be unable to say.

Mr. TOMPKINS. The Governor has done it with some other funds to make up additional money with which to meet obligations. Why couldn't he do it in this instance just as well? That opinion covers the same situation here for which it was rendered.

Mr. POLEN. I am not in a position to answer as to why the Governor did or did not do any specific performance, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. The Department of Justice, on page 4, $400,000, what would that amount be for?

Mr. POLEN. This $400,000 is needed, and the date at which it is needed is March 1st, 1959, and the reason is due primarily to an increase in the penal population.

Quoting from a letter from Arthur T. Prasse, Commissioner of the Bureau of Correction:

> My contention at the time was that the major portion of the projected deficit figure could be attributed to the above average increase in our inmate population, plus innumerable unforeseen and inflationary costs.

I have a few of the figures on the increase in the population of the institutions. For instance, at the start of the 1955-57 biennium, there were 7,352 inmates. At the end of that biennium there were 7,559 and in the first year of the present biennium it had increased to 7,876.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Were there any salary adjustments or increases made to the personnel of these institutions that require some portions of this money?

Mr. POLEN. Will the gentleman pardon me for a minute?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, while I do not have this in the communication before me, I was given to understand in the conference which I attended that salary increases did have a bearing on this deficit.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Were they made after the adjournment of the 1957 session sine die?

Mr. POLEN. I presume they were, but I do not have definite information on that. I do not think there is any question but what they were.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Did not Mr. Prasse know what his budget was?

Mr. POLEN. I believe he did. However, if we refer to the appropriations, they asked for $30,467,766, the amount in the budget was $23,100,475, and the amount approved by the Legislature was $22,375,000. So, at least the figures in the budget would have covered this amount.

Mr. TOMPKINS. The next item, occupational disease, $3,200,000, what is the necessity of that appropriation?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I did not understand the question.

Mr. TOMPKINS. I say, what is the necessity for that appropriation?

Mr. POLEN. The necessity for that appropriation is that the amounts that are being paid out are mandated by the Legislature, and in talking to the department they told us that it is something that is impossible to accurately estimate the amount that was needed. They did ask for $20 million. I was budgeted for $15 million. The amount approved by the Legislature was $13 million. The actual figures are going to run approximately $21 million plus.

Mr. TOMPKINS. I did not get that last figure Mr. Speaker.

Mr. POLEN. $21,692,287.

Mr. TOMPKINS. What was that figure for?

Mr. POLEN. That is the total estimated for occupational disease for the biennium ending May 31st, 1959.

Mr. TOMPKINS. That was not the amount appropriated, however, was it?

Mr. POLEN. No, the amount appropriated was $13 million.

Mr. TOMPKINS. And the amount we will spend will exceed the appropriation by some $7 million, as I understand?

Mr. POLEN. Yes, it will exceed it by approximately $8 million.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Well now, this appropriation, as I understand it is not in payment of any of the benefits but for the enforcement and administration of the Occupational Disease Act.

Mr. POLEN. No. This is for the payment of benefits.

Mr. TOMPKINS. This is for payment of benefits?

Mr. POLEN, Right.

Mr. TOMPKINS. It does not say so in the bill.

Mr. POLEN. Benefits and also the administration of the act.

Mr. TOMPKINS. The bill is limited entirely to administration, enforcement and administration.

Mr. POLEN. Yes, I think that would cover it.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Well now, in the Attorney-General's Opinion 126, they say that funds could be transferred from other departments to use, to make up the payments of these benefits.

Mr. POLEN. That is in. I read the opinion, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. And those benefits today amount, the payments which have been made up, they amount to better than $16 million today.

Mr. POLEN. Approximately. I believe $18 million.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Well, you anticipate the additional payments between now and the end of the biennium would be $5 million.

Mr. POLEN. No, $3.2 million additional appropriation would be required.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Then if the Attorney-General's opinion authorized transfer of these funds under Opinion 126, why is the Legislature asked to make appropriations when the Governor can do it?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, there is a need for $3,200,000. The Legislature is in session. I think it is entirely proper that the Legislature appropriate that money.

Mr. TOMPKINS. I did not get that last answer, Mr. Polen, please.

Mr. POLEN. I said, in order to carry out the provisions of this Act, the Occupational Disease Act, which the Department of Labor and Industry is charged with the enforcement of, an additional $3.2 million is necessary. The General Assembly is in session and I think it is proper that we make this appropriation, inasmuch as we charged the Department with the responsibility of paying these claims.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Now, Mr. Polen, if we make this appropriation, is it going to be for the purposes of restoring some of the monies already spent by executive order, or will this be over and above and in addition to that?

Mr. POLEN. This will be over and above the $5.5 million that was transferred by executive order.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Well, I do not want to enter into any long debate on this issue, but at this point I do want to declare that this Legislature should declare its intentions that we are the ones who have charge of appropriations and that any money spent over and above the total sum which had been appropriated I consider to be entitrely out of order and that the directing of these funds to be spent by executive order is placing us in nothing but a benevolent dictatorship, and this Legislature is merely becoming the tool and the handmaiden of the Executive to do as he sees fit.

I will have much more to say on that later in this session, but I do want to point that out, why they now come and ask the Legislature to do something which we should have done in the initial instance, and they have violated the legislative right and prerogative to have granted any more funds such as has been done in this case as well as in several others. I think it is time that the Legislature, on principle, declare just exactly what its powers are.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I believe the gentleman made a statement and it would be pretty hard for me to answer that, but I would certainly say that with certain parts of it I would be in agreement. I believe that is one reason why we should appropriate $3.2 million.

Mr. TOMPKINS. I am not objecting to the appropriation, I am trying to get us back on the track where the Legislature belongs with its power, and to serve notice on the present Executive that this Legislature should not tolerate such juggling of funds by the Executive.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I would have to agree with the gentleman. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Number 6, an item of $6,000 for Workmens' Compensation for the Partially Disabled. Just what is that item for, Mr. Polen?

Mr. POLEN. That is the amount of claims, the amount that is needed for claims to be processed under that specific Act.

Mr. TOMPKINS. The Public Assistance of $9.5 million?

Mr. POLEN. The Public Assistance of $9.5 million. The amount, of course, again, we have so many imponderables when you are figuring an item such as Public Assistance, the amount requested by the Department was very high—$185,475,237. It was reduced by the Governor in the budget to $150 million. It was further reduced by the Legislature to $146,718,790, but here is what happened in the meantime.

The appropriation was originally based upon the average monthly number of persons, assistance recipients, of 245,000 over the biennium. It is now estimated, and this letter is dated January 12th, that this average number will be 298,000, and actually in the month of December, 336,000 persons received assistance.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Was this because of an increased load?

Mr. POLEN. It is because of increased loads.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Is it also because of increased benefits?

Mr. POLEN. I do not believe that the matter of increased benefits enters into this.

Mr. TOMPKINS. You are not sure about that, Mr. Polen?

Mr. POLEN. It is my understanding that it does not enter into this. Mr. McCann assures me that it does not, and that was my understanding also.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Polen, I have before me documents signed by George M. Leader as Governor under date of July of 1958, lapsing some $6.5 million worth of appropriations, and in that there is an item of the Department of Public Assistance of $503,871.95. Why should the Governor be lapsing appropriations to a department which he knew, or should have known, at that time was going to be deficient in revenue to be able to carry on to the end of the biennium?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I would ask the gentleman, are you reading from the list that I furnished you there?

Mr. TOMPKINS. I am not. I am reading from another list which I have acquired, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. POLEN. My answer to that would be that I presume that applies to some specific appropriation made to a specific symbol and not to the general Assistance grant.

Mr. TOMPKINS. All that it says is the Department of Public Assistance $503,871.95, and it is rather an intriguing situation to me that they should be lapsing from one Department and coming back and asking for monies to replace that much more.

Mr. POLEN. Well, I can only again answer, without referring to the particular symbol that it might be apportioned to it, it would be impossible for me to answer the gentleman.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Next item $25,000 for State Forest Camps. What does that involve?

Mr. POLEN. That is in connection with the State forest program. I believe that the second camp was set up, and in order to operate them to the end of the biennium it takes approximately $25,000.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Does this involve increased personnel, or increased cost of the operation of the camps, or what, Mr. Polen?

Mr. POLEN. Both personnel and the operation.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Does it involve some increased population as well?

Mr. POLEN. Yes, it does. They could have kept within the appropriation if they had held the program down, but they kept the program up to what the population has risen to.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Does this program increase salaries after the General Assembly adjourned last Session?

Mr. POLEN. I have no information if they did. I believe they did not.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Next item of Pennsylvania Training School at Morganza, $375,000.

Mr. TOMPKINS. In connection with the item of $375,000 for Morganza contained on Page 5, line 14, can the gentleman tell us the necessity for this deficiency?

Mr. POLEN. It was primarily, and I must say that I cannot find my data on that, but it was primarily from an increase in the population in Morganza, which of course you know has extended the high costs.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Well, how about the increase in personnel? Has there been any increase in personnel, particularly from Morganza?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I'm sorry I do not find my notes.

Mr. TOMPKINS. We will pass that over temporarly then and come back to that.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Line 17, Laurelton State Village, $75,000.

Mr. POLEN. Yes sir.

Mr. TOMPKINS. What is the necessity for that increased appropriation?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, might I answer the gentleman generally here, rather than specifically, at this time?

The appropriations were made specifically in the last General Apportionment bill, so much to each institution. It has resulted in some institutions having more money than they need and other institutions, due to various factors, having less. In the lapses there was approximately $1 million lapsed from state institutions and the total amount asked for in this bill is $1,580,000 making a net amount of $580,000.

By the way, Mr. Speaker, I have now located my Morganza memorandum, if you want to proceed on that now.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Let's finish this and then we will go back to Morganza, if you do not mind.

The Laurelton State Village $75,000 was what I was asking about. Was that due to increased population, increased personnel, or what was the necessity for an additional $75,000? And, when will it become necessary to have this money?

Mr. POLEN. It will be necessary to have this money on May 1st at Laurelton. Laurelton would not need the money until about May 1st.

Mr. TOMPKINS. That's right. Well, do you have any information there regarding the necessity for this? What makes it necessary?

Mr. POLEN. I do not have the information on any specific state institution except Morganza, and I particularly requested that, but I was given to understand it was generally due to operating costs which had increased.

Mr. TOMPKINS. We have Pennhurst and Selinsgrove too on the next two lines. Is it increased population, increased personnel, increased salaries, or what is the necessity for the additional amounts that are being asked for these institutions?

Mr. POLEN. I think all of those factors entered into it.

Mr. TOMPKINS. What kind of a breakdown do these particular institutions give, upon which you base the amounts put in this Appropriation Bill?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, it is a rather lengthy and complicated matter to really go into here. However, if the gentleman desires these particulars, I think we can do so now. Do you want to take Laurelton now?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Well, what we are trying to get at is exactly what is the basic cause or necessity for these increased appropriations? Can the gentleman tell us when the money will be needed for Pennhurst?

Mr. POLEN. Yes, I'll give the gentleman that on all of those. On Pennhurst, May 1, Selinsgrove, May 1.

Mr. TOMPKINS. And do I understand that the amounts that are in here in all three of these instances constitutes but a monthly operating cost of these institutions?

Mr. POLEN. I would say roughly, that that would be correct.

I might also say, Mr. Speaker, that the principal reason the institutions give is the the reduction in their appropriations—that they were nearer right than the Legislaure was.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Where the reductions by the Legislature, or Executive reductions?

Mr. POLEN. No, the reduction was made by the Legislature. The Governor did reduce some of the amounts requested in his budget, but a further reduction was made by the Legislature.

Mr. TOMPKINS. It runs in my mind that the appropriation which was made to Selinsgrove particularly was right down to the penny the amount he requested.

Mr. POLEN. Selinsgrove requested $8,011,000, the amount budgeted by the Governor was $6,902,567. The amount approved by the Legislature was $5,903,000.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Did not the Department reduce it to the amount which we approved because of the fact the institution was not even in operation yet, and therefore they felt that it was not necessary to have any more than that?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I could not answer the gentleman on that question.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Do any of these three institutions, that is Laurelton, Pennhurst and Selinsgrove involve increased salaries to personnel?

Mr. POLEN. I have no information that they do.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Well, let us go back to Morganza, I think you said you found your sheet on that. Let us take a look at that and find out what that $375,000 is for.

Mr. POLEN. The Pennsylvania Training School at Morganza asks for $2,754,000 The Governor budgeted $2,372,946, and it was reduced by the Legislature to $1,125,000. I believe I can best answer the gentleman by reading a letter received from the Deputy Secretary, Mr. Norman B. Lowery.

> Morganza's deficit is attributed to two main factors. Operations beyond the level budgeted for because of heavy pressure of delinquency committed by juvenile courts. The daily average of the population for the biennium is 274, as contrasted with 212 for the previous biennium. The budget provided for a maximum of 250 trainees. The excess of population consisted of highly aggressive children rejected by other institutions and this required extra staff and repair. Capital expenditures necessitated by the above destruction and the needs to reinforce the living quarters for the trainees with extra security features, such as detention screening, destruction of resistant doors and hardware. This Institution is old and maintenance has been neglected for a number of years. In addition cottage furniture had been allowed to deteriorate so many years with no replacement and with added destruction. However, replacement became an absolute necessity in order to maintain a minimum decent living standard for the children.
> The sum of $100,000 was appropriated for emergency capital expense to meet the above demands. There remains unexpended of this amount $36,600 for new equipment and $36,000 for a new camp driveway. This provides a total of $72,600 which would be deleted from the expected deficiency, but which deletion would be accomplished at the expense of reasonable security features for the protection of children and staff and normal, decent living conditions for children who already have been deprived and damaged to a serious extent.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Now you have given us figures on the population increase. You may also say there has been an increase in personnel. Do you know how many?

Mr. POLEN. The number of persons on the payroll as of May, 1957, was 223, and the number of persons on the payroll on the last day of December, 1958, was 207, a reduction of 16 in personnel.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Does the gentleman have any figures there as to the per capita cost at Morganza as compared with the per capita cost at other institutions? It runs in my mind that the per capia cost at Morganza is tremendously out of line with the per capita cost in all the other institutions in the State. Does that condition still exist there?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I do not have any information here, but the gentleman is correct. The per capita cost at the Pennsylvania Training School at Morganza is higher than at any other institution in the state.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Do you know whether or not anything has been done by the Administration to look into the costs of that?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, there is going to be something done. At a conference held a week ago Sunday night, one of the things we discussed was the Morganza situation and at that time, I will be frank, some of us felt that we might not include this in the appropriation bill—in the deficiency. However, we felt that it could not be done because payrolls have to be met and expenses have to be paid, but I would say to the gentleman that the matter is going to be given serious consideration by the Administration.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Well, I hope they do because of the fact that I happen to have been on the investigating committee, I believe with you, too, Mr. Polen, and I think a part of our report in that investigation was the criticism of the per capita cost there as compared with the other institutions. I am sorry to hear that there was no follow-through in connection with our recommendations in that respect. I certainly will join with you in investigating very thoroughly that very situation.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I would say to the gentleman that I certainly agree with him and I feel confident that the necessary steps will be taken, in fact, I can assure him that they will.

Mr. TOMPKINS. We shall be very happy to cooperate in that respect.

Mr. POLEN. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. May I ask when this money will be necessary at Morganza?

Mr. POLEN. This money will be necessary for Morganza on April 1.

Mr. TOMPKINS. On page six we have Phillipsburg State Hospital and Scranton State Hospital, Lines 14 and 15. What is the necessity for those additional appropriations?

Mr. POLEN. Generally, the same that exists in the other state institutions. However, the payroll, I note in May 1957, was 252 and in December 1958 was 241, but generally they are due to increased operating costs, and while I do not have a break-down on maintenance, the maintenance at these older hospitals is entirely out of line, and I believe when we were discussing Morganza it was brought out that Scranton was another of the high-cost institutions.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Is any portion of the funds for these hospitals and the other three institutions necessary because of lax enforcement of collections, lax enforcement of charges to the people who use them?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I understand that in the past there has been complaint as to collections, but I presume that later on the gentleman is going to interrogate me on the Revenue Department, and I have information available showing the increase that has been made in the collections in the state institutions.

Mr. TOMPKINS. As I recall it, there was considerable criticism of the Scranton Hospital because of its being used by certain personnel that were taking a "free ride" when they were able to pay. I was wondering how much might be involved in that deficiency to make up for their "free ride."

The SPEAKER. Might the Chair gently suggest to the gentleman that it is not so important on this day to determine who is responsible for various things that might have happened or that should not have happened. It seems to the Chair the issue is whether or not in order to maintain services during the rest of the biennium these institutions need the money. I think these discussions should be had on that basis.

Mr. POLEN. Well, we have been trying to do that, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. May I inquire whether these funds will be necessary in the case of Philipsburg and Scranton?

Mr. POLEN. In the case of Scranton they will be necessary on April 1st. Philipsburg also April 1st.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Philipsburg, what date?

Mr. POLEN. April 1st.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Clarks Summit State Hospital, $400,000.

Mr. POLEN. Well, April 1st on that.

Mr. TOMPKINS. April 1st. Is that due to the same causes set forth in the others?

Mr. POLEN. Generally speaking they are in the same category.

Mr. TOMPKINS. In connection with the item on page 8 of the Department of Revenue, $60,000, just what might that be for?

Mr. POLEN. This is in connection with the institutional collections. They ask for $1,302,606, the Governor budgeted $1,272,606, and the Legislature reduced it to $1,200,000. They need $60,000 in connection with that program, which will also give you some information as to the collections. I will read briefly from a letter from the Department of Revenue.

> In the nineteen months ending December 31st 1958, the Bureau collected for the general fund purposes, $32,883,737.97 representing an increase of $7,026,251.60, in increased revenues over collections for a like period in the 1955-57 biennium.

The request in the amount of $60,000 is necessary to continue this high rate of activity. The request represents the choice of continuing the Bureau's present program rather than to sharply reduce many of its activities for the remainder of the biennium.

In my opinion it is businesslike procedure left to this bureau, and it certainly is justified.

Mr. TOMPKINS. There is in the sheet which the gentleman gave to me, and also on this order of the Governor of July 1958, revenues lapsed for the Department of Revenue in the sum of $515,921.08. Again I would ask the gentleman the question, why they would be lapsing appropriations in the Revenue Department when they are now coming along and asking for deficiency appropriations.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, again it is a question of specific appropriations. There were lapses from the Department of Revenue, a list of them as I had them, and at the same time for this particular purpose of institutional collections, which carries a specific accounting symbol and to which a specific appropriation of $1,200,000 was made.

It is needed. It needs an additional $60,000 to carry out the program to the end of the biennium. And the department itself cannot of course use funds which are by this Legislature budgeted for specific purposes.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Now, return to page 5, Mr. Speaker, lines 13 and 14 of the bill, relating to Morganza and $375,000. I wish to offer the following amendments, a copy of which I believe the Majority Leader has.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaer, may I ask the entleman if he is finished with the interrogation?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Yes, Mr. Speaker. I am offering some amendments on Morganza and I thank the gentleman very much. I did not know whether he wants to debate this amendment or not?

Mr. POLEN. I do not.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Thank you very much, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS offered the following amendment.

Amend Sec. 1, page 5, lines 13 and 14, by striking out both of said lines.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, the amendment which I have offered strikes out this appropriation to Morganza of $375,000 in this bill.

That is being done for this reason. They have advised us in my interrogation of Mr. Polen, that the money is not needed until April 1st. They have made a statement to the effect that the operating per capita cost at Morganza is under investigation and considerably out of line.

We are asking that we take moneys from other departments to help make up some of the deficiencies, particularly the retirement fund.

I do not think it appropriate that we should appropriate moneys to an institution that presently is under invesigation as to its operational cost in the latter part of January, when we would have two months within which to investigate that matter, and if possible correct, it is in order that the institution can get on the footing that is necessary, and put them on a sound business basis.

For that reason we ask the support of this amendment at this time. If later it is found necessary that moneys are needed to finish out the biennium, there is no reason why the Legislature then being in session cannot take care of it.

I ask for a roll call on the amendment.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose the amendments offered by the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins, which would delete on page 5, line 13 and 14 and remove from the bill the deficiency appropriation for the Pennsylvania Training School at Morganza, which is listed in the amount of $375,000.00.

I certainly agree, and I think that many of us agree, that the Pennsylvania Training School at Morganza, which is located in our backyard, needs the proper attention given to it which we have been assured will be given in this administration.

There is no question that the deficiency listed in this bill is for salaries and expenses at the institution. The amount and the date when the money will run out has been clarified by the necessary discussion between the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tomkins, and the Chairman of the Appropriations Committee, but to remove that one item we would say that we are now going to take the Pennsylvania Training School at Morganza and stop the payment of the employees at a given date that has been outlined here today, when the money will be needed at Morganza, or roughly a period of one month, the last month, . . . two months I believe is correct, in this biennium.

I hope due consideration wil be given to the statement of the Appropriations committee chairman who has assured you that that institution will get the attention it needs in this administration. I think those of us who live closer to it, and many of us who have it in our backyards in western Pennsylvania feel just the same about this as you do. We do not contend that this is a waste of money to pass this item in this defiiency bill, assuring to them payment for the last two months of the bi-ennium.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose the amendments and request the Members on this side of the House to oppose the amendments offered by the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

So the question was determined in the negative and the amendment was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. TOMPKINS. May I at this time compliment the Majority Leader on his very efficient marshaling of his forces. I must remind him that he needs four more to get this bill through tomorrow.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thinks they will be here.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, all I want to say to the gentleman from Cameron, isn't it a peculiar position to have enough votes to defeat an amendment and yet not enough votes to pass a bill?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Yes, I have had that feeling many times in the last few years.

Mr. TOMPKINS. We have a number of other amendments which we had intended to offer to this bill but, because of the evident fact of the strength of the opposition, we will not offer them at this time, and because of the lateness of the hour and because of some other bills on the calendar. We ask that this bill now be considered on second reading.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

The second section and title were separately read and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

ROTARY CLUB OF PALMYRA WELCOMED

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. McCANN offered the following correctional amendment:

Amend Section 1, page 1, line 1, by inserting after "fifty" thousand.

It was agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The second section and title were separately read and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to as amended.

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 40, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Military Affairs for certain expenses in connection with the Korean Conflict Veterans' Compensation Act.

And said bill having been read at length the second time, and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 41, entitled:

An Act amending the "General Appropriation Act of 1957" approved July 19 1957 (Appropriation Acts page 60) deleting certain amounts appropriated to the Department of State and declaring the Legislature's intention to restore said deletions.

And said bill having been read at length the second time, and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 42, entitled:

An Act implementing the provisions of article nine section eighteen of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by providing for borrowing money for certain purposes from the Motor License Fund and providing for the reimbursement thereof.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. GIBSON offered the following amendments:

Amend Title, page 1, lines 1 to 4 of Title, by striking out all of said lines, and inserting: Authorizing a loan and transferring money from the Motor License Fund to the General Fund, and providing for the subsequent return from the General Fund of the borrowed money.

Amend Sec. 1, page 1, lines 1, 2 and 3, and page 2, lines 1 to 8, by striking out all of said lines, and inserting: Section 1. Pursuant to the provisions of Article IX, Section 18 of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, the State Treasurer is hereby authorized, after the effective date of this act, to arrange a loan for the Commonwealth from the Motor License Fund not to exceed the sum of twenty-seven million five hundred thousand dollars ($27,500,000), or any part thereof, and transfer such money upon warrant of the Auditor General and requisition of the Governor to the General Fund.

The purpose of this loan and transfer is to provide funds for the payment of ordinary and usual expenses of the State government or any general appropriation bill, and the money so borrowed shall be used for these purposes and no other.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. GIBSON. Mr. Speaker, House Bill No. 42 would permit the Governor, the Auditor General and the State Treasurer to borrow from the Motor License Fund at a time they deemed necessary for the benefit of the General Fund.

There are certain restrictions imposed in the bill. The amount proposed in the bill is $30 million. We feel that it has been a prerogative of the General Assembly to grant borrowing from the Motor License Fund. when it was deemed necessary. We feel that the constitutional provision which limits the use of the Motor License Fund is such that to grant this power to the Governor and the two fiscal officers would be a violation of confidence on our part. We feel that this power should be retained in the General Assembly. For that reason, Mr. Speaker, we have offered the amendments which would permit borrowing once with the express permission of the General Assembly. The money borrowed would be repaid within 30 days after the end of the biennium.

This amendment is co-sponsored by the gentleman from Greene, Mr. McCann, and reduces the mount suggested from $30 million to $27.5 million.

I would recommend that the Members on both sides of the House go along with this amendment.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, the amendments have been agreed to, but I evidently didn't hear very well. It was increased from $25 million to $27.5 million. I would like to verify the amendments which Mr. Gibson and I sponsored.

The SPEAKKER. The amendments so read.

Mr. McCANN. I thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. 27.5 Million.

Mr. GIBSON. The amount of $30 million which I suggested was an amount which had been discussed previously as the necessary amount.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, the amendments offered by Mr. Gibson are co-sponsored by me and they do guarantee the right to borrow money one time, as was stated, and the amount in the amendments that have been offered here today is $27.5 million, payable, as was stated on the floor of the House, in 30 days after the end of this particular time, after the end of the biennium, in the month of June.

I would like to have the Members on this side of the House support the amendments which we have agreed to in a compromise meeting here today and ask their unanimous adoption.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, on the amendments to this bill, I wish to be recorded as voting "No" please

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

The second section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. GIBSON offered the following amendment:

Amend Sec. 2, page 2, line 9 to 14, by striking out all of said lines, and inserting: Section 2. The moneys loaned and transferred from the Motor License Fund to the General Fund shall be repaid to the Motor License Fund in accordance with the provisions of Article IX, Section 18 of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

It was agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The third section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. GIBSON offered the following amendment:

Amend Sec. 3, page 2, lines 15 to 18, by striking out all of said lines.

It was agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The fourth section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. GIBSON offered the following amendment:

Amend Sec. 4, page 2, line 19, by striking out "4" and inserting: 3.

It was agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The title was read and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to as amended.

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

DIRECTING THE JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION TO MAKE A STUDY OF THE PROBLEMS OF REAPPORTIONMENT OF SENATORIAL DISTRICTS

Messrs. MULLIN and SEYLER offered the following resolution (Serial No. 104), which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Reapportionment:

In the Senate, January 27, 1959.

The Constitution of Pennsylvania, Article II, Section 16, provides the manner in which the Commonwealth shall be apportioned into Senatorial Districts.

The Constitution of Pennsylvania, Article II, Section 18, places a mandatory duty on the General Assembly, after each decennial census, to apportion the Commonwealth into Senatorial Districts agreeable to the provisions of Article II, Section 16.

The General Assembly has not so apportioned the Commonwealth's Senatorial Districts after the last census in 1950; in fact, they have not been apportioned since the census of 1920. Because of this, the present apportionment of the Commonwealth into Senatorial Districts is not agreeable to or in conformance with the Constitution of Pennsylvania

In the thirty-eight years since the last senatorial apportionment in 1921, the shift and growth in population in this Commonwealth have raised complex, technical and political problems with relation to apportionment under the provisions of the Constitution; therefore be it

RESOLVED (the House concurring), That the Joint State Government Commission is directed to make a comprehensive and intensive study of the problems of reapportionment of Senatorial Districts and the need for the same. The study shall include, but shall not be limited to the following:

1. The need for reapportionment.
2. The feasibility of reapportionment.
3. The shifts in population.
4. The make-up of the Senate if reapportionment were made; and be it further

RESOLVED, That the Joint State Government Commission shall report to the next Session of the General Assembly the results of its studies and investigations and recommendations.

The PRESIDENT. The Senate will be at ease, awaiting communications from the House of Representatives.

(The Senate was at ease.)

HOUSE MESSAGE

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. PROPERT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. PROPERT, from the Committee on Local Government, reported, as committed, Senate Bill No. 110, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 24, 1931 (P. L. 1206), entitled "The First Class Township Code," authorizing the township commissioners to regulate or prohibit the establishment of new fire companies.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WADE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, the resolution I am about to offer is on the death of Republican County Chairman, John R. Yocum, which occurred on January 15, 1959. Mr. Yocum was afflicted with a malignancy for a number of months, prior to his death. However, I have yet to experience the fighting spirit which he demonstrated in the leadership of the Republican Party during the past two or three years. He was County Chairman for ten years with an organization that was very loyal to him.

I repeat, Mr. Yocum demonstrated one of the most loyal and fighting spirits that I have ever observed.

SENATE RESOLUTION

CONDOLENCE OF THE SENATE EXTENDED TO THE FAMILY OF THE LATE JOHN R. YOCUM

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I now ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. WADE offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, January 27, 1959.

On January 15, 1959, Mifflin County lost one of its outstanding citizens when John R. Yocum, the Republican Committee Chairman for the past ten years and a Lewistown Borough Councilman for the past twelve years, died at his home after an extended illness.

Although he lost the use of his legs about three years ago, he never lost confidence that some day he would walk again. From his wheelchair in his home, he directed the organization of the Republican Party for the general election last November, and the fact that Mifflin County became one of the few in the State to remain in Republican ranks gave him a sense of satisfaction above everything else.

"Mr. Republican" of Mifflin County was educated in the public schools of Lewistown, and rose to the position of chief construction superintendent of the Penn Fuel Gas Company. He retired in 1956 because of ill health. Mr. Yocum was also the founder of Yocum's Greenhouse in Lewistown and was deputy game protector for thirty-five years. He was a veteran of World War I and a member of many religious and fraternal organizations.

The people of Mifflin County and Lewistown will miss John Yocum for they have relied on his judgment in many ways for the past years. Surely his wife and children will miss him greatly, therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate extend its heartfelt and deepest sympathy to the wife and children of John Yocum, and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to the widow, Kathryn Yocum, at her home on West Sixth Street in Lewistown, Pennsylvania.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I wish to make a brief statement relative to a condition which exists in my area. I would like to report that I am very happy to say that we are getting cooperation there. This is something which we have not experienced with the Department of Highways for many years.

Mr. President, I am speaking about the Freeport Bridge, a span which was washed out last week during the flood in the Freeport area. Our present Secretary of Highways, Mr. Park Martin, immediately upon being notified that the span was washed out, sent engineers to the area to observe the possibilities of making immediate replacement because, as the Members of the Senate who were here during the 1957 Session will recall, I think the vote here was unanimous when we voted to construct a new bridge over the Allegheny River from Westmoreland County over to Freeport. The reason for that was that the bridge was condemned to the extent that the children who lived on the Westmoreland County side had to abandon their buses and walk across the bridge, while the buses followed them. The Schenley Industries have a plant and employ some 1,800 people, across from Freeport. These people use that bridge extensively, as do many trucks which haul steel from the Allegheny-Ludlum Plant in the Leechburg area and the Brackenridge area. For that reason, the bill passed both the House and the Senate and was signed by the Governor.

Immediately, Mr. President, I believe Richardson, Gordon Associates were given a contract to design a new bridge. Secretary of Highways, Joseph Lawler, came down to inspect the bridge and, of course, was alarmed when he saw the condition it was in, because it was rusting. It was a miracle that the span did not fall of its own accord, with its own weight, into the Allegheny River. Secretary Lawler, at that time, promised us that he would expedite the plans for a new bridge. However, fate saw to it that "Jo-Jo" Lawler was replaced by Secretary of Highways, Mr. Stevens, and, of course, changes were made. Secretary Stevens was not familiar with the situation and we lost a great deal of time.

Therefore, Mr. President, when this emergency arose during the flood danger last week, and one span fell into the river, we were alarmed to find that the bridge design was not nearly completed, even though test borings were made above and below the present site of the river. This bridge is going to tie in with the new proposed road, from Pittsburgh to Brookville, which, of course, is part of the new Shortway.

Secretary of Highways, Mr. Martin, was alarmed when he discovered that more than that had not been done. However, he assured not only myself, but the citizens of the area, that he was going to explore every possible means to expedite not only the replacing of that span to be used temporarily, because the fire trucks cannot use it since they cannot get across the river. The nearest hospital is going to be in New Kensington or Kittanning, and the ambulances will have to go some forty miles out of their way.

I want to say, not only to the Members of the Senate but also to the citizens of Pennsylvania, that I am very happy to report that Secretary of Highways, Park Martin, is on the ball and I am sure he is doing everything he can. He has assured us that we are going to get some sort of a temporary replacement, and also the new bridge, which was provided for by legislation two years ago and which bill was signed by the Governor, is going to be expedited. Possibly, the contracts for the piers will be let this summer. At least, I am hopeful.

Mr. President, I want to report to the Members of the Senate how happy I am about the appointment of the new Secretary of Highways, Park Martin.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I am certainly sorry to hear of the troubles which the gentleman from Armstrong, Senator Pechan, seems to be having. However, I am happy to know that he is learning to live with the Democrats who make up the different Administrations which have come to this State. I am also very happy to learn that in seven days, the new Secretary of Highways has made Senator Pechan so happy and is accomplishing all these wonderful things for us.

Mr. President, I hope these remarks will be noted in the record because, perhaps later on in the Session, I may have to read the record back to the gentleman from Armstrong when we will need a little help from him in order to get some money for the Department of Highways.

BILLS ON FIRST READING

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now proceed to the first reading of all bills reported from committees for the first time at today's session.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate proceeded to the first reading and consideration of the following bills:

Ordered To be laid aside for second reading.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

It was concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I desire to discuss recent decisions arrived at by the caucuses of our respective parties, not with any intention of changing those decisions. There is a sense in which I am glad that those decisions were changed because the changing of the decisions arrived at lift a very heavy burden from these sagging shoulders of mine. But I do want to point out to the House that in suggesting a recess or a series of recesses I have not been gazing into the mists of the future. I have instead been drinking from the wells of wisdom of the past.

The scene here at Harrisburg changes, but the more it changes the more it is the same.

My memory and perhaps the memories of some of you Members here go back to the session of 1939.

Elwood Turner was Speaker, and a powerful figure in the Senate was Senator Owlett. There were giants in those days and Speaker Turner engineered a crusade successfully to provide for a series of recesses.

I desire today and now to quote from a speech made from the floor of the Senate by Senator Owlett and the question pending was whether or not the House and Senate should take a recess. Among other things Senator Owlett said:

> Now, Mr. President, this resolution has as its basis the information that has come to this body, that it will take several weeks in order to complete the budget. It will take, in other words, two weeks to ascertain what the requirements of the next biennium will be, what the effects of the savings in the various departments will be on the budget. In other words, the whole legislative program of this session of the Legislature depends to a large extent on just what can be worked out in the way of economy and just what will be found to be the actual needs for relief when the proper surveys have been completed.
> Now, it is very obvious, Mr. President, that this Administration, having taken office just three weeks ago without having any opportunity to know the true state of affairs, and learning, after coming into office, that we are faced with a deficit probably greatly in excess of the deficit that was indicated prior to the inauguration—it is very obvious that the work necessary to be done in order to intelligently approach the whole legislative program has got to be carefully worked out.
> I want to make it clear that this time is not going to be wasted. It is proposed, during this recess, to have numerous committees of the Senate and of the House work on this legislative program, consult with the heads of the departments, and see in what way we can cooperate to cut down these costs and save this State from what otherwise would be financial disaster—if we went on at the rate at which we were going prior to this Administration.
> That is the purpose of this recess: it is to do this necessary preliminary work in an orderly way, and many of us are convinced that if this recess is taken and if this intensive work is done during this period, until the twenty-seventh, we will save much time in the end.

That must be so, under the circumstances; and, may I point out, it has been suggested by the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, (a somewhat familiar figure on the Hill) that there is a lot of other legislation that should be considered. In the last Special Session of this legislature bills were introduced and passed which have saddled on this Commonwealth some nineteen million dollars of additional expense—just last November. Now, that is a very good illustration of how necessary it is, in considering our whole legislative program, to know what the revenues are going to be and what the requirements are going to be for relief and for all other purposes.

Now, I want to assure the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, that we are all as anxious as he is to see that this department that handles relief cuts out the chiselers—

Apparently chiseling has become almost a profession and apparently the founding fathers failed to apprehend the danger, and chiseling has increased until it has become in our day a matter of paramount concern.

—relief cuts out the chiselers, cut down the expense, does away with these theories which we know have produced costs that run into fifteen or twenty per cent of the money that is appropriated for relief; (that sounds familiar. I have heard it said almost yesterday) and I want to assure the Senator from Philadelphia that this Administration will welcome, during this recess, any suggestion from any single member of this Senate, whether on the Republican side of the Democratic side, which will bring about a saving of money in this next biennium.

We are approaching this next biennium with a problem such as no Administration ever before faced, and it is going to require the concerted, intelligent, honest effort of every single member of this body and of the House to meet this problem; and I speak advisedly when I say that if there is any member of this Senate, whether he be on the right or the left, who has any suggestions to make by which relief can be cut down and still take care of the needy and unemployed in this State, or where money can be saved in any other department, we hope that such suggestions will be made, because we have got to cut the cloth to fit the pattern, we have got to economize. The people of this Commonwealth have got to understand that the time has come when there is not an unlimited supply of money, that in the last analysis the people pay these bills.

I could not help thinking, last night when I heard them speaking here on the Public Utility Commission, and explaining the actual necessity for the Public Utility Commission to cut down its expenditures, and they on the other side answered by saying "Why, that does not come out of the Commonwealth"—I could not help thinking how erroneous that answer was; because it does come out of the Commonwealth, every cent of expense comes out of the people of this Commonwealth, whether it is paid through rates to a utility or through taxes which go into the State Treasury.

It is a fallacious approach to this problem, to propound such a theory. The time has come when we have to realize that when you pay out money for a salary of an unnecessary employee, that money is coming out of the pockets of the people, whether you do it through the subterfuge of taking it out of the coffers of a utility or you take it out of the coffers of an industrial enterprise that pays, in rates, toward the expense of the Workmen's Compensation Board—it all, in the end, comes out of the people; and we propose, Mr. President, during these two weeks; to give—the Republican members propose to give pratically all their time and thought to this; and we hope that our Democratic colleagues will join with us in studying these problems, and assist in working out a program so that when we come back here in the twenty-seventh we can face this whole situation as it should be faced, knowing what our requirements will be, and meeting this in the way it should be met. I hope this resolution passes, that we may have this time to give to this study.

Furthermore, in a similar strain, the recess proposed by Speaker Owlett was unanimously adopted by the Republican Members of the Senate. Edmundson, Stevenson, Owlett, Geltz. I say there were giants in those days, and the same recess went triumphantly through this House. I do not claim to be proficient in the finesse of political manipulation, but I do claim to have a sense of history, and I know something about parliamentary procedure. The die has been cast. Apparently neither the majority in the Senate nor the majority in the House, and for all I know to the contrary, neither the Governor has desired a recess.

There may be reasons but they are not reasons that appeal to reason. But I accept them. I want to say to the various departments, get busy on your bills. Don't drag them along, don't bring them to us piecemeal. I want to know what the Department of Education's program is in its entirety. I do not want it fed, either to me or the Members of this House, little by little. I want the program from the Department of Welfare brought to this House in its entirety. I want to know the complete reach and sweep of what is proposed.

My little mind cannot cope with a bill today and a bill tomorrow. I can think perhaps in terms of a package, and I say the same thing to every department on this Hill. Get your legislation in in a package and bring it to us. Because the day will come when the door will close and it will be the last day for introducing bills, and when we fix the last day for the introduction of bills, I assure you that unless this House overrules its Speaker, the last day for the introduction of bills will be the last day.

I say to the various organizations that have programs, get your bills in order, and I hope that it will speedily be possible to envision the reach and sweep of the Administration's program.

It was the thought of Speaker Turner, Senator Owlett and the others to have the whole bundle, all of the bundles before us, together with the budget, the Committees working, and coming back after the recess, to our calendar, upon which nearly every bill was an important bill. It will not be my fault if it comes about that we have calendars filled with proposals to build chicken coops in Podunk and other matters of similar importance.

I want to thank the Members of this House for their courteous attention. I want to repeat that I have no thought of campaigning for a diversion of the decisions arrived at. I want to repeat that those decisions relieve me from a great deal of work. I hope that important legislation will begin to trickle in and I hope that the Committees of this House do not report programs piecemeal but that they bring to us programs of each department in its entirety.

I want to thank Speaker Helm for having so kindly substituted in my place. I hope he will continue through this session. I will come up and watch him perform; I have always admired him. I wish I could look as handsome.

So, Mr. Speaker, that is all I have to say about this matter at this time.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I am sure that all of us enjoy having the Speaker of the House, whether as our Speaker or as the Floor Leader, take that microphone. As I have repeatedly said here, he always says something worth listening to and in his genial and very clever way he puts over his point.

Now I know a lot of people wonder why didn't you go for the recess? Well, I would say this with respect to Mr. McCann, the Majority Leader, that he did give us a bill of particulars as to what could be accomplished by the recess. The Members on this side did not feel that that would be enough to be accomplished by being away from here for about 30 days to justify our closing up shop and being observed around our localities for one month and having the folks back home all say, "why aren't you in Harrisburg." "Haven't you got something that you can do, with the State in the condition that it is in?"

I think another thing that influenced the decision was this emergency flood program. This is always a very hard time of the year. But, this flood program that we are putting through, had we been out of session and in a recess, of course, we would have been called back, and I am sure it would have aroused the indignation of the people of Pennsylvania.

Another thing that we were worried about, as was pointed out on the floor here, the financial situation so far as our General Fund is concerned is a frightening one. We have a bill on our calendar today, you might say, that emasculates the Motor License Fund to put money into the General Fund to tide us over the last two weeks in March and the first two weeks in April, when the State will be out of cash. We feel to be out of session here, with a situation like that occurring, and if for some reason people do not get their pay checks and we are not in session, we will have the calumny of the state heaped upon us. So, in due consideration, our Caucus felt that we should stay here and be on the job.

Now I think Mr. Andrews has pointed out the situation that existed in 1939 and, of course, then we had a Democratic Governor succeeded by a Republican Governor, and I believe they were considering about the type of bills we have on our calendar now, so they could take the recess. Of course, now we have practically the same cabinet officers who have been reappointed, and we should have an early budget by reason of the fact that they are there, they can give the Governor the budget figures and they know what the program is.

This deficit is a Democratic deficit, it is not a Republican deficit, and they can solve this problem right away, right now, and give us the budget early in February, if necessary, so that we can get to work. So, as a contrast of this session with our 1957 session, we got down to work with dispatch. You want to remember that while we were in the majority here we had a Democratic Governor. We went through the calendar and got bills prepared for all the constitutional amendments that had to be acted upon, the Members on our side got in their Member's bills early and we had calendars right now. We were having committee meetings. We were down to work. The ball was rolling. Here today we did not have a single Committee meeting. I know you say there is nothing in committee. Why isn't there anything in committee?

Governor Lawrence and all you ladies and gentlemen on the other side who are here as successful candidates want to remember that we lost 24 seats. You and Governor Lawrence and the whole ticket went thorugh Pennsylvania, said how terrible we were, we were a "do nothing, spend nothing Legislature" last session, how if you were elected a millennium would occur in Pennsylvania. You would have a great farm program ready, you would solve the problem of higher education, you would put the Welfare Department in shape, you would show us stingy people what we are, you would do all these great things, and the people bought it. They expected you to have a program ready.

You won on November 2nd, here it is February 1st. Where is the program? Where are all these wonderful things you promised the people of Pennsylvania were ready, that you would do, that you would accomplish? Here we are twiddling our fingers, with nothing in Committee that we can put our teeth into, no semblance of any program ready. I think probaby Mr. Andrews is right and he had a lot of courage as a Democrat to speak up and say we are not ready, we want to get out of here for 30 days to get our Governor off the hook, so that he can get his program out on the floor, so that we can have something to work on about the 1st of March.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I would like to have permission to interrogate the Majority Leader.

The SPEAKER pro-tempore. Will the gentleman from Greene, Mr. McCann, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCANN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. McCann, with those prefatory remarks I have just made, and keeping in mind now all the promises of your party to the people of Pennsylvania, do you right now have that farm program ready? A program that is going to enlarge the farm markets, that is going to expand the farms, that is going to do all those wonderful things for the farmer? Is that program ready, can you introduce it today so that we can act on it like this flood program? Would you answer that question, please?

Mr. McCANN. I certainly will. Mr. Speaker, I can assure the gentleman that we on this side are going to act on a farm program which will help to sell the Pennsylvania products of Pennsylvania farmers. It is being prepared and I hope that you people will support that portion that will appear in the budget, that will be presented to you.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Does the gentleman mean that it is on order?

Mr. McCANN. It is on order, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Like tanks and guns when you are at war.

Alright, let me ask another question. You were going to solve the problem of higher education and were going to really do some great things in that field. Now is that program drafted, is that in Committee, can we act on that? If we are in such a perilous condition as far as higher education is concerned, is that program ready?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I am sure that Mr. Johnson is the gentleman who offered a scholarship plan as you campaigned across Pennsylvania which will be offered to this House. It is not in Committee, it is not prepared here, and I believe we will follow somewhat the recommendations of the Joint State Government Commission of which you are well aware, as to the higher education report, to which report you have committed yourself.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Well then the gentleman's answer is, would he say that Governor Lawrence has actually no higher education program of his own, he is going to rely on the Joint State Government Commission program on higher education, is that right?

Mr. McCANN. I did not say that. You asked me if the report was in Committee, it is. The Joint State Government Commission report is ready, according to the Joint State Government Commission and the Governor, I am positive, will have a higher education program carrying out the platform of our party as well as your party.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. But it is not ready at this time?

Mr. McCANN. Not at the present time, sir.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I realize that I should ask the gentleman many questions on various items and get a prospective answer but honestly do you have a program, can we go to work, what can we do next week, what can we do the week following? Is there anything ready that we can do business on, as the Speaker says, with some meat in it.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I believe all the Members of this House are aware that those major legislative proposals have not been introduced or presented to the House to be assigned to the Committee other than Local Government Commission bills that have been introduced and are available in the House for introduction today. They are the only items of importance in Committee except for the one gentleman on your side who has introduced a series of bills that must be considered by the Committee. Therefore I would say to you since a decision was made that there will be no recess, tonight we will assign the Committee rooms for the standing Committees of the House, even though they will be temporary. Those committees will start to function next week and they will report from Committee those bills which the committees themselves approve for presentation. None of these, I realize, are earth-shaking or of tremendous importance to all, but certainly important to some individual Members in this House. I am confident that we must now speed up our Legislative process to act upon these bills and other bills which will be introduced next week. Therefore, that will roughly outline our program as far as operation is concerned next week in the House.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I thank the gentleman very much.

Then I take it, Mr. McCann, what you intend to do, in view of the fact that we are not going to have a recess, you are going to start with a series of conferences and try and get some of this program in here so that we can have a look at it and send it over to the Senate, is that correct?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, that is correct, except the Committees will make the decisions in reporting the bills out.

And may I, before I sit down, say a kind word about the Minority Floor Leader, I see that he is starting to get in good form for the coming judicial campaign.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I thank the gentleman very much.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 43, entitled:

An Act amending the "Unemployment Compensation Law" approved December 5 1936 (1937 P L 2897) authorizing the obtaining of advances under Title XII of the Social Security Act and the disbursement of the same.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, as we discussed this bill in our Committee the thought was expressed that what this bill does is, of course, to afford the Secretary of Labor and Industry the right to borrow money from the Federal Government in order to tide over the Unemployment Compensation's fund during this next five or six months, when it is thought the fund may be depleted.

Someone made the suggestion on our side that, if the newspapers are correct, what is wrong with the fund is that there have been so many raids on the fund which are not, what you might class, unemployment, but are more social in character, that a job should be done now and put the fund in order and if as both parties have agreed, we are going to increase the benefits, we should increase the benefits, do the job now rather than borrowing money and drifting along month after month and then finally get down to it.

So, we ask that the bill be held over in view of maybe offering amendments. We were informed that to amend the bill right now it would be a prodigious job to draft the amendments because it is one of the most intricate bills, you might say, on our statue books.

I want to say to the House that I discussed it with Mr. McCann, what we had in mind, and he has assured me that the Labor and Industry Department is having many amendments drawn and bills drawn with respect to this fund. I do not know what they are. They will be drawn for the Members, I hope soon, Mr. McCann, so we can move these measures and, if possible, offer amendments to make our Unemployment Compensation Fund a stable fund, a fund that will protect the man who labors and who needs unemployment compensation.

With that statement today we are not offering amendments to the bill and have no objection to it's being read for the second time.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I first want to thank the Minority Leader for his kind and courteous consideration in not offering amendments to this bill today, because I am sure that all of us are aware that the sooner we pass this legislation and get it enacted on the books of Pennsylvania it will provide us an opportunity to be placed in a position of securing some portions of the $95 million that is now in the Reed fund in Congress with the two other States that have applied at the present time.

I would also like to state that some good foresight a few years back would have done well. For example, in the years when the lush period was on and the U C fund was not being drained to the extent that it was in 1958—$368 million paid out in that particular year, our neighboring State of New York increased their rate and placed an additional amount in the fund which placed it over a billion dollars to tide it over when such periods may occur.

Pennsylvania reduced its amount and in one particular quarter returned the payments to this fund, roughly $200 million in Pennsylvania money which would be in the fund. I would certainly hope, and so do all of us that the conditions will continue to improve where the payments from the fund will certainly not exceed the income into the fund.

At the present level, I think everyone is aware that we are paying out more than we are taking into the fund. In 1958 payments were the greatest that this fund has ever had. I hope in 1959 payments will be reduced very sharply by the increased employment of our people across Pennsylvania.

I believe there are pros and cons regarding the amendments that will be offered to the fund, but I rightfully say that those amendments must have an opportunity to be aired in this legislative session, and the amendments that the Minority may offer to the changes in the U C bill must be acted upon, so that we can determine the course that we are going to take regarding this very, very important fund.

In my opinion, one of the major things that helped carry Pennsylvania in 1958 from a very serious situation were U C payments to our people that kept them going a little bit at a time across this very rough period of unemployment.

We have had many technical arguments regarding the bill. It has been discussed very thoroughly. I think every one will agree that this is the safest insurance that we can have in Pennsylvania, even though we may not use, and I hope we do not use, any of the money that the bill will authorize us to borrow for 1959, I hope it will improve the situation. The estimates are at the present time that a year from now the fund would only have $37 million balance at the same rate we are going at the present time, with the low point April 15th of $29 million.

So you see the estimates are not too hopeful, but we can hope that the condition will improve so that we may be wrong, although we have provided the insurance that is needed in case we would be in as bad a situation in 1959.

Again I want to thank the Minority for their kind support of this bill, and I believe we have all agreed that without any amendments we can act upon it this morning.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

The second section and title were separately read and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 80, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation for disaster relief to the State Council of Civil Defense in connection with the flood damage of January 1959.

The first and second sections were separately read and agreed to.

The third section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. DOWN offered the following amendment:

Amend Sec. 3, page 4, line 13, by striking out "three million dollars ($3,000,000)" and inserting "three million five hundred thousand dollars ($3,500,000)"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. DOWN. Mr. Speaker, I have introduced this amendment increasing the $500,000 amount to $1 million. The reason for that is the terrific damage that we have had in Sharon and Mercer, and Lawrence, Crawford and Venango Counties.

I do not believe that $500,000 is enough money to do the work stated in Section 2, lines 9 to 12 in the bill which is quite broad. I hope that this money will help towards preventive and corrective measures of recurring floods that we have had in Mercer County and Lawrence County.

We have had floods there since 1913. This makes the second flood that the City of Sharon has had in the last six months. In July we had $3 million worth of damage. In this last flood we had over $5 million worth of damage, putting over 6,000 people out of work, closing mills such as the Mercer Tube Company, the Sharon Tube Company, Wheatland Tube Company, Shenango Agaloy, Sharon Steel Corporation, Sawhill Manufacturing Company and National Malleable. There have been over 300 families evacuated and to this date not all are back in their homes.

This makes the fourth time that Sharon in Mercer County has been flooded since 1954. I believe that with an increase that the Department of Forest and Waters can really come up with a good job.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, the amendments add an additional $500,000 to the total amount of money allocated, from $3 million to $3.5 million. Then in Section 5 changes the $500,000 of the Department of Forest and Waters to 1 million.

As you know, the financial program regarding this emergency relief situation regarding the Wyoming Valley and the western part of Pennsylvania was agreed to in a series of conferences Sunday night as well as Monday morning in the Governor's Office, and was agreed to by all the parties present. This includes the Secretary of Mines and Mineral Industries, the Secretary of Forest and Waters as well as Dr. Richard Gerstell the Director of the State Council of Civil Defense. The sum of $500,000 was proposed for the Department of Forest and Waters to carry out the purposes of this particular Act. This requires a very great change of adding $500,000 to this, and then would require a change in the lapse appropriation from the present figure to include an additional $500,000 which we are doing, to pay for these particular emergency relief measures.

I would like to ask if a conference could be held here momentarily, while the House would be in recess, because I do believe that in the present situation all of us that have agreed, and that included a great number from both sides of the House, that we would have to vote down these amendments proposed for the $500,000.

May I assure the gentleman, and I think we can get the assurance from the other Members of that conference, that if the $500,000 is not sufficient as indicated in this bill, I would be the first to propose the additional funds for the Department which asks for this particular amount.

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill, together with the amendments, be placed on the second reading postponed calendar temporarily.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. DOWN. Mr. Speaker, I am not concerned about the $500,000 but I think we should have a conference on the bill because I know that $500,000 should not be hard to find.

We are voting on deficiency appropriations here, funds have been transferred from one fund to another more recently. I do not know anything about the conference they had, and I do not know if the people who were called in had knowledge of the damages that we had in the respective counties. I do think that the leadership might have consulted us. We do have a terrific damage. We feel that $500,000 is not enough.

About two years ago I went to the Department of Forest and Waters to have the Shenango River cleared, the banks widened; one railroad is dumping slag, encroaching upon the river, and nothing has been done to this date. In the town of Wheatland one gentleman is taking the banks away for filler. I appealed to the Department of Forest and Waters, a letter was sent but he is still taking the filler away. Now I think this is the time that something should be done.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, immediately following this motion if it passes, may the House have a short five minute recess for a conference.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Does the gentleman from Mercer, Mr. Down, desire to be recognized on the motion again?

Mr. DOWN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to have a roll call. Are you going to conference on the bill or the amendments?

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion to postpone the bill temporarily?

It was agreed to.

RECESS

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Without objection the Chair will declare a short recess.

The Chair hears none and a recess is declared.

AFTER RECESS

The time of recess having expired, the House was called to order.

Mr. HELM IN THE CHAIR

Mr. DOWN. Mr. Speaker, I want to withdraw my amendments, and I yield to Mr. McCann.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, under Section 3 of the bill and Section 5, relative the amendments offered by the gentleman from Mercer, an agreement has been reached in which if the Secretary of Forests and Waters requests an additional amount of money over the amount indicated in the bill now of $500,000, the two parties have agreed that in our normal procedure here we will sponsor the legislation granting the additional money, and at the same time sponsor legislation and pass it which would lapse the money from the School Teachers' Retirement Fund.

With that assurance, that this will be done, agreed to by the Republican and the Democratic parties of the House, this question will be brought before the Secretary of the Department of Forests and Waters by tomorrow morning, and I hope an answer will be presented, the bills needed will be presented and rolled in the normal fashion here the following weeks.

With that I ask that we move on House Bill No. 80.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I am in agreement with my colleague, Mr. Sakulsky, that the conference report be incorporated in House Bill No. 80.

However, it has come to our attention, inasmuch as we have considerable damage in our legislative district, that there possibly wouldn't be sufficient money to cover it.

As a matter of record we pursued this point, and we find that through the cooperation of the Department of Highways, with the personal attention of Secretary Martin of the Department, cooperating with the Bureau of Public Roads, with the Regional Director of Civilian Defense and the Army engineer, concerning the span between Freeport in Butler County and Allegheny Township in Westmoreland County, there is a very good possibility of receiving federal aid to put in a temporary span.

We do know that the bridge will be replaced with a new structure, which is already programmed, and we are almost certain that the construction will begin in the spring of this year.

However, we further want our people to know back there, and we want it a matter of record, that the temporary situation is in good hands, is receiving the attention of the state administration, and we expect a temporary solution to our immediate problem as soon as it can possibly be worked out with the proper authorities.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair would correct the gentleman. The bridge connects Freeport in Armstrong County.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

The fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh sections and title were separately read and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 81, entitled:

An Act amending the act of September 3 1955 (Appropriation Act No. 17-A) entitled "An act making an appropriation to the Council of Civil Defense for disaster relief in connection with the hurricane and flood damage of August one thousand nine hundred fifty-five" making the moneys appropirated available for flood damage of January one thousand nine hundred fifty-nine

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 82, entitled:

An Act amending the act of July 7 1955 (P L 258) entitled "An act providing for anthracite mine drainage contingent on Federal aid and making an appropriation" extending the provisions of the act to cover emergency flood instances and the operation and maintenance of pumping and other mine drainage facilities

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 83, entitled:

An Act amending the "General Appropriation Act of 1957" approved July 19 1957 (Appropriations Acts page 60) changing certain amounts appropriated to the Department of Public Instruction and declaring the Legislature's intention to restore said changes

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 38, entitled as follows:

A Supplement to the act approved the nineteenth day of July one thousand nine hundred fifty-seven (Appropriation Acts p 60) entitled "An act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the Executive Legislative and Judicial Departments of the Commonwealth interest on the public debt and for public schools for two years beginning June 1 1957 and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending May 31 1957" by providing for deficiencies in appropriations made by the act for the fiscal biennium ending May 31 1959

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I believe before we vote on this bill that on this side of the House we should have something to say with respect to the bill itself and the items in it.

We all have read in the Press, and we have received statements here and there from the different departments in connction with their borrowing money and so forth that the anticipated deficit for this biennium will run, it has been quoted in the Press and elsewhere, anywhere from $80 million to $125 million.

If it was not for a quirk, you might say, in the law of Pennsylvania, fortified by the opinion of the attorney general, we probably would not be able to pass this bill at all at this time. The opinion, as I understand it, is to the effect that when you adjourn sine die from a Legislative Session the Budget Office certifies the amount of revenue that will come in, in their opinion, during the biennium from all taxes and from all sources of revenue. In our particular case I believe it was certified to be approximately $1.5 billion.

Accordingly, last session we appropriated $1,442 millions and the difference between that and $1.5 billion was the deficit carried over from Governor Leader's first biennium. So we were able to adjourn sine die with a certificate from the Budget Office that we had raised the necessary revenue to balance $1.5 billion. Now we find that it is going to be an estimated figure which we could not vote upon unless the Attorney General had ruled that that certification of revenue went through the entire biennium, and that is the reason that we can offer appropriation bills at this time, even though we are lapsing like appropriations. It is a quirk, as I say, in our law and is rather a fiction that we are resorting to which probably should be corrected.

The bill itself, as was pointed out yesterday on interrogation and the interrogation yesterday was not an attempt to belittle anybody or to cast aspersions or anything. What we were after was information. What the interrogation yesterday brought out number one, was that we, the General Assembly, have our budget hearings and pass what we feel are adequate appropriations. The innuendo is that the department heads and everybody, with the appropriations given to them, will put their houses in order and live within their budgets. But since time immemorial we come back here and must pass deficiency appropriations, and with a pistol to our heads, as this bill seems to deal with critical funds for relief and for occupational disease and for running our hospitals, we have no other alternative but to go along on the bill.

In House Bill 1700 last session we had safeguards in the bill that if several departments wanted to overspend their budgets they would have to get permission of a joint committee, a joint budget committee, and we limited the spending the last three months, I believe, to one-eighth of the budget so that there would not be a indeterminate spending in the last quarter.

I think those amendments were good and they should have remained in the bill. They were ripped out of the bill because of a threat of a veto by Governor Leader, which would have thrown the Legislature into another two weeks.

We have this bill before us today, as I say, and now we find that since the Legislature recessed, salaries have been raised, extra things have been done, money has been spent that was not contemplated in the original appropriation and, in short, deficits have occurred over which we, the General Assembly, had no control.

We, the Republican party, are re-introducing legislation for budgetary control into the several departments as a legislative watch dog, you might say, so that in another biennium in another Session of the General Assembly we will not be called upon in a cursory, quick, shot-gun way, to vote additional funds over which we have no control, and we really do not at this time know whether we are properly voting the money or not.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I listened with great delight to the remarks of the honorable gentleman from McKean in summarizing the debate and the provisions and figures outlined in House Bill 38 that we are to vote on in a few minutes here in the House.

I think yesterday's debate and interrogation also brought to light some other things, that knowingly and wilfully figures were placed in the budget under the amounts that would be spent. No one denies at this point that the occupational disease figure which is in this bill was not an item that would be known many, many months ago, and the Executive order that granted the occupational disease additional money would have placed that fund without payments in 1958. $3.2 I believe is in House Bill 38, $6,000 for second injury accounts. I do not believe that that was living within the amount because the law that set up some provisions of the occupational disease in a prior session had been agreed to, and that law itself made changes that will call for greater payments of those who were not able to fall under the silicosis fund or the occupational disease requirements in the past.

The public assistance amounts, without any increase from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, only the increases that have been given to the recipients are those granted by the federal money. $9 million dollars of this is a part of House Bill 38. As the debate proceeded yesterday I think it was clear that in our penal institutions the number of inmates in the institutions had increased, I believe anyone would assume, and rightfully so, that it cost more money to keep these people in these particular institutions.

The question has come up repeatedly as to increase in personnel at the hospitals and our mental institutions, and I think in most cases the number of employees has been reduced from the previous year or held to about the same figure. So we on this side of the House do not any more believe in deficiency appropriations than do the minority. Yet we in 1957 discussed very seriously, as the record will show, that these figures in the budget were wrong because amendments were offered to each of these in the closing minutes of the 1957 session regarding the budget.

As we pass this first deficiency bill today to insure both payment of personnel and food and forage, we are only doing the things that we knew would happen, for we did not provide the funds to do those very things when we set up the budget.

I believe that all of us agree that economy and sound economy is very wise, that no money should be wasted for this is taxpayers money: I believe that every one in Pennsylvania believes the same as you and I do, that we are responsible for all of the tax money that we ask the people to pay. I believe that House Bill No. 38 has been more than justified that is being presented here today as well as the reasons for each of the amounts that are outlined in the bill.

I would like to say, Mr. Speaker, that House Bill No. 38 was covered very thoroughly yesterday, point by point, line by line, except the last section which due to the lateness of the day the gentleman who was interrogating did not have time to question the Chairman of the Appropriations Committee, but I believe we will all agree that it, too, is an approved item which we can all vote for.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

NOT VOTING—8

Blair,	Cooper,	Jones, G. E.,	Moran,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 42, entitled as follows:

Authorizing a loan and transferring money from the Motor License Fund to the General Fund and providing for the subsequent return from the General Fund of the borrowed money

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I should like to interrogate the Majority Leader, Mr. McCann.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Greene, Mr. McCann permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCANN. I shall Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I understand this bill is to authorize the borrowing of $27.5 million from the Motor License Fund to be repaid, according to the Constitutional provisions, not less than 30 days after the end of this biennium. Is that right?

Mr. McCANN. That is correct, sir.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I should like to inquire, we have between three and four thousand bridges in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania which have been declared as unsafe for use, by loaded school buses. Well, will the borrowing of this money for any period of time jeopardize the program for the purposes of strengthening and renewing these bridges to make them safe?

Mr. McCANN. The borrowing of this money, $27.5 million, will not affect or jeopardize that program in any way.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, come April 1, subsidies in the amount of $27 million will be due to the townships, boroughs and cities out of the Motor License Fund. Will the borrowing of this money in any way affect the payment of those monies at that time?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I cannot answer that question here today. It is very, very, very close.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I should like to inquire if the borrowing of this amount of money from the Motor License Fund will in any way jeopardize the Federal matching funds to which this State is entitled?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, the borrowing of this money will not jeopardize the Federal funds allocated to the Department of Highways of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, will the borrowing of this money in any way jeopardize the cash necessary for the usual operating expenses of the Department of Highways?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, the borrowing of this money will not jeopardize the cash of the Department of Highways except that it certainly will reduce its cash on hand, all of which is committed without a question of doubt.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, we would not in any manner be creating a deficiency for the Department of Highway to make up deficiencies of other Departments by this borrowing, would we?

Mr. McCANN. No, Mr. Speaker, we are not.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Would this borrowing of this money in any way jeopardize the payment of $12 million on June 1 to the State Police?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, it will not jeopardize, but it will be very, very close. I think the gentleman is well aware that we are borrowing the absolute maximum amount that can be borrowed without jeopardizing any programs.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, will the borrowing of any of these monies jeopardize the highway maintenance program for the balance of this winter, particularly in cindering, or for road safety purposes?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, the borrowing of this money will not jeopardize the maintenance program for the balance of this winter.

Mr. TOMPKINS. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker. I do not wish to debate this bill, I merely wanted to get on record this information for the purposes for which the interrogation was made.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

RESOLUTION

MEMORIALIZING CONGRESS

Messrs. DOWN and WILLARD offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 27, 1959.

The 85th Congress of the United States appropriated funds for the planning of a dam north of Sharpsville in Mercer County, Pennsylvania, which project is commonly known as the Shenango Reservoir Dam. Beyond the planning stage, however, no concrete action has been taken. This proposed dam, the basic purpose of which is the control of floods, will be of immeasurable benefit to the inhabitants of Mercer and Lawrence Counties and the surrounding countryside.

Recent unfortunate experiences have proven beyond doubt that proposed flood control projects should not be allowed to lag. Hesitation can mean a disastrous loss of human life and property; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of Pennsylvania, in the name of the people of Pennsylvania, memorialize the Congress of the United States to appropriate such funds and enact such legislation as may be necessary to bring about a speedy completion of the Shenango Reservoir Dam north of Sharpsville in Mercer County, Pennsylvania; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be forwarded by the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives to each Senator and Representative from Pennsylvania in the Congress of the United States.

Mr. GOODRICH offered a resolution which was filed with the Clerk.

Mr. GELFAND offered a resolution which was filed with the Clerk.

Mr. GALLAGHER offered a resolution which was filed with the Clerk.

In the House of Representatives, January 27, 1959.

The Public Assistance Law is one of the most important laws affecting the people of our Commonwealth. Each year, thousands of our needy citizens come into contact with it and each biennium millions of dollars are appropriated by the General Assembly for its operation.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. GOODRICH, A. W. JOHNSON, BRETH and HAMILTON. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 10.

In the House of Representatives, January 27, 1959.

It is of utmost importance to the welfare of this Nation that the youth of this Commonwealth be given recognition for their outstanding achievements and be encouraged to prepare themselves for their future responsibilities and obligations as citizens of this great Nation.

The Legislatures of several states have adopted resolutions designating October 31 of each year as "Youth Honor Day," which is appropriately observed in honor of the youth of this Nation.

The Youth Honor Day program has been of tremendous benefit to the youth of America by providing them with the opportunity to assume the responsibility of governing the conduct of the members of their group.

Adoption of the Youth Honor Day program would prove very beneficial, not only to the youth but also to all the people of this Commonwealth; therefore, be it

Resolved, (The Senate concurring), That the Governor of this Commonwealth is hereby requested to proclaim October 31, this year and annually thereafter, as "Youth Honor Day"; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives be directed to send a copy of this resolution to the Governor.

(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 12.

In the House of Representatives, January 26, 1959.

Law enforcement agency reports have shown an alarming increase of crimes of violence, especially by juveniles, during the past few years.

One major factor in such increase of crime has been an uncontrolled source of pistols and revolvers from dealers outside the Commonwealth. These dealers advertise the sale of pistols and revolvers in periodicals. These dealers enable any buyer without regard to age or criminal record to purchase pistols and revolvers which are shipped to the purchaser upon receipt of the purchase price.

Resolved (the Senate concurring) that the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania memorialize the Congress of the United States to enact appropriate legislation to prohibit the purchase and sale at retail of pistols and revolvers by mail order and further to prohibit the advertising of such mail order sales; and

Be It Further Resolved upon the passage of the instant Resolution that copies hereof be forwarded by the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives to the presiding officers of each House of the Congress of the United States and to each Senator and Representative from Pennsylvania in the Congress of the United States.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. FRANK. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 13.

In the House of Representatives, January 26, 1959.

Section 699.4 of the act of June 24, 1939 (P. L. 872), known as "The Penal Code," commonly referred to as the Blue Laws, creates many problems in modern life.

The present legislation is based on legislation enacted in 1794, and carries substantially the same provisions. The changes in customs, attitudes, transportation facilities and the present day requirements for living illustrate the need for changes in restrictions imposed by law upon Sunday activities of residents of this Commonwealth.

Many proposals have been made in the past to change these restrictions. Examples of changes which have been authorized by legislation are permission to indulge in Sunday baseball, football, tennis and polo, and the viewing of movies.

It is fitting that an impartial study be made of the problem of worldly employment on Sunday, in order that worthwhile activities be permitted while maintaining proper observance of the Sabbath, therefore, be it

Resolved, (the Senate concurring), That a committee of six members of the General Assembly be created, three from the House of Representatives to be appointed by the Speaker, and three from the Senate to be appointed by the President Pro Tempore, whose duty it shall be to study and investigate the problem of possible changes to be made in the law regulating worldly employment on Sundays, commonly known as Blue Laws; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee may meet, hold hearings, and take testimony. It may issue subpoenas under the hand and seal of its chairman, commanding any person to appear before it and answer questions touching matters properly being inquired into by the committee and to produce such books, papers, records and documents as the committee deems necessary. Any person who wilfully neglects or refuses to testify before the committee or to produce any books, papers, records or documents shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of the Commonwealth in such cases. Each member of the committee shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before the committee; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee make a report of their findings and recommendations for appropriate legislation to this Session of the General Assembly as soon as possible.

RESOLUTION (Not Printed).

In the House of Representatives, January 26, 1959.

The field of traffic safety is often frustrating but not without reward when the heavy accident toll is reduced. Unknown people are living today rather than having become statistics, due to the unceasing efforts of men like Mr. Nick Nicklas to protect people against themselves.

For the past twenty-five years Mr. Nick Nicklas of Aliquippa, Pennsylvania, has waged an unceasing campaign for traffic safety in every media available. As Director of the Beaver County Crusade for Safety he conducts a weekly radio program, "Traffic Beat" at 6:45 P. M. Saturday over station WBVP, Beaver Falls, Pennsylvania, in which he interviews all persons whose work has any bearing on traffic safety.

Reduction of traffic fatalities in Beaver County from 36 in 1957 to 23 in 1958 may set a record in the State and certainly bears testimony to the effect of Mr. Nicklas' efforts; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of Pennsylvania congratulates Mr. Nick Nicklas and his program "Traffic Beat" on the spendid life-saving service rendered to Beaver County; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to Mr. Nick Nicklas, Aliquippa, Pennsylvania in recognition of his fine record.

In the House of Representatives, January 26, 1959.

America's 1959 football season will see three Pennsylvanians serving in rolls of distinction with the Army, Navy, and Air Force football teams.

Cadet William Carpenter of Springfield Township, Delaware County, who attended Springfield High School, will captain the varsity football squad of the United States Military Academy. Cadet Carpenter proved himself an outstanding football player and gained the respect and admiration of the American people during 1958 and previous years.

Midshipman James Dunn of Rutledge, Delaware County, will captain the varsity football squad of the United States Naval Academy. Midshipman Dunn also gained the respect and admiration of the American people by his splendid playing during the 1958 and previous years. Midshipman Dunn attended Ridley Township High School in Delaware County.

Coach Ben Martin of the varsity Air Force Academy football squad grew up in Prospect Park, Delaware County. He attended Prospect Park High School and the United States Naval Academy. Coach Martin's parents still live in Prospect Park. The outstanding performance of the 1958 football team of the Air Force Academy has distinguished Pennsylvania's Ben Martin in the eyes of the American public.

The 1959 Army-Navy game will bring distinction to Pennsylvania in the persons of the two distinguished Pennsylvanians, Cadet Carpenter and Midshipman Dunn, captaining their respective football teams.

The accomplishments and respect gained by these three great Pennsylvanians reflect outstanding credit to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and serves as an inspiration to the youth of Pennsylvania.

Now Therefore Be It Resolved that the congratulations of the House of Representatives be extended to Cadet William Carpenter, Midshipman James Dunn, and Coach Ben Martin; and

Be It Further Resolved that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to the President of the United States, Cadet William Carpenter, Midshipman James Dunn, and Coach Ben Martin, to the commandants of the respective service academies, Springfield High School, Ridley Township High School and to Interboro High School (successor to Prospect Park High School).

The death of G. Robert Thompson, a former member of this House of Representatives, on January 10, 1959 marked the end of a long and varied career.

Mr. Thompson, a life-long resident of Adams County was a business man by occupation. He was a director of the Gettysburg National Bank for thirty-eight years. Not only was he vice president of the Gettysburg Building and Loan Association but also, with a son, operated Thompson's Warehouse in Gettysburg, Pennsylvania. He was engaged in numerous other business ventures in the county, which included farming for a number of years.

Mr. Thompson's public service, spanning nearly four decades, began in 1912 as Sheriff of Adams County. He later served as Republican County Chairman during the Pinchot Campaign and Administration. It was during his term as county chairman that the Republicans overcame what had been a long-time Democratic lead in registration in Adams County. Mr. Thompson was a member of the House of Representatives in 1939 and 1940. Mr. Thompson's public spirit and private achievement marked him as an exemplary citizen whose memory will long be cherished by those who knew him and benefited from his association; therefore be it

Resolved, That the members of the House of Representatives extend their sympathies to his wife and children in their hour of loss and bereavement; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be sent to his widow, Mrs. G. Robert Thompson, Carlisle Street, Gettysburg; to his son, Robert Thompson, Aspers; and to his two daughters, Mrs. Margaret Deatrick, Gettysburg, R. D. 4 and Mrs. Blanche Bowers, Gettysburg, R. D. 5.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

The SPEAKER. The Chair requests Speaker Helm to preside during the requests for leaves of absence.

MR. HELM IN THE CHAIR

There were no requests for leave of absence.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair returns the gavel to the Speaker of the House.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) IN THE CHAIR.

The SPEAKER. That was very short and entirely unconvincing.

REQUEST FOR COMMITTEE MEETINGS

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, today during the session we would like to have permission for three standing Committees of the House to hold meetings, in temporary locations that have been designated for today's meeting only.

During the recess period in the House we would request that the Committee on Boroughs will hold its meeting in the Appropriations rooms on the second floor, Rooms 245 and 246.

The Committee on Counties will hold its meeting in the old House Caucus Room on the third floor.

The Committee on Townships will hold its meeting in the new House Caucus Room on the first floor.

This is just a temporary arrangement for today. Committees will be assigned rooms beginning with Monday's session.

The SPEAKER. The Majority Leader has asked permission of the House to hold a meeting of the Committee on Boroughs, Committee on Counties and the Committee on Townships.

Are there any objections? The Chair hears none, and permission is granted.

The Chair suggests that the Members of the Committees in question retire to the appointed place.

The House will be at ease until their return.

(After some time the House was called to order.)

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, the Committees on Boroughs, Counties and Townships have completed their meetings, and the Members have returned to the Hall of the House.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 43, entitled as follows:

An Act amending the "Unemployment Compensation Law" approved December 5 1936 (1937 P L 2897) authorizing the obtaining of advances under Title XII of the Social Security Act and the disbursement of the same

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I do not intend to debate the bill; I just want make a reflection with respect to the roll call.

Today we probably have the most important bills on our Calendar that we will have this Session. We would therefore ask for a slow roll call, and ask that those present and answering to their names only be recorded on the roll call.

We will also ask for a verification of the roll after the roll has been called.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken.

A verification of the roll was requested by Messrs. A. W. JOHNSON, HELM and LIPPINCOTT.

The roll was verified and was as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 80, entitled as follows:

An Act making an appropriation for disaster relief to the State Council of Civil Defense in connection with the flood damage of January 1959

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, the next four bills on the Calendar are a series of bills aimed at some way of alleviating the flood disaster of the last week. As I pointed out earlier today, it is unfortunate we do not have all of our membership here to be recorded on these very, very important bills, which are probably the most important bills we will vote on this Session, particularly where there are human lives involved.

I just want to say this about the bills. The thing that was amazing to us was that the disaster at Pittston could occur at all. We have looked through the mining laws of Pennsylvania, and we cannot find that there is any prohibition in the Mining Code against taking coal out from under a river. We are wondering whether the mine inspectors have not been derelict in their duties, in not properly inspecting mines and revoking permits where it is obvious that a tragedy like this could occur.

I think we could well have an investigation of situations like this which come along every few years and tear at the heartstrings of all of us, where there are husbands and fathers involved. We all appreciate the anguish of the people, the parents, mothers, and others, for the terrible tragedy that negligence on the part of somebody entails.

Therefore, today we are going to offer a bill which will add additional claws to the Mining Code with respect to the prohibition against mining. We are going to offer a bill which will make it unlawful to mine coal from under a river bed without consent of the Water and Power Resources Board and the Department of Mines. The bill also calls for a reappraisal of present mining, if any, taking place under the bed of a river which would make possible the tragedy that occurred the other day.

Therefore, we will call on the Department of Mines to be more and more vigilant in the future in inspecting mines, not that we want to put any unnecessary burdens on the poor oppressed coal operators. They have had a job trying to keep their mines going, and trying to operate at a profit . . . I mean within the realm of making it possible for the miners to work safely within the realm of giving the operator a square deal and making it possible for him to mine. I believe there is a middle ground there, and the Department of Mines should pursue it as vigorously as possible.

Also this morning we were a little amazed at the story that the Governor had dispatched Dr. Gerstell and Walter Geisey, his Secretary, up there to direct rescue operations. The way we observe that on this side of the House is that Dr. Gerstell is probably one of the outstanding Directors of Civilian Defense in the Nation. He has done an outstanding job. I have often thought that he ought to be in Washington running the national program. Walter Geisey is a very bright, intelligent young man, the kind of career boy that governors and presidents attach to themselves to give them brilliant advice. I am wondering whether he knows how to mine coal. I wonder whether Dr. Gerstell knows, whether they know, how to pour concrete, how to stem the tide up there.

I believe that now we should get outstanding engineering firms up there, people who know their business, and who can get the huge machinery in there that you see advertised in magazines, the wonders of this age, and do this job not with folks like us from Harrisburg, but competent, real honest-to-goodness efficient people, to try and save these lives if possible.

That is all we are going to say on these bills. I believe they will temporarily answer the problem. With that reflection I say call the roll.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would inform the two respective Floor Leaders that it is never necessary for them to ask unanimous consent to address the House. They are privileged Members who should be recognized whenever they choose to take the floor.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I listened with great delight to the remarks that were made here this morning regarding House Bill No. 80.

I bring to the attention of the Members, on page 4 that under Section H it specifically says "Conduct investigations to determine the cause of this disaster and to institute measures to insure the future safety and health of persons in the area." It is written right into the bill, and rightfully so. Perhaps someone was lax. . . . There is no question someone was lax to permit mining so close to a body of water. In bygone days, perhaps this was done.

In regard to the remarks about the gentlemen who have been sent to this disaster area, in my opinion the soundest decision was made. The opinion of all of the Members of this House I believe will agree this bill provides that the State Council of Civil Defense, our Executive Director, Dr. Richard Gerstell, should be on the scene. The Governor in his wisdom, and rightfully so, has sent his Executive Secretary. These pieces of legislation give them the power to do certain things, and those things are being done before the power has been granted to them, because of the legislative intent expressed in the resolution that we passed two days ago, on Monday.

There is no question that the best of anything possible to secure in the type of equipment to de-water and pump, and the best and largest concerns in these fields have been contacted and have placed their men there to bring the equipment in. Actually it is roughly estimated as a 60 billion gallon de-watering operation. If there is anyone more capable that anyone knows of to do this than is being done at this time, let them now speak, for no stones are being left unturned to expedite the legislation to permit this to be done, to have the best of industries capable of doing this, on the scene, and doing the job as fast as humanly possible, both by manpower and machinery.

I realize that the one thing we all hope and pray for is that perhaps from this catastrophe will come the proper investigation to insure that the type of catastrophe which has occurred at this mine, or colliery, cannot occur again in Pennsylvania coal mines.

There is, again, the assurance of the investigation, and it will be done. In addition to that, the Luzerne County delegation informed me they intend to present, evidently will present, a resolution calling for an investigation and a report either from the House or the House and Senate combined. That resolution has not been introduced, waiting until this is cleared up so that the people may go into these mines in the different levels after de-watering, in an effort to try to determine if we still have 12 people living in there, or 12 bodies to bring out.

I do not think anyone can deny that it tears at the heartstrings of all of us. I, and some others on both sides of the House who live in the coal fields, know just how this happens, and just what it does to you emotionally, and the sorrow that follows for years to come.

This is a very major problem, a very major catastrophe, and it is being handled the best that anyone knows how. We assure again the people of Pennsylvania, all of the people, that every single thing humanly possible is being done by both manpower and machinery, to try to solve this situation. To close the barn door now, as we say, we can close it. The errors have been made. Let us hope that they wil not be made again. We feel confident that they will not be made again, at least in permitting he mining of coal so near to any major body of water in either the bituminous or anthracite fields of Pennsylvania.

Mr. VARNER. Mr. Speaker, I want to speak on House Bill No. 80. It seems that with this flood of the past week, we have a recurring situation in a lot of communities, particularly in northwestern Pennsylvania.

I would like to read partially from a letter that was published this week in the Pittsburgh Press, written by Mr. J. M. Hammer of Knox, Pennsylvania, in my county.

> It is doubtful that the Upper Allegheny had anything much to do with flood conditions at Oil City, Franklin, Meadville, Parker, Sharon, New Castle, Greenville and other localities.
> Greenville, Sharon and New Castle were hit by the flooded Shenango River, not by Allegheny waters.

It would appear that the Department of Forest and Waters or the proper state agencies, along with the Federal agencies, should try to cure these flood causes before the disasters occur. I know for a fact that none of our communities in western Pennsylvania that have had flood prevention projects, such as Reynoldsville, Punxsutawney and Bradford, some of those communities were not hit by this disaster. Some of our communities such as Kittanning and Parker were ravaged by the Allegheny River.

We in western Pennsylvania, of course, in the last couple of years have had a lot of contention about the Kinzua Dam, I personally feel that the Kinzua Dam should be pushed forward and built. I think this Legislature might very well call the attention necessary to the proper departments, to outline some program of action. We have done some work along those lines in the past. For instance in the Sinnemahoning we built a dam.

I think what we have done is piecemeal. If we cannot get the Federal peoplpe to do something about conditions such as exist in the Shenango and these other rivers, and in French Creek and the other trouble spots, we as the Legislature should do it.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, the matter that was brought up by the Minority Leader of the House here at a time such as this on the passage of these bills, I, myself and I know every Member of the House sympathizes with him in this tragedy that occurred in the hard coal fields.

We have similar situations where coal is mined adjacent to huge bodies of water and we in the western end of the State have been very cognizant of this factor and the tragedies that could occur in the event that the proper precautions were not taken.

I feel sure from my knowledge of the area in which I live and where I serve that a very good job is being done in that respect.

Rather than capitalize at this time with the sympathetic job that we have confronting us, each and every Member of this House I know is sincerely interested in arriving at a proper solution of the problem that is with us today.

Rather than capitalize on this, I believe we should await the result of the investigation and then take the immediate steps, yes, steps to the nth degree to curtail such a thing happening in the future. We in western Pennsylvania have similar conditions. However, we have averted tragedies because we are cognizant of those conditions, the inspectors are cognizant of them and are doing a wonderful job in safeguarding the lives of the miners that are working underground.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, since on the first bill there was a verification of the roll call of 175 Members present in the House, with Mr. Johnson's returning, could we have the same roll call for each of the bills?

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 83, entitled as follows:

An Act amending the "General Appropriation Act of 1957" approved July 19, 1957 (Appropriations Acts page 60) changing certain amounts appropriated to the Department of Public Instruction and declaring the Legislature's intention to restore said changes.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, House Bill No. 83, the bill by means of which we are using the funds to carry on this emergency program taken from the Department of Public Instruction, the school teachers' retirement fund, I would like to place on the record for the public to know, because we have had a series of telephone calls and telegrams in regard to this legislation being proposed in House Bill 83, that we in the General Assembly have declared our intent to restore all this money we may take from this particular fund.

Again, I repeat, as I stated yesterday, that if additional money will have to be lapsed it will be lapsed from this appropriation with the same intent of restoring the same in the coming budget.

That deals with the problem yesterday of additional money for the Department of Forests and Waters. If we lapse and add any more for the flood control, the flood projects in western Pennsylvania, we will lapse it in the same manner and we guarantee the restoration of these funds.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

STATEMENT BY SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. The Chair had hoped that the bills which we have enacted in the House this day would reach the Governor's desk this week. Something that was quite within the preview not only of correct parliamentary procedure, but would be in accord with the need for the legislation which we have enacted.

In these matters with which the House has been concerned, and which has been the subject of repeated conferences and agreements, haste was the essence of our so doing.

It would seem, however, that these bills will not reach the Governor's desk this week and the Chair regrets that there are those serving in various places who urge haste upon the part of this House, and prefer to take their recesses, not a continuous performance, but piecemeal—a recess here, a recess there when these bills could and should have been placed upon the Governor's desk this week.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I am afraid you are putting me in the embarrassing situation of maybe debating with the Speaker from the floor. Of course, I do not intend to do that.

The SPEAKER. Would the gentleman say that again? The Chair failed to hear what he was saying.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I say the Speaker may be putting me in the embarrassing situation of debating with the Speaker from the floor. It probably is not quite—

The SPEAKER. If the House has no objection the gentleman is at liberty to debate with the Speaker as much as he likes, provided the floor does not object.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I attended the meeting in the Governor's office the other day, and I do not recall that there was any agreement that the Senate would stay today and have these bills, today, tomorrow or the next day. I do not recall any such agreement.

The SPEAKER. Would the gentleman please observe the fact that the Speaker has not mentioned the Chamber which he has mentioned. The Chair would hope that the gentleman will observe the proprieties and not debate the actions of those who serve, however poorly, in another place.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I have often said I thank God for the members of that other place. They have gotten us off from many a hot spot, I would say.

The point that I was making, Mr. Speaker, is that there was no agreement with respect to these bills passing the other place this week. The intention was that a resolution would be offered and introduced in a body other than this esteemed House of Representatives and that the legislative intent would be therein declared that we would, both Houses, pass these bills.

I am just wondering whether if it had been absolutely necessary that these bills be placed on the Governor's desk forthwith, whether those in the other place would not have stayed here and pased them. I do not believe there was any pressure put on them to remain here.

I called up to the Minority Leader of the other place and he is comfortably in his office in Philadelphia today practicing his profession. I am sure he is not worrying about what is taking place in this wonderful body that we represent.

The bills will be put on the Governor's desk, of course, next week end. The pumps I hope are being installed. The bills passed here, of course, with Republican votes. I guess we all realize that.

The work is going ahead. We of course have some computers working, and I will admit we have absenteeism on this side of the House, but you have 17 absent on the Democratic side today. Pretty far short of a constitutional majority. Naturally we cannot do business this session unless we all put our shoulders to the wheel. We on the Republican side intend to do just that.

The SPEAKER. The Chair might be privileged just a final remark. Fate is so ordained that each one of us must keep his own particular rendezvous with his own conscience.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, we of course have some absentees on our side of the House today. But I think the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, quoted the wrong figure.

Mr. CURWOOD. I would just like to thank the Minority Leader for the remarks he has made, and want him to know that we from Luzerne County appreciate what the whole House has done here today to help our situation back home. I think it is no more than right that we thank the whole House.

Mr. HELM. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Greene, Mr. McCann.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Greene, Mr. McCann, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I shall.

Mr. HELM. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inquire of the gentleman from Greene, Mr. McCann, if I heard him right when he said that Mr. Johnson quoted the wrong figure of Democratic absentees?

Mr. McCANN. I believe you heard me very correctly when I said we have absenteeism on our side today, but I believe the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, quoted the wrong figure.

Mr. HELM. Would the gentleman care to give the Members of this House the correct figure?

Mr. McCANN. Sixteen.

Mr. HELM. I thank the gentleman and ask him if it would have been at all possible to have passed this emergency legislation without Republican help.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, never once did I doubt that the two sides of the House would pass it together.

Mr. HELM. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. Neither Floor Leader evidently cared to read into the record the exact details of our attendance today. It is just about an even balance as to credit and as to blame.

RESOLUTIONS

Mr. LIGHT offered a resolution which was filed with the Clerk.

Mrs. REIBMAN offered a resolution which was filed with the Clerk.

The SPEAKER. I presume the Majority Leader has acquainted the membership with his plans for the coming week?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I have not had an opportunity to talk to the Minority Leader on the plans for the coming week, but if it is satisfactory I will announce the plans even though I have not talked with him about them.

There will be sessions in the House held on Monday beginning at the proper time of 4:30, and Tuesday at 12:00 o'clock noon.

The SPEAKER. No Wednesday session?

Mr. McCANN. I have not planned any Wednesday session. I want to consult about them, but those two days are assured.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the Minority Leader.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to announce to the Republican side of the House that we will not have a caucus on Monday.

And I might say further that many of the Members on our side would like a firm understanding henceforth as to the number of days we will be here each week so that they may be able to properly adjust their affairs and make definite plans.

I realize this was an emergency this week, and we should have been here the three days. But I do wish the majority and minority sides would henceforth firmly fix the time of each session—when we will be here.

The SPEAKER. Will the Majority Leader and the Minority Leader please confer with respect to a Wednesday session?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I am well aware of the situation with regard to the passage of bills in the other body.

The SPEAKER. Which must be signed by the Speaker in the presence of the House and that requires a quorum.

Mr. McCANN. That is right, Mr. Speaker, but I have had no assurance that the other body will meet on those days.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hopes the respective Floor Leaders will work the matter out to our mutual satisfaction.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. VERONA. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Monday, February 2, 1959 at 4:30 p. m.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 11:55 a. m.) the House adjourned.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. RAY GEARING, Pastor of Windber Presbyterian Church, Windber, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray.

Almighty and eternal God, our Heavenly Father, we thank Thee for the high privilege and high calling which is ours to share with Thee in the governing of the affairs of Thy children on earth. Make us good and faithful stewards of such a high calling. Forgive us when we choose the expedient, rather than the right. Help us this day to walk in the steps of our Master, even Jesus Christ, our Lord, in Whose name we make our prayer. Amen.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. LANE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, the bills I am about to present to the Senate have to do with setting up a foster home program for aged people in Pennsylvania.

I am presenting a series of three bills. One, amends the Institution District Code; the second bill amends the Public Assistance Code; and the third bill gives jurisdiction to the Department of Welfare in making inspections of homes which will be eligible for these aged people to participate in.

Mr. President, this legislation is needed here in Pennsylvania because we have, in the past, built a number of large institutions. Many of these old people do not want to be in poor farms. They want to pay their own way because most of them have pensions. We feel it is right that they should be admitted to proper homes. I know there are many, many people in Pennsylvania who would be very happy, indeed, to take an old couple into their homes.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. LANE, PECHAN, BERGER, SILVERT and RUTH read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 141, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 9, 1929 (P. L. 177), entitled "The Administrative Code of 1929," defining aged persons' institutions and increasing the supervisory powers of the Department of Public Welfare.

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTIONS

DIRECTING THE JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION TO STUDY HOW TO OVERCOME ALL IMPEDIMENTS TO THE TAKING OF IMMEDIATE AND EFFECTIVE ACTION IN CASES OF EMERGENCY OR CASES OF IMPENDING EMERGENCY

Mr. WEINER offered the following resolution (Serial No. 105), which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Rules:

In the Senate, February 2, 1959.

Emergency situations require immediate action. A hesitation or delay of days or event hours can spell the difference between safety or terrible disaster. The power to act immediately in any emergency or impending emergency should be inherent in the officials of our Commonwealth. This power should include the authority to undertake any project deemed necessary for the protection of the public and to take action on a moment's notice to forestall impending danger, no matter what its source may be. The authority to expend funds necessary to finance such actions, including rehabilitation and rectification thereafter, should accompany the power to act.

During the disaster recently experienced, we were fortunate in one respect, that being that the Legislature was in session to authorize action. On future occasions precious time may be lost in an attempt to obtain such Legislative approval; therefore be it

Resolved (the House of Representatives concurring), That the Joint State Government Commission make a thorough study to determine how to best overcome all impediments to the taking of immediate and effective action by Officials of our Commonwealth in cases of emergency or cases of impending emergency, and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission report to the next regular session of the General Assembly its findings and recommedations with drafts of legislation necessary to carry the recommendations into effect.

MEMORIALIZING THE POSTMASTER GENERAL OF THE UNITED STATES TO ISSUE A STAMP IN HONOR OF GENERAL GEORGE GORDON MEADE

Mr. STIEFEL offered the following resolution (Serial No. 106), which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, February 2, 1959.

Whereas, The year 1963 will mark the one hundredth anniversary of the Battle of Gettysburg which halted the Confederate invasion of Pennsylvania and forecast Southern defeat in the Civil War; and

Whereas, This great victory was won by Union forces under the command of General George Gordon Meade, a Pennsylvanian, whom Governor Andrew G. Curtin had recommended for promotion as brigadier general at the beginning of the war; and

Whereas, The bravery and ability of this brilliant officer won him rapid advance until President Lincoln placed him in command of the Army of Potomac, five days before the great battle which turned the tide of the war; and

Whereas, The Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission, official historical agency of the Commonweatlh, has petitioned the General Assembly to endorse the issuance of a commemorative stamp in honor of General Meade; therefore be it

Resolved (the House of Representatives concurring), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania memorializes the Postmaster General of the United States to place upon his agenda for the year 1963 the issuance of a commemorative stamp to honor General George Gordon Meade, the brilliant commander of Union forces in the Battle of Gettysburg; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the Postmaster General of the United States.

RULE 39 SUSPENDED

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be suspended and the Senate do now proceed to the consideration of the resolution just read.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the Senate agreeto the resolution?

It was agreed to.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. EHRGOOD asked and obtained unanimous consent to addres the Senate.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, a very serious problem is presented to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania as a result of the closing of schools being ordered by the Department of Labor and Industry. These districts are in a state of utter confusion, as a result of these orders. They number well over one hundred schools. These orders have been issued by the Department of Labor and Industry as a result of inspections made by local inspectors interpreting the Fire and Panic Law.

Mr. President, none of us quarrel with the idea that our children are entitled to safety while attending a school. I know that every school board, every educator, every citizen and evey Member of this Senate desires to avoid a repteition of the Chicago school fire on December 1, 1958.

However, Mr. President, these orders, issuing out of the Department in Harrisburg, indicate a lack of common sense and understanding of the local problems. These orders have not been issued, giving the district a reasonable time with which to comply. On the contrary, the orders require the schools to shut down immediately. Panic seems to be the order of the day, particularly from the bureaucrats in the Department of Labor and Industry. Have these bureaucrats given any consideration to the complete disruption of the educational programs in our school districts? All the evidence suggests, "no."

The background of these cases is as follows:

The first inkling of new inspections for fire hazards was by way of a memorandum from the Superinetndent of Public Instruction to the county superintendents on January 5, 1959, stating that each local school district in the county was to request a physical inspection by the local office of the Department of Labor and Industry.

On approximately January 8th, the local inspector in Lebanon County went to work and within a few days, by oral order, he shut down seven schools. You can imagine the utter confusion that was rampant in Lebanon County. It is not only Lebanon County about which we are concerned: it is a situation which is growing throughout this State.

These fire hazards, or alleged fire hazards, were ordered to be corrected, as I previously stated, without any time within which these school districts could do something about the matter. No thought seemed to have been given to the fact that Lebanon County, 1,185 elementary school children were to be displaced. Obviously, it was no consequence to the Department of Labor and Industry. No thought was given to transportation schedules or to half-day sessions which would affect at least an equal number of children in schools not affected by the Department's orders. No thought was given to the psychological difficulties which young children would face by being displaced and entered in other schools.

The result was chaos and confusion. This is now a daily occurrence throughout the Commonwealth.

The main hazards accounting for these close-ups were fireproofing of entire basement ceilings and enclosing stairwells or building new fire towers. In many cases, the remodeling would be expensive and require time. Bids must be let by the school districts, plans must be approved by the Department of Labor and Industry and financing must be secured.

However, Mr. President, the unrealistic part—the aforementioned panic—was that these schools, which had operated for years, were given no time to accomplish what the Department of Labor and Industry said was necessary. I say that they were "new" regulations, advisedly, because—and this is the incredible part about it—the Department of Labor and Industry. in many cases, had approved many things, such as outside fire escapes a few short years ago which were now no longer being approved by the Department and which had to be removed. I believe that was the case in Johnstown.

What is more, in Lebanon, we found out that the local inspector had no authority to issue verbal orders to close. As a result, written order had to be given.

Fortunately, Mr. President, the school boards learned that they could gain some time by appealing to the Industrial Board of the Department of Labor and Industry. As a result, hundreds of appeals have flowed into this Industrial Board. The Lebanon County schools, in the interim, had asigned specific individuals to make periodic fire and safety hazard checks while the children were using these buildings. Flammable material was removed.

There are many schools which are only being used until the end of this school year. I know of at least three schools in Lebanon County which will be abandoned at the end of this school term, in June. These schools, incidentally, would require extensive repair under the orders given by the Department of Labor and Industry. Who is going to pay the bill? What will happen to those children? Actually, you all know that it will mean a displacement of children, and, consequently, damages to them in their education.

As to the Industrial Board and its appeals, I had a personal experience with this Board last Thursday. However, prior to that, a week ago last Thursday, they had ordered appeals and thirty-one school districts showed up to present their side of the case. Of course, they were turned down because a puorum was not present on the Industrial Board. This past Thursday, we received a telegram, dated January 26, to appear on January 29, at 9:30 a. m. Engineers, attorneys and educators throughout the State appeared. There were well over 100 individuals present at those appeals. We found that we had all been assigned to a 9:30 a. m. appeal period. When it came to be 11:58 a. m., and only two groups had been heard, it seemed obvious that no one could possibly be heard on these appeals.

Mr. President, I mention this not because I am particularly angry about waiting, but it is an indication of the panic that is present in the Department of Labor and Industry and the completely unrealistic attitude which is being taken by the Department concerning fire hazards.

There are things which can be done. I have written the Governor concerning this. There is a resolution being presented, asking the Department of Labor and Industry to be realistic. They can, I am sure, find out certain things to delay and require precautions until these repairs can be made during the summertime when the schoolchildren are not in session.

Mr. President, it is a sad case when we vote millions and millions of dollars for our educational system, and then have a complete breakdown between the two departments. The individuals who are suffering are the schoolchildren.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. KROMER asked and obtained unanimous consent to addres the Senate.

Mr. KROMER. Mr. President, before offering a resolution, I would like to make just a statement prior thereto.

Mr. President, in my jurisdiction I find the same thing happening that is happening all over the State. We have plans in a department for renovating our schools and we feel they will be approved. We have renovation plans for eight schools in one county, and approximately five or more in another. We have no place to take these children. If we do place them in other schools, they would be in fire-hazardous buildings, as far as I am concerned.

For many of these school districts it would require expenditures of vast sums, and it would be prohibitive for them to do so on forty-eight hours notice. I feel that the Department of Labor and Industry is very reluctant and, perhaps, irresponsible when they have come up in the past few weeks with the type of inspections which they have put forth, and since these buildings had not been inspected prior to this and this situation made known to the school boards so that an effort could have been made to meet their specifications.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

URGING THE DEPARTMENT OF LABOR AND INDUSTRY TO USE THEIR JUDGMENT WISELY BEFORE ORDERING THE CLOSING OF SCHOOLS WHILE STRUCTURAL CHANGES ARE BEING MADE

Messrs. KROMER, BERGER, VAN SANT, EHRGOOD, MADIGAN, WALKER, PECHAN, PROPERT, WHALLEY, LANE, and CAMIEL offered the following resolution (Serial No. 107), which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, February 2, 1959.

The recent school fire in Chicago has brought to the attention of the citizens of Pennsylvania the need for a re-inspection of our schools with a view toward fire prevention and the safety of our children.

The Department of Labor and Industry has answered this call for re-inspection with a crash program of action wherein they have ordered many schools throughout the State to close their doors unless they make drastic changes immediately. This has imposed a great burden on the local school administrators and they have been forced to do the impossible. In many cases, the Department has ordered structural changes to buildings that would result in the building of fire towers, and the reconstruction of boiler rooms, stairwells and basement ceilings. The schools must be closed unles the changes are made at once and, as we all know, with the time and money needed to reconstruct buildings, this takes time—time the Department of Labor and Industry has not granted the local authorities.

The school administrators certainly wish to do anything that will contribute to the safety and welfare of the children under their supervision, and under the previous policy of the Department of Labor and Industry they complied with their requests because they were always given sufficient time to eliminate hazards. The present policy of doing it immediately often does more harm than good because it requires the removal of students to other schools and results in overcrowded conditions and additional distances to be traveled among our ever dangerous highways in order to transport the children to other schools. In some school districts, there are no other facilities to which the pupils of closed schools can be sent. This certainly will create a dangerous situation because these children will be left to roam the streets and be subject to all the perils that accompany a vacation from school.

Of course, there are some schools which may be considered "fire traps." All agree that they should be closed immediately. The Department of Labor and Industry is certainly aware of these particular buildings for they have been inspecting our schools for years. Also, no one objects to an order of the Department to clean out rubbage, trash and the like immediately because this is not impossible to do, but when it comes to the building of a new wall or roof, they should take into consideration all the factors before ordering the schools to be closed; therefore be it

Resolved (the House of Representative concurring), That the Department of Labor and Industry be urged to use their judgment wisely before ordering the closing of schools while structural changes are being made, and be it further

Resolved, That the Department of Labor and Industry consult and confer with the local school authorities before taking any action in closing schools, and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to the Honorable William L. Batt, Jr., Secretary of Labor and Industry.

REQUEST THAT RULE 39 BE SUSPENDED

Mr. KROMER.Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be suspended and the Senate do now proceed to the consideration of the resolution just read.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, the usual thing is that on a resolution like this, we are afforded a copy of it to read.

The PRESIDENT. There are copies to be had, Senator Barr. They are being brought over to you.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, may we be at ease for a moment?

The PRESIDENT. The Senate will be at ease.

(The Senate was at ease.)

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection to the consideration of the resolution previously read?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, on behalf of my colleagues, we object to the immediate consideration of this resolution and ask that it be referred to the proper committee for further study and investigation. Our hope is that this resolution will be referred to the Committee on Education.

We also feel that there have been some errors and possibly misinformation on the part of some of the people who have sponsored this resolution. In the hope of clearing the atmosphere and also presenting the correct information, not only to the Members who have signed the resolution, but to all the Members of the Senate and to the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, it is our desire that this resolution be referred to committee for further study. It is also our desire to hold a meeting with the Secretary of the Department of Labor and Industry in order for him to describe and inform us as to exactly what is going on.

The PRESIDENT. There being objection to the immediate consideration of this resolution, the resolution is referred to the Committee on Education.

SENATE RESOLUTION

URGING THE SECRETARY OF HIGHWAYS TO CONSTRUCT ADDITIONAL ROADSIDE RESTS IN THE RESORT AREA NEAR STERRETTS GAP

Messrs. WADE and TAYLOR offered the following resolution (Serial No. 5), which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Highways:

In the Senate, February 2, 1959.

The historic and scenic region in the vicinity of Sterretts Gap, situated near the county line of Perry and Cumberland Counties, has within recent years become quite a popular resort area attracting an increasing number of citizens of our Commonwealth seeking a refuge from the fast pace of urban life and a place for many kinds of outdoor activities and recreation.

Sterretts Gap is an ideal spot to observe many wonders of nature, including abundant wild-life and heavily traveled migratory bird lanes. These natural attractions lend themselves perfectly to an atmosphere of peace and quiet. A realization of this fact has increased the flow of naturalists, tourists and other persons to this region to an extent that existing roadside rests and picnic facilities are inadequate; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania urge the Secretary of Highways to construct additional roadside rests in the resort area near Sterretts Gap, along State Highway Route No. 34 for the convenience, enjoyment and safety of the public; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Secretary of Highways.

The PRESIDENT. Thank you very much. It is a real pleasure for me to introduce my daughter, Carol, of Philadelphia. She came to Harrisburg on the day between terms of school to see how this august Body operates.

Carol, will you please rise?

T., and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week it reconvene Monday, February 9, 1959, at four-thirty o'clock p. m., E. S. T.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

He also presented extract from the Journal of the House of Representatives, which was twice read as follows and referred to the Committee on Mines and Mineral Industries:

In the House of Representatives, February 2, 1959.

It is imperative that the cause of the recent mining disaster which struck our Commonwealth be determined as rapidly as possible. The great loss of human life, the property damage, the expense, both private and public, the loss of employment, and the resultant blow to the economy of an area already hard-pressed, have posed a problem which must be solved.

If there has been a failure to abide by safety precautions required by law, or a violation of other mining laws, or a laxity in the enforcement of such laws, these violations must be brought to light, not only to determine who was at fault, but to prevent the repetition of such a disaster in the future; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That an investigating committee of ten members of the General Assembly be created, five from the House of Representatives to be appointed by the Speaker, and five from the Senate, to be appointed by the President pro tempore, whose duty it shall be to study and investigate the recent mine disaster and all matters related thereto; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee may meet, hold hearings and take testimony. The committee shall have the power to secure the services of counsel to assist it in its investigations, and to hire such secretarial help as may be required. It may issue subpoenas under the hand and seal of its chairman, commanding any person to appear before it and answer questions touching matters properly being inquired into by the committee and to produce such books, papers, records and documents as the committee deems necessary. Any person who willfully neglects or refuses to testify before the committee or to produce any books, papers, records or documents shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of the Commonwealth in such cases. Each member of the committee shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before the committee; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee make a report of their findings and recommendations to this Session of the General Assembly as soon as possible.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By MESSRS. GALLAGHER and WELSH RESOLUTION No. 14

In the House of Representatives, January 27, 1959

An efficient and equitable system of public transportation of persons in and through our Commonwealth and its political subdivisions is vital to our economy. The every day life of a majority of our citizens is affected in one way or another by public transportation. Our steady increase in population, plus the trend toward suburban living, have magnified the needs and problems of such transportation.

Numerous areas throughout our Commonwealth reportedly are receiving inadequate service, or are suffering from complete abandonment of service, while other areas are being adequately serviced, but at seemingly exhorbitant rates. Therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Speaker of the House appoint six members of the House of Representatives, three from the majority party and three from the minority party, who together shall constitute a committee to investigate public transportation throughout the Commonwealth for the purpose of determining what remedies, if any, are available for the betterment of our public transportation facilities; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee may meet, hold hearings and take testimony. It may issue subpoenas under the hand and seal of its chairman, commanding any person to appear before it and to answer questions touching matters properly being inquired into by the committee and to produce such books, papers, records and documents as the committee deems necessary. Any preson who wilfully neglects or refuses to testify before the committee or to produce any books, papers, records or documents shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of the Commonwealth in such cases. Each member of the committee shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before the commission; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee make a report of its findings and recommendations to this General Assembly.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By MESSRS. LIGHT and WOOD RESOLUTION No. 15

In the House of Representatives, January 28, 1959

The calling of the rolls in the manner which has been practiced in the House of Representatives for many years consumes much valuable time. The tedious process of calling each name individually and waiting for an answer thereto not only gives rise to inattention and confusion but also, because of the similarity of many names, sometimes leads to inaccuracies in the official count.

Numerous other states, the constitutions of which require roll call votes similar to our own, have installed electric roll call systems, and have found them to be of immeasurable value.

In the year 1945, a special committee of House members was appointed to make a study of the systems in operation in other states and to report on the feasibility of adopting a similar system here. The report of this committee strongly recommended such a system. In pursuance thereof, by the act of May 2, 1945 (Appropriation Act. No. 7-A), an appropriation was made to the Department of Property and Supplies for the installation of an electric roll call system in the Hall of the House of Representatives. This installation, however, was never completed, and it is understood that a large portion of the said appropriation remains unexpended; therefore, be it

Resolved, By the Members of the House of Representatives that an electric roll call system be installed in the Hall of the House for the taking and verification of roll calls; and that any funds appropriated by the act of May 2, 1945 (Appropriation Act No. 7-A) which remain unexpended be utilized toward that purpose.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By MRS. REIMBAN, MESSRS. VERONA, PRENDERGAST and JAMES A. O'DONNELL (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 16

In the House of Representatives, January 28, 1959

The United States is recently recovering from an economic recession that has caused the loss of gainful employment for millions of workers throughout the country. Among those states of the union that were hardest hit by this recession has been the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. While reports of industry and government indicate that a prosperous recovery is being made in many areas, Pennsylvania continues to have millions unemployed as a result of this economic upheaval.

The purchase of necessary material from industries located within this Commonwealth and the utilization of the raw materials and products mined and produced within this Commonwealth can do much to alleviate this employment problem and will increase the prosperity and general well-being of all the peoples of this State.

Healthy and prosperous industries located in Pennsylvania will attract the attention of other industrial activity to this Commonwealth by demonstrating the favorable conditions existing in the Commonwealth for the development of various industries and commercial activities; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That all departments, bureaus, commissions and agencies of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the political subdivisions of the Commonwealth are urged to take cognizance of this economic situation and to give priority and preference to the selection, purchase and use of materials and products manufactured and produced within this Commonwealth by Pennsylvania concerns.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By MRS. ANDERSON, MR. HOLT and MRS. VARALLO RESOLUTION (Not Printed)

He was interested in social work, secretary National League of Barbers and for many years directed amateur theatricals throughout the State.

John J. Finnerty's public spirited activities and long devoted service to the people of Philadelphia and the Democratic party, exemplified a citizen and friend whose memory will long be cherished by all those who had the privilege of knowing him; therefore, be it

Mr. MUSTO asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a Joint Resolution to be introduced by him.

Messrs. MUSTO, MELOCHICK, CURWOOD, SHUPNIK, CROSSIN, JUMP and KUBITSKY offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 2, 1959.

It is imperative that the cause of the recent mining disaster which struck our Commonwealth be determined as rapidly as possible. The great loss of human life, the property damage, the expense, both private and public, the loss of employment, and the resultant blow to the economy of an area already hard-pressed, have posed a problem which must be solved.

If there has been a failure to abide by safety precautions required by law, or a violation of other mining laws, or a laxity in the enforcement of such laws, these violations must be brought to light, not only to determine who was at fault, but to prevent the repetition of such a disaster in the future; therefore, be it

Resolved, (the Senate concurring), That an investigating committee of ten members of the General Assembly be created, five from the House of Representatives to be appointed by the Speaker, and five from the Senate, to be appointed by the President pro tempore, whose duty it shall be to study and investigate the recent mine disaster and all matters related thereto; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee may meet, hold hearings, and take testimony. The committee shall have the power to secure the services of counsel to assist it in its investigations, and to hire such secretarial help as may be required. It may issue subpoenas under the hand and seal of its chairman, commanding any person to appear before it and answer questions touching matters properly being inquired into by the committee and to produce such books, papers, records and documents as the commitee deems necessary. Any person who wilfully neglects or refuses to testify before the committee or to produce any books, papers, records or documents shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of the Commonwealth in such cases. Each member of the committee shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before the committee; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee make a report of their findings and recommendations to this Session of the General Assembly as soon as possible.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. McCANN from the Committee on Rules reported as amended House Rsolution No. 7.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

The SPEAKER. The Chair has an interesting announcement.

New Members of the House, Republicans and Democrats, who have not served in previous sessions are requested to meet with the Parliamentarian in the New House Caucus Room on the first floor, Tuesday morning, February 3, 1959, at 10:00 a. m.

This is an important meeting for first term Members. It will begin promptly at 10:00 o'clock.

I do not know but that I feel like a former Speaker of the House who was asked to instruct the new Members in Parliamentary Law. His reply was that all the Members knew too darned much Parliamentary Law now; they interfered with the dictum of the Speaker.

However, we know that the new Members will profit if they attend the meeting scheduled by the Parliamentarian for tomorrow morning at 10:00 o'clock in the New House Caucus Room.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I would hope that when the sun in future days shines so brightly from the west that the Sergeant-at-arms and others in charge of yonder window blinds will take care of it so that I can at least read my notes.

The announcement dealing with temporary room assignments of House Committees, has been distributed to all of the House Members and to all of the various Committee Chairmen of the standing Committees. As we announced last week, these are temporary assignments for the standing Committees.

Very few people know, for example, where this room 149, or 149-B, is by number. This is the Assistant Chief Clerk's office on the first floor next to the Chief Clerk. The other rooms that are being used, again I repeat, are temporary rooms for the standing Committees.

Mr. Speaker, the House will be in session this week 3 days, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Tuesday at 12 o'clock, Wednesday at 10:00 a.m. are the plans for this week.

I would like to say, with references to the announcement made here a moment ago regarding Committee meetings, that all the members try to attend the Committee meetings that are scheduled in the temporary locations. Each of the committee rooms has a cardboard sign printed on the door, indicating the Committees that will meet in those rooms until such time as the signs and the rooms have been reassigned at a later date.

Tomorrow morning the Parliamentarian has announced his session for the new House Members. Many of the House Members both Republicans and Democrats have asked many questions dealing with parliamentary procedure, introduction on bills and proper parliamentary floor work. I hope each of them will have an opportunity to attend this session tomorrow morning, which Mr. Moore has indicated will last one hour in the New House Caucus Room.

Mr. Speaker, that concludes the announcements for this week's session. We will have a working day, on Wednesday, February 4th.

COMMITTEE MEETINGS

CITIES—COUNTIES, SECOND CLASS AND SECOND CLASS A, Mr. Mihm, Chairman, Room 149B, Monday, February 2, immediately following this session.

TOWNSHIPS, Mr. Kornick, Chairman, Room 331, Tuesday, February 3, at 11:30 a.m.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. E. S. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Tuesday, February 3, 1959 at 12:00 o'clock noon.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 4:55 p.m.) the House adjourned.

The Chaplain, Rev. RAY GEARING, Pastor of Windber Presbyterian Church, Windber, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray.

O Lord, God, most high and most holy, we ask Thy blessing upon us today as Thy servants. Help us to be like our Master, who came, not to be served, but to serve and give Himself for many. So help us to serve and give ourselves.

Bless this Senate of Pennsylvania. Grant that all which is done shall be in accordance with Thy will and for the best and highest and fullest interest of Thy children in this Commonwealth.

Hear our prayer, O Lord, for we make it in the name of Jesus Christ, our Redeemer, Who loved us and gave Himself for us. Amen.

HONORABLE R. WARREN ROBERTS PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I am pleased to see in the rear of the Senate the Honorable R. Warren Roberts, former Auditor General of the Commonwealth. Pennsylvania.

The PRESIDENT. It is a pleasure, indeed, to see former Senator Warren Roberts. I wonder whether he would like to come up here in the dias.

(Former Senator Roberts approached the restrum.)

FORMER SENATOR ROBERTS. This is indeed, my friends, a very, very happy privilege. It has been some time since I had the pleasure and the honor to come into the Senate Chamber in Harrisburg. However, it is not because I never thought of the Senate Chamber nor of the many good friends that I had when I served here for at least three or four terms. I have many happy recollections of this association.

There are not many, but there are a few Members here who were Senators when I was here. In coming back to the Senate, it is like coming back home, after a long absence, and renewing the acquaintance of the friends of yester-year. Time passes on, but the great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania will still go on. I am happy that I had the privilege of serving in this Body, in the greatest State of the Union.

I greet you all.

The PRESIDENT. Thank you, indeed, General Roberts.

Ordered, That the Clerk return said resolution to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the House is requested.

STUDENTS FROM PENN STATE UNIVERSITY SCHOOL OF JOURNALISM PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I would like, at this time, to introduce a group of visitors to the Senate of Pennsylvania from the Penn State University School of Journalism, who are undergraduates and members of the Sigma Delta Chi Journalism Fraternity.

They are here studying State Government and had the opportunity this morning of attending the meeting of the Committee on Education, which was considering a resolution offered in the Senate yesterday.

They are grouped in the rear of the Senate in various places. If they will all stand and raise their hands, we will be able to recognize them.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair, on behalf of the Senate of Pennsylvania, welcomes the visitors from the Penn State School of Journalism. We certainly hope that your visit here will be both informative and interesting to you.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WAGNER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, yesterday afternoon, a resolution was introduced by about a dozen Members of the Senate, dealing with the situation regarding the inspection of public schools and the directives regarding remedies and threatening closures. A request was made for the immediate consideration of the resolution, but, after a brief recess, the leaders of both sides of the Senate decided that in the interest of proper handling, it might be well to refer the resolution to the Committee on Education in order for them to hold a hearing on this subject.

The resolution was referred to us last night and we had a very satisfactory hearing in the Republican Caucus Room this morning. It was attended by the Members of the Education Committee, by the Secretary of Labor and Industry, his Chief Inspector, the Deputy Superintendent of the Department of Public Instruction and the press.

Mr. President, I am impelled to report this afternoon that the Committee has decided not to report this resolution from Committee because we feel that the things it proposes to resolve have already been attended to. Many of us were concerned about the confusion and the fear that prevails in many school districts throughout the State, but they were laboring under the misapprehension that if they did not make major structural changes, they might be closed and their students would be deprived of education within a period of ten days.

Mr. President, everybody was in agreement this morning. Secretary Batt was very cooperative and Doctor Swan acted similarly for the Department of Public Instruction. We all agreed that some of this confusion did result from the fact that notices were sent out, which created the impression that schools might be closed forthrightly if these changes, which could not immediately be made, were not completed. Mr. Batt also was aware of the fact that in some instances, schools were not apprised of the fact that they might appeal to the Industrial Board.

However, Mr. President, the proposals of this resolution are now assured on the part of every interested department: First, "That the Department of Labor and Industry be urged to use its judgement wisely before ordering the closing of schools while structural changes are being made." Secretary Batt is eager to cooperate with that. He has already made some arrangements toward that end. He is advising school districts that where there are deficiencies in their school structures, they may appeal to the Industrial Board, which would forestay any closing until their appeal is heard. He will cooperate with them so that any hazards can immediately be eliminated and removed Their plans must immediately be made to proceed with reconstruction or structural changes. The timing will be made according to all elements of reasonableness and the situation as it prevails.

The other part of the resolution was that the Department of Labor and Industry consult and confer with the local school authorities before taking any action in closing schools. That, of course, is part of the answer which I have just given.

I believe, Mr. President, that the sponsors of this resolution can feel very happy because the issues about which they are concerned have been resolved. I believe that the school districts and the parents of the children throughout the State, if they get the press reports of the what happened this morning, will be encouraged and will have their confidence restored. Schools which are fire traps will be shut down, regardless of consequences. However, in most instances, adjustments can be made and will be made in order for instruction to be carried on, so that protection can be afforded and in order for changes to be made due time without endangering the health and safety of the pupils or their education interest.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WEINER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I want to thank the gentleman from Schuylkill, Senator Wagner, for his fairness and the intelligence with which he handled this matter. It is a very delicate matter and it is not our desire in this Senate, or in this Administration, to panic parents or, in any way, cause injury to any youngster attending our schools. I want to commend Senator Wagner on the way he handled the situation because it is a delicate one and, I think, one which transcends politics or political considerations.

I am sure that we in this Commonwealth can feel reasonably safe that none of these tragedies, which have occurred in other areas, will occur here. As a matter of fact, I think the news that gives testimony to what I have just said, and to what the gentleman who preceded me just said, is the fire which took place in Bristol Township yesterday. No one was injured, even though there was extensive damage.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, this bill has to do with the government of Philadelphia. Although I am not a resident of that area, I am a Member of this Senate and I have a deep concern regarding the amendments which were inserted in this bill.

In my mind I am wondering whether it is the best thing to do, to empower any group of individuals to abolish the office of sheriff in the largest county and city in Pennsylvania. My concern is based primarily on the fact that the sheriff of a county is the highest peace officer in that county. He is also attached to the court. He has the responsibility of maintaining the public peace. A sheriff's bond is written and predicated on the fact that he must preserve the public peace and, in the event of property damages, the suit by the aggrieved citizen is brought against the sheriff for any damages sustained due to rioting in that particular area.

Mr. President, I realize that both parties appear to be in favor of this piece of legislation. I know that these amendments give City Council the right to abolish, or provide for the election or to appoint the Office of Sheriff and, also, the Board of Commissioners of Philadelphia County. I am not too much concerned about the Board of Commissioners, in a way, because the City Council, in all probability, could assume the responsibilities of the Commissioners and conduct the elections in Philadelphia County. However, I do not see how you can possibly give away the authority of the people, even in the event they do have a referendum, by abolishing the Office of Sheriff. The argument may be that there is provision for a referendum.

Supposing there are some good features in the actions of the City Council, but, at the same time, if they abolish the Office of Sheriff, the people will then be in a quandry and will wonder how to vote.

Mr. President, I want to bring these points out because, in all probability, the bill is going to pass. However, I feel that I would be derelict in my duties, as a Member of this Senate, if I did not express my opinion along this particular line. I discussed this with my good friend, Senator Stevenson, whom I highly respect. I have worked with him for year. I believe he knows my sentiments and, if I may, Mr. President, I would like to have the privilege of interrogating the gentleman from Clinton, Senator Stevenson.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Clinton, Mr. Stevenson, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STEVENSON. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. LANE. Senator Stevenson, you heard my discourse here on the floor regarding the abolition, or the appointment, of the Office of Sheriff. Do you believe it is really a good move to authorize a group of officeholders to appoint the highest peace officer in the county? Do you believe that is right?

Mr. STEVENSON. Mr. President, we have a situation in Philadelphia that is considerably different than the situation in any other county. In Philadelphia, the city is coterminous with the county. In the other counties of the Commonwealth, we have many boroughs, townships and cities. The jurisdiction of the various police officials in these respective political subdivisions is limited within the boundaries of each of these political subdivisions. In the city of Philadelphia, which is coterminous with the county, the police of Philadelphia have full power over every inch of ground in the city of Philadelphia. I cannot conceive of any occasion ever arising whereby the Sheriff of Philadelphia would raise a posse of citizens in order to quell a riot in Philadelphia, because the people of Philadelphia have an excellent police force. They also have the right to call in the State Police, at any time they desire, to supplement the efforts of the Philadelphia police force.

I would not be in favor of abolishing the Office of Sheriff in any other county for the reason that the sheriff may have to raise a posse at some time to go out into a township or some place where they have one constable, or into a borough where they may have just one or two citizens appointed as police officers. However, in the city of Philadelphia, where their police may go over every foot of ground to perform their duties, I cannot see any reason why we should hestitate to take action on this bill. Certainly, the Council of Philadelphia will provide for the duties of a sheriff. They also will have full power in regard to his bond. They can adjust the bond as is necessary for the duties. The sheriff of Philadelphia, in my opinion, is practically a process server for the courts. Such extraordinary duties as proceeding and quelling riots, and so forth, in Philadelphia should never arise.

For that reason, Mr. President, I see no reason why we need to worry about the city of Philadelphia. It is taking care of its own problems so far as policing is concerned.

Does that answer your question?

Mr. LANE. Yes. However, Senator Stevenson, in the event that the City Council of Philadelphia would abolish the office of Sheriff, would it not entail special legislation to bring about a procedure whereby someone must be liable for suit in case of riot? I believe it would require special legislation being passed here in Harrisburg; the setting up of some method or mechanics by legislation to protect the people as a whole. The suit against an individual for property damage is due to neglect on the part of the public officials. It is usually filed against the sheriff in the case of riots.

Supposing the city of Philadelphia should abolish the Office of Sheriff. What are we going to do about that particular phase? After all, I think there are two and one-half million people in Philadelphia. What are we going to do along that line. I think we more or less have a pig-in-a-poke. It is either that, or else there is more to this bill than what I find in it.

Do you not believe that it will necessitate special legislation?

Mr. STEVENSON. At the present time, I cannot agree that it would require any special legislation because we are giving full power to the City Council of Philadelphia to go ahead and make their own regulations. They need not abolish the Office of Sheriff if they do not want to. They can still keep him. I cannot see any great problem which might arise in that respect.

I do not know of a case where anybody has ever sued on the sheriff's bond.

Mr. LANE. I have heard of cases.

Mr. STEVENSON. There may be isolated instances. However, the City Council of Philadelphia will certainly protect itself in some way against any such situation, if it should arise. They have full power to do so, and they would be responsible. In the last analysis, they are responsible to the electors, the people, and if they do not do a good job in providing the services which the sheriff formerly provided, then, of course, the people have an opportunity to pass upon them at the next election.

I have no misgivings in that respect at all.

Mr. LANE. Would you vote to abolish the sheriff in your Senatorial District, in the counties which you represent?

Mr. STEVENSON. I think I said a moment ago that where these political subdivisions exist, and where the police force is limited to the boundaries of the city, borough or township, we must have sheriffs to take over. In a township which has one constable, or in a borough which may have just a temporary policeman, certainly a sheriff would be needed in those areas where they do not have the same protection as the people of Philadelphia.

Mr. LANE. You have the State Police who patrol all the rural areas in Pennsylvania. However, the Office of Sheriff is the one who even delivers the prisoners to the institutions or penitentiaries.

Going on, there is another phase of this bill I would like to have spelled out. As a matter of fact, —— and I hope you understand me —— I am not opposed to it. I only want this in the record. I want to fully understand what is going on here today.

I notice in the bill that you give the Council the authority to take over the Registration Commission and the Board of Revision of Taxes. There is nothing in the bill which provides for minority representation. Under the present setup, the Governor appoints the members of the Registration Commission and, I think, there is a majority and a minority, is there not? I believe there are five persons on the Commission. There are probably three Democrats and two Republicans, or vice versa. There is nothing in the bill to guarantee there is going to be any minority representation, as far as the Registration Commission and the Board of Revision of Taxes are concerned, is there?

Mr. STEVENSON. There is not. Certainly, in the wisdom of the City Council of Philadelphia, I would think they would surely provide for minority representation on this Commission. We have to trust somebody. Philadelphia is more or less similar to a Commonwealth in its own. Its City Council is not above the people and it is responsible to them. The City Council would certainly have to protect the people by having minority representation on any piece of legislation covering this Commission which might be advanced. It has to be submitted to the people for a vote. If the people see that there is no minority representation, they will not approve it.

Mr. LANE. Senator Stevenson, of course, I am rather unhappy that we have this problem before us. I do not feel that we should legislate for Philadelpiha, but since we have it here, we have a responsibility. When this piece of legislation leaves the Senate, I think we should feel sure that we are doing the right thing as far as we are concerned. We have to pass this legislation. City Council cannot pass it until we do. Therefore, we have to review the subject matter in the bill.

It seems to me that there is a glaring defect by not providing minority representation in the bill to start with. I am very much afraid of the sheriff feature and I predict on this floor, right now, that we are going to have lots of trouble in the event they fail to elect a sheriff in that county.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I wish to point out, briefly, that there is nothing in this bill which requires the abolition of the offices which are being consolidated under it. On page 4, line 1, the bill reads as follows:

"the Council of the City of Philadelphia shall have full powers to legislate with respect to the election" of those offices.

Consequently, I am quite convinced that the City Council of Philadelphia will set up election machinery for the offices which they wish to retain. If it is desirable to retain the Office of Sheriff, they will do so. It would appear to me that if they have the wisdom to legislate on all the other matters pertaining to their own government, they also will—in accordance with the platforms of both parties asking that this consolidation be complete—provide for adequate protection both to minorities and the necessary offices under the City Charter.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I just want to read another line or two of the bill, in order to clear the air. It reads:

"the Council of the City of Philadelphia shall have full powers to legislate with respect to the election appointment compensation organization abolition merger consolidation powers functions and duties" of these various offices.

I interpret this amendment to mean that the City Council of Philadelphia can abolish all these offices if they so see fit.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, just a few moments ago, I happened to see a nurse coming into the Senate Chamber. I was afraid she was coming over here to stop the bleeding of Senator Lane, since he was bleeding for minority representation. I was happy to see her walk out, and am glad that was not the case—However, I am happy to know that Senator Lane does bleed for minority representation. Let us do something about that in Washington County. We do not have a minority representative in either the Senate or House.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

Make us conscious of the existence and needs of our fellowmen and give us a sense of responsibility toward them. Grant to us the wisdom to accept the best in human experience from the past; the courage to grapple with the problems and challenges of today; and the vision to perceive the future, thinking in terms of the next generation. RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mrs. VARALLO, Messrs. ROVANSEK and POLASKI. RESOLUTION No. 17.

In the House of Representatives, February 2, 1959.

General Casimir Pulaski, "Father of American Cavalry" made soldierly sacrifices so that we in America would not have to stoop before the Sovereigns of Europe.

So great was his desire of passing the rest of his life in a country truly free that he offered his services to the American cause for no other compensation than freedom and when he accepted his yearly pay, he used the funds to equip his own soldiers.

It would be fitting and appropriate for the General Assembly to recognize and perpetuate the memory of a man dedicated to the principles of freedom therefore be it

Resolved, That the Conchester Road-Chester Expressway, located along the route of the fighting of the Continental Army be dedicated as a memorial to General Casimir Pulaski, Polish American patriot, and that this highway be known as the "Pulaski Expressway" and be it further

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania request the Governor of Pennsylvania to name the Conchester Road-Chester Expressway (when constructed) as the "Pulaski Expressway."

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. TOMPKINS and Mrs. KOOKER. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 18.

In the House of Representatives, February 2, 1959.

The Workmen's Compensation Laws authorize a separate inspection, examination and audit of an employer's books and records;

The Unemployment Compensation laws authorize a separate inspection, examination and audit of an employer's books and records;

The Sales Tax law authorizes a separate inspection, examination and audit of a businessman's books and records;

Corporate Tax laws, (income, gross receipts, corporate loans, etc.), authorize a separate inspection, examination and audit of the books and records of a corporation, which in many instances is in addition to all three of the foregoing separate inspection, examination and audit authorizations;

The Malt Beverage and Liquor laws authorize a separate inspection, examination and audit of the books and records of the brewer, distiller, distributor and retailer, which in many instances is in addition to all four of the foregoing separate inspection, examination and audit authorizations;

The Hotel and Motel Room Tax authorizes a separate inspection, examination and audit of the books and records of those engaged in this business, which in many instances is in addition to all five of the foregoing separate inspection, examinations and audit authorizations;

The Public Utility laws authorize the separate inspection, examination and audit of the books of all those subject to its regulations which in many instances is in addition to some of the foregoing separate inspections, examination and audit authorizations;

All other taxes imposed by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania authorizes the separate inspection, examination and audit of books and records;

Every tax imposed by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania authorizes a separate inspection, examination and audit of the books and records of persons, businesses and employers, large or small;

Most inspectors, examiners, and auditors call unannounced; and each calls at different times; and each tax is enforced by a separate set of officers; much to the annoyance and inconvenience of the taxpayer and costly in time and money by such recurring interruptions and disturbances;

Imposed upon all Commonwealth tax inspections, examinations and audits of persons, businesses and employers, large or small are the many separate Federal taxes such as income, withholding, social security, alcoholic beverages, coin operated devices and others, for each of which there are a separate set of inspectors, examiners, auditors and enforcement officers, who in turn arrive unannounced and at different times to inspect, examine and audit the same books and records of the same persons, businesses and employers, as do the Commonwealth inspectors, examiners and auditors much to the further annoyance and inconvenience of the taxpayer; costly in time and money by such further recurring interruptions and disturbances;

The erection of such a multitude of new offices, and the sending hither swarms of officers is today harassing our people, and eating out their substance; and has all but nullified the constitutional guarantees of privacy; and the protection against unreasonable searches and seizures;

Each new tax imposed creates a new enforcement agency, which in turn requires the hiring at the taxpayers' expense of an additional new force of enforcement agents; which in turn further pyramids the ever increasing cost of government; therefore, be it

Resolved, (the Senate concurring), That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to make a study:

(1) Of the several and separate inspection, examination and audit provisions of the several laws of this Commonwealth as set forth herein, with a view of coordinating or consolidating or both of the inspection, examination and audit of the books and financial records of the taxpayers of this Commonwealth with a view of reducing the burdens of time, effort and costs imposed upon our people by such multiple enforcement;

(2) To determine if a unified inspection, examination and audit system can be established;

(3) To determine if the inspection, examination and audits of the State and Federal governments can be coordinated, consolidated or unified, and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission make a report of its findings to the 1961 Session of the General Assembly together with appropriate legislation to carry its findings into effect.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

The SPEAKER. It is very important that all resolutions, bills and other communications be signed because the Clerks have no other way of knowing who sponsored the resolution in question.

SENATE RESOLUTION

URGING THE DEPARTMENT OF HIGHWAYS TO STUDY REPLACING THE DESTROYED BRIDGE ON LEGISLATIVE ROUTE No. 21015 IN CUMBERLAND COUNTY

Mr. WADE offered the following resolution (Serial No. 6), which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Highways:

In the Senate, February 4, 1959.

On March 17, 1958, a bridge over the Conodoguinet Creek on Legislative Route No. 21015, which connects the Boroughs of Camp Hill and Enola, in Cumberland County, Pennsylvania, was destroyed by fire. To date, this bridge has not been replaced.

It is important that a crossing over the Conodoguinet Creek be provided somewhere in this general area. Because of the distribution of population, however, and the establishment of a new hospital in Camp Hill, it is generally believed that the construction of a new bridge on an extension of what is now known as Twenty-first Street, Camp Hill, would be more beneficial to the general public than reconstruction of the old bridge; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Department of Highways is hereby requested to study and investigate the feasibility of replacing the destroyed bridge on Legislative Route No. 21015 in Cumberland County with a new bridge on an extension of Twenty-first Street in Camp Hill and relocating Legislative Route No. 21015 in such a manner as to more directly connect the Borough of Camp Hill over such new bridge with the Borough of Enola; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the Secretary of Highways.

AMENDED HOUSE RESOLUTION RETURNED FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has concurred in the resolution from the House of Representatives, as follows, viz:

In the House of Representatives, February 2, 1959.

It is imperative that the cause of the recent mining disaster which struck our Commonwealth be determined as rapidly as possible. The great loss of human life, the property damage, the expense, both private and public, the loss of employment, and the resultant blow to the economy of an area already hard-pressed, have posed a problem which must be solved.

If there has been a failure to abide by safety precautions required by law, or a violation of other mining laws, or a laxity in the enforcement of such laws, these violations must be brought to light, not only to determine who was at fault, but to prevent the repetition of such a disaster in the future; therefore, be it

Resolved, (the Senate concurring), That an investigating committee of ten members of the General Assembly be created, five from the House of Representatives to be appointed by the Speaker, and five from the Senate, to be appointed by the President Pro Tempore, whose duty it shall be to study and investigate the recent mine disaster and all matters related thereto; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee may meet, hold hearings, and take testimony. The committee shall have the power to secure the services of counsel to assist it in its investigations, and to hire such secretarial help as may be required. It may issue subpoenas under the hand and seal of its chairman, commanding any person to appear before it and answer questions touching matters properly being inquired into by the committee and to produce such books, papers, records and documents as the committee deems necessary. Any person who wilfully neglects or refuses to testify before the committee or to produce any books, papers, records or documents shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of the Commonwealth in such cases. Each member of the committee shall have the power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before the committee; and be it further

Resolved, That the Committee make a report of their findings and recommendations to this Session of the General Assembly as soon as possible.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 97, entitled as follows:

An Act amending "The County Code" approved August 9, 1955 (P. L. 323) increasing the sum authorized for payment towards funeral expenses and grave markers for deceased service persons.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. OGILVIE. Mr. Speaker, since these bills, like House Bill 97 and its companion bills, No. 98 and 101, had their inception in Local Government, I have been asked by large Veterans' groups to make their position clear with respect to this legislation. I would therefore like to read into the record a letter received from the Department Commander of the American Legion, Department of Pennsylvania, under date of February 3.

> The American Legion, Department of Pennsylvania, is very cognizant of three bills now in the House of Pennsylvania Legislature, Nos. 97, 98, and 101, which bills are for the increase of burial benefits by County Commissioners from $75 to $150, and increasing allowances for head-stones from $75 to $125, along with a similar increase of burial allowance for widows of veterans from $75 to $150, providing the total cost of the burial does not exceed $800.
> The American Legion with its more than 900 posts and membership of 260 thousand unanimously urge the support of these bills. We ask that you do everything in your power to see that this request is properly considered.

Also, a telegram from the Department of Pennsylvania Veterans of Foreign Wars:

> The Council of Administration, Department of Pennsylvania, Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States consisting of Commanders from all Congressional Districts unanimously support bills providing for increase of burial benefits by County Commissioners from $75 to $150 and increasing allowance for head-stones from $75 to $125.

I urge that every Member in this House support this legislation.

Mr. NEEDHAM. Mr. Speaker, I would like to make a short statement on those bills.

Listening to Mr. Ogilvie on the other side of the House reading those letters into the record, and the telegram, as Chairman of the Committee on Military Affairs, I urge every Member of this House to vote for all those veterans' bills.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

RESOLUTIONS

CONDOLENCE

Mr. GEORGE offered a resolution which was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 4, 1959.

On January 29, 1959, death claimed Calvin C. Stoner then in his eighty-third year. Calvin Stoner was the beloved father of Clarence Stoner a member of this House. He was survived by his wife Lucy, five sons and two daughters and twenty-five grandchildren.

Calvin Stoner was born on October 14, 1875 and spent his entire life in the borough of Shiremanstown. While his occupation was that of building contractor, he found time to serve his community and devote his efforts and talents to its benefit. He served as burgess and as assessor for Shiremanstown.

He was a member of the Evangelical United Brethren Church of Shiremanstown and was very active in its affairs, spending uncountable hours in the service of his God.

His many accomplishments could well evoke pride in any man but his one source of pride was in the family he reared. God entrusted him and his beloved wife with seven little babes and together they molded them into the fine citizens our State so urgently needs. He was truly a good husband and father; therefore be it

Resolved, That the members of the House of Representatives extend our most sincere sympathies to the widow and family of Calvin Stoner in this their hour of loss, and bid them take courage in the knowledge that their loved one has received the reward God promised; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be presented to Clarence C. Stoner and a copy forwarded to Mrs. Lucy Stoner at 213 East Main Street, Shiremanstown, Pennsylvania.

Mr. DOWN offered a resolution which was filed with the Clerk.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. GALLAGHER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. GALLAGHER. I wish to be recorded as being present.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I believe it is incumbent upon the Minority from time to time to make a few observations because I believe that our two-party system calls for an aggressive, progressive Majority and a militant Minority. I just want to say to the House that we intend, on this side, to operate within that principle, because I feel that only by doing that very thing has America become great; has Pennsylvania become the great state it is. The only way that we are going to have the crystallized opinion of Pennsylvania is for us here on this floor to debate the issues as we see them and then we will stand before the bar of public opinion.

Now, for one thing, I want to mention this morning, I want to compliment our Governor on his economy program. I believe that his so-called program of austerity, at this point, is commendable. I think no matter who had been elected Governor of Pennsylvania he would have had to do the same thing that the Governor is doing now. His rolling back of appropriations and making the departments justify expenditures from here on out is, of course, a good faith attempt to try to minimize the deficit.

I can only say this, however, that last summer some of us were sitting around and talking about the fact that the then Governor knew what was going on in the state, knew that the taxes, by reason of the short recession, were not bringing in the revenues they were supposed to, and that we would end up with a deficit well over $100 million. We were wondering why the Governor of Pennsylvania then did not take some strong methods to minimize the deficit. Maybe he should have called a special session and addressed the perilous condition of the state to us here in a special session, and I am sure that this General Assembly would have arisen to the occasion and instead of letting the thing go the way it has, I think we would have done something about it. It reminds me of that hymn that goes something like this, "Drifting perilously with the tide."

That is what Governor Leader did and I am wondering whether our present Governor is not doing it to some extent, but as I say, we commend him for now, even though it is a little late, trying to remedy the situation.

I want to observe also about the session to date. We are into the fourth week. I probably would not be on the floor today except that Members yesterday came down here to this desk and talked to those of us who were sitting here and were very irate over the way things are going.

I will just give you some of the remarks that were passed here. "Think of the frightening expense to the Commonwealth, having us here with no program in front of us, to say nothing of the cost to the Members, but," this Member said, "I am not kicking about that even though it runs, with my car fare and all, to quite a bit of money. After all we are getting our expenses but it is costing the state a tremendous amount of money."

One wanted to know, "Where has the Governor been since election day with his program?"

I realize I am repeating what I said last week. He wants to know what the Governor did during November, what did he do during December, where was he the first 20 days in January? We, frankly, had the same Cabinet people in office who could have had legislation ready and put it in even the first few days of the session so that we would have had something before of us with some meat to it, something for us to fight about, to debate about, for the good of this great state of Pennsylvania.

I even had one Member say, "Well I am wondering if the Governor isn't more interested in who is going to be the next mayor of Pittsburgh than he is in getting down to work and giving the General Assembly a job to do so that we can have a short businesslike session that we have all bragged about.

Another Member wondered whether we are not being embarrassed because we did not go along on a recess, and that there is a planned attempt to embarrass the membership because we did not go on recess. I believe that had Governor Lawrence said, "I would appreciate a recess so that it will give me a chance to get a program ready so that we will have something really important for you around the end of February or the first of March," this House would have bought it. But, when it was put in the lap of the General Assembly that we had to decide whether we were going home or not, then that puts the onus on us and, of course, subjects us to ridicule by the people back home.

The papers are already wondering what is going on here, why aren't we doing business, why isn't something being accomplished. I know you are saying, "Well, we are waiting for the Tax Policy Committee report." The Governor of this Commonwealth cannot hide behind the Tax Policy Committee. With the power goes the responsibility. It is up to our Executive to, of course, present the budget, say how much money he needs, and for him to decide a tax program. This ought to be his tax program. We owe him no less.

Since time immemorial the party that is in power comes forth with a tax program, and it is up to you people to make a good faith attempt to get the votes for your tax program. We did it in 1951, we did it in 1953, we did it in 1955 and we did it in 1957. You, on your side, when you were in the Minority, no one could have been more militant than you people were, and we feel, to repeat, that that is the way we have to be over here.

Now I am pleading with you again, see the Governor, get his program. Last week we thought the Unemployment Compensation Bill was on the Calendar. Let's amend it and let's save that fund that is in dire straits. Let's do something about that rather than borrow the money from the Federal Government.

I was assured that the Department of Labor and Industry is working on extensive amendments to Unemployment Compensation and soon you will have that program. Well, let's get that program here, let's save that one fund, let's be statesmen and put our House in order so far as that particular fund is concerned. There are so many things that we can do here if you folks who are in power would just get around, get it introduced, get it in Committee, and give us a job to do. It is up to the Governor, I would say, to really snap into it. He cannot hide behind that Tax Policy Committee. It is his job. The Governor of Pennsylvania by law is one of the most powerful chief executives in the nation. Our Administrative Code is written around the Governor. Practically every law we pass says, "It shall be by and with the approval of the Governor of the Commonwealth." He is one of the most powerful chief executives in the nation. It is upto him to act, and act as quickly as he can, to give this body, one of the greatest bodies in the nation, as I have said here before, a good hard job to do, because we want to get out of here, we want to do a good job for Pennsylvania, and I am sure I am speaking for the membership on our side of the House. They want to get down to work; they want to see some real action.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. McCANN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I listen each week with delight to the wonderful words of wisdom expounded by the Minority Leader, the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson—words of wisdom this week, of foresight that would have been so nice a few weeks ago in helping to solve some of the proposals that he has presented here today.

We favored a recess, a recess in which a newly elected Governor would have an opportunity and we would have an opportunity to work on major programs for a short period of time; a recess in which our Committees would have worked to produce a program. I think this particular item was outlined very carefully by words of wisdom of men of bygone years from the record that Mr. Andrews presented here on the floor of this House.

I would like to differ regarding the tax program. I believe it is our responsibility to provide the taxes, to produce the revenue that we shall decide will pay for the program that we want for the people of Pennsylvania for this biennium. We are well aware that there is a large deficit. We commend and we think it is wonderful that the new Governor of Pennsylvania has seen fit to do everything within his power to assure the citizens of Pennsylvania that the deficit will definitely be held to the absolute bare minimum as far as he can within his power.

I certainly would like to think that the remarks spread on the record this morning would indicate that prior sessions in prior years guaranteed this House a program within the first 15 days of any Governor who sat in the chair of the executive office. I do not believe that anyone denies the first two weeks of any session is normally taken up in our old organization procedures. The oath of office, the installation of Members, the announcement of Committees, the organization of Committees—this was done in this House this year in this session just as rapidly as any other record will indicate. All 32 committees are in operation. Even with the problem that we have regarding insufficient space to operate our House and our Committees, to insure their functioning in a proper manner we have temporarily outlined a program where our Committees are starting to move.

Within the last two weeks, the time the new Governor has been in office, I think that he carries with him the good will of all Pennsylvanians, Democrat and Republican, that he intends and is doing the duties prescribed far over and above that of a chief executive, assuring to the people of Pennsylvania that every dollar will be spent wisely. You have been assured, as well as we have, that there will be no major new legislative sweeping programs that will cost tremendous sums of taxpayers' money. You have been assured in conferences that we, as the Members of the House, will act on various major pieces of legislation, and I can assure you again that the UC fund which is in dire condition and will be so in April, that that bill which we passed and is over in the Senate was one of the safest assurances and insurance for the fund that if we would have a recession, which we hope we do not in 1959, that we have some provision to assure these people their payments during this coming year.

As I expressed that week, I express again, may we never have to borrow one penny of the $112 million. I know that the amendments to the UC bill will be offered by various groups, individuals and the Department of Labor and Industry. Many of these proposed amendments or changes for the US fund will in some aspects meet with the entire approval of this House, and in many others there certainly will be a highly controversial issue, a decision which we will have to make as a Legislative body, either passing or rejecting it.

But regarding the tax program and the Highway tax program, they are well aware that we will present such a program in a short period of time, although even a few weeks is rather short in grinding out legislation in the Halls of the House here in Pennsylvania or any other State.

We will present such a program, the executive branch will present its program and we then will have to decide either to alter, change, approve or disapprove, and that program will be here very shortly.

Neither you nor I can hide behind a Tax Study Commission report because only you and I can vote for the tax bills. We can try to camouflage all we want; we can take the recommendations of some of the finest organizations in Pennsylvania, certainly the Pennsylvania Economy League, the Governors' Tax Study Commission, or our own Joint State Government Commission, and from that we will produce the tax measure that you and I will be called uopn to vote in this session.

The budget will be here early enough and I think you have read in the newspapers of those departments which have been directed to reduce the amount in their budget requests, which certainly will indicate that only those dollars will be asked for that are spent wisely to provide the services that we must give to our citizens in Pennsylvania.

I often like to think that the minority, whether we are in the minority or the other Members are in the minority, that we certainly must be militant, and rightly so; a sound, healthy two-party system indicates that it produces the best type of government for the greatest number of citizens in our Commonwealth.

I am well aware that we have operated and will continue to operate within the next two weeks very rapidly on minor legislation, but may I assure you that each of these pieces of minor legislation are just as important to some township, some county, some borough, as some of our major pieces are to the entire Commonwealth. That these particular small bills that seem to be of no consequence or interest at this point are strictly important to those who need them, and that by acting upon this legislation in the early part of the session we certainly will be able to say that we have moved them out of the way for the major problems of March and April. This in itself is rather speedy. We may not have had the major items on February 4th to grind out, for the Committees to work on, but I think you will agree that come March 4th and April 4th they will be grinding in some pretty rough, tough grist, something they can chew on for many an hour.

I compliment all of the Members of this House for their fine attendance here, for working faithfully in the early weeks—for we have worked the early weeks of this session—to pass every emergency item placed before us, to pass it speedily and quickly to the other chamber, to act upon those bills that they have sent to us as quickly as possible, and we will continue to do so in a businesslike manner, even though some time in March we will reassemble many of our Committee rooms when we get more space, and this will not in one way slow down the work of the 32 standing committees of this House.

I would like to say that the remarks today of the Minority Leader certainly were in a different tone from a week ago when a catastrophe struck the Wyoming area, about the decision of the Governor to send his Executive Secretary to personally represent him on the scene. I think he has done a fine, outstanding job, doing everything humanly possible on this particular program.

And, Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, in the next weeks we will continue to grind out, slowly as it may be, that legislation which these Committees study over and decide to approve and place on the calendar for us to act on as a body. Each of these weeks have not been wasted and will not be wasted. Once a decision was made to abandon any recess, I immediately ordered and have called all Committees to function. They have functioned from that day on, and will continue next week and the weeks after that.

We ourselves will write other major bills that we are ready to draw from the Legislative Reference Bureau, which we believe will be acted upon by these Committees in a short period of time.

So today it may not seem important, the work you did this week was rather small, but may I assure you in the weeks to come you will have plenty to chew on, rough and tough. The decisions we make will be ours, for only we can act upon those bills.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I actually had no intention when I vacated the Chair of taking the floor. I had been informed that the remarks the gentleman from McKean made, probably would be made before his party caucus next Monday, in order to prevent an insurrection on the part of his Members who did not exactly agree with his policy when he so valiantly opposed the recess idea.

I am pleased that the gentleman from McKean has said that the Minority, which now and then becomes the Majority, will be very incisive, intelligent and persistent in its criticisms, and I say to him "Lay on, Mac Duff, and Damned be he who first cries, 'Hold; enough'."

I took the floor primarily to point out to the House that come the middle of March, or maybe the first of March, for the first time in the history of this House the chairman of every major committee will have a year-around committee room in which he can work, and he will have secretarial assistance.

That is a move that should have been made 20, 30, or even 40 years ago. Committee Chairmen have never had the facilities with which to work; Committees have never had the facilities with which to work. With the assistance of the other side and some little persuasion in various circles, space has been cleared. The Department of Commerce will be moved, much to its regret, and the committees of this House will move, and will soon have the facilities that enable Committees to work intelligently and persistently.

My motive in speaking today is to outline an objective as to parliamentary procedure. We should have organizations state-wide in November and December preparing legislation. We should have the Departments preparing legislation. In December, January and February all of those who want to appear before the bar of this House with legislation should have their legislation prepared. If we are proceeding intelligently we would devote the entire month of March to committee consideration of pending legislation.

The Administration would know that it would have to get its bills in; the organizations would know that they would have to get their bills in. Thirty days, one month, of intensive Committee study of legislation in quarters permitting the study of legislation intelligently and continuously, and then this House, by the first of April, could convene for action. Thirty days of study, thirty days of action, and you could roll down the curtain. Now we cannot achieve that objective, but we can work toward it.

I want to call the attention of the House to a bill sponsored by the Chairman of the House Minority Caucus, I think by the Minority Leader, by the Majority Leader, and by myself. That bill will provide that the leadership in the House and Senate be constituted a year-around committee of inquiry. It will not be vested with any administrative powers, but it will be vested with the responsibility of making inquiry, constant inquiry over the years, as to how the money which we have appropriated is actually being spent; some idea of what we are getting for the dollars we appropriate.

I do not know how wise the gentlemen on the other side are concerning the fiscal affairs of the Commonwealth, but we will shortly be confronted with a budget with which we have not had the facilities to cope. We do not even know enough about the operations of our government to ask intelligent questions. The Departments come in with their experts. Our Appropriations Committee decides, in the course of a few hours, the disposition of millions. I say to you that a House and a General Assembly that does not know more than we actually know about the fiscal affairs of the Commonwealth, has been neglecting its obligations.

We propose first to provide the Committees with rooms in which they can work effectively. Then, if the House and Senate agree, we will provide this General Assembly with the means, the leadership, the year-around inquiry, so that come the next session of our General Assembly we will have some knowledge of the details of our government, something we have never had.

I think I am as well acquainted with the details of government as any man in this House, and yet I feel incompetent as I stand here, intelligently to question or analyze the budget that will be presented for our consideration, with the minority probably demanding instant action. I have been on this Hill many years and I have yet to see a General Assembly in a position intelligently to pass upon an administrative budget.

One further thing. Only a few of the old-timers can remember the day, but there was a time when the committees of this House were so fortified with information and acquaintance—with a government much narrower in the scope than it now is—that at the beginning of the session the committees began to formulate legislation. They did not have to wait for some word from the front office for all that they should do. The Committees acted de novo, the way legislative committees should act.

Now this bill sponsored by the four men named represents with me a 20-year objective. I know a somewhat similar bill was vetoed. The bill, I think, that was vetoed had some vestige of administrative authority. This bill does not. It is a bill that should be passed. It is a bill that should be signed. It is a bill which, if vetoed, should pass over the Governor's veto.

PERMISSION TO INTERROGATE

Mr. GOLDSTEIN asked and obtained unanimous consent to interrogate the Majority Leader.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, did I understand the Majority Leader to say that the administration will have no major program of spending?

Mr. McCANN. No new major legislative programs that will cost tremendous sums of money, correct.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, do I understand the Majority Leader to say that the policy of the administration is that we want a retrenchment?

Mr. McCANN. You did not.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Then Mr. Speaker, will the Majority Leader explain how we can have an expanding program without major funds to inspect?

Mr. McCANN. Perhaps the gentleman has a misinterpretation of major legislative programs. There is a series of programs that could be instituted under Welfare. Each would be a major program. Estimated costs would vary. In certain other departments there could be major legislative programs, additional services, which would cost a great amount of money.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, does that conform with the Democratic platform of 1958? For the benefit of the Majority Leader I ask him to look at page 75 of the Legislative Journal.

Mr. McCANN. The gentleman does not have to have me refer to the Legislative Journal. Two people sit in this Hall of the House who were on platform committees. I am one who helped in drafting the Democratic State Platform, and I assure you that your interpretation as to what the Democratic State Platform does will be determined by the legislative plans and, again, I repeat, item by item the Republican State Platform is far more liberal than the Democratic State Platform.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I hate to have the Majority Leader put me in the position of being a Humphrey and he a Mark Hanna. Now will the Majority Leader tell us whether or not the Democratic Platform intends to carry on the program of the Leader Administration?

Mr. McCANN. It intends to consolidate those services rendered and gained in his administration, carrying out those portions that were instituted under the former Governor, Governor Leader.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Now, Mr. Speaker, will the Majority Leader tell me how you can have no major program of spending by carrying out and implementing the following items in the platform to which the Democrats pointed with pride in 1958, and I read them.

> "Acceleration of public work to create jobs during the recession. The greatest program of highway construction in the history of the Commonwealth . . .
> The largest school construction program in the history of any state . . .
> The greatest progress of any state in the treatment and cure of mental illness.
> The expansion of recreational facilities . . .
> Aid for slum clearance in redevelopment programs."

Now, Mr. Speaker, will the Majority Leader tell me how, when he pointed with pride to these accomplishments, he intends to carry on a policy without any major financing?

Mr. McCANN. I did not say any major finances. I said any major new legislative programs. The section of the platform you are reading from points with pride to the accomplishments of the Leader Administration, each of which is correct.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, does not the Majority Leader say that inferred to the people of this Commonwealth that you intended to carry on this program?

Mr. McCANN. Precisely so.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. All right. Now will not this program cost money?

Mr. McCANN. Certainly, this program has cost money in the 1957 budget even.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Well, will not this program cost major money and major expenditures?

Mr. McCANN. This program will cost certain amounts of new expenditures to continue it, major expenditures, as a matter of opinion.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I also call the attention of the Majority Leader to this sentence from the platform.

> All good programs cost money. The Democratic party does not pretend otherwise.

Now Mr. Speaker, does not the Majority Leader know that the people of the Commonwealth were led to believe that there would be new taxes by virtue of an expanded program?

Mr. McCANN. I beg your pardon. Yes, Mr. Goldstein, the platform states that at the conclusion of the platform and there has never been any doubt but what additional revenue will have to be raised in the present Session.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Thank you, Mr. McCann.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I ask unanimous consent to make a few brief remarks.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Without objection, the gentleman will proceed. The Chair hears none.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Any man reading the Democratic Platform was led to believe that there would be a major program carrying on the Leader Administration's work in mental health and other features. Anybody reading this platform would be of the opinion that there would be major expenditures of money. In connection with these major expenditures of money I believe it the obligation of the Democratic Party to carry out their promises to the citizens of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I will say to him that the Members on this side, if they have a safe, sound program required for the interests of all the citizens of the Commonwealth in mental health, in schools and other needed items, they will have our cooperation. We only ask of them that they stand up to their program of fiscal responsibility, and not try to evade the responsibilities of administration, and of a major party.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Also I would like to ask the Majority Leader one more question.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the Majority Leader permit himself to be interrogated further?

Mr. McCANN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Implementing the remarks of the Speaker, Mr. Andrews, is it not true that from year to year we have a Joint State Government Commission which is supposed to study taxes? And is there not any report on the tax matter from the Joint State Government Commission?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, that is quite true, and I believe the next meeting of the Joint State Government Commission executive committee is scheduled for next Tuesday. I believe—I am not sure of this, Mr. Royer can verify it instantly—this would be one of the reports in front of the Executive Committee next week. There certainly has been a study all summer long regarding revenue-producing items, and a very, very wonderful job was done by the Joint State Government Commission.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, will we get that report before we get the nonpartism report?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I hope. I could answer that by saying yes, but I could answer it after Tuesday. I certainly hope we do, following Tuesday's meeting, but I am not sure of that.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I concur in the hope.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker. I would just like to thank the gentleman from Allegheny for his spirit of cooperation, and may I assure him we will accept it.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED PURSUANT TO HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION SERIAL No. 19

The PRESIDENT. The Chair announces, on behalf of the President pro tempore, the appointment of the following committee, pursuant to House Concurrent Resolution, Serial No. 19: the gentleman from Luzerne, Mr. Flack; the gentleman from Schuylkill, Mr. Wagner; the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Kopriver, Jr.; the gentleman from Luzerne, Mr. Murray; and the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Mahady.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MALLERY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, in last Thursday's issue of the Philadelphia Inquirer there appeared the following article:

"PUC Probes Bus Stoppage In Two Counties

"Workers and schoolchildren deprived of transportation when County Transit, Inc. threw in the sponge and abandoned service on three Montgomery and Bucks county bus lines without warning Tuesday, were forced to rely on car pools or their neighbors yesterday.

"The Public Utility Commission in Harrisburg sent investigators to look into the situation, but it seemed reasonably obvious there was nothing to investigate. County Transit just ran out of money and quit. A PUC spokesman said the areas it served will have no public transit 'unless and until somebody comes in and asks to furnish it.'

"Hundreds Stranded

"Lines operated by the company — which acquired them from a Reading Co. subsidiary in May, 1957 — were the Fox Chase-North Hills and the Oreland-Willow Grove routes in Montgomery county, and a third across the county line connecting Fox Chase, Newton and the George School."

Mr. President, the city of Altoona and Blair County have been threatened for the past year and one-half with the abandonment of the Altoona and Logan Valley Traction Company, which has been furnishing mass transportation for the last fifty or sixty years. The company has been steadily losing money over the past ten years. It has petitioned the Public Utility Commission for permission to discontinue service. The city of Altoona, realizing the great need of mass transportation, has organized a City Authority. The Mayor, the Commissioners and Councilmen of the city of Altoona realize that if private industry cannot operate at a profit, there is little likelihood of an authority doing so unless it receives something in the way of help in relief from the tax on gasoline and, also, the privilege of being exempted from the license fees on the buses which would have to be operated.

Mr. President, this is a difficult proposition. It is one which, I regret to say, has developed to the extent where we must have some assistance, in my opinion. I have talked with Members of this Senate, on both sides of the aisle, and the same situation which exists in Altoona and Blair County exists in many other counties throughout the State.

I am, therefore, Mr. President, offering this resolution and request its immediate consideration.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. BARR asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I realize the problem about which Senator Mallery spoke. The Mayor of the city has been in touch with me and I, also, would urge the immediate adoption of this resolution. I think this is a problem that we must come up with an answer to. This does not only apply to Altoona and Blair County, but, as Senator Mallery read, it is going on in Bucks and Montgomery Counties. This mass transportation problem is an acute one and is progressing throughout the State. Something must be done. Whether Senator Mallery has the answer with the gas tax and the license fee, I do not know. There is some question whether that would be enough money to even save them.

I would urge the Members of the Senate to adopt this resolution, get the committee appointed and make a real study of it.

SENATE RESOLUTION

SENATE COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE THE PLIGHT OF THE PUBLIC TRANSPORTATION SYSTEM IN PENNSYLVANIA

Mr. MALLERY offered the following resolution (Serial No. 8), which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, February 9, 1959.

The economic problems of the public transportation companies in the Commonwealth have been increasing greatly in the past few years. More and more companies have been forced to raise their fares in order to make any return of their investment. As the fares are raised, less riders avail themselves of this form of transportation, consequently the revenue to the companies decreases instead of increasing as would be suspected when the fares are raised. The companies are consequently obliged to forego the purchase of new equipment and the repair of existing equipment, thereby reducing the element of safety which is all important to our citizens.

There are many cases where the companies have been unable to pay the high cost of labor and equipment as well as the numerous taxes imposed upon them. These companies have stopped providing transportation and have gone out of business, with the resultant loss of means of transportation for thousands of our workers, shoppers, house wives, school children and others. Statistics have shown that in some industrial sections of the Commonwealth over 25% of the workers depend upon public transportation in order to travel to and from their place of employment. In the areas where the school children are not provided school bus service, the percentage of school children depending on public transportation to further their education is even greater. Without public means of conveyance these people, not to mention thousands of others, must use their cars or other means of transportation, thereby increasing the congestion already existing on our highways and in our cities.

As recent as the past week, one bus company, serving Montgomery and Bucks County, abruptly abandoned service, forcing riders to rely on car pools. Hundreds were stranded in the cold when no buses showed up. The company was hopelessly insolvent without enough money for fuel or anything else. This is not an isolated case, and when viewed on the State-wide level is a serious situation which should be remedied; therefore be it

RESOLVED, That the President pro tempore of the Senate appoint a bipartisan committee of five members to immediately investigate the plight of the public transportation system in Pennsylvania and be it further

RESOLVED, That this committee report its findings and suggestions, as to possible legislative remedies for this serious problem, to the first Session of the Senate in March, 1959.

RULE 39 SUSPENDED

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be suspended and the Senate do now proceed to the consideration of the resolution just read.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Messrs. RUTH and KOPRIVER, Jr. read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 211, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30), entitled "Public School Code of 1949," providing for the election of school directors in school districts of the second, third and fourth classes by nonpartisan ballots at special elections subject to local option.

Which was committed to the Committee on Education.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HAYS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, due to thirty years of considerable neglect of the school buildings in the State of Pennsylvania, some school buildings in the Commonwealth are now in need of improvements and repairs for the safety of the school children.

All school budgets for third and fourth class school districts terminate on June 30, 1958. These budgets, of course, are tight and have not taken into consideration this need. To help out in this contingency, the bill I am about to introduce would authorize the State to pay to the individual school districts in the month of June, to prepay such appropriations that would be due in October in order that the school districts can pay for the repairs and improvements necessary during this school year.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Messrs. HAYS and SEYLER read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 212, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30), entitled "Public School Code of 1949," making certain money available to school districts prior to June 30, 1959.

Which was committed to the Committee on Education.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Messrs. LANE and BLASS read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 213, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 31, 1945 (P. L. 1198), entitled "Bituminous Coal Open Pit Mining Conservation Act," increasing the amount of certain bonds; providing for backfilling; and changing the requirements as to the covering of the exposed face of the unmined coal.

Which was committed to the Committee on Mines and Mineral Industries.

An Act providing for the determination and effect of comparative negligence in actions of tort and providing that contributory negligence shall not bar recovery.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. VAN SANT. Mr. President, last Tuesday, on the floor of the Senate, I was pleased to listen to my distinguished colleague from Schuylkill, Senator Wagner, and my distinguished colleague from Philadelphia, Senator Weiner, endorse the results of a hearing conducted by the Education Committee. I attended that hearing as a guest and I, too, was ready to endorse the results of that meeting with the Secretary of Labor and Industry, Mr. Batt. However, before the honey coming out of that meeting had finished dripping, orders were going out from the Industrial Board ordering school repairs in certain districts which would put exorbitant costs on certain school districts.

For example, Mr. President, the following is a quote from the Allentown Evening Chronicle, dated February 6:

"Emmaus School District, along with Allentown, has been given a 30-day extension in time to comply with State Department of Labor and Industry orders to make certain structural changes to meet fire safety regulations.

"The extension, granted by the State Industrial Board, gives Emmaus until March 3 to make the necessary changes at the Central elementary and Jefferson Junior High School. Renovations to fulfill the state department's orders at the Washington building will be completed over the weekend.

"Allentown's extension, running to March 4, is for completing changes at the Allentown High School main building and at the Lincoln elementary school.

"The Allentown School Board will meet Monday at 8 p.m."—that is tonight—"to further planning to comply with the state directives.

"At Allentown High School the district has been ordered to enclose, with fire resistant material, the four open stairwells.

"School officials feel that this is a physical impossibility within the 30-day period.

"I has been estimated by architect Arthur L. Wiesenberger that it will cost about $75,000 to do this work. Here the school board is faced with a dilemma—whether to go ahead with these changes, or build completely new fire towers at the school.

"There have been rumors reaching them from Harrisburg that eventually the Department of Labor and Industry will change its code to require fire towers above the first floor of all school buildings.

"Should this change be made within the next year or two, as is rumored, then the $75,000 would be wasted."

Mr. President, about the time that the notices were being received, the district superintendents of schools in northeastern Pennsylvania met and drafted the following letter to the Superintendent of Public Instruction, Doctor Boehm. It reads as follows:

"Dear Sir:

"At a meeting of the District Superintendents of Lehigh, Northampton, Carbon and Monroe Counties held in Emmaus on Thursday, February 5, 1959, a committee was authorized to forward this letter to you.

"As district superintendents of schools we are vitally concerned about the safety of children in our schools. However, we question the procedures and methods being followed by the Department of Labor and Industry in inspecting our buildings. We recognize the importance of regular fire drills, an adequate fire alarm system, good housekeeping in all schools, proper maintenance of heating systems, electric wiring and exit doors, and of all safety procedures.

"We do believe the following as serious problems:

"1. We discover a lack of uniformity in inspection of schools by local inspectors.

"2. We believe there should be reasonable, uniform standards for inspection and that superintendents and school boards should be provided with a statement of such standards.

"3. We question the value, from a safety viewpoint, of requiring installation of fire resistant fire towers in all old buildings, disregarding other factors such as fire escapes, outside inclosed stair wells, and non-escapable windows. We believe this requirement is an unwarranted expense in some cases in relation to other safety factors.

"4. We observe little consideration for children who would be unable to escape from windows when open corridors are filled with smoke and heated air. We wonder how second floor children are to leave a building with fire resistant fire towers and smoke screens, with the first floor corridors full of smoke and heated air, when no consideration is given to the value of fire escapes or auxiliary inclosed outside fire towers.

"5. We consider an ultimatum from the Department of Labor and Industry for major renovations in ten (10) days, thirty (30) days, or even by September 1, 1959, as unreasonable, unwarranted, arbitrary and, in fact, in some cases physically and financially impossible.

"6. We cannot understand why a crash program is necessary when these conditions have existed and inspections have been going on by the Department of Labor and Industry for many years.

"Major building repairs are very costly and take time. Many of the older buildings will be eliminated in a few years.

"We believe a long term program should be worked out for these major, costly renovations.

"We recommend that a special committee representing the Department of Labor and Industry, Department of Public Instruction, County Superintendents and District Superintendents, be established for the purpose of studying the entire problem with a view of establishing adequate, uniform, reasonable and practical methods and procedures to be followed in this entire program."

This letter is signed by the representatives of the aforementioned committe, Doctor Charles E. Chaffee, Superintendent of Schools of Bethlehem; Doctor John S. Cartwright, Superintendent of Schools of Allentown; Doctor George A. Eichler, Superintendent of Schools of Northampton; and Clarence M. Gockley, Superintendent of Schools of Whitehall Township.

That, Mr. President, is the content of the letter. In view of this letter, and feeling that many other school districts have similar sentiments, I would like to request that the Governor call a meeting of the Secretary of Labor and Industry and the Superintendent of Public Instruction, with the other groups suggested in the letter I just read, in an effort to bring about an orderly procedure to the program inaugurated by the Secretary of Labor and Industry. I also request that until such time as a more favorable procedure is adopted by the parties concerned, the Industrial Board declare a moratorium on their present orders and the investigators continue their inspections of all schools so we can learn how much these repairs will cost and from where these additional moneys will come. I believe millions, if not hundreds of millions of dollars, will be needed if the school districts of the sixty-seven counties of our Commonwealth are to comply with the orders of the Industrial Board of the Department of Labor and Industry.

Meanwhile, Mr. President, I am confident that all school administrators in the Commonwealth will continue to maintain a constant and sincere vigilance over your children and my children. You and I know that no public servant will shirk his duties and responsibilities in dealing with the safety of all the people of the Commonwealth.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I would like to comment on the remarks just made by Senator Van Sant.

I certainly see no objection to the gentleman's suggestion that such a meeting be called. There is an implication, however, in the suggestion that up to this time no conferences between the Department of Labor and Industry and the Department of Public Instruction have been held. As a matter of fact, Senator Van Sant knows, if he was attentive at the meeting held by the Education Committee, that we were specifically informed, at that time, that the Department of Public Instruction and the Department of Labor and Industry have been working together very closely in trying to carry out the obligation which is imposed on them, both by the law, as the Legislature has written it, and by the recent circumstances which have prompted, in the minds of the people of the Commonwealth, a very great concern for the safety of children in school buildings which might not meet the highest standards of fire protection.

As I understand it, Senator Van Sant endorses the sentiments contained in the letter he read. However, in that letter from these gentlemen who are educators, and whom I certainly respect, the major issue they raised, it seemed to me, was, "Why should we have a crash program?" By this, I assume they mean a program which proceeds with as much rapidity and as much attention to this matter as is possible. In that same letter, they seem to prefer that we have a long-term program. As a matter of fact, the gentleman suggests, pending the time when such a conference is held and a set of uniform standards are devised, that we should have a moratorium on inspections. Senator Van Sant realizes, I am sure, that in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, within the last week, there have been two serious fires in school buildings. Very fortunately, in neither case were the lives of children involved. However, I do not think that Senator Van Sant or anyone else—and certainly not myself—who is in a position of responsibility in the Commonwealth would like to suggest that anything should be left undone or delayed, which is humanly possible to do, in order to prevent an occurrence of a serious fire which might take the lives of the children of citizens of this Commonwealth.

As was pointed out at the meeting of the Education Committee, at which representatives from the Department of Labor and Industry and the Department of Public Instruction appeared, there are, as a matter of fact, many things that can be done quite promptly and without serious expenditure. These things should be done. I would certainly oppose any provision which calls for a complete moratorium on this matter until such time as there has been time for committees to meet, staffs appointed and research done to the point of devising a code of standards on which all people agree.

I think the situation is such that it presents a question of what can be done in the way of removing trash from school buildings, in the way of removing immediate obstacles to exits and in the way of providing satisfactory fire doors. All these matters can be attended to. I would certainly oppose anything that would declare a moratorium which would delay the doing of these things.

The allegation was also made in the letter, to which I suppose Senator Van Sant subscribes, as to why we cannot wait. We have waited thirty years or, at least, a long number of years. There is an implication that the Department of Labor and Industry has somehow been at fault in delaying over that period of time. I would like to remind the gentleman—and I do this with full consciousnesss that I am, to a degree, subject to the criticism which I am now making—that the public school officials in this Commonwealth and the officials who preside over our school districts, as members of the boards of education, are rational men. They were in a position to see what was needed during this same thirty years.

The Department of Labor and Industry, after all, is a policing type of agency. It is an agency which comes in and makes investigations and sees that things are done that people have not done. However, there is nothing occult about the job of an inspector. Any reasonable man is able to make the same judgments. If it has been thirty years since the Department of Labor and Industry has taken the action which now seems to be so important, it is also thirty years since the school districts, which had the power to do it without waiting for the time when they were compelled by law to take this action, could have done it.

Therefore, Mr. President, I would say that our position as responsible officials of this Commonwealth, whether we be elected officials or whether we be appointed officials in the Administration, should be that we will not subscribe to any remediable condition being allowed to continue which might endanger the life of any child in this Commonwealth through fire.

Having said that, I certainly subscribe to what Senator Wagner said the other day, to what the Secretary of Labor and Industry said, to what the representative of the Department of Public Instruction said; namely, that we should make this as easy as possible. We should extend whatever aid is possible to our school districts which have to meet this challenge. This, I believe, we should do. If there were errors in the haste, in the "crash" program which ensued, these are remediable. I believe, with Senator Wagner, that it was evident at the meeting of the Education Committee that good will is present which, given an opportunity, without castigation and without stirring up dissension, will accomplish that end. I do not think that we will gain anything by criticizing a crash program.

After all, gentlemen, we had a peculiar situation last week. On one day, I voted in favor of a resolution, of which I was not a sponsor, which urged the Department of Labor and Industry with all possible speed to do something about this situation and to do a thorough job. The next day, I heard another resolution which castigated them for having done their best to do the job. We are all human. There are many men in the field and some of them may not be of the caliber of the gentlemen who are critizing them, and perhaps, intellectually they are inferiors. However, I believe they have all tried to do a good job. They have made errors and I think the responsible officials know about these errors. They gave us, as Senators, at the meeting of the Education Committee, evidence that they are aware of these errors and that they have the good will to correct them as soon as possible.

In short, Mr. President, I am urging that we take this matter cooly and calmly. I suggest that we put ourselves in the position of a Secretary of Labor and Industry who does not wish to have upon his shoulders the onus of a possible catastrophe. I also suggest that we sympathize with him in his efforts to do the job quickly and that we accept the good will he has offered; the promise of doing his best to see that some of the rough spots, which will inevitably occur in a situation involving so many individuals, will be ironed out. Let us all do our best, I would suggest, to see that the situation is remedied.

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. President, at the meeting of the Education Committee last week, it seemed the unanimous consensus of the group of Senators who met there and listened to our Secretary of Labor and Industry that the so-called crash program in the investigation of the school safety in this Commonwealth had been amicably settled.

Frankly, I see no sign of a crash program. The Secretary of Labor and Industry informed the group that there were 712 schools officially inspected and only two schools closed because of unsafe conditions. These two schools were closed for the safety and protection of the children. If we are going to weigh dollars and cents against the safety of our school children in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, I think it is a very foolish program.

I should like to further state that the Department of Labor and Industry has 137 field investigators who have to inspect a quarter of a million factories in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, 7,000 public schools, 1,400 parochial schools and 600 colleges and institutions in our State. One hundred and thirty-seven men are doing their very best to protect the safety of not only our school children, not only the four and one-half million men who are gainfully employed, but also the 12,000,000 people of our great Commonwealth. I think they are doing a grand job. I do not think there is any crash program needed. I am sure that if we give them time, we will have this problem settled within the very near future.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, after our meeting last week, I thought it was my duty to report to the Governor on what I had heard. I, therefore, did report to the Governor and, at the same time, he summoned the Secretary of Labor and Industry over to his office. The Secretary then briefed the Governor on the situation and also told his Legislative Secretary to get in touch immediately with the Department of Public Instruction in order to ascertain what legislation has to be drafted in order to help some of these school districts where they have financial problem and cannot make the necessary improvements.

You will remember at the meeting that Doctor Swan told us that some of these school districts were in bad shape and others were far down the list when it came to buildings under the Public School Building Authority, and he wondered whether or not we could change the system. In other words, give these people priority, even though they may be 300th on the list, because their schools are in such condition that they cannot stay open or be opened next September. Legislation to that effect is to be drawn for the consideration of the Senate.

At least, I think I have done my part and I think everybody else is doing their part. I believe we are on the ball and will get some place with this matter.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. A. D. WILLIAMS, Jr. and Mrs. KOOKER RESOLUTION No. 19.

In the House of Representatives, February 4, 1959.

On Monday, February 2, 1959, the Delhaas Joint High School, operated by the Bristol Township School District and the Tullytown Borough School District, in the Levittown section of Bucks County, was partially destroyed, with damages estimated at $800,000 to $1,000,000.

The twelve hundred students of the school situated on Route 413, Bristol Township, who marched to safety from the blazing ten-room older wing of the school which was destroyed, and the twenty-five-room addition which suffered smoke and water damage, necessitating its closing for a period of approximately a week, present a problem to the community in the form of limited facilities for continued education.

Ninteeen of the thirty-five classrooms were lost and the architects are presently making a survey to determine the extent of the loss and the cost of the replacement.

Dr. Charles H. Boehm, Superintendent of Public Instruction, stated that, although no additional school construction projects can presently be approved, he felt that there might be excess coverage on some present projects which could be diverted to speed the replacemnt of the lost classrooms, and he stated that efforts would be made to accomplish this.

The immediate situation will result in half sessions unless arrangements can be made to use facilities of other schools in the area.

The millage for school tax purposes in the rapidly growing Levittown area is already 74 mills; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Department of Public Instruction is requested to take any immediate or long-term measures which may be necessary to facilitate the uninterrupted and adequate education of the students of the Delhaas Joint High School including the rental of temporary facilities; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to Dr. Charles H. Boehm, Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. DOWN. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 20.

In the House of Representatives, February 4, 1959.

From time to time the various practices, rules and regulations of the Milk Control Commission have been subjected to wide public criticism.

Members of the General Assembly have been asked by various groups of consumers and producers as to the propriety of the commission's rules, regulations and practices, including those relating to fixing of milk and cream prices and the reasons why milk produced in this Commonwealth and distributed in a neighboring state is cheaper when bought there by a Pennsylvania consumer than in the State wherein it was produced; therefore, be it

Resolved, (the Senate concurring), That the Speaker of the House of Representatives appoint a committee of three members of the House and the President pro tempore of the Senate appoint three members of the Senate, who together shall constitute a joint committee to make a thorough study of the rules, regulations and practices of the Milk Control Commission, including price fixing of milk and cream; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee may meet, hold hearings, take testimony and make its investigations whether the General Asembly is in session or in recess. It may issue subpoenas under the hand and seal of its chairman, commanding any person to appear before it and to answer questions touching matters properly being inquired into by the committee, and to produce any book, papers, records and documents as the committee deems necessary. Any person who wilfully neglects or refuses to testify before the committee or to produce any books, papers or documents shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of the Commonwealth in such cases. Each member of the committee shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before the committee; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee make a report of their findings and recommendations to this session of the General Assembly as soon as possible.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. STONE, NEEDHAM and CIOFFI.
RESOLUTION No. 21.

In the House of Representatives, February 4, 1959.

Due to the curtailment of funds, it is now necessary to limit to one month the assistance given to needy veterans or their dependents, rather than for the usual three months.

This assistance given the needy veteran has always been of a temporary nature, usually arising from sickness and hospitalization, and in the majority of cases, from service-connected disabilities. This drastic cut in aid will work undue hardship on our needy veterans and their dependents; therefore, be it

Resolved, That this House of Representatives requests the State Veterans' Commission to immediately seek out and determine the reasons for the curtailment of the funds for the payment of assistance to needy veterans; and be it further

Resolved, That the State Veterans' Commission make recommendations of methods to restore the amount which has been denied veterans and recommend means to hereafter maintain assistance payments for three month periods to needy veterans of this Commonwealth; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be sent to the Adjutant General of Pennsylvania and to all other members of the State Veterans' Commission.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mrs. VARALLO and Mr. OGILVIE.
(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 22.

In the House of Representatives, February 4, 1959.

The past year of achievements in the field of scientific developments by the U. S. S. R. has emphasized our need for encouraging the youth of our Nation to strive for the highest degree of education and training as they can best mentally and physically attain.

The constant threat to the security of the free and democratic nations of the world by those who seek to destroy our ways of life has also necessitated the military training of our youth in order to preserve our belief in the rights and freedom of the individual.

A result of this military training has been to delay and in some instances to discourage young people from attaining that degree of education and training so vital to the preservation and future development of our Nation.

Recent reports have also revealed instances where highly trained professional and technical young men have not been utilized in their particular field of training by our armed services to the best advantages and interests of our Nation, or in the further development of the individual's skill and training; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania memorialize the Congress of the United States to direct the armed services of the United States to utilize the education, training, technical skills and professions of these young men and women who enter the service of our country in those particular fields in which the person is schooled and trained so as to be advantageous to the Nation, service and the individual concerned; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to presiding officers of each House of Congress of the United States, and to each Senator and Representative from Pennsylvania in the Congress of the United States.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

MINORITY LEADER ADDRESSES HOUSE

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Spaker, throughout the Commonwealth there is a great panic, you might say, that has been stirred up by reason of the order of the Department of Labor and Industry that certain school houses be closed as far as their second floors are concerned. Other orders call for major repairs to various school buildings.

The Members have come back this week with, not complaints shall I say, but a story from their various school boards that have these drastic orders come down to make these repairs immediately. Their budgets have all been closed for the year, most of them are up to the 35 mills, they have no money in their budgets for the purpose. Many of them realize that some of the repairs should be made, and want to make them if they could just get the money to do the job.

I, therefore, have a bill that we are about to introduce, and I realize that we probably should not talk about legislation we are about to introduce, but this is such an important matter that I believe we should call it to the attenion of the House.

We are about to introduce legislation which will authorize the Department of Public Instruction to immediately, as soon as they receive a copy of the bona fide contract granted by these various school districts for these repairs, reimburse the school districts, based on their contractual liability and, of course, based upon their capital account reimbursement fraction.

I realize the bill calls for an appropriation of $3 million. This is something that has been thrust upon the school districts in our state without any warning, without any advance preparation for it. The ceiling of the bonds of the state and school building authorities has been reached and the school boards find themselves in a frightful dilemma at the present time. Hence this suggested legislation.

I am reminded three years ago when Governor Leader all of a suddn decided to enforce the provisions of the Markley bill, having to do with the teaching of mentally retarded children throughout the state, the school boards were able to come down here and just with a letter of intent go away from Harrisburg with $50,000 or $100,000 to start their program.

Here is another time when an emergency is facing our school districts. This legislation is vital and necessary and it is being dropped into the hopper today.

MAJORITY LEADER ADDRESSES HOUSE

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I feel confident that the proposed piece of legislation is very important, but do we not set a precedent here in which each piece of legislation introduced entitles every Member of this House to have the floor and explain the importance of the legislation in his own opinion?

We certainly have granted this right. We shall assume that we shall give other Members the same right on introduction of bills, that they may have unanimous consent of the House to speak about legislation which they are about to introduce.

I do not think it calls for any debate upon the merits of proposed legislation. I am sure if it did not have merit it would not have been introduced.

I do question the figures rather greatly. I just wonder what $3 million will do in this field and how far it will go. Again I say that we do not intend to debate the merits on the introduction of legislation.

HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 7

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I call up on page 5 of today's calendar, House Resolution No. 7.

The resolution was read as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 19, 1959.

Resolved, That Rule 22 of the House of Representatives be amended by striking out the first paragraph which reads

A Committee on Committees the majority of Members of which shall be selected by the Majority Party and the Minority Members by the Principal Minority Party of the House whose duty shall be to recommend to the House the names of the Members who are to be elected to serve on the Standing Committees of the House.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the resolution be recommitted to the Committee on Rules.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. McCORMACK. This resolution being on the calendar and being sponsored by me, is it in order for a motion to recommit when the resolution was not called up by the sponsor.

The SPEAKER. Any Member may call up a resolution, or any Member may call up a bill. It is a question for the House as to whether the motion prevails.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the Majority Leader?

The SPEAKER. Will the Majority Leader permit himself to be interrogated? The Chair understood the matter had been discussed with the gentleman from Philadelphia.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, that is not the correct information. No one has said anything to me. As a matter of fact, when I went in the caucus I think that action had already been taken. Now, I do not want to prolong any debate on this resolution, but I do want to say that I think where a person has the responsibility of sponsoring a resolution it should be discussed with him before action is taken.

The SPEAKER. The Chair agrees with the gentleman from Philadelphia. The matter should have been cleared, and the Chair was under the impression the matter had been cleared.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED

RESOLUTION No. 19

The SPEAKER. Pursuant to the terms of House Resolution No. 19, the Chair appoints as a Committee on the part of the House, Messrs. Musto, Meholchick, Reidenbach, Jump, and Gibbs.

Mr. MUSTO from the Committee on Rules, reported as committed, House Resolution (not printed).

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 26, 1959

America's 1959 football season will see three Pennsylvanians serving in rolls of distinction with the Army, Navy and Air Force football teams.

Cadet William Carpenter of Springfield Township, Delaware County, who attended Springfield High School, will captain the varsity football squad of the United States Military Academy. Cadet Carpenter proved himself an outstanding football player and gained the respect and admiration of the American people during 1958 and previous years.

Midshipman James Dunn of Rutledge, Delaware County, will captain the varsity football squad of the United States Naval Academy. Midshipman Dunn also gained the respect and admiration of the American people by his splendid playing during the 1958 and previous years. Midshipman Dunn attended Ridley Township High School in Delaware County.

Coach Ben Martin of the varsity Air Force Academy football squad grew up in Prospect Park, Delaware County. He attended Prospect Park High School and the United States Naval Academy. Coach Martin's parents still live in Prospect Park. The outstanding performance of the 1958 football team of the Air Force Academy has distinguished Pennsylvania's Ben Martin in the eyes of the American public.

The 1959 Army-Navy game will bring distinction to Pennsylvania in the persons of the two distinguished Pennsylvanians, Cadet Carpenter and Midshipman Dunn, captaining their respective football teams.

The accomplishments and respect gained by these three great Pennsylvanians reflect outstanding credit to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and serves as an inspiration to the youth of Pennsylvania.

Now, therefore be it resolved, that the congratulations of the House of Representatives be extended to Cadet William Carpenter, Midshipman James Dunn, and Coach Ben Martin; and

Be it further Resolved, that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to the President of the United States, Cadet William Carpenter, Midshipman James Dunn, and Coach Ben Martin, to the commandants of the respective service academies, Springfield High School, Ridley Township High School and to Interboro High School (successor to Prospect Park High School).

Mr. DOUGHERTY from the Committee on Rules, reported as committed, House Resolution (not printed).

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 26, 1959

The field of traffic safety is often frustrating but not without reward when the heavy accident toll is reduced. Unknown people are living today rather than having become statistics, due to the unceasing efforts of men like Mr. Nick Nicklas to protect people against themselves.

For the past twenty-five years Mr. Nick Nicklas of Aliquippa, Pennsylvania, has waged an unceasing campaign for traffic safety in every media available. As Director of the Beaver County Crusade for Safety he conducts a weekly radio program, "Traffic Beat" at 6:45 P. M. Saturday over station KBVP, Beaver Falls, Pennsylvania, in which he interviews all persons whose work has any bearing on traffic safety.

Reduction of traffic fatalities in Beaver County from 36 in 1957 to 23 in 1958 may set a record in the State and certainly bears testimony to the effect of Mr. Nicklas' efforts; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of Pennsylvania congratulates Mr. Nick Nicklas and his program "Traffic Beat" on the splendid life-saving service rendered to Beaver County; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to Mr. Nick Nicklas, Aliquippa, Pennsylvania, in recognition of his fine record.

SENATE

TUESDAY, February 10, 1959

The Senate met at 11:00 o'clock, a. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John Morgan Davis) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. H. GLENN CARPENTER, Pastor of the First Christian Church, Johnstown, offered the following prayer.

Hear us, O God, as we come before Thee in prayer.

Across the centuries, we hear the word of the prophet admonishing us to "do justly and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with your God."

As the work of this day begins with Thee, so may it be continued and ended with Thee, and be worthy of being dedicated to Thee and to the people of this Commonwealth.

Bless, with the Members of this Senate, our Governor and his staff and all who are employed by the government in the service of our people. Grant that, subordinating all selfish interests, there may be evidenced here a loyalty to the common good of all, including the widow and the orphan.

Through Jesus Christ, our Lord, Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. BERGER and Mr. BLASS, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

STUDENTS FROM YORK SUBURBAN HIGH SCHOOL PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, we have with us today, in the balcony of the Senate, a group of young people who have come here as visitors to observe the operations of State Government and, more particularly, at this moment, to keep a sharp eye on what their Senator is doing.

This particular group of young people are from the York Suburban High School. When attending school, they occupy a magnificent, newly completed building which was made possible, to some extent, through the efforts of the Members of the Senate and the House of Representatives who authorize the aid which we give to make these magnificent school buildings.

This group of young pople consists of two sections in Social Studies. They have with them today two of their teachers, Mr. Hall and Mr. Seyler. The larger one is Mr. Seyler and he is a relative, a son.

The PRESIDENT. I wonder whether the guests of Senator Seyler will arise and take a bow.

The President of the Senate, on behalf of the Members of the Senate, greets you and hopes that you will receive a great deal of good from your view into the ways of government.

FORMER SENATOR FRED P. HARE PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, before taking up the Special Order of Business which is to occupy the Senate at 11:30 o'clock, I would like to call attention to the presence in this Chamber of a former Member of this Senate for a number of years, a distinguished Senator and citizen of Pennsylvania who occupied the position of Majority Whip and did so much to alleviate the poor lot of that office.

Mr. President, I wish to present to the Senate, Senator Fred P. Hare.

The PRESIDENT. Thank you, Senator Berger.

SPECIAL ORDER OF BUSINESS

CERMONIES COMMEMORATING THE BIRTHDAY OF ABRAHAM LINCOLN, TUESDAY, FBERUARY 12, 1959, AT 1130 O'CLOCK, A.M.

The PRESIDENT. This being the day and the hour set aside for Ceremonies Commemorating the Birthday of Abraham Lincoln, the Senate will please come to order.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Crawford, Senator Shafer.

Mr. SHAFER. Mr. President, Fellow Members of the Senate, Ladies and Gentlemen, this year marks the sesquicentennial of the birth of Abraham Lincoln and I deeply appreciate the honor of having some small part in the celebration of this event by the Senate of Pennsylvania. I know that all of you are aware of, and take great pride in, the role of Pennsylvania in the historical origin and the life and times of this great man. However, it seems to me that it would be fitting, in this 50th Anniversary year, to pay homage, not to just one individual aspect or association of this legendary figure, but rather to a more universal view to Lincoln, not just as a statesman, not just as a storyteller, not just as an emancipator, a lawyer, an orator or a writer, but to Lincoln, the man.

To the schoolboy or schoolgirl, here is the man who, in his youth, walked miles to borrow a book, who practiced writing on a clean whittled plank and who rose to the highest office of his beloved native land. To the parent, here is the man who has become the symbol of a Country's freedoms which allow any person to climb as high as his resources and faith will carry him. To the citizen of other nations, here is the man who was the wise and strong leader, guiding a young republic through its most crucial years. To all of us, here is the man who lived literally his belief in the much abused word "liberty," and who stated: "Our reliance is in the love of liberty which God has planned in our bosoms. Our defense is in the preservation of the spirit which prizes liberty as the heritage of all men, in all lands, everywhere."

As one of the most renowned of Lincoln's biographers, Carl Sandburg, recently stated: "Millions of plain folk take Lincoln as a personal treasure. He had something they would like to see spread everywhere over the world."

Why has Lincoln, the man, come to symbolize these things to so many? To me, it was his deep conviction, his great faith, his loyalty to the highest of values. Any study of, or reflection on, Abraham Lincoldn reminds us that human values cannot be disassociated from the spirit of our democratic way of life because the ideas and ideals of man undergird all of our written documents, as well as our unwritten principles.

Lincoln's humble background was a training center for the strength of his character. His faith in life's deepest realities was the mainspring for his courage and service. As Stephen Vincent Benet stated: "The entire genius of the man resolves itself into one great faith that, above all, links his life with heavenly guidance."

It was recently observed that if a painting on canvas seems beautiful at first glance, closer inspection reveals that it is a combination of light and dark colors, overlapping and recessive planes. When combined, these planes build up values that miraculously achieve great richness. Even such ordinary articles as baskets and bricks come alive through the mastery of the artist's touch.

Perhaps no other figure in history suggests more light and dark, more depth and reflection than Abraham Lincoln. The winsome appeal of personality, his unrelenting optimism, his inflexibility of purpose are brushed together with stark personal tragedies and a full scale war.

Labels and categories seldom, if ever, cover the life of such a man for he has a way of escaping exact definition. Youth labels Lincoln "famous," but a more mature mind finds the word pale and suggests "great," while other minds prefer "immortal." Whatever our terminology, we sense that as our distance from Lincoln increases, we regard him more and more as one of the greatest, if not the greatest, American. Through all the light and dark, through all the overlapping and recessive planes of his life, Abraham Lincoln maintained a sense of proportions, chose values that were abiding and developed a philosophy which shone through all his attitudes. The American canvas is infinitely more beautiful from the brief brush strokes of his life.

All of us should take great pride in that we are a part of the Lincoln heritage, a heritage nudging us to recall the total picture of Lincoln, the man, and to honor him as an American symbol. It is a symbol that log cabin to White House is possible in a land of opportunity, the symbol of equality, whereby human beings are born free and equal in dignity. Lincoln would have agreed with the Panamanian representative to the United Nations when he stated: "The rights of the individual do not spring from the fact that he is a citizen of a given State, but from the fact that he is a member of the human family." Lincoln's signature bore out his belief in the dignity of man when 4,000,000 human beings were given freedom.

How was this man made great? He defied obstacles. As Bruce Barton, former Congressman from New York, once said: "Lincoln was born in a cabin without heat, running water or any modern convenience. According to a philosophy now widely current, this was a hopeless environment." It should have convinced him from the start that he was doomed to failure. His clothes were of crude homespun, ill-fitting and worn until the fabric would no longer hold a patch. His diet of corn pone and bacon lacked essential vitamins. His schooling was limited to a few scattered weeks under teachers whose own schooling had been meager. In such circumstances, he should have been told that there was no hope. However, no one told him this. Instead, he was told that he was fortunate because he had been born in a Country where any boy might properly aspire to even the highest success.

How was he made gerat? Because the common denominator of all his handicaps was spirit. He chose a way of life that meant the complete giving of himself. He chose a philosophy of life that roots itself in nobility of character. He chose a faith that kept him bound to the Divine, yet set him free to love all other people. He had a genuine confidence in the ability of his fellow men. He chose a moral climate for his life that challenged and inspired. Greatness grew upon him, not for what he did but for what he was and for what he knew to be true.

Yes, in miniature retrospection, we recognize that Abraham Lincoln exemplifies the capacity of man for growth in character and intellect. He tested the ideals of his calling and proved them to be practical. He supported his principles and values courageously against overwhelming odds.

However, Mr. President, it is one thing to honor past greatness and another to apply the inspiration of it to ourselves and to our own generation. While the new Lincoln penny, which goes into distribution this month, —on one side appears the same familiar profile which first appeared in 1909 in honor of the 100th Anniversary of his birth, and on the other side a new front view of the Lincoln Memorial, in Washington—may serve as a daily physical symbol and reminder of the heritage Lincoln has left us, how much more important would it be, if we, today, on this 150th celebration of his birth, take the legacy of Lincoln, the man, into each of our minds and hearts. If his faith, his conviction, his purity of purpose and service touch each of us individually, not only in our duties here in the Senate but also in our daily lives, we will be giving these few moments of tribute real significance and meaning.

(For the address delivered by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Stiefel, in Commemoration of the Birthday of Abraham Lincoln, see Senate Journal of Monday, February 16, 1959.)

Mr. ELLIOTT. Mr. President, as we sit and look at the mural here in front of us, we realize that in 100 years it will be 1963.

Following the remarks made by our colleagues, Senator Shafer and Senator Stiefel,—and we are all grateful for these remarks and for the stirring tribute which they paid to Abraham Lincoln—I would like to recall to your attention that this Body thought well enough of the idea of establishing a commission to adequately and appropriately celebrate the 100th Anniversary of the Gettysburg Address and the Battle of Gettysburg by passing a bill in 1955 creating such a commission. This bill became a law on April 20, 1956.

As you know, in addition to representing Franklin County, it is my proud privilege to represent Adams County, of which the county seat is Gettysburg. Also, as you know, these commissions do require funds with which to operate. In helping to carry out some of the things which Senator Stiefel mentioned in the close of his very eloquent address, this commission needs funds. Therefore, Mr. President, on behalf of Senator Weiner and myself, I am introducing this bill, which makes such provision.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. ELLIOTT. Mr. President, I now ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Messrs. ELLIOTT and WEINER read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 217, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the One-hundredth Anniversary of the Battle of Gettysburg and Lincoln's Gettysburg Address Commission.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WEINER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, as long as we are commemorating Abraham Lincoln's birthday, I did not think it would be amiss to bring to the attention of this Body the side of Mr. Lincoln that I think all of us have come to know in our travels; that of the politician and the man who took a very active part in the political life and well-being of this Country.

One of the things that Mr. Lincoln knew well and learned very early in his life, in the political field, was brevity. I think this is epitomized in the work we all know as the Gettysburg Address, which reads as sheer poetry.

One of the things about him, which has not been discussed very much and which I would like to bring to the attention of this Body,—I think it is also something which probably has happened to all of us in our political travels—relates to when he was campaigning as a candidate for the Legislature in Illinois, at the age of twenty-eight years. He arose at a meeting to speak, after having sat for a very long time listening to his opponent. He said to his audience, after realizing they were very weary from listening to the man who was his opponent:

"Gentlemen and fellow citizens, I presume you know who I am. I am humble Abraham Lincoln. I have been solicited by my friends to become a candidate for the Legislature. My politics can be briefly stated. I am in favor of the internal improvement system and a high tariff. These are my sentiments and my political principles. If elected, I shall be thankful; if not, it will be all the same."

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. SILVERT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, at the last Session of the Legislature, Senator Ehrgood and I introduced a bill providing for the creation of the Pennsylvania Higher Education Assistance Authority. This bill was referred to the Committee on Education and was promptly reported from committee. It appeared on the Calendar and, just as promptly, by decision of the Republican Caucus, it was recommitted to committee where it remained.

This bill, Mr. President, sets up something that we need in the State of Pennsylvania. It creates a corporation, or authority, without costing the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania one single cent. It gives an opportunity to corporations in the State of Pennsylvania, which are interested in higher education, to make tax free contributions to this Authority. Then the board, appointed under this bill, may lend money to students in limited amounts. Furthermore, it provides that only worthy students may receive these loans. There is a provision in the bill stating that the loan can only begin with the second year of the student's life at a university. The loans would be repayable after graduation and would bear a moderate rate of interest.

As I stated before, Mr. President, the plan will not cost the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania one single cent. It is patterned after a similar statute enacted in Massachusetts.

Two or three months ago, the Philadelphia Bulletin ran a most praiseworthy editorial of the results accomplished oin Massachusetts under their bill, and about the great number of needy and worthy students who had been helped without costing Massachusetts a single cent. This editorial went on to say that it is too bad that the State of Pennsylvanai does not have such a provision or law. I promptly wrote to the Philadelphai Bulletin, advising them that during the 1957 Session of the Legislature, Senator Ehrgood and I introduced exactly the same kind of bill, but, unfortunately, it did not receive the same support from the newspapers as expressed in the editorial praising the bill which was enacted in Massachusetts.

Mr. President, I hope that Senator Ehrgood will be more effective with his Caucus during this Session.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. EHRGOOD asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, in accordance with Senator Silvert's remarks, I am sure that we will have no trouble passing this bill during this session of the Legislature. After all, the Republican and Democratic Platforms supported this plan and I am sure that we always try to live up to our Platforms.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. SILVERT and EHRGOOD read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 224, entitled:

An Act creating the Pennsylvania Higher Education Assistance Authority defining its powers and duties conferring powers and imposing duties on the Governor, President pro Tempore of the Senate, Speaker of the House of Representatives, Superintendent of Public Instruction, President of Pennsylvania State University and the Department of Banking.

Which was committed to the Committee on Education.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HAYS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, unfortunately, I think neither of the bills I am about to introduce were contained in either of the Party Platforms.

However, a headline in a well-known Pittsburgh newspaper yesterday indicates that half of the upper forty per cent of high school graduates are not getting additional formal, higher education. This is just a new headline to an old, old story.

Four years ago, I introduced a very modest scholarship bill in this Body. That was almost a score of months before the sputniks and their facsimiles started orbiting. I am now about to present another scholarship bill. No good farmer plows under fifty per cent of his best crop and no alert businessman is likely to discard fifty per cent of his best products. It seems to be only our generation in government that is willing to permit such a waste. We say glibly that the contest with the Soviet is one for the minds of men and, yet, we have been unwilling to put many of our best minds to work.

This may sound like a revolutionary proposal when I say that it would increase fivefold the number of State competitive scholarships. However, when I hasten to remind you that we now only have eighty competitive scolarships in the great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for approximately 200,000 high school seniors each year, it means that this bill still would provide for but 400 competitive scholarships.

There are two important features provided herein; namely, scholastic competency and the financial need of the subject. Instead of one per county, as is true now, this bill would guarantee a minimum of three for each county.

Apparently, the Federal Government and my good friend from Philadelphia, Senator Silvert, choose not to touch scholarships at this time, but rather to place their case in the form of loans. Loans, I think, are necessary and desirable in some cases, particularly for college juniors, seniors and graduate students. However, for the really needy high school senior who has brains but no money, loans provide very little hope.

Each Senator here, without barely trying—unless his Senatorial District is in better economical condition than the Thirty-fourth Senatorial District—will have little difficulty in finding a high school senior who is one of three, four, five or more children, who will finish in the upper fifth of his class, and whose father is on Public Assistance or whose earnings are in a very low category. I ask you just how realistic is it to expect such a seventeen-year-old person to start off to college by facing the prospect of borrowing five to ten thousand dollars. Here, perhaps, are potential Abraham Lincolns a hundred years from now, except that they are in a much more difficult situation than even Abe Lincoln.

I submit to you that brain power is the most valuable asset of this State and Nation. If we really are concerned about the outcome of a cold war, then we better start making full utilization of our greatest resource. If this

Senate and this Commonwealth desire a more extensive scholarship program, you may be assured that this Senator will be happy to support such a program instead of the modest one that I will present to you in a moment.

Mr. President, the second bill is unrelated to the previous one, except that whereas in the scholarship bill, the State is being asked to invest some funds in brains, this one will tend to reduce the cost of the State's share in education. In a sense, the money saved by the State in this case would probably pay the cost of the scholarship just described.

Many of you will recall, I think, the basis of our school subsidy program to the school districts. It is based on the theory that the poorest district receives the most money and the richest district receives the least money. Wealth, in this case, is based on two factors; namely, the number of children living in the district and the market value of the taxable real estate. This formula, which we have had in existence for a great many years, is fine in many respects. However, if your district happens to be very, very rich, you receive a bonus. For example, the poorest districts in the State receive somewhere approaching $5,800 per teaching unit. The richest districts receives something approaching zero. However, if you happen to be in a very, very rich district, even without coming to Harrisburg and asking for money, the State Treasury hands you money without your asking for it. The average millage, I am told from recent studies of taxation on the market value of taxable real estate in the State of Pennsylvania, represents 11.52 mills. In some of these very rich districts, they are only levying the equivalent of 7.34 mills, while in the poorer districts they go up to 13 and 14 mills.

Mr. President, this bill I think would stop this practice that has been going on for a dozen years or more. I believe it has cost the Commonwealth $10,000,000 to $20,000,000.

For a number of years, we have been reading about the plight of the railroads and we have learned of their troubles in other ways. Almost each day on this Senate floor, we are told of the condition of bus systems in many areas of the Commonwealth. However, some snow, sleet, rain, wind, storm, high water, low water, no water good times or depression the State gravy train from the nearly impoverished State Treasury continues each year to carry its luxurious cargo into the overflowing coffers of the very rich school districts of the State.

Mr. President, I believe this bill which I am about to introduce will put in force a principle of reimbursement to which the State has subscribed for years.

BILL SIGNED

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John Morgan Davis) in the presence of the Senate signed the following Bill:

House Bill No. 82, Printer's No. 32.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. McCREESH asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. McCREESH. Mr. President, on December 1, of last year, a distinguished Member of this Honorable Body retired after twenty years of elective service.

Former State Senator John J. McCreesh represented the Fourth Senatorial District of Philadelphia from 1934 to 1946 and from 1950 to 1958. During that time, he served the 440,000 members of his West Philadelphia District to the utmost of his ability, winning for himself the respect and love of the majority of his constituents.

Senator McCreesh was born in a small country village among the green and rolling hills of Ireland. He immigrated to this Country at an early age and chose for his home our spacious and prospering State, filled with opportunities. Constantly raising himself up from his humble beginnings, he was elected to a seat in this time-honored and beloved Senate of Pennsylvania, where, with his work-stained hands, he helped shape the laws of this great State.

During his years in the Senate, he made many friends on both sides of the aisle. It did not make any difference to him whether a person was a Democrat or a Republican. In fact, he prided himself when he said that he knew a number of good Republicans.

In all justice, Mr. President, I could not occupy his worthy seat in this Chamber without first wishing him many years of happy memories, especially now in his twilight years, as he lies ill in his home in Philadelphia.

I wish him fond memories of his numerous friends and acquaintances here at the State Capitol; memories of his years of assistance to the blind, the poor, the needy and other underprivileged groups. Last, but not least, I wish him the pleasant memories of an ever-growing and prosperous Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

SENATE RESOLUTIONS

TRIBUTE TO FORMER SENATOR JOHN J. McCREESH

Mr. McCREESH offered the following resolution (Serial No. 9), which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, February 10, 1959.

The Honorable John J. McCreesh, a member of the Senate since 1934, retired in 1958 after twenty years of tireless and faithful service to this Commonwealth and the members of his community.

The son of Peter J. and Mary Ann (Campbell) McCreesh, he was born in County Armagh, Ireland, on August 13, 1881. After attending public schools in Ireland, he came to Philadelphia where he has since been engaged in the garage and real estate business.

A founder of the United Citizens Club, a welfare organization, he is a member of the Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus, the Philadelphia Boosters' Association and many other civic and social organizations.

He will long be remembered for his unselfish devotion to his duties as a public servant and Senator, having served on many important committees of the Senate, among them Highways, Judiciary General and State Government.

He has had the added distinction and pleasure of having one of his ten children, his son, Thomas P. McCreesh, succeed him in office as the Senator from the Fourth District; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate of Pennsylvania congratulates John J. McCreesh, for his accomplishments, and upon his return to private life we wish him success, happiness and prosperity; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the Honorable John J. McCreesh at his home, 4202 Walnut Street, Philadelphia, as a token of the esteem in which he is held by the members of the Senate.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I would rise to second the remarks made by the Senator from Philadelphia and do so with a great deal of pride and satisfaction.

All the Members of the Senate, and certainly myself, know Senator McCreesh and have known him long and have known him well. He was always a fine gentleman and a very able Senator. We all regret that his term of service in this Senate had to come to an end, as it must for all of us. However, we rejoice in the fact that his son can be here and sit among us in the Senate. This is a very unusual circumstance, but one in which we on this side, as well as those on the other side, take pride and satisfaction.

I want to say, Mr. President, that one of the trademarks of Senator McCreesh was the fact that, to my knowledge, he never appeared in this Body without wearing a carnation. I am pleased to see that his successor, his son, is emulating that practice. We hope he will continue to do so as long as his father did.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair also had the privilege of knowing Senator McCreesh very well. He has had my respect, and the respect of the people of Philadelphia, throughout his entire service.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I, too, consider it a pleasure to join in the comments on this resolution.

I always enjoyed my association with Senator McCreesh. During the many years that he served in the Senate, I always had the privilege of joining with him in doing whatever we could for the blind. The blind have always had my utmost sympathy, but here in the Legislature we should do more than sympathize with people's needs.

Aside from that association, I always enjoyed Senator McCreesh's wit. I recall one day, many years ago, when one of his colleagues—I do not remember whether it was Senator McGinnis or not—wanted to have a little fun with Senator McCreesh, and he asked him to explain something. Senator McCreesh, quick as a flash, said, "I could explain it, but I do not think you would understand it anyhow."

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, before we adopt the resolution, I want to say to you that I was very well acquainted with Senator McCreesh. As a matter of fact, when I was first elected to the Senate, I had the honor of working with the old Senator. I want to say to his son that John McCreesh was, without a doubt, one of the most reliable and responsible Members of this Senate.

I recall that regardless of whether there was rain or shine, snow or ice, Senator McCreesh was always on the job. As a matter of fact, I never recall Senator McCreesh missing a committee meeting. I want to say to his son: "Congratulations, son. You are going to have a big job to do in order to take your father's place."

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

REQUESTING THAT THE SECRETARY OF REVENUE REFRAIN FROM SUSPENDING THE OPERATING PRIVILEGES OF MOTOR VEHICLE OPERATORS DURING CERTAIN HOURS

Mr. MULLIN offered the following resolution (Serial No. 10), which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Highways:

In the Senate, February 10, 1959.

A great may heads of families follow the occupation of operating motor vehicles for a livelihood. Any disruption of this right to operate motor vehicles impose great hardship on the operator and his dependents, as well as seriously impeding the flow of goods and products essential to our National economy and the financial well-being of this Commonwealth and its many communities; therefore, be it

RESOLVED, That the Senate requests that the Secretary of Revenue refrain from suspending the operating privileges of motor vehicle operators during such hours as the operators operate motor vehicles for the purpose of earning a livelihood, and restrict such suspensions to such hours as will not interfere with professional motor vehicle operation.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr KESSLER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Messrs. KESSLER and LANE read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 234, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to section twelve, article three of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, providing for the purchasing of stated commodities in such manner as may be prescribed by law, and authorizing use of an escalation clause.

Which was committed to the Committee on Constitutional Changes and Federal Relations.

On the question,

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I believe that Senator Flack, Senator Van Sant and Senator Rooney are entitled to great commendation for initiating this bill and the following four bills, because this is an attempt to effect historical zoning which, time and again, failed to pass in the Senate.

This comes from the counties of Northampton and Lehigh, where they are very much cognizant of historical values and the importance of the preservation of historical landmarks.

We, in Philadelphia, who have seen one building after another demolished and have lost contact with American history, are most appreciative of these bills. For this reason, I am very thankful that the gentleman initiated the legislation.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. LANE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, in continuation of the oration that took place yesterday regarding the problems of the Department of Labor and Industry and the inspections of our public school buildings here in Pennsylvania, I might say to the Members of the Senate that we Members of the Senate, on January 20, 1959, adopted a resolution requesting the Department of Labor and Industry to make proper inspections.

The point I want to make here today is that in the contents of the resolution, we directed the Department of Labor and Industry to make "periodic inspections of every school facility in Pennsylvania to the end that protection against fire in our schools be as complete as is possible."

Furthermore, we directed: "That if the Department of Labor and Industry finds the present law relating to fire hazards in public buildings inadequate in any respect, then it shall so report, together with its recommendations for legislation, to the General Assembly."

Mr. President, several weeks ago, an expert in this particular field made a speech in Philadelphia. I am referring to Captain Lawrence L. Prior, a State Police Fire Marshal, who said: "Fire and safety inspections of schools and public buildings would be more effective if they were centralized in one agency." Captain Prior made the suggestion at the 25th Annual Conference of the Greater Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce Safety Council.

"In Pennsylvania," he said, "we have schools being inspected by the Department of Public Instruction; hospitals and institutions by the Department of Health and the Department of Labor and Industry; certain offices and public places by the Department of Property and Supplies and a miscellaneous assortment of buildings by the State Police Fire Marshal's office."

Captain Prior added, and I believe these really are words of wisdom: "Centralizing the inspections in one agency would promote 'safety, economy, uniformity and enforcement.' "

On fire safety in schools, he said: "Only through automatic alarm and sprinkling devices coupled with central stations, properly supervised and maintained, can we expect to reach the near maximum in fire protection."

Mr. President, I am quoting Captain Prior because I feel that this is indeed a major problem and one which has brought about considerable debate on the floor of this Senate. However, I do believe there should be centralization of inspections under the proper authorities. I believe the State Police Fire Marshal's office should have some voice in these inspections.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend David R. Hoover, offered the following prayer:

For the beauty of the earth,
For the glory of the skies,
For the earth that round us lies,
Father, we thank Thee.

For the love which Thou dost give,
Shown through Jesus Christ our Lord,
For the sacrifice He made,
Help us show our gratitude, O God.

Bring us penitent to Thee,
Teach us truths that we may see,
Enrich our souls that we may serve,
Fill our lives that we may live.

Grant us faith to follow Thee,
And thy guiding hand to see;
By the influence of Thy power,
Strengthen us in this glad hour.

Help us know we are Thine own,
Thou hast bought us with a price;
Through the blood which Thou hast shed,
Thou hast opened Paradise.

May we ever come to Thee,
Bowing prostrate at Thy throne
Hear us now we humbly pray,
Hear our solmen Litany. Amen.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 26, entitled as follows:

An Act amending "The Game Law" approved June 3, 1937 (P. L. 1225) protecting skunks in seventh class counties for a limited period.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. WORLEY. Mr. Speaker, Adams County is the greatest apple-producing county in this Commonwealth, and as such it is necessary that the orchards be protected from destruction by mice. The pine and meadow mice are destroying orchards unless thousands of dollars are spent on sprays. The pine mice eat the roots and the meadow mice eat around the trunk of the fruit trees somewhat like a beaver. Skunks eat both of these two kinds of mice.

This bill would close the season on skunks for two years in Adams County, and other seventh class counties, so that we will have more skunks to eat these mice on the fruit orchards and farms, and thereby save these farmers thousands of dollars in mice spray.

I have just been in contact with Dr. Guyton, Director of the Bureau of Plant Industry of the Department of Agriculture of Pennsylvania. He has given me this statement by dictation on the phone, I read it back to him. and he said that I can quote him on this on the floor of this House:

> In my opinion the good that skunks do for farmers in reduction of the population of small rodents, primarily meadow mice and pine mice, together with their feeding on the adult stage and grub stage of such harmful insects as Japanese bettles and grasshoppers, would outweigh their harmul habits.

I hope the Members of this House will support this bill for the farmers of Pennsylvania.

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, I listened with a great deal of attention and interest to the remarks of the gentleman from Adams, and I thoroughly agree with him.

There is no doubt but what there exists in certain areas of Pennsylvania, particularly the rural areas, the farm areas, this particular problem. However in discussing this bill at length in Committee, the Committee realizing the problem and the extent of it, and not having at hand the proper extent of regulation or control, agreed to report this bill out for two readings and then to send it back to Committee for further study and possible amendments.

As you will note, this bill covers only seventh class counties. What about the sixth class, fifth class, and so forth? As the Chairman of the Committee I am at a loss to know what would be good for the Commonwealth in this matter and in solving this situation. If this House will send the bill back to Committee, I assure you we will give it complete study, considering the idea of possible amendment.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Game and Conservation for the purpose of further study and possible amendment.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Clearfield, Mr. Breth.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Clearfield permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BRETH. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, on this side of the House we planned to go against your motion to recommit. We feel that the bill has merit and should be debated on the floor, and stand or fall on its merits. But the gentleman says there is a firm understanding or agreement within the Committee that the bill should be released for the purposes of several readings and for comment by the Press and others, I do not know; that might change the situation.

Is the gentleman stating on the floor of this House that there was a firm understanding that this bill would go back to Committee, when it was released by the Committee.

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman I will say this: Some individuals in various places may regard this as a sort of joke or laughing matter. It is not. It is a problem. As I mentioned a while ago, the extent of the problem we do not know. To my mind, as the Chairman of the Committee, to pass this bill and to include only seventh class counties would be a mistake.

I think that under our Committee setup the Committee is in a much better position to study and inquire further into the merits of the bill rather to have it debated here, passed and restricted to seventh class counties.

I assure the gentleman that in the Committee there was not one dissenting vote to reporting this bill out for two readings and then to have it come back to Committee. Does that answer your question?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Yes, I believe as the gentleman states if that is actually the case then it was an agreement. Thank you Mr. Breth.

In that connection I would like to interrogate the sponsor of the bill, Mr. Worley.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Adams Mr. Worley, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WORLEY. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman heard the statement of the Chairman of the Committee that there was an agreement that the bill should be released to the floor and then be recommitted after two readings. Is that your understanding of the situation?

Mr. WORLEY. I have no knowledge of such.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Are you a member of the Committee?

Mr. WORLEY. I am not. It was not in the Committee on Agriculture.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. You have no knowledge of the agreement?

Mr. WORLEY. I have no knowledge of any agreement.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. That is all.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Clearfield, Mr. Breth, consent to be interrogated?

Mr. BRETH. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GOLSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, when this bill was discussed with great consideration in your Committee, did you not know that there were problems affecting the fifth and sixth class counties?

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, when the bill was considered in Committee, it was recognized that this problem is not restricted to any seventh class county. However, rather than attempt to amend it in Committee or to change it in Committee without its even being reported, the Committee recognized, I imagine, that this was a problem and the best way to get opinions on a legislative problem is to get it before the public.

In this instance the public happens to be the farming areas of the state and they are not restricted to seventh class.

In this particular problem there are other angles that must be considered. For instance, there is an attitude among our sporting group, the sportsmen of the state, who do not look with favor upon this little animal. In fact, they would favor a much greater control than is now in existence. So in order that groups could render their opinions if they saw fit, the Committee decided to report this bill out for two readings and then have it returned to Committee for further study.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, then the gentleman's idea of committee operation is any time there is a bill that is reported for two readings, you then have the publice talk about it, and recommit it?

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, I think the gentleman is a bit afield in his statement. Certainly not. However, it has been, as long as I have been a Member of this House, a Committee's procedure to do this particular thing as we have done it.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I thank the gentleman from Clearfield.

One other question, apparently the only purpose for which this bill was discharged from committee was to have it recommitted after it had two readings. To me this seems to be a waste of the time of the House.

The bill as presented by the gentleman from Adams, Mr. Worley, is either a good bill or a bad bill. If it is a good bill, it should be extended to fourth, fifth, and sixth class counties and then the gentleman from Clearfield, Mr. Breth, can introduce a supplementary bill. We think that the matter should have been discussed at great length in Committee, referred to a sub-committee, and then the farmers and subsequently the sportsmen in whom Mr. Breth is so greatly interested, could have said it is either a good bill or a bad bill and not wasted our time here today.

From what I hear from Mr. Worley, the gentleman from Adams, and from the administrative officials, this seems to be a good bill although it has a bad, smelly name.

I oppose the motion to recommit.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I have always, and I am sure everybody on this side and on the other side of the House have always, lived up to an understanding within a committee.

We must uphold our committee system and in view of the agreement as stated, that this bill was going to go back to committee, I am asking the Members on this side of the House to support the motion to recommit.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

RESOLUTIONS

COMMEMORATING LINCOLN'S BIRTHDAY

Mrs. ANDERSON, Mrs B. Z. MILLER, Mrs. HENZEL and Mrs. HAMILTON offered a resolution which was read by the Chief Clerk, as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 10, 1959.

The legend of Lincoln is a true epic which proves the worth of the simple virtues. Honesty, courage, charity and patience are simple concepts, easy to understand, and possessed by every man, at least to some degree. Yet at one terrible time in our history the very life of our nation depended upon the combination of those virtues in the heart of one man.

The heart of Lincoln was great and filled with love for his nation and his people. His humor was limitless and kind, his dedication single and his ability tremendous.

He responded so nobly to the difficult task that faced him because he was in truth a noble man.

It is part of the greatness of Lincoln that more is spoken and written of him as a man than as a president. The favorite stories of every person includes at least one of Lincoln, either one of his own or one concerning him. Americans are grateful for the magnificent work of President Lincoln, but their affection is for the kind and gentle man who yet today lives in their hearts; therefore be it

Resolved, That the members of the House of Representatives today reflect upon the life of Abraham Lincoln who himself was once a state legislator, and on the anniversary of his 150th birthday on February 12th, hold forth his example as that which we would have every American emulate.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mrs. ANDERSON. Mr. Speaker, I should like to pay tribute to Lincoln, not as the great President of these United States of America, but rather as a man, loved and respected by his fellow Americans through the years, because he walked humbly, acted justly, and loved his country above all else.

Today as American citizens and parents let us recall and always remember these words of Lincoln, "What is honored in a society—is cultivated there."

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was unanimously adopted.

Mr. SAKULSKY offered a resolution which was filed with the Clerk.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Mr. McCANN. For the information of the Members of the House regarding the next two weeks of this House:

The sessions next week will be Monday and Tuesday, Monday at 4:30 and Tuesday at 12:00 noon.

On Tuesday of that week, February 24, which is the opening day of the Session that week, the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Dinner will be held in Philadelphia that evening and a special train will be leaving from Harrisburg to comply with the request of many. The Session on Tuesday, February 24 will be held at 11:00 a. m. I believe the train departs before 2:00 in the afternoon.

The CLERK. All highways are passable, but wet. The only road closed is Route 15 Mansfield in Tioga County, due to high water. People using this route have been directed to use Route 84 until further notice.

Mr. SPEAKER, I do not know whether the Reading Clerk had the information about the Turnpike report which I hoped he would read. Many Members have been asking about it.

The Turnpike report: The Ohio Gateway to the Blue Mountain Interchange the roadway is wet, it is cloudy and the temperature is varying from 32 to 38 degrees.

From the Blue Mountain Interchange to the Delaware Bridge the pavement is slushy and it is raining at the present time. The temperature is varying between 30 and 35 degrees in this area and many spots are freezing.

I was hoping that that report would be read on days like this, that the Turnpike weather condition report be read along with the other reports of the various sections of the State.

Mr. Speaker, again I request that all the committee announcements that have been read from the floor today be posted on the bulletin board in the hall of the House for next week's Committee meetings.

SENATE

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 16, 1959.

The Senate met at 3:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John Morgan Davis) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, DOCTOR E. H. MILLER, Pastor of the First Methodist Church, Duquesne, offered the following prayer:

I wonder if we might pause just for a moment to remember Secretary of State Dulles in our prayers.

Our Father, those who have been chosen by the people's majority of this Commonwealth assemble themselves together between the birthdays of two of our Nation's greatest Christian statesmen. May this be a reminder to them that greatness comes out of the humility and meekness which was always to be found in these great Presidents, and in the approach to the problems of life by all truly great men.

Strong men serve in whatever capacity assigned, without boastfulness and without pride. Give, then, we pray Thee, to the Governor of this Commonwealth and to these of the governing Body of this Upper Chamber the knowledge that is commensurate with their high office, and the wisdom to know how best to use that learning. Make them keenly aware that honesty in high office is a prerequisite to solvency for all, and that which brings peace to the individual who possesses it.

Bless the endeavors of this Body that are high and ennobling, and forgive any attempts by those who, in weakness, may be tempted to serve self rather than the common good.

In the Name of Christ Jesus, our Lord, Who came not to be ministered Unto, but to minister, we pray. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. PECHAN and Mr. BERGER, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WALKER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, for some time, we have been plagued with the evil of department heads overspending their budgets. Today, we are confronted with the problem of raising millions of dollars to pay deficiency appropriations. I think it is high time that the Legislature began to do something about this. What is the use of holding budget hearings and setting up budgets if department heads are going to exceed their budgets, and spend what they will and then come in and ask for deficiency appropriations?

Mr. President, I believe the bill I am about to introduce will correct this situation.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, I would like to present to the Chair, in order for it to be spread upon the Legislative Journal, an article which appeared in one of the newspapers on Lincoln's Birthday. It is entitled, "States Netted So Much From Racing."

The PRESIDENT. The article offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. DiSilvestro, will be spread upon the Journal.

STATES NETTED $222,049,651 FROM RACING

Jersey's $23,886,610 Third Largest Take;
N. Y. Got $81,459,392

By United Press International

Legalized betting on horse racing enriched 24 states by a total of $222,049,651 in 1958, topping the previous record year by over $5,000,000.

That was the report today from the National Association of State Racing Commissioners, a bureau which first started keeping such records back in 1934 when the nations bettors enriched state treasuries by a mere $6,024,193.

The previous record year was 1957 when the "painless taxation" yielded the states $216,747,621.

$3,038,654,310 Bet

According to the association's report, a total of 43,372,670 persons bet $3,038,654,310 during 5,348 racing programs of all types during 1958, including thoroughbreds, harness, quarter horse and county fairs.

New York, of course, took the biggest share of the cut. Because of the state's 11 per cent tax on pari-mutuel betting, the state realized an $81,459,392.

California was second with a take of $27,110,235, followed by New Jersey with $23,886,610; Illinois with $17,266,924; Florida with $13,881,032; Maryland with $9,257,810; Ohio with 8,401,270; Michigan with $7,286,978; Rhode Island with $6,960,944, and Massachusetts with $5,832,664 among the top 10.

The other 14 states took their shares as follows: New Hampshire, $3,777,148; West Virginia, $3,547,050; Delaware, $3,438,300; Louisiana, $2,742,435; Kentucky, $2,277,689; Washington, $1,069,445; Maine, $959,964; Arkansas, $881,503; Arizona, $759,714; Colorado, $563,813; Oregon, $398,770; New Mexico, $120,692; South Dakota, $94,950, and Nebraska $84,319.

$11,658,374 in Breakage

The states derived their racing income from several sources with their cut of the betting pools the most important. They got $151,284,512 by taxing bets. And, by keeping oldd pennies to make payoff to the nickel or dime. They hauled in $11,658,374 more in breakage.

They picked up an additional $2,311,795 in admission taxes while track licenses realized them another $1,207,189 and occupational licenses $300,666. Miscellaneous sources, such as uncashed tickets, fines, lead pony fees, etc., yielded $1,504,994.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, on behalf of Senator Propert, Senator Kessler and Myself, I am offering a resolution but prior to doing so, I ask unanimous consent to make a statement.

The PRESIDENT. There being no objection, the gentleman may proceed.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, one of the burning problems before the Official Family of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, including both the Executive and the Legislative Branches, is the matter of public education and the condition of our schools.

A few weeks ago, this matter was brought to the attention of the Senate and, according to newspaper accounts, the House of Representatives, as well. A resolution was introduced, referred to the Committee on Education and a hearing held. At that hearing, the Department of Labor and Industry was represented by the Secretary, Mr. Batt, and assistants. Secretary Batt stated before that Committee that there were 7,000 public school buildings in Pennsylvania; that they had sent their inspectors around to some 1,000 of them; and that they had issued change orders for correction for 712 out of the 1,000. One hundred and fifty of them were orders requiring substantial structural changes.

Mr. President, I do not know anything about Secretary Boehm's personal office, but last week I had an opportunity to visit in the Education Building and I happened to go into the office which is being very much overhauled and on which a great deal of money is being expended, according to a statement by one of the workmen in the building. I do not know how much of a fire hazard exists by the very deep carpet which is in that office, and I do not know how much danger there is in the marble floors and marble walls that are in that office.

I might say, at the very outset, that I am not purporting, for one minute, to end the honeymoon of cooperation between the Executive Branch and the Legislative Branch. Newspaper reports have it that Secretary Boehm, of the Department of Public Instruction, is a registered Republican and a carry-over from the last administration.

Mr. President, I should like to call to the attention of the Members of the Senate an editorial which appeared in this morning's Harrisburg Patriot. I will read the first paragraph in the hope that it will create some interest:

"We wish Gov. David L. Lawrence well indeed, and promise him all-out support, if he endeavors to come up with a couple of deeds to back up his words that it just doesn't make sense to use Pennsylvania's multi-million dollar network of public schools only five days a week for six or seven hours a day and only nine months a year."

That is the beginning paragraph of the editorial.

My statement in connection with Secretary Boehm's private office is as follows:

This Administration and the previous one pledged to the citizens of the Commonwealth economy of governmental operation. The General Assembly is properly economy-minded and presently striving desperately to find funds to finance the deficiencies of the Leader Administration and new taxation for greatly increased costs of the Lawrence Administration.

According to information from reliable sources, at this very moment of legislative dilemma, the Superintendent of Public Instruction is remodeling a room in the Education Building to install Pennsylvania's finest and most exquisite conference room, at an estimated cost of $100,000. The Superintendent reputedly sent staff members to New York, Alabama and Georgia, at State expense, to inspect conference rooms so thatthis one would have all the finest appointments. Out of the dust and dirt of construction, reports are, will come a room seating sixty people, air-conditioned, sound-proofed, rollaway maps, flashing lights, stereophonic sound, electronic gadgets for reproduction, recording and viewing.

Last year, the Superintendent reputedly spent more than another $100,000 tearing out walls, changing doors and hallways to install temporary metal and glass eye-high office desk partitions. This also included removing opaque glass from 300 doors to install clear glass. The 300 one-quarter inch, 26 x 32 glass removed were discarded.

Last fall, the Superintendent held the last of many State-wide conferences. This one, at the Harrisburg William Penn High School, called together 700 college, city and county school officials to poll them on a series of educational questions. Twenty educators struggled a month in the Department setting up the questions. While no funds were budgeted at the State or local levels for this conference, it cost indirectly at least $100,000.

This is the same Superintendent who has forced upon county superintendents of schools excessive sums in advance payment for operation of special educational classes. In several instances, he reputedly increased county superintendents' requests from $8,000 to $80,000. The result is that local school funds have an estimated $4,000,000 of State funds in bank in excess of their needs.

This is the gentleman who has declared an established policy that after 1961 every schoolteacher must have at least five years of preparation. How can this be reconciled with the teacher shortage, beginning low wages and constant shift in the school curriculum? Also, how can this be reconciled with the local school district squeeze on funds to eliminate reputed safety hazards uncovered in the recent inspections by the Industrial Board, referred to previously?

It is also charged that this same gentleman has pursued the following policies that are at variance with economy and, perhaps, legal administration:

1. Has permitted and, perhaps, practiced the removal of noncertified teachers' names from local school district reimbursement applications to the Department of Public Instruction in order to escape the legal penalty for employment of noncertified teachers.

2. Has permitted and, perhaps, practiced the charging of unjustified items of expenditures to special education accounts at the local level in order to have such excessive accounts charged in full to State funds.

3. Has arbitrarily increased the requirements for school building regulations which has greatly increased the cost of construction and equipping of school buildings.

4. Has arbitrarily advanced school building projects in defiance of law to give preferential status to certain school districts.

5. Has charged items of expense to budgets which were clearly in violation of the legislative language and intent of the Assembly in enacting the budget.

6. Has continuously employed a personal car-chauffeur, at a salary exceeding $10,000, giving him a Bureau Director title without bureau function or staff.

7. Has mismanaged the staff of the Department of Public Instruction and the orderly procedures of administration to the point that frustration, chaos and resentment are common, and then declared that anyone using the term "chaos" or "confusion" would be immediately dismissed.

Now, Mr. President, these allegations are made in spite of figures published in a report dated January 1958, by our own Joint State Government Commission and released on January 24, 1958. Among the wealth of information in this study were certain statements, on page 20, such as the following:

". . . in 1937-39, there were 32 teachers per 1,000 pupils; while in 1953-55, there were 39 teachers per 1,000 pupils . . . "

". . . The percentage contribution of the Commonwealth increased from 15 percent in 1937-39 to 42 percent in 1943-55 . . . "

" . . . for every $10 spent per pupil during 1937-39 over $22 was spent in 1953-55. State subsidies increased to $60 per pupil in 1953-55 for each $10 in 1937-39 . . . "

Is it any wonder, gentlemen, if the rumors outlined herein are correct, with such alleged mismanagement at the summit, that it would seem to set by example a very careless policy for the able and somewhat confused school directorate all over the Commonwealth, who give so liberally of their time and effort toward managing a stable school system for our children.

SENATE RESOLUTION

SENATE COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE THE REDECORATION OF THE OFFICES OF CHARLES H. BOEHM, SUPERINTENDENT OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION

Messrs. WADE, PROPERT and KESSLER offered the following resolution (Serial No. 11), which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, February 16, 1959.

It is rumored from reliable sources that the Superintendent of Public Instruction, Dr. Charles H. Boehm, is in the process of expending approximately $100,000 to redecorate his suite of offices and that within the past twelve months he has remodeled rooms adjacent to his private office at a similar cost. If these rumors are true, it is difficult to understand why such extensive alterations and beautifications are being undertaken at a time when our public schools need every available dollar to carry on the education of our youth. The amount being expended, if properly applied, could undoubtedly prevent certain schools from being closed as fire hazards.

Such an expensive undertaking is certainly not in conformity with the purported economies to be affected by our new administration.

It is recognized that responsible officials of our Commonwealth should be provided with adequate offices, but a line should be drawn between that which is necessary for comfort and efficiency and that which constitutes luxury and reputed sheer waste of tax moneys; therefore, be it

RESOLVER, that the Presidentpro tempore of the Senate appoint a committee of five Senators to investigate the truthfulness of rumors relating to the redecoration of the offices of Charles H. Boehm, Superintendent of Public Instruction, and further fiscal policies of his administration and expenditure of appropriations without budgetary limitation and to determine whether or not such costly alterations and policies are necessary and defendable at this time; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee so appointed shall report back to the Senate its findings and recommendations as soon as possible.

REQUEST THAT RULE 39 BE SUSPENDED

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be dispensed with and the Senate proceed to the consideration of the foregoing resolution.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I object to the immediate consideration of this resolution.

Mr. President, this is the first time I have heard of this allegation being made against the Superintendent of Public Instruction. I am very happy that Senator Wade included in his resolution the statement that this is rumor. I believe this matter should be investigated in order to find out whether it is merely rumor or fact.

I also feel badly and my faith has been somewhat shaken by hearing the Senator from Cumberland, Mr. Wade, state that the Superintendent of Public Instruction is a Republican. I always had hopes that some of them could be reconstructed. The gentleman from Cumberland is trying to tell me that they cannot be reconstructed and will continue on their merry way here in spending this money.

Mr. President, I respectfully ask that this matter be considered by a committee, and that the resolution be referred to the appropriate committee for that purpose.

The PRESIDENT. There being objection to the immediate consideration of this resolution, the resolution is referred to the Committee on Rules.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. SEYLER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, this allegation, made by Senator Wade, is also news to me. I have no idea of estimating the validity of the rumors which he alleges he has heard. However, since Senator Wade has attacked a gentleman for whom I have a great deal of respect regardless of his politics, I would like to just say that the idea of a good conference room for the Department of Public Instruction is not at all a preposterous one, and is not one that should necessarily lead this august Body to think that this is a needless extravagence.

Mr. President, I would like to point out that during Superintendent Boehm's tenure of office, this Commonwealth has engaged in a very searching examination of the curriculum of our public schools. This is a movement which is in line with a general realization throughout the Nation that it was time that we did make such a study.

Superintendent Boehm did not decide this in a back room in the Department of Public Instruction. Instead, he brought together what seemed to me, with the exception of myself, some of the best people in the Commonwealth to discuss this problem. Many of the Members of the Senate participated in that conference. I believe the conference was one of the most worth-while conferences that has ever been held, in my time in education, in this Commonwealth. It was not just a talking session. It resulted in a great many specific actions on the part of the Department and also on the part of the State Board, which were passed on to the districts and which have resulted in real changes in the curriculum in the schools of Pennsylvania.

Educators all over the Nation look to Pennsylvania, as a result of this, as one of the States in the movement to provide a good, modern educational system for its students. This applies not only in terms of quantity, not only in terms of material things, such as school building,—all of which are greatly needed—but, more importantly, to what goes on inside of those school buildings.

I do not know how much that conference cost. I do not know whether the figures given by Senator Wade were accurate or not. However, I would say to you that the money spent for such a purpose, in setting the course of the educational program in this Commonwealth, was money which, to my mind, was very well spent. I think Superintendent Boehm is to be congratulated for having taken real leadership and for having proceeded in the manner in which he did, to consult with professionals, lay people, Members of this Legislature and, by means of using all their ideas, came up with an excellent program of education.

It would be beneath my usual code of things, Mr. President, to intimate at all that the gentleman from Cumberland had a ghost writer for his speech. I know that Senator Wade is a prolific and fluent speaker, and I do not want to intimate that that was the case. However, I will say that there are some of us in this Body who seem to recognize a rather familiar style in his ideas, as those of a person who was rather recently connected with the Department of Public Instruction. I do not know what the source of the rumors are, but I would issue this warning to anyone who goes searching for information: It is not wise to take the statements of one who is, perhaps, a disgruntled ex-employee as a basis for the most valid type of information that can be determined about a department. In all fairness, we should not proceed on such a basis; that is, to take action which we might regret later. I think that through the normal channels, the information which Senator Wade suggested he needs can be acquired. I think it should be acquired, and I also think the gentleman, himself, can obtain it. If he cannot, I am certain that the Majority Leader can prevail upon the Department of Public Instruction to furnish him with that information.

Let us not be in a position of attacking a man in a department who, to my mind, has done an excellent and outstanding job and has provided real leadership for the school districts, professional people and all who are concerned with education in this Commonwealth.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. BARR asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, if I were a District Attorney, I would say that was quite a Bill of Particulars. Then, after Senator Wade put in his bill of particulars, he said that perhaps they were only allegations and rumors.

Mr. President, I would ask the Official Reporter of the Senate to provide me with a copy of Senator Wade's remarks. I would also ask, in another week or so, that Senator Wade co-sponsor the bills I am having prepared on cutting down the amount of space that is being allocated in these schools from 850 square feet to 750 square feet. I would like Senator Wade to be a pro-taxpayer and an anti-architect person with me, in order for us to get perhaps four or five sets of architectural specifications drawn up so that we will not have to spend all of this money for these frills that are being used in many school districts.

I hope that this, my last statement, is wrong and that the firing of the brother of the Republican House Member from Cumberland, Mr. Stoner, is not the reason for Senator Wade's speech.

SENATE RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATIONS OF THE SENATE EXTENDED TO J. EARL CARMAN, TRUCK DRIVER OF THE YEAR

Mr. CONFAIR offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, February 16, 1959.

Very few drivers of passenger automobiles can look back over a quarter century of motoring and boast a record entirely free from accidents.

Today, with automobiles, trucks and buses in increasing number making even our more modern highways out of date almost before they are complete, and with expansion of residential, industrial and commercial activity into areas once strictly rural, the hazards of motoring are tremendoulsy increased, and the need for safe and courteous driving becomes daily more important.

It is encouraging and inspiring, therefore, to learn today of the record of a Williamsport truck driver who has, in 25 years, driven a vehicle much larger than our passenger cars, carrying the products of Pennsylvania business, industry and agriculture through a million and a quarter miles of driving in the industrial east without a chargeable accident under the stringent rules of the National Safety Council.

This driver is J. Earl Carman, of 1901 Myrtle Avenue, Williamsport, a resident of the 24th Senatorial District. Mr. Carman drives for one of Pennsylvania's largest common carriers by motor truck, Halls Motor Transit of Sunbury. Last week, he received Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association's coveted Driver of the Year award, from the hands of Governor David L. Lawrence. Mr. Carman was selected by an impartial Board of Judges from among a dozen truck drivers chosen by the same board because of heroism or long records of no-accident driving. He now becomes eligible for the American Trucking Association's National Driver of the Year award.

It seems fitting that such a record of safe driving should be recognized by the Senate of Pennsylvania as an example to all who drive cars, or trucks or buses on our Highways. Therefore, by it Resolved, That the Senate of Pennsylvania send its congratulations and best wishes for many more years of safe driving to J. Earl Carman, Truck Driver of the Year.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, may I inquire whether Mr. Wade's resolution has been referred to committee?

The PRESIDENT. It has been referred to the Committee on Rules, Senator Berger.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. KESSLER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, regarding Senator Wade's resolution, most of us would not object to the exhibition room or meeting room which is being erected in the Department of Public Instruction today if some of the other services that the Department is to perform were not being curtailed.

I visited the Department of Public Instruction last week and saw the construction which was going on. I went to the teachers' certification room and was amazed to find about ten people there when, normally, I think they employ somewhere between twenty and thirty. I know that many teachers have been complaining because they cannot get their new certificates through the Department. The files in that room are so badly lighted that the girls who are working there can hardly see. Typewriters are so old that the lines jump and the girls have difficulty in typing a straight line.

Mr. President, if those conditions were corrected, then I think we might have money left to obtain some of the nicer things that we might like to have in the Department of Public Instruction. However, I do think that Senator Wade's resolution is in order and that probably an investigation should be made.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WADE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I was delighted, indeed, to hear the response of the gentleman from York, Senator Seyler. I know Senator Seyler was very close to the last Administration and is still very close to the Superintendent of Public Instruction, Mr. Boehm.

Also, I appreciated very much the statement made by Senator Barr, the Democratic State Chairman, who is very close to the present Governor. We admire him for it.

I certainly hope that this austerity program, which the Governor has announced and which Senator Barr has espoused, will be carried completely and fully to its termination. I congratulate them on it.

I think every Member of this Senate appreciates that the allegations I made in the resolution and in the statement were preceded by a statement to the effect that I heard these rumors. At the completion of my speech, I said that they are allegations. I also said that I think it is the duty of this Body to immediately find out whether, at the summit of our educational program in Pennsylvania, we are spending sums like $100,000 for reconditioning and new equipment in the Superintendent's own private office and, then, another $100,000 in the three or four offices that he took over in order to make this elaborate setup. I think it is a very profound duty of this Body to find out whether or not that is correct. I am glad that Senator Barr, Senator Seyler and others agreed that that is necessary to be done at this time.

I read in the Pennsylvania Manual that the Education Building was authorized in 1929. It was completed and ready for occupancy in November 1931, which is only tyenty-seven years ago, last November. For such complete renovations and overhauling in offices which are that new, and of the most modern construction, it would certainly seem to me to be unnecessary and we should find out.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MULLIN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, I did not know that the Senate felt it necessary or would feel it necessary to investigate rumors, especially rumors such as these. All that is necessary is a telephone call to the Department of Public Instruction where we probably could get all the information that is needed.

I think that could very easily be obtained anytime that the Members, particularly Senator Wade, would ask for it. I am sure we could have the information in very short order.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. SILVERT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I should like to tell Senator Wade that I will never vote for any resolution or any bill which is based entirely on rumor.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. BERGER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, if this concludes the remarks on this subject, I will have nothing to say. However, I want to point out that this resolution undoubtedly will receive consideration in committee and, no doubt, at some future date, it might form a subject for rather continued debate.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

Mr. ELLIOTT offered the following resolution, which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

REMARKS CONCERNING ADDRESS IN COMMEMORATION OF THE BIRTHDAY OF ABRAHAM LINCOLN

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, last week, I had no chance to submit a typewritten form of my speech on the occasion of the Lincoln Birthday Celebration. Therefore, I am now submitting it and I hope it will be spread upon the Legislative Journal.

Mr. President, I do owe an apology to Senator Kessler, which I wish to voice today in the presence of the Senate.

When the martyred President, Abraham Lincoln, traveled from Philadelphia to Harrisburg, he also stopped at Lancaster and delivered an impromptu speech from his train.

The PRESIDENT. The address of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Stiefel, will be spread upon the Journal.

ADDRESS DELIVERED BY THE HONORABLE ISRAEL STIEFEL BEFORE THE SENATE OF PENNSYLVANIA ON FEBRUARY 10, 1959

LINCOLN AND PENNSYLVANIA

Abraham Lincoln took pride in saying that his ancestors had come from Pennsylvania, and his friendly feeling toward our State was reciprocated by the support of Pennsylvania during the fateful years when the nation was being tested in the fires of Civil War. It was on Pennsylvania soil that Lincoln's ancestors settled before they yielded to the lure of the West—like their neighbors the Boones. Today, as we commemorate the sesquicentennial of the birth of the great martyr President, we take pride in calling attention to his Pennsylvania ancestry, to his visits to Pennsylvania, and to the support which our State gave him in preserving the Union.

Mordecai Lincoln, the great-great-grandfather of President Abraham Lincoln, came to Pennsylvania with his brother Abraham about 1720. Born in Massachusetts, the two brothers had come to New Jersey before 1714, and settled at or near Middletown, Monmouth County. In 1720 Mordecai Lincoln moved to Chester County, Pennsylvania, and about 1728 he moved to Berks County, where he was a neighbor of Squire Boone, the father of Daniel Boone. Mordecai Lincoln was a respected citizen of Berks County. In May, 1728, the Provincial government made him one of the commissioners for the defense of that area against the Indians, and he also served as a justice of the peace and inspector of roads.

Mordecai's eldest son John Lincoln, the President's great-grandfather, was born in New Jersey in 1716. He was a weaver by trade. John Lincoln sold what remained of the Lincoln lands in New Jersey, and bought more land in Berks and Lancaster counties. His son Abraham Lincoln, the President's grandfather, was born in 1744 in Berks County. The family then seemed well established in Pennsylvania, but sometime in the 1760's John Lincoln moved his family to the Shenandoah Valley of Virginia, the first of the moves which carried the Lincolns to Kentucky and Illinois.

But the Lincoln name did not disappear in Pennsylvania. Others of Mordecai's children remained, and there were still Lincoln's distant cousins, living in Pennsylvania when Abraham Lincoln was in the White House. President Lincoln remained fully conscious of his Pennsylvania heritage and connections.

Lincoln's associations with the Keystone State, however, go much deeper than this connection through his ancestors. In February, 1861, while the ship of state was drifting upon the rocks of secession and civil conflict, President-elect Lincoln set out from Springfield on his way to Washington. To reassure the people and to convince them that the breakup of the nation could and should be averted, Lincoln made a speaking tour of the loyal states, a tour which included several cities in Pennsylvania. Speaking at Pittsburgh on February 15th, he pointed out the artificial nature of the crisis, since there was nothing in his program which could justify the course which the Southerners were following. His advice was "to keep cool." "Let the people on both sides of the line keep their self-possession," and the crisis would be over. From Pittsburgh President-elect Lincoln traveled to Cleveland, Ohio, then through New York and New Jersey, and re-entered Pennsylvania on February 21st at Philadelphia, the city of the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution. On Washington's Birthday, speaking in Independence Hall, he gave new and timely meaning to the Declaration of Independence, saying that it "gave promise that in due time the weights would be lifted from the shoulders of all men, and that all should have an equal chance"—that it "gave liberty not alone to the people of this country, but to all the world, for all future time."

The same day, February 22nd, Lincoln went on to Harrisburg where he heard the great Pennsylvania War Governor, Andrew G. Curtin, pledge the support of the Commonwealth to the defense of the Union. In his reply Lincoln stressed his faith in the strength and wisdom of the American people: "I feel that, under God, in the strength of the arms and the wisdom of the heads of these masses, after all, must be my support." At six o'clock in the evening, Lincoln left a banquet given in his honor, boarded the train for Washington, and departed to fulfill his magnificent destiny as the savior of the American nation.

It was just ninety-eight years ago, on February 15th, February 21st and February 22nd, that Abraham Lincoln made these visits to Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, and Harrisburg, where he expressed great ideas which were to guide him during the years when he strove mightily to hold the nation together, always with Pennsylvania's support and backing. Those are dates to be remembered as the anniversaries of Abraham Lincoln's coming home to Pennsylvania, when he renewed his close ties with the State from which his ancestors had come.

Several times during the war years he returned to speak and to draw upon the rich store of faith and confidence in the hearts of Pennsylvanians. Everyone knows of the great occasion at Gettysburg on November 19, 1863, when the national cemetery was dedicated at the place where the greatest battle of the war had been fought in the first days of July. He was not the principal speaker, but was invited to make a "few appropriate remarks." These remarks were an immortal and classic expression of American democratic ideals which can never become tedious through repetition.

Again while General Grant was hammering his way toward Richmond in a campaign which was taking bloody toll of human life, and while Lincoln himself faced a dubious prospect in his second campaign for the Presidency, the President came back to Pennsylvania to speak and to benefit by the rich store of patriotic faith in the hearts of her citizens. Speaking in Philadelphia on June 16, 1864, at a "Sanitary Fair" held by the prototype of the modern Red Cross, he called attention to the importance of voluntary organizations in the care of sick and wounded soldiers and said they proved that "The national spirit of patriotism is even firmer and stronger than at the commencement of the war." This last visit of Lincoln in life to Pennsylvania took place just ninety-five years ago this coming June, another date to be remembered.

The end of the war was actually not far distant; Appomattox and the end of Southern resistance came in ten months. But the joy of victory was soon changed to mourning for the martyr President, victim of an assassin's bullet. In death Abraham Lincoln passed through Pennsylvania for the last time. Late in April, 1865, the funeral train carrying his body came to Harrisburg and Philadelphia on the last journey home to Springfield, Illinois. On April 22, 1865, Lincoln's body lay in state in Independence Hall while more than 85,000 people filed past to pay their last respects. The people of Pennsylvania mourned him then as sincerely as they had welcomed him on other occasions.

Pennsylvania's support of Lincoln's work in saving the Union took very tangible form during the years of the war. On the eve of the conflict the General Assembly had passed resolutions on January 24, 1861, calling upon the Federal Government to maintain its authority and pledging "the faith and power of Pennsylvania . . . to the support of such measures, in any manner and to any extent that may be required of her." On April 18th, after the attack on Fort Sumter had begun the war, the General Assembly by an unanimous vote pledged "the faith, credit, and resources of the State, in both men and money," to the defense of the Union.

Pennsylvania was quick in keeping the promise of its elected representatives. President Lincoln had called for 75,000 volunteers on April 15th, giving Pennsylvania a quota of fourteen regiments, but the popular response in the Commonwealth was so enthusiastic that there were enough men for twenty-five regiments. Local militia companies immediately offered their aid to the Federal Government; five of these companies reached Washington on April 18th to defend the capital. These companies from Reading, Pottsville, Lewistown, and Allentown won the proud title of the "First Defenders."

During the war, Pennsylvania contributed 362,284 men for the Union Army and more than 14,000 men to the Navy, in addition to marines and to milita serving when the State was invaded. To train the Pennsylvania recruits, Camp Curtin was established on the outskirts of Harrisburg, and after the training of the original volunteers, the Federal Government took it over for the rest of the war. Three hundred thousand Union soldiers passed through Camp Curtin while the war continued, and it was also a supply depot, a hospital, and a prisoner's detention camp. There were other camps at Easton, West Chester, Philadelphia, Chambersburg, and Pittsburgh.

Pennsylvania supplied not only men, but leaders. Some of the outstanding officers of the Union Army were Pennsylvanians, including McClellan, Meade, Reynolds, Hancock, and McClure—in all, two commanders-in-chief, twelve major-generals, and forty-eight brigadier-generals. To naval leadership, the state gave Admiral David Porter, who opened the Mississippi, and three Rear-Admirals, Stewart, Dahlgren, and Godon.

Winning the war, however, was not merely a matter of military and naval engagements; it involved the problems of production, transportation, and civilian morale and leadership. Pennsylvania's contributions in these fields were of great significance. Her industrial development, engineering enterprise, and natural resources had largely helped to increase the relative strength and importance of the North before the war, and to provide better transportation facilities. Now the full industrial power of the State was devoted to the Union cause, and its recently developed railroad system, its great iron and steel industry, and its agricultural wealth were major factors in the national war effort. The famous Cramp shipyards of Philadelphia, and other shipbuilders, contributed to naval strength and the marine supply system. At Pittsburgh the Port Pitt foundry turned out a vast supply of cannon, siege mortars, and other ordnance; while in Philadelphia two firms manufactured cannon, rifles, pistols, swords, and other army supplies. Six large ironworks were established in Pittsburgh in one year, and production increased similarly throughout the State.

Today, among the many proud traditions of the Keystone State, none are remembered and cherished more highly than those associated with Abraham Lincoln, son of Kentucky and Illinois, but also—through his forefathers—a son of Pennsylvania. We remember with pride the support given him by Pennsylvanians on the battlefields, on the farms, and in the factories. We honor the recollection of his several visits to the Keystone State. Mementoes of Lincoln in Pennsylvania are numerous, from the Lincoln country of Berks County whence his ancestors came, to Gettysburg where he delivered his immortal address. Even Independence Hall, Pennsylvania's first State House and the birthplace of the Declaration of Independence and the Federal Constitution, takes an added significance from the fact that Abraham Lincoln spoke there on the eve of assuming the Presidency, and lay there in state as a martyr to the Union which had been created within its walls.

In each hour of decision, O God, remind us to call upon Thee for the guidance, the help, and the strength which Thou hast to give. Fill us with Thy counsel and might; and point our feet in Thy way of righteousness.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. FRANK, Mrs. REIBMAN, Messrs. PRENDERGAST and CROSSIN. RESOLUTION No. 23.

In the House of Representatives, February 9, 1959.

It is well recognized in government and business that many of our railroads are in financial difficulties due to loss of revenue and increased costs of operations.

In the past, a profitable source of revenue for the railroads was the passenger accommodations and service they offered to the public, and upon which the public so heavily relied for their transportation. The wide use of the private automobile and the acceptance of the airplane as a means of swift and safe travel have cut deeply into the passenger business and have forced the railroad in many instances to operate this facility at a heavy loss.

Anyone who recalls the great contribution the railroads made to the expansion and development of our country knows what a vital part they played in the growth of our Nation. Anyone who has an eye for the future can readily visualize the even more important role our railroads will fill in the days to come.

In 1958 the Lehigh Valley Railroad, after a long period of service to the people of Pennsylvania and the eastern seaboard, requested that it be relieved of providing passenger service to the area in which it operates. This will cause, even in the light of the increased use of other means of transportation, a serious problem for many people who rely upon the railroad for their means of travel.

As a public utility, the railroads have enjoyed and will continue to enjoy certain privileges and immunities. At the same time certain duties are imposed on railroads—duties as a public utility they have an obligation to fulfill. Other railroads, faced with the same situation as now confronts the Lehigh Valley Railroad, have by a study and change in their method of operation, been able to cope with the problem of a deficit return on passenger service. A continued study and effort on the part of the Lehigh Valley Railroad should result in a solution to their financial difficulties; therefore be it

Resolved, That this House of Representatives hereby urge that the Lehigh Valley Railroad reconsider its position regarding the discontinuance of its passenger service, and make further efforts to make available to the citizens of this Commonwealth and elsewhere this needed service in transportation facilities; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be forwarded by the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives to the members of the Board of Directors of the Lehigh Valley Railroad.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mrs. B. Z. MILLER, Messrs. KEE, STEWART and A. M. LEE. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 24.

In the House of Representatives, February 10, 1959.

Whereas, There is and has existed for many years great disparities in the populations of various wards in the City of Philadelphia, and

Whereas, The continuation of this situation is expensive, unwieldy and results in hundreds of thousands of qualified electors of both political parties being grossly over-represented or under-represented in the City Committees of their respective parties, and

Whereas, Figures on the next decennial census will be available prior to the next Session of the General Assembly in 1961, and

Whereas, Equitable, sensible ward realignment should be effected at that time in coordination with councilmanic and representative reapportionment then due; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That there is hereby created a ward realignment Advisory Commission to be composed of ten (10) qualified electors, citizens and residents of the City and County of Philadelphia, five (5) to be appointed by the Speaker of the House and five (5) to be appointed by the President Pro Tempore of the Senate who shall select from among their number a Chairman with authority to fix each such meetings and hearings as may be deemed meet and said Commission shall inquire into realignment of the wards in the City and County of Philadelphia and shall submit a report to the 1961 Session of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with their recommendations and proposed legislation, if any.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. DAVIS. RESOLUTION (Not Printed)

In the House of Representatives, February 10, 1959.

Miss Janet Kiehl, Marienville, R. D., Pennsylvania, has recently been crowned the State Cherry Pie Queen. Janet, a pretty seventeen year old blonde, who is a student at East Forest Joint High School, in Forest County, recently attained this signal honor in State-wide competition held in York, Pennsylvania. She thereby earned for herself the right to represent the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in the National Cherry Pie Baking Contest to be held on February 18, 1959.

The cooking prowess and good citizenship of Miss Kiehl are indeed worthy of note and she has proven herself to be well entitled to the respect and admiration of us all; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives hereby extends its most hearty congratulations to Miss Janet Kiehl, Marienville, R. PERMISSION TO ADD ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

Mrs. VARALLO asked and obtained unanimous consent to add 8 additional sponsors to a resolution to be introduced by her.

RESOLUTIONS

COMMEMORATING BIRTHDAY OF SUSAN B. ANTHONY

Mrs. VARALLO, Mrs. PASHLEY, Mrs. ANDERSON, Mrs. REIBMAN, Mrs. MONROE, Mrs. MARKLEY, Mrs. MUNLEY, Mrs. B. Z. MILLER, Mrs. KOOKER, Mrs. KERNAGHAN, Mrs. DONAHUE and Mrs. HENZEL offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 16, 1959.

Susan Brownell Anthony was born at Adams, Massachusetts on February 15, 1820, the daughter of Daniel and Lucy (Read) Anthony. She was educated in a school maintained by her father for his own and neighboring children. In the years 1837-38 she attended Friends' Boarding School, West Philadelphia. Upon completion of her formal schooling at the age of fifteen years, she entered the teaching profession and taught for fifteen years.

It was during her teaching career that she realized that women were in effect "second class citizens" and she resolved that women would have equal rights. In the year 1852 she abandoned the teaching profession and organized the first woman's State temperance society in America. In 1856 she became the agent for New York State of the American Anti-Slavery Society. After 1854 she devoted her life exclusively to the cause of woman's rights. During the Civil War she was organizer and secretary of the Woman's National Loyal League. From 1868 to 1870 she was proprietor of a weekly paper, "The Revolution," published in New York and edited by Mrs. Elizabeth Cody Stanton and having for its motto, "The true republic—men, their rights and nothing more; women, their rights and nothing less." She was vice-president-at-large of the National Woman Suffrage Association from the date of its inception until 1892, when she became president. In collaboration with Mrs. Elizabeth Stanton, Mrs. Matilda Gage, and Mrs. Ida Harper, she published "The History of Woman Suffrage."

Susan B. Anthony, a fighting champion of and pioneer for the rights of women until her death at Rochester, New York on March 13, 1906 never gave up hope that women would some day receive the right to vote. She worked tirelessly in eight different states campaigning for a constitutional amendment enfranchising woman. Every year commencing with the year 1869 until her death, she was granted a hearing before committees of every Congress. In 1872 she was arrested and fined one hundred dollars for casting a vote in the presidential election of 1872. She contended that the 14th Amendment of the Constitution of the United States gave her such right. Since her death in 1906, February 15th, her birthday is celebrated as Susan B. Anthony day and on August 25, 1955 a special United States postage stamp was released at Louisville, Kentucky, in her honor; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives commemorate her as a fearless crusader of equal rights for woman whose pioneer efforts towards enfranchisement of woman, although never realized in her life time, became reality by ratification of the 19th Amendment to the Constitution of the United States.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mrs. VARALLO. Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, I am really honored today to have presented to you, on behalf of myself and the other eleven lady Members of the House of Representatives, a resolution commemorating the birthday of a great pioneer whose efforts made it possible for us to be here today as Members of the House of Representatives, Susan B. Anthony, who was born February 15, 1820.

As a pioneer she was unswerving in her desire that women should not be denied the opportuntiy to have an active part in the affairs of the administration of public life. She worked unselfishly and unceasingly toward this goal, and did not allow herself, or those who worked with her, to be swayed from their desire to live up to a motto which they adopted. You heard that motto in the resolution today. The motto was: "The true Republic. Men, their rights and nothing more; women, their rights and nothing less."

We women today who are enjoying equal rights in the thinking and the participation of state government are very fortunate we had a champion for our cause who paved the way. Where there is freedom, there is always strength, and today, the birthday of Susan B. Anthony, we pay homage to her for having paved the way for us.

Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, I ask you to adopt this resolution that I have presented today.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 6

Mr. JIM. Mr. Speaker, I call up on page 4 of taday's calendar, House Resolution No. 6.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 19, 1959.

On September 4, 1758 work was begun on a fortified camp named Fort Ligonier The fort was destined to serve a vital purpose in our history as the "Key to the West" Although severely attacked by the French and Indians one month after work on its construction started all attacks were repulsed and it was never taken by the enemy The fort served as a place of refuge for settlers through the Indian wars and along with Fort Pitt was the only stronghold that did not fall during the Pontiac wars of 1763 After serving through seven colorful and eventful years the fort was officially abandoned in 1765.

In February 1947 an architect was commissioned by the Fort Ligonier Memorial Foundation to supervise a project to establish as far as possible the exact location and layout of Fort Ligonier An accurate topographical survey was made in 1951 and the workings drawings and specifications for the reconstruction project were completed in early 1953,

Early in 1957 the Bi-Centennial Association of Ligonier became officially registered as a nonprofit organization incorporated for the purpose of recalling through proper celebration the valiant exploits of our pioneer ancestors two hundred years ago as they inscribed the name of Pennsylvania and Westmoreland County high on the pillar of eternal fame An untiring effort on the part of the association made possible the success of the celebration held from September 21 to September 27, 1958.

On Monday September 22 1958 the Honorable George M Leader Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania officially opened the Bi-Centennial Pageant entitled "Westward An Empire" which ran triumphantly throughout the week Brilliantly planned and executed exhibitions and tours brought the celebration to a most successful climax

The importance of the niche carved in the history of our country by Fort Ligonier was deeply impressed upon all when on September 26 1958 the Honorable Dwight D Eisenhower President of the United States attended the celebration and in his address referred to Legonier as a "significant outpost in frontier history" and paid reverent tribute to all of those "who kept faith with the spirit of Fort Ligonier and gave to us our land our Nation and our freedom" therefore be it

Resolved That the House of Representatives extend its sincere congratulations to the Borough of Ligonier and to the Bi-Centennial Association of Ligonier for their great work toward reflecting well-earned glory upon the State of Pennsylvania and Ligonier Valley as forerunners of freedom and be it further Resolved That a copy of this resolution be sent to Mr. Frank D Krichbaum Burgess of the Borough of Ligonier Pennsylvania.

HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 10

Mr. GOODRICH. Mr. Speaker, I call up on page 4 of today's calendar, House Resolution No. 10.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 27, 1959.

SENATE

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 17, 1959.

The Senate met at 12:00 o'clock M., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John Morgan Davis) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain DOCTOR E. H. MILLER, Pastor of the First Methodist Church, Duquesne, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray.

We come once more before the Governor of all men, praying that, as we bow, it shall be as those appreciative of the opportunity of another day of service for Thee and for our fellow man. May we realize that every day, however dark or dismal, is a good day and "that we should rejoice and be glad in it," if for no other reason save that you have given unto us the health and vitality to live and labor for the common good, which is always in Thy sight taken to be the greater good.

May we realize that it is not always by our accomplishments that we are measured by Thee, but by our desire to attain the finer things that we are judged. Give then unto these, Thy servants, the representatives of their neighbors back home, to envision their labors and to attain unto the highest good as we feel they would so labor were they here in our places. For Jesus' sake, Amen.

May I take this means of expressing to the Members of the Senate my sincere appreciation for your confirmation of my apointment by Governor Lawrence to serve as Secretary of Commerce of the Commonwealth.

Members of the Senate, individually and as a body, evidenced a real practical interest in and tangible support for the program administered in our Department during the past four years. The Pennsylvania Industrial Development Authority, now a demonstrated success, originated in the Senate three years ago, under the aegis of eight Republican and eight Democratic Senators as sponsors. We in the Department feel close to the Senate for all these reasons.

Pleased be assured that I personally and our staff will go all out to live up to the high responsibility Governor Lawrence and the Senate have imposed upon us.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DONOLOW asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DONOLOW. Mr. President, two weeks ago, this Body took the step of giving Philadelphia complete home rule by passing the amendment to the City-County Consoldiation Bill, which would include the additional offices now out of the Charter of the city of Philadelphia. We, of Philadelphia, feel that this was an excellent step. However, we feel that there is one more step necessary in order to give the people of Philadelphia what they desire.

This being a government for the people, and knowing that the people of Philadelphia are interested in changing their way of living on Sundays in our city, we are interested in introducing this bill which would permit the Council of the city of Philadelphia to legislate as to the worthy activities of business, sports and the sale of liquor in the city of Philadelphia. In other words, Mr. President, we would like to be taken out of the horse and buggy legislation of the Blue Laws, and permit the people of Philadelphia to legislate in their own ways as to the way they want to live on this type of Sunday.

We, in Philadelphia, being one of the largest cities in the United States, are suffering from what most big cities are suffering from today; namely, a destruction in our center-city activities. We find our center-city and our big city becoming a ghost town. We find transportation, parking highways and streets a tremendous problem, along with suburbanitis, with which every large city is suffering.

Chestnut and Walnut Streets, in the city of Philadelphia, were two of the finest shopping streets in the United States. However, if you walk down these streets today, you will find big retail establishments moving and you will find empty and vacant premises, which at one time were flourishing businesses. If you stand at the Delaware River Bridge, Mr. President, during the year and watch the traffic and money leaving Philadelphia and going across the river to be spent at the race tracks, we sometimes wonder what we are doing in Pennsylvania to retain that purchasing power.

I will go one step gurther, Mr. President. If you stand at the entrance of our Delaware River Bridge on a Sunday, you will see the people traveling across the rives to New Jersey or New York to spend their money. It seems unfair to the people in Philadelphia, and Pennsylvania, that those who earn their money in our city and our State should take it across the river to be spent. I venture to say, in all respect, that morally and spiritually the people of Philadelphia are no different than those in New Jersey and New York who enjoy a European Sunday.

Therefore, Mr. President, for the preservation of the city of Philadelphia and to give our people what they want, I ask that this bill be given consideration in committee and if it should be reported from committee, I hope it will give the people of Philadelphia home rule.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. DONOLOW and WEINER read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 282, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 21, 1949 (P. L. 665), entitled "First Class City Home Rule Act," authorizing city council of any city of the first class to legislate with respect to wordly employment, sports, games, diversion or business on Sunday, and with respect to the sale of liquor and malt and brewed beverages on Sunday.

Which was committed to the Committee on Law and Order.

Messrs. MADIGAN and BERGER read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 283, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 3, 1937 (P. L. 1333), entitled "Pennsylvania Election Code," providing for special elections in case of tie votes in certain county-wide elections.

Which was committed to the Committee on Elections.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. J. J. MURRAY, JENKINS, GOLDSTEIN, RIGBY, FOERSTER and WILT. RESOLUTION No. 25.

In the House of Representatives, February 16, 1959.

RESOLUTION ON WORK AWARDED ENGLISH CONCERN

Whereas, The Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA) is seriously jeopardizing American Recovery from the recession by awarding sizable contracts to foreign concerns; and

Whereas, our immediate concern is the loss of a Multi-Million Dollar Turbo-Generator contract to the C. A. Parsons Company of England while the Westinghouse Electric Corporation, East Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania was the lowest Domestic Bidder; and

Whereas, the importation of this electrical apparatus will result in the loss of more than one million man-hours of work for the Westinghouse Electric Corporation employees which is comparable to work for 700 employees for one year or 350 employees for two (2) years; and

Whereas, there will also result in the loss of direct and indirect taxes in the amount of $3,255,500.00 Federal and $363,300.00 State; and

Whereas, during eleven (11) months of 1958 the Federal Government awarded $30,530,114.00 in heavy electrical apparatus contracts and foreign manufacturers were awarded 35% or $10,711,070.00; and

Whereas, we believe that in addition to the effect this policy has on our economy, it is a reckless and hazardous policy for the security of our nation as this equipment will now be dependent on a foreign company, from across the ocean, for maintenance and repair.

Whereas, the government of England stands steadfast in its policy that no equipment as referred to herein shall be purchased by English concerns from a foreign country because of national security; and

Whereas, we believe the Government should look beyond the price alone and evaluate the health of our own economy and the soundness of our national defense; therefore be it

Resolved, that the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby memorialize the President of the United States and the Congress of the United States to establish a congressional committee to investigate the policies of the Tennessee Valley Authority, so that further loss of employment in the United States, at a time when employment is now of grave concern, will be avoided; and be it further

Resolved, that copies of this resolution be transmitted to the President of the United States, the Presiding Officers of each House of Congress of the United States and to each Senator and Representative from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in the House of Representatives.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. BUCHANAN. RESOLUTION No. 26.

In the House of Representatives, February 16, 1959.

New industries indicate that Indiana County has made many industrial and economic advancements through the progressive attitude of its people; however, the area is in dire need of adequate recreational facilities, a prime requisite for their continued development.

Construction of a State recreational park in Indiana County would supply the necessary recreational facilities as well as provide Indiana County, one of Pennsylvania's distressed labor areas, with a new industry during the hunting, fishing and vacation seasons. Such a project would also furnish a vital source of water for the area's growing industrial needs.

The benefit of such a State recreational park would not be entirely local. The strategic location of Indiana County in west central Pennsylvania is easily accessible to the residents of surrounding Jefferson, Cambria, Armstrong and Westmoreland Counties, and is less than fifty miles from Pittsburgh and its urban areas; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives urge the Secretary of Forests and Waters to construct a State recreational park, complete with a dam and adequate facilities, such as boating, fishing and swimming, for the vacationing public; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded by the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives to the Secretary of Forests and Waters.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. SAKULSKY, JIM, MAXWELL and MILLS. RESOLUTION (Not Printed).

In the House of Representatives, February 10, 1959.

BEST WISHES OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES EXTENDED TO JOHN L. LEWIS FOR HIS SPEEDY RECOVERY

Whereas, he is one of the outstanding figures of the century, and

Whereas, the said John L. Lewis has been confined to the hospital because of illness. In recognition of his outstanding service both to labor and to the Commonwealth, be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of Pennsylvania send him greetings and the wishes for a speedy and quick recovery.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

RESOLUTION

HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 25

Mr. McCANN asked and obtained unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of House Resolution No. 25.

The resolution was read as follows:

In the House of Representatives,
February 16, 1959.

RESOLUTION ON WORK AWARDED ENGLISH CONCERN

Whereas, The Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA) is seriously jeopardizing American Recovery from the recession by awarding sizable contracts to foreign concerns; and

Whereas, our immediate concern is the loss of a Multi-Million Dollar Turbo-Generator contract to the C. A. Parsons Company of England while the Westinghouse Electric Corporation, East Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania was the lowest Domestic Bidder; and

Whereas, the importation of this electrical apparatus will result in the loss of more than one million man-hours of work for the Westinghouse Electric Corporation employees which is comparable to work for 700 employees for one (1) year or 350 employees for two (2) years; and

Whereas, there will also result in the loss of direct and indirect taxes in the amount of $3,255,500.00 Federal and $363,300.00 State; and

Whereas, during eleven (11) months of 1958 the Federal Government awarded $30,530,114.00 in heavy electrical apparatus contracts and foreign manufacturers were awarded 35% or $10,711,070.00; and

Whereas, we believe that in addition to the effect this policy has on our economy, it is a reckless and hazardous policy for the security of our nation, as this equipment will now be dependent on a foreign company, from across the ocean, for maintenance and repair.

Whereas, the government of England stands steadfast in its policy that no equipment as referred to herein shall be purchased by English concerns from a foreign country because of national security; and

Whereas, we believe the Government should look beyond the price alone and evaluate the health of our own economy and the soundness of our national defense; therefore be it

Resolved, that the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby memorialize the President of the United States and the Congress of the United States to establish a congressional committee to investigate the policies of the Tennessee Valley Authority, so that further loss of employment in the United States, at a time when employment is now of grave concern, will be avoided; and be it further

Resolved, that copies of this resolution be transmitted to the President of the United States, the Presiding Officers of each House of Congress of the United States and to each Senator and Representative from the Comomnwealth of Pennsylvania in the House of Representatives.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I believe that we in Pennsylvania are certainly deeply interested in the electrical equipment which is being purchased for the TVA by the government of the United States, for we are one of the largest main suppliers of this large electrical equipment, and certainly I believe all the Members of the House are aware that Westinghouse and General Electric in the United States are great suppliers in this field.

We believe the resolution outlines very carefully the things that we are asking the President of the United States and the Congress of the United States to do in regard to any orders of this type. These contracts that amount to many millions of dollars take many man-hours of work of this country and particularly out of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

We certainly hope that this resolution will be passed unanimously and that future consideration will be given very carefully to the American working man.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented extracts from the Journal of the Senate:

Senate Bill for concurrence, No. 60.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. AUKER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, a bill has been introduced concerning the orders issued by the State Department of Labor and Industry, said orders concerning the alleged fire hazards existing in various schools, both public and parochial, throughout the state. It is felt that this bill gives a new approach to the entire school fire-hazard problem, and it is for that reason that I am asking the indulgence of this House to briefly review the facts surrounding the entire situation.

These preemptory orders issued to various school districts, both public and parochial, throughout the state were to the effect that after inspections were made by the field men, and alleging that fire hazards of certain natures existed in the buildings in the school district, it was reported that the buildings concerned be closed down. In some cases they were allowed ten days and in others, such as the Altoona District, only 48 hours to make the necessary corrections and repairs or else the building would be closed down. There was involved, to name a few, lack of fire escapes, fire doors, doors opening inwardly, and especially fire towers. In many instances, the minor corrections could be made, and were pledged to be made by the various school districts affected. However, the erection of a fire tower was an entirely different story, as well as various other structural repairs that were ordered to be made.

I am not criticizing the orders issued, as such in principle; nor am I criticizing the ends sought to be accomplished. Rather I recommend the Department be praised, and I commend the Department and the Administration for the prompt inspection drive made in order to make sure that no fire disaster occurs in any of our public or parochial schools, and to avoid any single life being lost or injury being incurred in case of such school fire. "All to often the door is locked after the horse has been stolen." This is certainly a very true axiom, and an axiom that has been disregarded time and time again in government circles, local, state, and federal circles. I believe every step should be taken that is possible to be taken by the state administration and by local school authorities, both public and parochial, to make sure that no fire disaster occurs in Pennsylvania, but consistent with common sense, logic and the practicability of the steps and orders being able to be put into operation.

I am criticizing the shortness of time given in such orders to make such corrections. Certainly it must receive every consideration that if at all possible, no school will be shut down and the children left without any schooling for a period of perhaps months that could affect the children's entire public school education and record and have very serious repercussions upon the lives of the children.

This brings into consideration the cost of making the temporary and permanent corrections. Where temporary repairs are made with the consent of the Department the cost is not too great. Said temporary repairs to last only of course until the permanent repairs and corrections are made, and this is where the cost factor is a very serious consideration. Let me take for an example, the Altoona School District, which was one of the first, if not the first district to receive such orders, and the orders were to make corrections in 48 hours and not in ten days as the Secretary of the Department testified before the Senate Committee. I have been reliably informed that the cost for all permanent repairs will run into thousands of dollars and perhaps even as high as $300,000; and these permanent repairs would have to be made by September 1, 1959. One can easily see the tremendous impact and problem that poses for the finances in the Altoona School District. Their budget has already been set for the current financial year and the new budget would not go into effect until July 1959. No provisions have been made in the current budget for such costly repairs. This amount is practically 1/6th or 1/7th of the entire budget of the school district for the financial year.

In addition to that, there is the question of the competitive bidding for these large permanent repairs, such as a fire tower. The competitive bidding being required by law, both for the permanent repairs and in many instances for the temporary repairs. Even if the competitive bidding was waived by the Department and all concerned, then you would have the problem of the repairs costing possibly much more than you would have had to pay if competitive bidding would have been put into operation.

In addition there is the problem of being able to get the material for such things as a permanent fire tower fabricated within the time specified, to wit: September 1, 1959. On reliable information I have been informed that it takes anywhere from four to ten months to get these steel stairways and other such materials fabricated, because theer is no set plan or form for them and each requires separate consideration.

In addition, there is also the problem of the waste of the taxpayers' money, for many of the buildings which these permanent costly repairs have been ordered to be made are already in the plans of the Altoona School District, and I feel sure the same are in the plans of other school districts, to be replaced by new modern buildings within the next three to five years. This truly would be money down the drain in that if any other possible way can be devised to reach the same ends sought by the Department and to accomplish the safety measures desired, then certainly those methods should be used rather than those ordered by the Department. If no other way can be found to accomplish the said ends, then certainly that money would not be money down the drain. I would be the last one to say that no amount of money spent to prevent the loss of lives was money wasted, but would certainly be money well spent.

Now, who pays the bill for all these public improvements? There is only one person who pays, and that is the taxpayer, the people through their tax paying dollar. This is true of any governmental operation, whether local, state or federal. Certainly it would be a truism well said that the people of this country do not seem to have awakened to the fact that if they ask for extra government service or additional service, it is they, through their own tax paying dollar, that pay the bill; and it is certainly true that when there is a state or federal agency involved rather than on a local basis, then it is going to cost from 25 to 30 percent more to have it done, than if done on a local level. Therefore, I cannot see that the bill introduced by my honorable colleague, the Minority Floor Leader and my good friend, Mr. Johnson of McKean County, is going to solve the problem.

I firmly believe that what I have said thus far applies not only to the Altoona School District but would apply to all of the school districts, both public and parochial, that have been subject to these orders, and those other school districts that will in the future be subject to these orders from the Labor & Industry Department.

What is the end sought by these orders and what is the purpose of these inspections and orders? Answering that question it is self-evident that it is the prevention of fire disaster and especially loss of life or any injury. I believe it can be assumed as a fact that the thing that started the inspections and orders was the serious and calamitous Chicago School Fire resulting in the great loss of life of children. Whether or not it has been fully and adequately proven just what was the cause of that fire, I am not able to say. From the press it would seem there were different causes. First of all, I believe it was caused by extreme negligence on the part of someone that the fire was even started at all; second, the allowing of trash and paper to accumulate where it could be set afire; third, certain doors not being properly closed; fourth, inadequate means of exit from the second floor of the building; and fifth, the lack of an adequate fire alarm system.

Let us consider the fire cause, the starting of the fire. It is a proven fact that practically all fires are caused by human negligence, carelessness, and neglect. I am not going to dwell on the other causes except to say that every precaution should be taken to avoid any disaster where any fire may get started in any school building, either public or parochial, or any building where an assemblage of any size is being held. The point that I am trying to make, in my feeble way, is to say that if we put the stress and most force and power behind the prevention of any fire, to my way of thinking, this would be the biggest step taken in the prevention of any fire disaster.

This brings me to the points and provisions set forth in the bill that has been introduced. Under this bill, it provides as follows:

Where the Department of Labor and Industry has issued an order for the closing of any school by reason of violation of the state Fire and Panic Act, the order shall be suspended for a period of up to five years, providing that the school district furnishes adequate proof to the Department that the school is being fully patrolled as often as may be necessary, hourly or otherwise, in order to prevent any fires and discover any fires at the inception. It is suggested that if the time period of five years is too long, the Act can be amended to provide for a two year suspension of the order.

Possibly, and this is just a suggestion and not meant as criticism, that considering the seriousness of the situation existing in various school buildings throughout the state and probably various other buildings and auditoriums where assemblages, large and small, are held, that the administration order and summon a fire safety commission composed of the top experts of the state and if necessary of the country, to meet immediately and to see what steps should be taken to meet this serious situation head on and set the proper machinery in motion as quickly as possible to prevent any fires occurring. As I said, time is of the essence.

Your speaker firmly believes that a constant patrolling of all school buildings, possibly every half hour or hour, whatever may be needed, of all halls and auditoriums where there is a public assemblage, would go a long way and perhaps be the biggest step in avoiding any fire disaster.

Under this bill, such patrolling would be an absolute necessity and if the school district did not furnish adequate proof that such was being done, then that building should be closed down without any delay. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I respectfully submit the bill as offered, not in the way of criticism but as a helpful suggestion as to how this very serious problem may be solved and avoid the children being left out of school for a period of weeks or months affecting their entire school record, and having a very serious impact upon the taxpayers of this State, who are already so heavily overburdened.

This bill was drafted, prepared, and presented at the suggestion of the Board of Directors of the Altoona School District; and from what I have been given to understand, is endorsed by other school districts. In fact since yesterday I have been authorized to say that the bill has received endorsement of the State School Directors' Association. The suggestion as to the constant patrolling of the schools was made by a long time experienced director, Paul Reynolds of the Altoona School District, who is also a retired executive of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company; and likewise was suggested by the Honorable Senator Paul Wagner on the floor of the Senate.

I believe the suggestions are very pertinent and I submit the entire matter for your very serious consideration, and certainly hope the administration will take immediate steps to take the best possible way out of this situation, and one that will fully accomplish the ends and purposes desired, and one that will fully accomplish those purposes without any adoption of any additional tax burden upon our already overburdened taxpayers.

MINORITY LEADER ADDRESSES HOUSE

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, yesterday we received the much heralded report of the Tax Policy Committee. I am not going to discuss this morning the taxes recommended in that report. We will want to, of course, study the report and wait for the budget message of His Excellency, the Governor, which I understand will be forthcoming in the next two weeks.

I am, however, this morning going to talk about one of the glaring items in the report, and that is the $170 million deficit which will be the figure, according to the report, at the end of this biennium.

Those of us who were invited down to the Executive Mansion yesterday appreciated the invitation. I think the Governor is showing great deference to the General Assembly in keeping us well informed on matters of great public interest.

While at the parley we received the report, and on just about the first page we read this figure that we are asked to arrive at, the figure of $170 million for the deficit. To tell you the truth, I pretty near fell off my chair when I read that figure. I was amazed and astonished and I am sure that everybody else at that meeting was amazed at that figure. Nobody had heard of such an astronomical figure as $170 million, and I even heard this morning that it is going to run to $176 million.

Now, in observation about the whole matter, here is the way we look at it on this side of the aisle. We say that the Governor of Pennsylvania last year had a duty to the people of this state when he was campaigning for United States Senator, and I would say that our present Governor had a duty if he knew, and I feel he must have known about this deficit, to tell the people of this state exactly the condition that the state would find itself in at the end of the current biennium. I would say that had they told the people of this state that we are operating at a $170 million deficit, instead of saying that the 1957 session of the General Assembly was a do-nothing, spend-nothing legislature, had the people known what the figure would be, you certainly would not be in power in this state today. I do not believe you would have a chief executive in the front office. There would be a Republican there. Because, I am sure, the people of this state do not consider a deficit like that in a two-year period as good government. That is not good housekeeping. That is certainly nothing to brag about, and I am sure that nobody is going to brag about a $170 million deficit in a scant two-year period.

Now we might ask you folks, how come a deficit? What is it made up of? We know that it is, of course, a lag in tax collections owing to the recession. How much of it is new spending; how much of it is spending over and beyond what we appropriated? Just what is the situation that would cause this great state of ours to be in such a careless financial plight during this current biennium.

I will say that by the time this biennium ends, once you have tapped the Motor License Fund and spent the General Fund, have scraped the bottom of every barrel in the state, by May 31st there will not be a dollar left in the State Treasury.

A special session should have been called last summer when the Governor knew the facts. I said that here before. We would have addressed ourselves to the problem. Had there been new taxes needed, I am sure we would have stood up and enacted new taxes. It is too bad to have let it go.

The SPEAKER. Gentlemen, this is a deliberative body. If we once get into the habit of being discourteous on one side of the House you will have discourtesy on the other side and the House will eventually wind up as some sort of a political free-for-all. I hope there will be no derision of a speaker on the floor, regardless of who is talking.

The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. We were in power then, we would have had to do it; you folks would not.

I must say I would not infringe upon the time of the House if I did not think this was a very, very important matter. I think the people of Pennsylvania should know the issues, as I stated the other day. To repeat, I think if there had been called a special session, if we had been told there was going to be x-number of dollars in the red, we would have done something about it then. I am sure that we on this side would have had the courage to have voted taxes. We passed the Sales Tax and other taxes all these years. We passed it for you in 1955 when you were in power. I think we have shown our courage along that line.

I say it is too bad that today the state faces such a huge deficit and I hope that our present Governor, even though he did not do something about it in November when he was first elected, is spending many a sleepless night worrying about it and planning how to get us out of the dilemma.

MAJORITY LEADER ADDRESSES HOUSE

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, first I would like to say that I am sure the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, could not have fallen off his seat yesterday when he was present in the Executive Mansion and listened with great interest to the entire text of he Tax Commission Study Report, for he was pinned in between two worthy Republicans who would not have let him fall down.

But I will say this. It is good to assume that you would do something. But it is a fact that the Governor who was elected to serve in the Executive Mansion has been forthright and rather clear in outlining the fiscal situation of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I think it is a matter of record, as Mr. Johnson has stated, that we will be in Joint Session on Monday, March 2, to receive the budget in this House for the 1959-1961 period. I believe the Governor very wisely has continued to work very closely with all segments of all parties in trying to help find a solution in this financial emergency situation in which the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania finds itself at the end of this biennium.

I am positive that the Appropriation Chairman of the House will present to the House a detailed report outlining the deficiencies that will appear here shortly in March, covering the amount that may appear in the report or may differ in the report.

I am no wizard nor can I gaze into any crystal ball. I too have heard different figures on deficiency totals. I am positive that none of us disagree that there is a deficiency. I am positive that we do agree that we need additional taxes for revenue for the Commonwealth. I am positive that we agree that we must provide the revenue to operate the Commonwealth, and I am confident that we will do that very thing, keeping in mind that the tax measures that will be presented here to raise the additional revenue will be those both you and I believe will be the ones that can solve the present financial emergency situation.

I know that it is easy to say that if the deficiencies had been assumed early in last year a special session would have provided additional taxation. That did not occur. There was no special session. You were in the Majority, and you certainly were right in saying that you would have provided necessary help to pass such additional tax programs. I compliment you and the Members of this House for your extended hand of cooperation in being willing to try to solve this financial emergency situation. I am convinced by the words you have expressed to me that we will be able to solve this situation.

The one thing I would like to say, for a few weeks there seemed to be a period here that some Members objected that there was not too much to do or not too much to grind on that was of deep interest. In a short period of time, the new Governor of this Commonwealth has outlined a timetable at which you were present, stating when he hoped to have the Tax Commission's report. That report was met on the exact date, February the 15th. That being a Sunday, the report was issued on Monday. He stated in January that early in March he would present the budget to the General Assembly. The date has been set: Monday, March the 2nd, the first working day of the month. Each of the timetables is being met.

Again I thank you for your extended hand of cooperation, for I shall listen with pleasure as those who seek other offices in other places will have to decide how they stand before Primary time.

RECESS

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I ask that the House take a ten-minute recess for the purpose of a Philadelphia Democratic Caucus, in the Chief Clerk's office.

The SPEAKER. If there are no objections, the House will take a twelve-minute recess with fifteen minutes as the outside limit. The Chair hears none and a recess is declared.

AFTER RECESS

The time of recess having expired, the House was called to order.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) IN THE CHAIR.

RESOLUTION

COMMEMORATING WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY

Messrs. McCANN and HELM offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanmious consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives,
February 17, 1959.

The contribution of one man to the establishment of our Nation far outshadows that of any other. That man is George Washington, who forever shall be remembered as the Father of the United States. This outstanding Patriot, who forsook the life of ease he could so well have followed, willingly endured extreme hardship to hold together a struggling young nation and to form the nucleus of what has become the leading nation of the world.

The steadfast courage and indomitable perserverance of George Washington, in the face of what to lesser men would have seemed insurmountable obstacles, permitted him to lead our forefathers to victory and the freedom we so greatly cherish. His accomplishments as a soldier, statesman, and as our first President have, throughout the years, served as an inspiration to Legislators and ordinary citizens alike.

The many attributes of this outstanding patriot are indeed worthy of note on this, the 228th Anniversary of his birth; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives pause and reflect upon the memory of George Washington and let the example which he set, serve as a source of energy for us to strive to serve unselfishly and steadfastly toward the betterment of our Commonwealth and our Nation.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. ROBERT W. ORVIS, Rector of Trinity Memorial Episcopal Church, Erie, offered the following prayer:

I have three short prayers. First, I would like to pray for the family of Nations.

Almighty God, our heavenly Father, guide, we beseech Thee, the Nations of this world into the way of justice and truth, and establish among them that peace which is the fruit of righteousness, that they may become the Kingdom of our Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ.

Let us pray for those in authority.

O Lord God Almighty, guide, we beseech Thee, all those to whom Thou hast committed the government of this Nation, and grant to them at this time special gifts of wisdom and understanding, of counsel and strength; that upholding what is right, and following what is true, they may obey Thy holy will and fulfill Thy divine purpose, through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.

Let us pray for this State and the commonwealths.

Lord of power and Giver of grace and wisdom, we commend to Thee all who are engaged in the government of this Commonwealth. Especially we pray for those in the Executive, the Judicial and the Legislative Branches, especially in this Chamber, the Members of the Senate and all who serve in any special capacity. Grant to them clean hands, pure hearts and unfailing devotion to the cause of righteousness. To Thee, merciful Lord, we commend their work, praying that it may be such as will promote Thy work in our midst, to the succor of the poor, the relief of the oppressed, the putting down of all social evils and the redress of all social wrongs. Let all they think or speak or do be for Thy glory and the good of Thy people.

These things we say and ask through Christ, Who is our Saviour and our Lord. Amen.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. At this time, the Chair invites the gentleman from Carbon, Mr. Scott, to the rostrum to preside.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. BERGER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, the resolution which I am about to offer is being offered on behalf of Senator Weiner and all of his Democratic colleagues, and on behalf of myself and all of my Republican colleagues.

For the information of the Chair, the resolution deals with the subject of George Washington.

SENATE RESOLUTION

TRIBUTE TO GEORGE WASHINGTON

Messrs. BERGER and WEINER, on behalf of the Senate Membership, offered the following resolution (Serial No. 13), which was read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, February 23, 1959.

The Republic of America was born because idealistic men of vision were willing to sacrifice themselves and die for that noble concept. The one man who made the greatest contribution to the founding of our nation made also the greatest sacrifice.

George Washington did not die on the field of battle, but he did give his life to his Country. His service to his countrymen began in his youth and continued to his very last years.

Had Washington's personal desires been fulfilled, he would have lived the life of a gentleman farmer at Mount Vernon, enjoying the best of the comforts and luxuries available in his time. But his Country needed him, needed his genius, his strength, his courage, his deep faith in God and his dedication to the cause he served.

In answer to the call, he gave all that was needed in impossible measure. The success of the war depended not only upon his military genius, but more upon his ability to hold defeated men together for another try at victory.

The war won, the infant nation survived only through his skilled hand at statecraft, and his fierce dedication to the concept of freedom.

His profound influence upon the development of our Country can never be measured, nor can it cease to inspire his successors in leadership to meet heroically what may appear to be insuperable problems, therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate today pay tribute to the "Father of our Country," who pledged his life fortune and sacred honor to the noblest endeavor mankind has experienced and to reflect upon the debt we owe this man, a debt he considered paid by the success of his mission.

CONGRATULATIONS OF THE SENATE EXTENDED TO MINORITY FLOOR LEADER

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I would like to have the attention of all of the Members and Officers of the Senate, and also the visitors. I would like to make an announcement which will come as a surprise to some of us, but not to the entire Body.

Mr. President, I understand that last Wednesday evening, in the city of Philadelphia, a very pleasant, momentous and wonderful event occurred when the Minority Floor Leader's wife gave birth to a baby girl, who has been named Carol Weiner. This is Senator and Mrs. Weiner's second child.

On behalf of all the Members of the Senate, I wish to offer our heartiest congratulations to Senator Weiner. We will take the cigars at any time.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I wish to thank the Majority Floor Leader, Senator Berger, for his kind remarks.

I hope this event proves to the Members of the Senate, the Officers of the Senate and all the visitors that all of us do not spend all of our time merely practicing politics.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. LANE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, the adoption of the resolution today, memorializing the birthday of George Washington, brought to my mind a story which I read in one of the metropolitan newspapers of Pittsburgh, yesterday. It concerned George Washington's problems in Washington County.

It appeared that George Washington was a large landowner in Canonsburg and Mt. Pleasant Township, in Washington County. He had some trouble with squatters in the Canonsburg area. Therefore, he left his home in Virginia and traveled to Washington County, which took about seventeen days. He contacted there a gentleman by the name of John Canon, who was the founder of Canonsburg. George Washington requested Mr. Canon to do what he could to collect the rents which were due for properties which he owned in Washington County.

According to the newspaper story, Mr. Canon was not a very efficient rent collector and he did not succeed. George Washington did everything possible in an attempt to persuade the squatters to move off his land, and he could not do it. He traveled back to Uniontown, Pennsylvania, and there he started some court proceedings in order to have these squatters evicted. Eventually, the authorities did evict the squatters. However, after George Washington had gone back to Virginia, the squatters moved back on his land.

Mr. President, I thought it would be germane to the subject here today to tell this little story because we have records in our county of Charters of Land which were owned by George Washington. I think the word "charters" is what they used in those days. As a matter of fact, some of the titles to the land are not really clear because George Washington owned most of Mt. Pleasant Township and a portion of what is now called Canonsburg Borough.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. ROBERT W. ORVIS, Rector of Trinity Memorial Episcopal Church, Erie, offered the following prayer:

I have three short prayers. Let us pray for world peace.

Almighty God, from whom all thoughts of truth and peace proceed, kindle, we beseech Thee, in the hearts of all men the true love of peace, and guide with Thy strong and peaceful wisdom those who take counsel for the nations of the earth,that in tranquility Thy Kingdom may go forward, till the earth shall be filled with the knowledge of Thy love, through Jesus Christ, our Lord.

Let us pray for those in authority.

Lord of all power and giver of grace and wisdow, we commend to Thee all who are engaged in the government of this State, and grant to them clean hands and pure hearts and unfailing devotion to the cause of righteousness. To Thee, merciful Lord, we commend their work. Especially we pray for this Chamber, the Officers, the Members and all who help them in any way, and grant that all may promote Thy work in our midst, to the succor of the poor, the relief of the oppressed, the putting down of all social evils and the redress of all social wrongs. Let all they that think or speak or do, be for Thy glory and for the good of Thy people.

Lastly, let us pray for ourselves.

Almighty God, unto whom all hearts are open, all desires known and from whom no secrets are hid, cleanse the thoughts of our hearts by the inspiration of Thy Holy spirit, that we may perfectly love Thee and worthily magnify Thy holy name, through Christ, our Lord. Amen.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 184, Printer's No. 198, on third reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

SECOND READING CALENDAR

REQUEST THAT BILLS ON SECOND READING CALENDAR GO OVER IN ORDER

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that all bills on today's Second Reading Calendar go over in their order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I wish to inform the Majority Leader that I have amendments to Senate Bill No. 141. I would like to offer amendments to this bill, have the Senate act upon them and then pass the bill over, as amended, so that we may look at it next week.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, if the gentleman does not mind, I would like to look those amendments over, and consider them at the next Session of the Senate. I have a copy of them here. Would that be agreeable to you, Senator Lane?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Potter, Senator Berger.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Potter, Mr. Berger, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BERGER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. LANE. Senator Berger, my thought was that since we are going to pass the bill over in order, if it was printed, as amended, we would then have a better picture of the setup. It is very difficult for me sometimes to picture amendments by going through the bill.

These amendments—a copy of which I sent you—are nothing more than corrective amendments, so I understand. I think we might be able to pass this bill next week if we offer the amendments today and pass the bill over in order, as amended.

I think almost everyone is interested in this particular piece of legislation.

Mr. BERGER. I think that is correct. However, the amendments are longer than two or three lines and I did not have a chance to look at them. Should we not agree on the amendments, then we would have to amend them out of the bill and, consequently, that would take more time.

I do not know the nature of these amendments, Senator Lane. If you say they are merely corrective amendments, then I have no objection to your calling up the bill and offering them.

Mr. LANE. They really are only corrective amendments.

Mr. BERGER. Very well, I have no objection.

SENATE BILL No. 141 CALLED UP

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, now I call up, from page 4 of today's Second Reading Calendar, Senate Bill No. 141, Printer's No. 150.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON SECOND READING AMENDED

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 141, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 24, 1937 (P. L. 2017) entitled "County Institution District Law," increasing the powers and duties of institution districts.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. LANE offered the following amendments:

Amend Sec. 1, page 2, line 1, by striking out "Clause (d) section" and inserting: "Section"; Amend Sec. 1, page 2, line 2, by striking out "to read" and inserting: "by adding at the end thereof a new clause to read:"; Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 401), page 3, lines 2 to 5, by striking out all of said lines, and inserting: "(g) To contract with any individual, association, corporation, institution or governmental agency for the purpose of providing foster home care for persons accepted for care and supervision by the institution district, if in the sole discretion of the institution district such foster home care is advisable. The institution district may expend funds for foster home care for persons accepted for care and supervision by the institution district in addition to any funds paid by the Commonwealth or any individual, association, corporation, institution or governmental agency to or for such persons."

They were agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The title was read and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time, as amended,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading, as amended?

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mrs. VARALLO, Messrs. POLASKI, P. J. MURPHY and BELL. RESOLUTION No. 27.

In the House of Representatives, February 15, 1959.

General Casimir Pulaski, the Polish-American hero of the Revolutionary War gave his life that we, in America, might today be free.

So great was his desire of passing the rest of his life in a country truly free that he offered his services to the American cause for no other compensation than freedom and when he accepted his yearly pay, he used the funds to equip his own soldiers.

General Casimir Pulaski, "Father of American Cavalry" highly distinguished himself as a volunteer in the American Light-Horse during and immediately subsequent to the Battle of Brandywine on September 11, 1777.

The route of the retreat of the Continental Army from the Battle of the Brandywine closely parallels the general route occupied by the Conchester Road and the proposed Chester Expressway in the County of Delaware.

The proposed terminus of the Chester Expressway is located near Leiperville where Washington's Continental Army assembled after its retreat from the Battle of the Brandywine during the evening of September 11-September 12, 1777.

Naming of the Conchester Road—Chester Expressway in honor of the great Polish-American patriot, General Casimir Pulaski would serve as an inspiration for generations to come because of the fierce love of liberty which motivated this great Polish-American martyr; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania request the Governor of Pennsylvania to name the Conchester Road—Chester Expressway (when constructed) as the "Pulaski Expressway."

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. DAVIS. RESOLUTION No. 28.

In the House of Representatives, February 17, 1959.

Farmers and garden owners of Pennsylvania suffer considerable losses from the feeding and preying of birds upon growing crops, vegetable produce and domestic fowls.

Various birds under Pennsylvania statutes are unprotected predators. Nevertheless, depredations of birds continue; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission study the effects of such depredations upon the garden and farm economics of Pennsylvania, with special attention given to the features of (1) whether or not the list of predator birds should be expanded to include more common varieties of birds which feed upon vegetable gardens, (2) whether it be feasible to set up some form of fiscal, actuarially sound, insurance as added protection to farmers and garden owners against such losses, and (3) a review of tested methods for countering the feeding and preying of birds against farms and gardens; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission report to the next regular session of the General Assembly its findings and recommendations with drafts of legislation necessary to carry the recommendations into effect.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. RIGBY, TOMPKINS, DONALDSON and A. W. JOHNSON.

(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 29.

In the House of Representatives, February 17, 1959.

The cost of State government in Pennsylvania has reached such high levels that it is out of proportion to value received by and essential services rendered to the taxpayers of Pennsylvania and their families.

The taxpayer is struggling under a tax load which burdens him and saps his resources. Taxation imposed upon him for support of unnecessary, overlapping and duplicated activities and functions in Pennsylvania State government forces him to contribute to the compensation of many unnecessary State employes and large numbers of unnecessary functions and activities in State government, instead of providing for the education and other necessary activities of his children and other dependents.

The time has come to investigate and take stock of the entire organization of Pennsylvania State government, and to have it impartially investigated so as to enable the General Assembly to enact legislation which will create an efficient government, best suited to provide the now overburdened taxpayer with a full measure of value and essential services unfettered by frills for his tax dollar, and to place his tax liability within reasonable bounds.

A study of taxation alone is insufficient in itself to correct the existing definciencies in State government. The raising of tax money to suport unneeded, duplicated and overlapping functions and activities in government is sheer waste.

A study of the system of taxation in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in conjunction with a study of the State government of Pennsylvania, with a view towards correcting unnecessary, overlapping and duplicated functions and activities of State government and the correction of any evils in the present tax system is a vital and necessary thing in order to properly serve the dire need of the overburdened taxpayers of this Commonwealth for a properly functioning government at the State level without burdening him further by more schemes and ways of raising new and larger taxes, and the foisting upon him of unnecessary services for which he should not be required to pay.

Such an investigation and study of an agency of the State Legislature, which can give proper regard to pertinent facts and needs, and which can factually recommend elimination of useless and wasteful activities, will be a great and needed service to the entire Commonwealth; therefore be it

Resolved, (the Senate concurring), that the Joint State Government Commission be directed to study and investigate unnecessary activities and functions as well as overlapping and duplication of activities and functions in Pennsylvania State government, and the structure of the system of State taxation, with a view to eliminating wasteful, useless and unnecessary activities, and with a view towards finding a tax basis which will eliminate as far as possible the overburdensome features of our present tax structure; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission report, to the next regular session of the General Assembly, its findings and recommendations with drafts of legislation necessary to carry the recommendations into effect.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. DAVIS and GRAMLICH.

RESOLUTION No. 30.

In the House of Representatives, February 17, 1959.

Crop damage by big game has reached such proportions in some areas of the Commonwealth as to cause a considerable loss of income and depletion of food for livestock of the farmers. It is true that we want to keep Pennsylvania the fine hunting ground that it is, but we must also recognize our responsibilities to the persons who suffer because of the abundance of big game; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission study and investigate the problem of crop damage by big game, and determine an equitable and efficient means of providing reimbursement to the persons suffering such damage; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission report to the next regular session of the General Assembly its findings and recommendations with drafts of legislation necessary to carry the recommendations into effect.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

SENATE MESSAGE

AMENDED HOUSE BILL RETURNED FOR CONCURRENCE

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I request that House Bill No. 39 be given immediate consideration.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, returned bill from the House of Representatives numbered and entitled as follows:

HOUSE BILL No. 39.

An Act making an appropriation to The Pennsylvania Industrial Development Authority for the continuance of its operations pending the enactment of the General Appropriation Act of 1959

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

With the information that the Senate had passed the same with amendments, in which the concurrence of the House of Representatives is requested.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Amendments.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Section 1, Line 1, Page 1, by striking out the words "one million eight hundred fifty thousand dollars ($1,800,000)" and inserting in lieu thereof the words "two million two hundred thousand dollars ($2,200,000)."

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I request that the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate.

I would like to bring to the attention of the House that five Members of the House are at the opening hearing of the Mine Disaster Committee.

I ask unanimous consent that Messrs. Musto, Mehol-chick, Reidenbach, Jump, Gibb, and the Speaker, Mr. Andrews, be recorded on the roll call of the House since they are in an official meeting of a Committee of the House of Representatives.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the House give its unanimous consent to record the names of the gentlemen as requested by the Majority Leader?

The Chair hears no objection. The names will be recorded.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, for the information of the Members who may have not been present in caucus as well as other Members of the House, House Bill No. 39, as amended in the Senate, deals with an additional appropriation to the Pennsylvania Industrial Development Authority.

When it passed the House, it carried the sum of one million, eight hundred and some odd thousand dollars. A situation has arisen in which another industry of great importance can be secured for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and the Senate has added an additional amount to House Bill No. 39, making it two million, two hundred and some odd thousand dollars.

Mr. Speaker, I believe, as I stated earlier, all of the Members of the House should concur in the amendment placed in the bill by the Senate.

On the question recurring,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the House give its unanimous consent. The Chair hears no objection.

The Chair declares a recess for 20 minutes for the purpose of holding a Republican caucus.

AFTER RECESS

The time of recess having expired, the House was called to order.

Mr. LOPRESTI IN THE CHAIR

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 75, entitled as follows:

An Act amending the act of June 28, 1895 (P. L. 408) entitled as amended "A supplement to the twenty-fourth section of an act entitled 'An act to provide revenue by taxation approved the seventh day of June one thousand eight hundred and seventy-nine' * * * providing for the payment by the State Treasurer of the two per centum tax on premiums paid by foreign fire insurance companies to the treasurers of the several cities towns * * * within this Commonwealth" providing for the audit of certain funds by the auditors or controller of certain political subdivisions.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, will one of the sponsors of this bill consent to be interrogated?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Clearfield, Mr. Breth. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BRETH. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, does the sponsor of this bill believe in economy for local government?

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, I believe in economy for all government.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, is it not true that under this bill the costs of the audits will be passed to the local governments?

Mr. BRETH. Not necessarily, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, will the sponsor of the bill explain what this means: " . . . the expense of said auditor shall be paid by the political subdivision in which the fire department or fire company is located. What does that mean?

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, Sunday I attended a meeting of a considerable number of these Firemen's Relief Associations and the matter of payment for these audits came up. It was unanimously agreed that in the event the township or the political subdivision so desired the local association would be glad to defray the local costs of the audit.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Well, Mr. Speaker, if that be the intention of the local fire company, why not hold the bill over and have it amended so that the local fire company can pay this cost and make into law their promises?

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, being from a rural area, I am quite familiar with the volunteer firemen's program and also the program of the Firemen's Relief Associations, and in my particular township, the borough in which I formerly resided, and a great many other areas that I have made it a point to contact, I can say this: The feeling there is that the volunteer fireman gets little enough in the way of protection and most of the townships and boroughs would be glad to absorb such auditing costs within their current budgets.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, is the gentleman familiar with the fact that in Allegheny County a grand jury investigation disclosed improper use of funds by the diverse local volunteer fire departments?

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, that is an old, old chestnut that has been boiled and roasted and taken apart for a good many years.

The fact that these bills are before us is part of the reason that the volunteers have gone to this length to slay that ghost. In other words, Mr. Speaker, back over the years there have been certain rumors, certain investigations which turned up certain facts regarding the use of these funds, but as a whole, in the 17 hundred odd relief associations in the state operated by the volunteer firemen, the moneys have been well used, and used for the purposes for which they were originally intended.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Now, Mr. Speaker, under the provisions of this bill if the auditors who make this audit wilfully make an incorrect statement of the affairs of the volunteer fire company what penalty, if any, is provided under this act for their illegal action?

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, what penalty is provided if an auditor makes a wilful erroneous statement in any audit that he makes?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I am asking what is provided for in this particular bill, because in this bill they give additional duties to an auditor and there are no penal provisions, and then, of course, he could not be punished.

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, I can not answer that question except in that event I imagine the due process of law will take care of the situation.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. Speaker, I am conversant with the wonderful work being done by volunteer fire companies in Allegheny County and throughout the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. These gentlemen give up their time, and in many instances their lives in order to protect the community in which they reside. I agree with the gentleman from Clearfield, Mr. Breth, that of the 17 hundred companies involved the great majority are honest and want to do the right thing, but certain guideposts must be established by the Legislature in order to make certain that those individuals, few in number, will not stray from the proper path.

I call to your attention this particular bill that has certain features which are unsound. First, it passes the obligation on the cost of the audit from the local companies themselves to the various boroughs and townships. We today are burdened by taxation to the nth degree. We feel it is improper that the boroughs and the townships and the taxpayers should have this additional burden.

In addition, we do not regard an audit of local fire companies by local auditors, many of whom are members of the department themselves, is a sound legislative and safety measure. I call to the attention of the Members of this House that you are allowing an audit to be made by the man who if he makes a wilful misstatement in his report there is no penal provision provided.

I believe the answer to this situation is this: there should be a qualification of the law in its entirety so that the rights and obligations of the people who handle the funds of the volunteer fire department as pertains to fire insurance premiums, can be properly handled.

If my recollection is correct, the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania was compelled to return certain cases to the courts of Allegheny County for study because it was uncertain as to what the obligations of the people who received these funds were and are. We feel that this bill is not in the public interest. It is a raid upon the taxpayer back home and we intend to vote against it.

In summary, I would like to say this: I intend to vote against it although I have the greatest respect for the volunteer fire departments, nothwithstanding they want to use their political influence against me hereafter.

Mr. McCANN. I believe the gentleman from Allegheny is certainly a well-versed, brilliant man in local governmental laws as well as state laws, and I believe he is aware at this time that a borough or township auditor can receive only a maximum amount of money in any given calendar year for auditor work, period. I think he is well aware that this audit, being done by either borough or township auditors duly elected as auditors of either the borough or township, falls under the same penalty provisions if they would wilfully, knowingly falsify any audit. That is law, and has been law for quite some time. I am sure the learned gentleman is well aware of that.

Passing any additional costs, is this not saving money that is now charged to perform a function or duty, and would not this bill actually guarantee to the various recipients, the relief associations of the volunteer firemen, that additional amount of money that would be deducted to audit such funds, with no additional cost to any township or borough as far as the maximum amount of money paid to duly elected auditors to perform their proper duties and functions? If this is the case, then I feel that the House should be well aware that we are both trying to save money and not pass on to any local government of any political subdivsion any additional costs.

Mr. Speaker, I certainly listened to the sound reasoning of the gentleman from Allegheny as he debated the measure before the House. I think the bill is very clearly written, and I agree with the debate of the gentleman from Clearfield, Mr. Breth, and I ask that the House do support this bill on the roll call today.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I am appreciative of the laundatory remarks the Majority Leader has made about my knowledge of the law, and following that up I would like to state it is my opinion that since additional burdens are placed upon auditors they would not be subject to penal provisions, and certainly they would be entitled to additional compensation under the provisions of this bill.

As I said originally, I think this bill should be clarified and the obligations and duties of the auditors in anything else like this bill should be spelled out precisely.

The gentleman from Greene County, the Majority Leader, says it is no cost upon anybody at all. It is certainly a cost upon the taxpayer of the township in wich he lives. The history of these funds is such that they demand audit. And I think the audit should be independent, and the audit should make sure the fire insurance premium proportion which the various companies receive are properly spent.

It is my firm opinion that no penalty clauses would be attached to auditors who made a misstatement in their reports, and I disagree with his analysis of the law.

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, I just want to say a few words. I believe that every Member outside of the big cities is very familiar with this problem. I think they know how their volunteer firemen back home feel about it. I think they know that at the present time there is a terrific amount of money which shall be taken from the fund in case the audit is continued under the present setup, and I wuolud remind them that only last year, or in the last few months, has their audit been begun.

I would also remind them that I for one think many of them will agree with me in the fact that I have perfect confidence in my own citizens back home, in my own fire company and in the fact that this is a real part of local government,—these funds, these relief associations, these fire companies—and they at least deserve the opportunity to have this bill, which they practically all support, passed today. Therefore I would ask all Members of the House to vote in favor of House Bill No. 75.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

By Mr. FRANK. RESOLUTION No. 32.

In the House of Representatives, February 16, 1959.

The importance of cranberries as a nutritious food and as a decorative item is well known to young and old alike.

It is of the utmost importance that no item be overlooked which can contribute to the completeness of meals served in homes or in restaurants. Cranberries and cranberry sauce, long relished foods which have been appreciated during the holiday seasons of Christmas and Thanksgiving, can admirably make this contribution throughout the year.

During the recent "Cranberry Crusade" the desirability of serving this food as a compliment to other dishes was explained to housewives and chefs; therefore be it

Resolved, That this House of Representatives hereby recommend that restauranteurs serve larger portions of cranberries in their restaurants in order to enhance the nutritive value of the meals and to satisfy the desire of the patrons for this desirable delicacy.

By Messrs. A. W. JOHNSON, HELM, Mrs. ANDERSON and Mr. McCANN. RESOLUTION No. 33.

In the House of Representatives, February 24, 1959.

It is recognized that the population in the greater Harrisburg area, the Pittsburgh and Philadelphia areas, as well as in other urban areas throughout the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, has increased and continues to increase at an accelerated rate; and

These great urban centers have been and are afflicted by the existence of slums or extensive areas of blight; and

There is and has been a necessity to provide adequate and proper housing facilities to meet this need created by the increases in population and to remove from our urban centers slum and blight; and

The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the Federal government, aware of the foregoing situation, have enacted legislation to cope with same by the creation of public housing and urban redevelopment authorities; and

Public housing authorities and urban redevelopment authorities have been clothed with the power of eminent domain to enable them to carry out their functions effectively; and

The power of eminent domain is a power which is possessed under the law by not only public housing and urban redevelopment authorities but also by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, by its political subdivisions and agencies, by various and sundry authorities created by the Commonwealth and by many of its subdivisions and by public utilities; and

There has been within the past decade a more and more frequent exercise of the power of eminent domain by the possessors thereof and a greater application of this power to large sections of urban centers which are heavily populated; and

Such application, involving large segments of the population, in many instances numbering in the hundreds and in at least one instance in the thousands, has resulted in the temporary dislocation of the persons and family groups affected and has necessarily created hardships, economic and otherwise, for them; and

It is believed that the existing statutory provisions setting forth the procedures to be followed in the exercise of the power of eminent domain are inadequate to cope with today's problems, although perhaps they were adequate in the past; and

There is a pressing, urgent and essential need to provide procedures in the exercise of the power of eminent domain which, not only will assist the various agencies possessing such power to carry out their objectives effectively, but also will expedite the entire condemnation proceedings from their institution to their final disposition so that damages might be paid to the persons affected in as short a time as possible to enable particularly those who are home owners to relocate themselves and to relieve as far and quickly as possible economic hardships; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Speaker of the House of Representatives appoint five members of the House who shall constitute a committee to make a thorough study of the subject of eminent domain and its current application as affected particularly by public housing, slum clearance and urban redevelopment, and also as it affects the owners and occupants of real estate subjected to eminent domain or condemnation proceedings; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee may meet, hold hearings, and take testimony. It may issue subpoenas under the hand and seal of its Chairman, commanding any person to appear before it and to answer questions touching matters properly being inquired into by the committee and to produce such books, papers, records and documents as the committee deems necessary. Any person who wilfully neglects or refuses to testify before this committee or produce any books, papers, records or documents shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of the Commonwealth in such cases. Each member of the committee shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before the committee; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee make a report of its recommendations for appropriate legislation to the current Session of the General Assembly to amend, correct, or codify the existing statutes relative to eminent domain and condemnation proceedings, so that the resulting statutes are adequate to meet requirements of the present day, and so that people to whom compensation is due, receive such compensation quickly and expeditiously.

RESOLUTION No. 34.

In the House of Representatives, February 24, 1959.

A great many heads of families follow the occupation of operating motor vehicles for a livelihood. Any disruption of this right to operate motor vehicles imposes great hardship on the operator and his dependents, as well as seriously impeding the flow of goods and products essential to our National economy and the financial well being of this Commonwealth and its many communities; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives requests that the Secretary of Revenue refrain from suspending the operating privileges of motor vehicle operators during such hours as the operators operate motor vehicles for the purpose of earning a livelihood, and restrict such suspensions to such hours as will not interfere with professional motor vehicle operation.

In the House of Representatives, February 24, 1959.

During the month of May, 1959, the Society for the Promotion of Kalmyk Culture will celebrate their fifth anniversary as a non-profit organization devoted to the study of the history and culture of the Kalmyk people and of the kindred Oirats. This is an organization of Russian-Mongolians of the Buddhist faith who came to the United States in 1952 and 1953, under the Displaced Persons Act and the majority of which located in Philadelphia where they quickly adjusted themselves to their new homeland.

The main functions of the society are the maintenance of a library, publication of scholarly and literary materials and the organization of activities in the field of Kalmyk studies, the promotion of Kalmyk language and religious schools for children and the sponsorship of a scholarship fund for Kalmyk students in institutions of higher learning.

The Kalmyks originally inhabited the present province of Sinkiang in western China, north of Tibet, and are one of the few remaining representatives of the western branch of the Mongolian race. After the Russian Revolution, they became victims of the totalitarian regime and they were expelled from their native land after resisting attempts to collectivize their entire existence.

The society and its members should be congratulated for their dedication to the principles of liberty, truth and justice in social relations and their nobleness and consciousness in personal conduct and unrestricted mercy in the treatment of all living creatures. Praise should also ring out for their ideals of moral self perfection and their steady aspiration toward the affirmation of spiritual and moral values; the idea of brotherhood among people and the peaceful cooperation of nations and states.

Congratulations should also be given for a job well done to the Friends Neighborhood Guild, the Immigration Service of the Church World Guild and the many other organizations who supplied generous help and moral support and who worked so untiringly and selflessly to bring these people to the United States where they are free to enjoy their religious and intellectual freedom; therefore be it

Resolved, That the members of the House of Representatives of the General Assembly extend their heartfelt congratulations to the Society for the Promotion of Kalmyk Culture on their fifth anniversary; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be sent to the society and its chairman, George Zagadinov at 1539 N. Sixth Street, Philadelphia, to Elizabeth Campbell, Executive Director, International Institute, 645 N. Fifteenth Street, Philadelphia, to Francis Bosworth, Director, Friends Neighborhood Guild, 703 N. Eighth Street, Philadelphia and Pearl Buck, Bucks County, Pennsylvania.

In the House of Representatives, February 10, 1959

Miss Janet Kiehl, Marienville, R. D., Pennsylvania, has recently been crowned the State Cherry Pie Queen. She thereby earned for herself the right to represent the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in the National Cherry Pie Baking Contest to be held February 18, 1959.

Resolved, That the House of Representatives hereby extends its most hearty congratulations to Miss Janet Kiehl, Marienville, R. D., Pennsylvania, upon being crowned the State Cherry Pie Baking Queen and wishes her the very best of luck in her quest to attain the National Cherry Pie Baking title; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to Miss Janet Kiehl, Marienville, Pennsylvania.

MAJORITY LEADER ADDRESSES HOUSE

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, we moved through today's session in a very orderly manner after such a beautiful, hectic night in which we enjoyed the wonderful hospitality of our friends on the other side.

I would like to say it was a pleasure to be among so many fine, distinguished ladies and gentlemen in the great City of Brotherly Love named Philadelphia last night. There are a great number of Republicans centered in that city and we enjoyed listening and enjoyed talking very much to all of the people who are deeply interested in Pennsylvania's industrial and manufacturing problems of which our state is one of the leading in the Nation.

I would like to say that it has taught me one lesson. In the future I will never express whether I was or was not invited before someone asks me, but I will say that I enjoyed very much the opportunity, as did the other Democratic Members, including our great Governor, who saw fit to be present among that distinguished group in the Bellevue Stratford and listen to the great problems of the Nation that were discussed there by the disguished speaker, the Senator from the great State of Utah.

I do hope that in future years this great organization will continue to work with both of the political parties of our state in trying to help solve some of our most distressing problems that certainly are a part of prime importance and responsibility.

I would again like to say, in behalf of those of us who enjoyed the trip to the city of Philadelphia last evening, and returned late during the night that it was most enjoyable company, the food was excellent, the atmosphere was wonderful and the speeches were great in content.

I again thank you in behalf of those of us of the Democratic party who were so graciously invited, and assure you that we felt lost since we were so few among that distinguished group, but we certainly felt at home among our friends.

Mr. SPEAKER. May the Chair second that puff of perfumed hot air?

With the permission of the Majority Leader, the Chair recognizes the Minority Leader.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I was just wondering whether we on this side of the House are going to receive complimentary tickets to Genevieve Blatt's testimonial dinner.

The SPEAKER. The Chair delegates the Majoritly Leader as the person most likely to reply in eloquent terms to that particular question.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I will make an offer now that I am sure has never been tendered me in past years.

I have always bought more than one ticket for any of our state-wide dinners, and I will buy and pay for the ticket of which Mr. Albert Johnson, the honorable gentleman from McKean County, will be the recipient for Miss Genevieve Blatt's great dinner on May 5. It is unassignable to anyone else except the gentleman from McKean.

Many Memberse have asked about bringing guests to the Joint Session. Certainly all of our House Members are entitled, if they see fit, to bring their wives, or as the case may be, the girl friend, to the Joint Session —remember all are not married in the Hall of the House —on Monday at 5:00 p. m. Space will be provided to the best of our ability for seating our guests.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1959. 143rd of the General Assembly.

Vol. 36. HARRISBURG, PA., MONDAY, MARCH 2, 1959. No. 18.

SENATE

MONDAY, MARCH 2, 1959

The Senate met at 3:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John Morgan Davis) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. HARRY T. RICHWINE, Pastor of the Salem Evangelical Lutheran Church, Lebanon, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray.

God of our fathers, in whom we trust, under whose guidance this Commonwealth was established, in whose providence it has been preserved and by whose grace it has prospered, before we become involved in the business of the day, we lift our hearts to Thee in prayer.

Bless, we pray Thee, the Presiding Officer, the Members and the servants of this Body, as they take up their specific duties and responsibilities. Give them humble and open minds, good and honest hearts, free from narrowness, prejudice and conceit. Deliver them from big professions and little deeds, from fine words and shabby thoughts, from friendly faces and cold hearts.

Bestow upon them the courage to do the right as Thou hast given them to see and know the right, that when the day's work is over, it may merit for them Thy "well done." Amen.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION, SERIES No. 105, REPORTED FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. PECHAN, from the Committee on Rules, to which was referred resolution offered by Mr. Weiner, on February 2, 1959, reported the same without amendment as follows:

DIRECTING THE JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION TO STUDY HOW TO OVERCOME ALL IMPEDIMENTS TO THE TAKING OF IMMEDIATE AND EFFECTIVE ACTION IN CASES OF EMERGENCY OR IMPENDING EMERGENCY.

In the Senate, February 2, 1959.

Emergency situations require immediate action. A hesitation or delay of days or even hours can spell the difference between safety or terrible disaster. The power to act immediately in any emergency or impending emergency should be inherent in the Officials of our Commonwealth. This power should include the authority to undertake any project deemed necessary for the protection of the public and to take action on a moment's notice to forestall impending danger, no matter what its source may be. The authority to expend funds necessary to finance such action, including rehabilitation and rectification thereafter, should accompany the power to act

During the disaster recently experienced we were fortunate in one respect, that being that the Legislature was in session to authorize action. On future occasions precious time may be lost in an attempt to obtain such Legislative approval; therefore be it

Resolved (The House of Representatives concurring), That the Joint State Government Commission make a thorough study to determine how to best overcome all impediments to the taking of immediate and effective action by Officials of our Commonwealth in cases of emergency or cases of impending emergency, and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commision report to the next regular session of the General Assembly its findings and recommendations with drafts of legislation necessary to carry the recommendations into effect.

Laid over for one day under the Rules.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION No. 10 REPORTED FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. PECHAN, from the Committee on Rules, to which was referred on February 17, 1959 the following resolution from the House of Representatives, reported the same without amendment as follows, viz:

YOUTH HONOR DAY

In the House of Representatives, January 28, 1959.

It is of utmost importance to the welfare of this Nation that the youth of this Commonwealth be given recognition for their outstanding achievements and be encouraged to prepare themselves for their future responsibilities and obligations as citizens of this great Nation.

The Legislatures of several states have adopted resolutions designating October 31 of each year as "Youth Honor Day," which is appropriately observed in honor of the youth of this Nation.

The Youth Honor Day program has been of tremendous benefit to the youth of America by providing them with the opportunity to assume the responsibility of governing the conduct of the members of their own group.

Adoption of the Youth Honor Day program would prove very beneficial, not only to the youth but also to all the people of this Commonwealth; therefore, be it

Resolved, (The Senate concurring), That the Governor of this Commonwealth is hereby requested to proclaim October 31, this year and annually thereafter, as "Youth Honor Day"; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives be directed to send a copy of this resolution to the Governor.

Laid over for one day under the Rules.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, on behalf of the Committee appointed by the President pro tempore, Pursuant to Senate Resolution, Serial No. 8, found on page 86 of the Senate History, I wish to make a tentative report.

The committee met on several occasions, once in Johnstown anl once in Allentown, where the problem seems to be very acute. A majority of all the Senators having voted, "aye", the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 120, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 17, 1921 (P. L. 682) entitled "The Insurance Company Law of 1921" providing for the clarification of The Standard Fire Insurance Policy of the State of Pennsylvania as it relates to losses or damage caused by nuclear reaction, nuclear radiation or radioactive contamination.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, this bill has been on our Calendar for a period of time. I believe last week the statement was made, and I have since ascertained from the Insurance Commissioner, that this legislation is absolutely unnecessary. The Act reads today, as it has always read, that the Commissioner will look over the contract of insurance made by the company with the insured. After having done that, he will either approve or disapprove each and every section.

If the insurance companies are concerned about this problem, the only thing they would have to do would be to take it up with the Insurance Commissioner. Otherwise, we will find ourselves in the position whereby every time they want another rider or another point added under this contract, they will be coming back before this Legislature. In a sense, we will be abrograting the present law on the books and we will be acting as the Insurance Commissioner.

It might well be that some of the companies, which were not aware of this situation, might have already added some of these riders or included this in their contracts, but are trying to use this as a means to protect themselves for an act that they did which, at that time, was not the proper thing to do. Be that as it may, this is not the proper means or vehicle to accomplish that purpose.

The problem, as they see it, and I think it has already been taken up by the Insurance Commissioner is for them to go back to the Insurance Commissioner, under the present laws which govern these problems, and let him either approve or disapprove this section. I would hate to think of myself sitting here and having to act on every one of these different problems as they arise.

It is actually wasting the Commonwealth's money to pass this bill here in the Senate, then send it to a committee in the House of Representatives for them to work on it and then send it to the Governor. The Governor may well feel the same as I do and disapprove the bill. I cannot speak for the Governor, but I believe that might be his reaction.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, admittedly, the subject is one of some technical significance. However, it has been on our Calendar for a good while and, as far as the cost to the Commonwealth is concerned, I think it would cost less if we would pass it today and send it over to the House and get it out of the way. Then, if it needs any amendment or we find it is not a necessary bill, it may remain in whatever committee it is referred to in the House.

However, Mr. President, I am informed that some companies are under some misapprehension as to whether it may or may not be necessary and this is simply, more or less, a safety measure.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the prosions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—28

Berger,	Fleming,	Mallery,	Van Sant,
Blass,	Harney,	Pechan,	Wade,

Kalman,	Miller,

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye", the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 151, entitled:

An Act amending the act of December 27, 1951 (P. L. 1742) entitled as amended "The Realty Transfer Tax Act" authorizing the recorders of deeds to use stamping machines to be furnished by the Department of Revenue in the sale of documentary stamps.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, the difficulty in this bill is that it does not contain an appropriation to pay for these machines. I am advised by the Department that it would cost approximately $50,000 to buy these machines. If the machines will do the job which it is alleged they will do, the option of obtaining these machines is with the counties and not with the State. It is a permissive use in so far as the county is concerned. They can come forward and say they want to use the machines, and then the State is obligated to pay for them because it is a "must" bill so far as the State is concerned.

Mr. President, this bill may have some merit and it may help some of the areas that they are trying to help with this type of legislation. However, when the Commonwealth is in dire need of funds, and you are saying to the counties that they can have these machines but the State must pay for them, then I think we should consider this legislation very seriously. I would think it is the type of problem which deserves some further study before we vote on it. Perhaps it should be sent to the Appropriations Committee for further study.

Mr. President, I would ask my colleagues to vote "no" on this bill.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, this piece of legislation originated in the Local Government Commission. The way it came about was that the Recorders of Deeds' representatives from Pennsylvania met with the Commission and they suggested this type of legislation. I might say that we were informed that the various Recorders of Deeds in the counties throughout the Commonwealth are having problems regarding the transfer tax. It was suggested that they use some sort of a machine which would serve as an accountant and also make an indentation on the deed. This is the essence of this particular piece of legislation.

I do not know what the cost would be, as far as the initial outlay is concerned, to the Commonwealth. However, I might say that I believe in the long run it would be very economical. Both Democrats and Republicans serve on this Commission and the type of machine which we, as Members of the Commission, viewed was a machine similar to the one which Pitney-Bowes uses as a mailing machine. Pitney-Bowes demonstrated the machine and said that they thought they could possibly manufacture a machine similar to the one proposed in this bill.

There is also a provision that where there is an indentation or a die, they can also have an additional die put in there to take care of your local government transfer tax which, as you know, most political subdivisions have. They have the right, under Act No. 481, to levy a tax on real estate transfers. However, since this has become big business and since it is something which is hard to control, you must have some sort of a machine to take care of this problem. I do not believe that all of the counties in the Commonwealth will use this machine. I believe that probably some of the large eastern counties, such as Montgomery, Delaware, Chester and some of the others, and probably some of the large western counties such as Washington, Fayette and Westmoreland may use it. However, I do not believe all the counties will want this machine. I believe it would primarily be used where there is a big transfer of real estate.

Mr. President, I also believe that the passage of this legislation will be to the Commonwealth's advantage and will save the State money. The Recorders of Deeds will not have the responsibility which they now have by having some of these stamps mislaid. When these stamps are mislaid, lost or destroyed, the Recorders of Deeds have to make an accounting to the Department of Revenue. With the machines, they would not have that problem. The machine will act similarly to a cash register and, at the same time, will enter the amount of the transfer tax on the document.

In my opinion, Mr. President, I believe this is a step in the right direction. We have talked this matter over for months in the Commission and we heard testimony. Senator Stevenson is not here at the moment, but Senator Mallery and Senator Kopriver are and all of us agreed that we should co-sponsor this bill and put it through. Of course, if the legislation is not wanted, the Governor can veto it. However, in my conversation with a representative from the Department of Revenue,—the man to whom I talked was serving in a temporary capacity—he told me that he did not want to commit himself, but that he thought it was a step in the right direction. Incidentally, I am advised that they use a similar machine for their cigarette taxes.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, the hour is growing a little late. However, I can see some merit in the position taken by the Minority Leader in connection with many of the smaller counties where these machines might not be at all necessary. I can also agree with Senator Lane that in the larger counties they may be extremely useful and necessary.

Therefore, Mr. President, I am going to suggest that we let the bill go over in its order. There is a possibility that there may be some amendments, eliminating seventh and eighth class counties or what have you, inserted into the bill, making it acceptable.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

MONDAY, March 2, 1959

The House met at 4:00 p. m.
The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend David R. Hoover, offered the following prayer:

O God, our refuge and strength, Thou Who art our ever present help; we look to Thee in the awareness that Thou art the Creator, Sustainer, and Provider of each one of us. Now in the momentous decisions which face this august body, help them each one individually, in the words of the Psalmist, to lift up their eyes unto Thee from whence cometh their help. May they gain strength, courage, and enlightenment from those periods of meditation with Thee. Speak to them in Thy words of truth, and guide their feet that they may humbly walk in the example of the Master. Grant them Thy grace and show them Thy fatherly care and protection. As Thou dost keep them with Thy love, use them O God to Thy honor and glory: through Jesus Christ, Thy dear Son, our Lord, Who liveth and reigneth with Thee, and the Holy Ghost, ever one God, world without end. Amen.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND COMMITTED

By Mr. GALLAGHER. RESOLUTION No. 35.

In the House of Representatives, February 25, 1959.

The majority of the State highways and bridges in Bucks County, Pennsylvania, were constructed at a time when this was primarily a rural community. In recent years, however, Bucks County has developed so rapidly in both population and industry that it has now become one of the foremost centers of urban activity within our Commonwealth. As a result, the roads and highways, many of which are one-way or dangerously narrow, are grossly inadequate and cause serious traffic congestion and hazardous traffic conditions. In order to cope with this serious problem, immediate action must be taken to modernize the outmoded highways and bridges in Bucks County; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby urges the Secretary of Highways to place all new construction of highways and bridges and all reconstruction of highways and bridges in Bucks County first in priority; and urges the Secretary of Highways to direct the District Engineer of that district to process and expedite all proposed plans for construction and reconstruction of highways and bridges in Bucks County.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. GALLAGHER. RESOLUTION No. 36.

In the House of Representatives, February 25, 1959.

Year by year the danger of serious floods increases in Bucks County, Pennsylvania. Such danger increases directly in proportion to the increase in construction and industrial activity, as such construction and industry are replacing heretofore undeveloped areas which served as natural watersheds and flood preventatives. As evidence of this fact and the casual relationship thereof, in recent years serious flooding has occurred in Bucks County in areas which never before faced that danger. At the rate that building continues to increase in Bucks County, unless adequate preparations and safeguards against floods are undertaken, this could very easily become a major disaster area in the immediate future; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby urges the Secretary of Forests and Waters to make a thorough study and survey of all streams, creeks, canals, rivers and lakes in Bucks County, for the purpose of determining an effective means of preventing future floods in this area, and to take whatever measures may be necessary to accomplish this purpose.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. DAVIS, HELM, GIBSON and ROYER. RESOLUTION (Not Printed),

In the House of Representatives, February 25, 1959.

The recent death of Dr. William W. Serrill, a former Member of the House of Representatives, who so capably represented Forest County from 1936 through 1947, is a heartfelt loss to all of us who served with him.

As a practicing physician in Endeavor, Pennsylvania, Dr. Serrill earned the admiration and respect of all of those with whom he came in contact.

Dr. Serrill's public spirited activities and his long service to government marked him as an exemplary citizen, whose memory will long be cherished by those who knew him and benefited from his association.

His passing was indeed a great loss to the Commonwealth and to the community which he served so well; therefore be it

Resolved, That the members of the House of Representatives extend their sincere sympathies to his widow, Mrs. William W. Serrill; and be it further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to Mrs. William W. Serrill, Endeavor, Pennsylvania.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

BUDGET MESSAGE OF GOVERNOR DAVID L. LAWRENCE

GOVERNOR LAWRENCE. Mr. Lieutenant-Governor, Mr. Speaker, Members of the General Assembly:

I come before you today to present a budget for the Commonwealth's General Fund operations during the biennium which will begin on June 1, 1959, and end on May 31, 1961.

To make it very plain, I have no rabbits in my hat; no magician's trick which will make it possible to pay for increasing costs without increasing taxes. In preparing this budget, we have not been searching for the element of surprise.

On the contrary, it is well known that during the election campaign of 1958 each candidate for Governor—my opponent as well as myself—acknowledged that a new State administration would be compelled to ask for new State revenues.

You will remember too that in October of last year, the Auditor General estimated that the need for such new revenue would come as high as $500,000,000.

As to the very structure of this budget, it is now well known that the State faces a deficit of $177,678,874 in its 1957-1959 operations—a deficit which must be absorbed and paid off in the next two fiscal years.

It is equally well known that we have imposed a ceiling on appropriations, so that new taxes can be limited in their yield to $400,000,000.

The Tax Advisory Committee two weeks ago made its recommendations to me in a unanimous report, which was immediately made known to the Legislature and to the public.

Suspense and drama, therefore, may be lacking in this budget.

But that does not mean that we have not had plenty of hard choices.

I may say that at times it has taken hard-headed determination to hold the budget requests to the level of this document.

It may well be argued that this budget does not do enough for public education, for our State-aided universities and colleges, for our economic and community development programs, for mental health, for improved standards of public assistance, for many other good and necessary public services.

But a budget, like every phase of government, must find its being in the art of the possible.

I believe this budget in its main objectives is possible for Pennsylvania. And I believe it is necessary.

The Legislature may cut it, if it will. In that event, each major reduction will mean the sacrifice of some public accomplishment which we can be sure the majority of Pennsylvanians believe in and support.

Now, as to the figures.

The budget calls for appropriations in the General Fund of $1,729,333,480. To this must be added the necessity of paying off the 1957-59 deficit of $177,678,874.

The total General Fund revenue need will be the sum of the two amounts—the appropriations plus the deficit—or $1,907,012,354.

To raise this amount, we must continue all existing State taxes at their present level. Scheduled reductions or expirations in the Corporate Net Income tax, the Utilities Gross Receipts tax, the Realty Transfer tax, and the Cigarette tax cannot be granted. In addition, while projecting a moderately higher yield from existing taxes because of recovery from the 1958 recession, we must still find new tax sources which will add $400,000,000 to our biennial income.

For those taxes, I am prepared to accept and to support the program suggested by the Tax Advisory Committee.

The Committee, you will remember, had as its co-chairmen Clifford F. Hood, president of the United States Steel Corporation, and Thomas Kennedy, vice-president of the United Mine Workers. It was equally divided between Republicans and Democrats. The president of the Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce sat with the state presidents of the CIO and the A.F. of L. Local government was represented by the president of the League of Cities and by the Mayor of Pennsylvania's third largest city.

The committee included the president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, the president of the United Steelworkers of America, the board chairman of the Consolidation Coal Company, the president of the Miners National Bank of Wilkes-Barre, and the head of one of Pennsylvania's major construction enterprises.

These men accepted a grave responsibility because they were good citizens of this State. Having accepted the responsibility, they met it courageously and well.

I, for one, am not going to quarrel with their handiwork.

The Hood-Kennedy Committee stated that its proposals were "admittedly imperfect" but were "advanced as a practical and immediate solution." As Governor, I now urge you to adopt the recommendations of the Hood-Kennedy report, with a complete willingness on my part to accept personal and party responsibility in the matter. It would seem to me that any attempt to pick and choose between these taxes—to break the package—might easily prove fatal. A predictable result might well be endless legislative disagreement which we cannot afford.

It is clear that the members of the Hood-Kennedy Committee recognized this danger when they unanimously pledged themselves to urge the Legislature to adopt their program in its entirety.

I trust the House and Senate will forgive me if I stress the fact that time is of the essence. It was in this realization that we prepared this budget for introduction less than six weeks after this administration assumed office. It was for this reason that the Hood-Kennedy Committee—as busy men as can be found in Pennsylvania—met each week to reach agreement and a deadline.

The Legislature, if it too can reach a quick agreement, can substantially reduce the deficit in this biennium. By adopting the increased and expanded sales tax recommendations of the Tax Advisory Committee at the effective date of April 1, the General Assembly can bring the Commonwealth $22,000,000 in new revenue and thereby stop the accumulation of the deficit. Each day's delay will cost the state $367,000, as expensive a twenty-four hours as any of us are likely to experience. The burden in the 1959-61 biennium will be correspondingly reduced if new tax sources are voted in the current fiscal year. This also assumes that necessary legislative action will be taken to provide a full 24 month sales tax collection in the next biennium.

As to the deficit itself, this Administration has acted to control expenditures wherever possible, again so that the deficit would not grow. But it is idle to pretend that the deficit has been caused by reckless spending of the people's money.

The primary source of the deficit was the business recession of 1958, the same recession which brought a revenue deficiency of almost eleven billion dollars for the Federal Government's 1958 and 1959 fiscal reckonings.

The recession reduced business profits, so that the anticipated yield from the Corporate Net Income tax and the Capital Stock tax is $89,000,000 below estimates.

It reduced consumer spending so that the expected income from the Sales tax is $44,000,000 below estimates.

And it incerased unemployment and the need for public assistance, so much so that the expenditure for relief will be at least $12,500,000 above original estimates.

The members of the Legislature can be sure that we are doing everything within our power to tighten the State's financial belt, but there is no mechanism by which the Governor of this State can magically increase the yield of the taxes which the Legislature enacts, or avoid the expenditures which the Legislature writes into the mandates of law.

I cannot, in this message, do more than stress the main outlines and objectives of the budget. The document itself is almost as thick as the Harrisburg telephone directory, and it will take your patient attention and the hard work of your committees to follow it department by departments, State grant by State grant, and local subsidy by local subsidy.

We talk of this document as a budget for the General Fund of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

In reality, it is a budget for everyone of the State's 2,350 school districts. We will pay more than forty per cent of all the public school costs in this State on the basis of the appropriations in this budget.

Unfortunately, there is little comprehension of the large portion of the education responsibility which has been assumed by the State government.

The amount of State funds to be expended on our public school system in this budget is equal to an average real estate tax levy of 30 mills.

This is, as I have said, an average rate.

Actually, there are wide variations, as you will see in the sampling of sixteen school districts which is footnoted in this message.

For example, in East Pittsburgh Borough, Allegheny County, the State subsidy is equal to only 1.2 mills of local real estate taxes, and in Wyomissing Borough, which is in Berks County, it is equivalent to three and a half mills.

On the other hand, in Curtin Township, in Centre County, the State aid for schools equals more than 417 mills on assessed valuation, and in Rush Township, Dauphin County, the State's participation represents more than 263 mills if the burden were placed entirely upon the local community.

It is perfectly obvious that this budget is absolutely essential to public education in Pennsylvania.

Without State aid, the local tax burden on hundreds of school districts would be increased intolerably, and in many localities there would not be any public school systems at all.

Furthermore, this budget is the basic budget for Penn State University, with its 15,762 students, and for the fourteen State Teachers Colleges with their enrollment of 18,050. It is an important part of the budget of the University of Pennsylvania, the University of Pittsburgh, Temple University, and Lincoln University.

Altogether, more than $884 million is provided in this budget for education in Pennsylvania, which is $165 million more than the total yield of the Sales tax will become if the Legislature raises its rate to three and one-half per cent and expands its coverage as recommended by the Hood-Kennedy Committee and this budget message.

I suggest to the Legislature that the Sales tax be clearly earmarked as a tax for education in the Commonwealth. I suggest further that the recipients of State aid join with us in a program of public information, so that all the people of Pennsylvania will know, as we do, how much of their State tax obligation comes back to them in their public schools, their colleges, their universities.

This is also a budget for public welfare.

It provides, in whole or in part, for the operation of 231 public and private hospitals in this State of ours and for 60 nursing homes.

It provides the family budget—the only family budget—for the Pennsylvania families who are on relief—public assistance which we grant, at standards we cannot boast, because we are morally agreed that no one shall starve in this State because he is out of work or because of personal misfortune.

This General Fund budget for the Commonwealth is also a budget for economic and community development in the cities and counties of the State. It is a budget for coal research, for the promotion of our agricultural products, for the tourist industry in Pennsylvania, for the control of stream pollution and the provision of pure water, for flood control, for the matching of local programs of public health, for port development at Erie and at Philadelphia.

It would seem to me that every person who is part of this State government, whether in the executive or the legislative branch, and every person who comes to the State government for subsidy or aid, has the duty to refute, at every opportunity, the uninformed statement—or false, malicious statement—that the government at Harrisburg is a greedy tax-consuming horde of politicians and/or bureaucrats.

The truth is, as you know so well, that the government of the Commonwealth has become—and necessarily becomes—a central collection and disbursing agency.

This can be illustrated very simply.

Of the $1,729,333,480 requested in this budget, only $153,995,183 is for the operation of the various departments and agencies of the Commonwealth. This is less than 9 per cent of the total.

Another $260,956,624 will pay for the operation of various State institutions, including mental and general hospitals, tuberculosis sanitoria, penal and correctional institutions and the State Teachers Colleges. This amount is 15 per cent of the total appropriation requests.

The remainder—76 per cent of this General Fund budget—is largely fixed by legislative policies enacted in past sessions. Outside of authority rentals and debt service, practically all of this money is for grants and subsidies of one form or another.

It is quite apparent that our direct outlays for the State's own operations are a small percentage of the total funds we raise and distribute from the General Fund.

That point is well illustrated in this very budget.

The appropriation requests of $1,729,333,480 compare with the actual and estimated expenditures for 1957-59 of $1,496,701,868.

The difference is $232,631,612.

Of this amount, $83,800,224—almost 40 per cent—is the increase we must have if we are to obey the mandates of existing law and meet the fixed charges of the State's rentals to the General State Authority. Most of the money—$60,931,954—is for increased State subsidies to school districts.

The budget increase above mandates and fixed charges is $148,831,388.

Let me list some main components.

First, there is an increase of $54,500,000 for the Department of Public Welfare. It provides a necessary increase for public assistance, it pushes forward our program for mental health, it establishes new facilities for retarded children, it provides a new Commonwealth Mental Health Center for western Pennsylvania, it initiates State assistance to local communities in meeting their problems of juvenile delinquency.

There is an increase in the budget for the State-aided universities and medical schools of $9,700,000. Drexel Institute in Philadelphia is included for the first time, with a recommendation for a million dollar grant. The budget carries $2,015,000 in additional appropriations for the State Teachers Colleges, and $1 million for those school districts who choose to begin the operation of community colleges.

The National Defense Education Act, recently enacted by Congress, calls for matching contributions on the part of the states. This budget estimates the increased cost to Pennsylvania at $3,500,000.

The budget increases include substantially higher payments to the privately operated schools for children who are blind, or deaf, or suffer from cerebral palsy. The amount is $2,600,000.

Libraries and museums are essential to a good educational system. The budget increases for them are $980,000.

Increased payments for an expanded program of the School Building Authority, which helps local school districts finance their new school buildings, are $6,500,000.

These added payments for education, above the present mandates, total $27,200,000.

In another category, the budget corrects two injustices of long-standing in the State's treatment of the City of Philadelphia. It provides a payment to the city, from State funds, of matching grants for its health program and State aid for its Philadelphia General Hospital. The total cost will be $7,800,000.

There is a budget increase of $500,000 for the State's contribution to a program of coal research, and of $550,000 for a State-sponsored promotional program for Pennsylvanian farm products.

There is $600,000 for development of the Port of Erie—all new money—and $1,000,000 for the Port of Philadelphia, of which $100,000 is a budget increase.

The General Fund budget includes an increase of $2,000,000 for flood control.

The budget projects a $10,000,000 appropriation for the industrial development loan program of the Pennsylvania Industrial Development Authority; an appropriation of $10,000,000 to help our communities in the work of urban renewal; and an appropriation of $500,000 for assisting the local organizations engaged in economic development.

There will be few people, I believe, who will argue that any of these proposed expenditures are "reckless spending" or "padding payrolls" or unnecessary for the best interests of the Commonwealth and its people.

It is, of course, the responsibility of the Legislature to provide for them, or to deny them to us.

I urge you to approve the appropriations in this budget.

But your approval must, as we all understand, carry with it an approval of a financing program which will end the continuing series of deficits which now trouble our affairs, and will provide this Commonwealth with a sound balance of revenues and expenditures in the years ahead.

I have done my best to make this an honest budget, honestly arrived at.

It now becomes a matter for your judgment and your action.

May I hope they will be prompt.

I know that we are a divided house politically. That was the decision of the people of this State—a decision in whose consequences we must seek our way. It does not seem to me that the people voted for partisanship at any price; I am quite sure they voted in the belief that the men and women they honor with high office can function as good Pennsylvanians, regardless of party.

That is what I ask on both sides of the aisle; that is the standard I am trying to establish for my own administration.

A cure for the State's fiscal problem is only the first step.

But it is that first step which precedes all others. It is the essential task we must perform.

When it is accomplished—and only then—we can go forward to the main body of our responsibilities which, as I see them, is the economic recovery of this State.

We must reverse the economic trends which have worked against our State's business enterprises in the changing pattern of the nation's growth.

We must create the circumstances which will bring full employment back to Pennsylvania.

We must bring Pennsylvania to the forefront—to the first place—to the leadership of the 49 states of the union.

For many years I have been impressed by the words carved into the stone at the main steps leading up this Capitol Building—words spoken by John Peter Gabriel Muhlenberg, who is the central seated figure in the famous mural behind me in this House.

This great minister-patriot made it clear that, in his mind, "there is a time to pray and a time to fight."

If I may enlarge upon his wise words, I would suggest that this, for Pennsylvania, is a time for prayer—and for work.

May we all seek God's guidance in our prayers and summon up our total energies and resources to do, together, the work that is ours to do.

The LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR. On behalf of the Members of the General Assembly, Governor Lawrence, I want to thank you for your message. I am absolutely certain that it will receive their very wise consideration.

ELECTION OF DIRECTOR OF LEGISLATIVE REFERENCE BUREAU

The LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR. The Joint Assembly will now proceed to the election of a Director of the Legislative Reference Bureau.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I wish to place in nomination for the office of Director of the Legislative Reference Bureau a man who has performed that office in past legislative sessions and is now the Acting Director of the Bureau. I nominate Burt R. Glidden as Director of the Legislative Reference Bureau.

The LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR. The Senator from Potter County, Senator Berger, has placed in nomination for the office of Director of the Legislative Reference Bureau, Burt R. Glidden, Esquire, of Lancaster County.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. President, it is a pleasure to have the opportunity to second the nomination of the honorable gentleman, Mr. Burt R. Glidden of Lancaster County for the office of Director of the Legislative Reference Bureau.

By a voice vote Burt R. Glidden was unanimously elected as Director of the Legislative Reference Bureau.

The LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR. Will the Senator from Potter, Mr. Berger, and the gentleman from Greene, Mr. McCann, escort Mr. Glidden to the rostrum for the purpose of taking the oath of office?

The oath of office was administered to Burt R. Glidden by the Lieutenant-Governor.

The LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR. I just wish to thank the Members of the General Assembly for the consideration they have given us here today, and to say to you that it has been a real privilege for me to preside for the first time over this Joint body. Thank you very much.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) IN THE CHAIR.

The SPEAKER. I am glad to have had the privilege of witnessing the first time the Lieutenant-Governor has had the opportunity to face this magnificent assembly that constitutes the House.

JOINT SESSION PROCEEDINGS PRINTED IN LEGISLATIVE JOURNAL

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I move that the proceedings of the Joint Session of the Senate and House of Representatives held this day be printed in full in the Legislative Journal.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON SECOND READING POSTPONED

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I call up House Bill No.

317, Printer's No. 69, placed on the postponed calendar today.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Greene calls up from the postponed calendar House Bill No. 317, Printer's No. 69.

The question is on the pending motion that House Bill No. 317, Printer's No. 69, be re-referred for the purpose of amendment to the Committee on Highways and a roll call was asked for.

Does that request for a roll call still prevail?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The motion still prevails and the roll call will be called.

BILL RECOMMITTED

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion to recommit?

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, if I am in order, I would like to debate the motion to recommit the bill.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is in order. The gentleman said to debate the bill.

Mr. LOPRESTI. I meant the motion.

The SPEAKER. That is right, the motion is to recommit and that is the only question before the House.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, under normal circumstances, amendment of bills is a proper procedure and is done on second reading on the floor of this House. There are occasions when bills arise when amendments become rather difficult to analyze on the floor of the House. This is one of those bills, where any amendments must be more or less in line with the federal legislation concerning the subject covered in the bill. Because the bill is of a technical nature and because any amendments offered on the floor of this House may not be proper in view of the federal legislation, this is one of the type of bills which should go back to the Committee for amendment so that the Committee can properly study the amendments. If they are proper and if they conform with federal legislation on the subject those amendments can be added by the Committee. However, if Committee amendments, or rather amendments offered before the Committee, would be such as to destroy this bill, that Committee would have available the proper guidance in making the amendment.

That is the reason why this bill should be returned to Committee so that proper consideration can be given to amendments which are to be submitted.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, as the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Lopresti, has indicated, the proper place to amend a bill of this importance is on the floor of the House and this figment of the imagination and tying it in with federal legislation is no sound basis for recommitment.

A bill of this character, which has many partisans on both sides, people who think pro and con, should be discussed in so far as amendments are concerned on the floor of the House. I believe it is a very important bill, it was a bi-partisan measure and, if my recollection is correct, it was a measure sponsored by the administration. We ask people on both sides of the House to vote against recommittal.

The yeas and nays were required by Messrs. GOLDSTEIN, A. W. JOHNSON and STEWART.
